OLD REGIME ANOTHER YEAR

Present Officers of the District Reform School Re-elected.

OCCASION A PLEASANT ONE

Boys Sang Very Creditably and Enthusiastically Greeted Addresses By the Officers and Visitors—President Falls Presented Interesting Facts Concerning the Inmates.

The annual re-election of officers took place yesterday at the reform school of the District of Columbia, and the occasion was later in the afternoon made a pleasant one for the boys of the institution as well as for the few visitors present.

The meeting resulted in the re-election of those who for many years past have stood at the head of the institution. Mr. Alexander Falls was re-elected president; Dr. Carpenter, vice president, and Mr. Samuel Curdren, secretary. The regular business of the meeting having thus been successfully disposed of, the board of managers adjourned to the hall, where the boys were already assembled, and greeted their arrival with some very creditable singing, under the leadership of Mr. Frank Wilson, conductor of the choir at Foundry Church. Miss Wilson presided at the organ.

The gentlemen who made short addresses to the boys were Mr. Alex. Falls, Dr. Carpenter, Mr. Curdren, Mr. N. K. Burchell, Mr. W. S. Thompson and Dr. Welles, the physician in charge of the institution.

Dr. Carpenter in a few words introduced Mr. Falls, stating that by his present re-election he thus entered upon the fifteenth year of his any conducted connection with the institution.

Mr. Falls made some felicitous remarks. Frequently he had been asked why he was so ready to give his time and thought to the reform school when there was neither reward nor compensation in the matter. In this way of looking at the matter his friends had been wrong, as he proceeded to demonstrate by an anecdote of an encounter with former inmates who have since become respected members of the community.

Mr. Falls went on to state that since the reform school had been established there had been, in the twenty years of its existence, over 2,000 boys admitted. The majority of these are now doing well. Many of them own their little homes, and are honorably established in business. All trades and callings have been represented in this number, several of whom have been formally installed in holy orders, and are now ministers of parishes. To those of the boys who are to be discharged this week, he urges that the feelings of the school should be forgotten; that in going out into the world again they would endeavor to make themselves a credit to themselves and a comfort to their parents. The highest honor to be attained by any one was that of a Christian gentleman. At the conclusion one of the boys wearing an honor badge for good conduct came forward and presented Mr. Falls with a lovely bouquet.

Dr. Carpenter then followed in a short speech, at the close of which he too was presented with a bouquet. Mr. Curdren, upon being called upon for a speech, waived his prerogative in this respect, and in a few words congratulated the boys better to discharge the pleasing task.

Mr. C. Burchell also declined to make any set speech, but upon Dr. Welles that he gave the boys a little talk.

What Dr. Welles said was brief and to the point as far as the boys were concerned, for when he declared that for the future he would refrain from addressing any of the boys, there was applause of the most enthusiastic and genuine nature.

Mr. Thompson, upon being called upon, declared that he would not make a speech, but that he was so doing he could not reiterate the good things already said, and that after the happy efforts of the others he might not be heard of again.

After the singing of several songs, Col. Schellenberger dismissed the boys with Rip Van Winkle's famous toast, "May you live long and prosper."

CLEARING THE HOSPITAL.

Judges Rucker and Parker Again Among Their Friends—Dr. Nevitt's Wedding.

On the recommendation of Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt, in charge of the smallpox hospital, Health Officer Keown yesterday granted the release of Judge Rucker and Judge J. J. Parker from that institution. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after taking a good bath and changing their clothing these gentlemen seated themselves in a closed carriage and were rapidly driven through the rain to their respective homes, where they were warmly greeted by relatives and friends after their long and enforced absence.

The release of Messrs. Rucker and Parker leaves only two inmates of the hospital—Mary Brown and Mary Thomas, both of whom will probably be liberated during the present week. As the gentlemen were entering the carriage yesterday afternoon, Mary Thomas observed: "These good fellows are going to get out."

"They will have to 'hold the fort' alone," Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt has been on continuous duty in the pesthouse, in connection with the contagious hospital since October 1st. He was to have been married on the 15th instant, but owing to his practical imprisonment in the pesthouse, he was unable to attend to the ceremony.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Dr. Nevitt to Miss Mary Christmas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hine, on the evening of Wednesday, December 13, at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed at the First Presbyterian Church.

AS THE CROWDS COME OUT.

When an elephant has been taken to dance "Yankée Doodle" and a silly cockatoo to throw the mattresses and mirrors out of a house on fire there is no telling what else may be expected of the bird and brute creation with Carl Hagenbeck as the miracle worker. Yet that is just what was done last night, to the great satisfaction and amusement of a very large audience at Albaugh's Grand Opera House. But those were only two, and minor at that, of the numerous features of this most interesting performance.

The programme contains a running commentary on the wonderful features of the star actors on the stage, so that whenever a translation is needed it is given on with the seals, cockatoos, lions, tigers, etc., it is furnished by the programme as interpreter. People last night saw everything that has been claimed for these animals. Some of them appeared to have a keen sense of humor.

The dade bear, the funny pig, and the bud seal, all did a capital business with delight. There was, however, an abundance of material that amused, instructed, and edified the grown folks. A honest rodeo on a tricycle, and so did a lion, an elephant, with a lion on his back rode a tricycle, and seals played on tambourines and guitars and smoked pipes, and four magnificent lions posed for pictures, and lay down together with their trainer on top of the ferocious quartet.

The exhibitors were Mr. Winkler, Miss Mrs. Winkler, Mr. Casavary, Mr. Winkler, Philadelphia, Mr. Weston, Mr. Darling, and "Lili" and "Haymond," the two clowns. The seals, perhaps, were the favorites with the audience. The show will be here all this week.

The delightful opera "Robin Hood" as staged and sung at the theatre last night well repaid the audience and received an enthusiastic greeting. The singing was excellent, and the individual and chorus parts carried out with some brilliancy. Those are creditable to the company and delightful to the hearer. R. E. Graham, as Sheriff of Nottingham, was irresistible. Mr. Graham shows discretion and appreciation of the proper limits of his art in resisting the temptation for horse play, and is a north part of the troupe. The play was well acted, and the "knickerbockers" will be sung.

A crowded house greeted the opening appearance of the Natchez wit last evening at Korman's Lyceum Theatre and the audience was given a plenteous of singing, dancing, burlesque, and variety acts, including a comedy, and a clown's extravaganza, as also did Zamora, the Mexican quipus artist. Probably the most interesting feature of the entertainment was the living pictures, which were presented in a very effective manner. The same performance will be given every evening during the week and matinee to-day, Thursday and Saturday.

The stormy weather did not prevent a large and enthusiastic house witnessing "The Power of Gold" at the Lyceum Theatre last evening. The scene is laid in England and the play is intense and thrilling from start to finish. Frederick Summerfield, as Haddock, and J. H. Haddock, as Haddock, were both effective. E. J. Stetson, as Mark Harley, the heavy villain, was vociferously applauded, and Hannah M. Ingram, as Mrs. Haddock, was highly praised on all sides.

Harrison J. Wolfe, as Col. Robert Ellingham, and Louis Hendricks, as Major (Gen. Brockton), gave their roles a careful and artistic interpretation. The rest of the men have a tendency to the over-patetic and over-declamatory, as the occasion calls for it.

Edith Tyler, as Gertrude Ellingham, and Odette Tyler, as Margaret Robinson, are both excellent. Margaret Robinson as Mrs. Constance Haverrill was effective.

The production and received tumultuous applause from the galleries.

WARDEN LEONARD'S ENEMIES. He Furnishes Them Material in the Whiteford Case for Another Attack.

The judges of the District supreme court will hold a conference to-day to determine upon coming assignments. It is altogether probable that they will at the same time consider the case of Warden Leonard and his management of the jail. It has been brought sharply to their attention by the case of William Whiteford.

Judge Cole has some pertinent questions to ask when he calls on the jail, brought Whiteford in for continuation of the trial yesterday. His inquiry as to why were present when the order for a nolle prosequi was entered developed the fact that neither the warden, deputy warden, nor clerk was there. The order was received by Henry, who handed it to Mitchell, the rotunda guard, and he in turn to Peacock, the guard in the aisle, and he released Whiteford. As Whiteford came through the door he had a talk with Pierce, and left asking what cars to take to get down town.

Whiteford admitted upon further questioning that it was on record in the book at his home that Whiteford was committed by order of Judge Cole subject to his order.

The enemies of Warden Leonard are very active. They point out that there have been since May last three escapes, two discharges such as Whiteford's, a bungling hanging, one prisoner killed in a scuffle, and two cuttings, one of which was investigated, the other not officially noted.

Police Census in Progress—Sixty policemen commenced to take a new census of the population yesterday, each having a special district in which to canvass. The men went from house to house locating, learning and recording the names of residents. It will probably be several weeks before the result will be known. The work is being managed by Chief Clerk Sylvester.

MANY BANKS IN PERIL. Suspension of the Commercial Bank of Newtandland May Cause a Run.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Dec. 10.—The Commercial Bank of Newtandland, having its headquarters in this city, suspended payment this morning, owing to the failure of several of the largest fish exporting houses to respond to their liabilities to the bank. This has involved other banks and has crippled at least ten of the largest concerns here. Four of them have closed their premises and others will close to-morrow.

The small depositors are demanding gold from the Union and Savings Banks, and the gold reserve is being steadily drained. If they are able to meet the run everything is all right. But the central question is the difficulty in getting more gold into the country.

At present the people are very peaceful and sensible, and appreciate the gravity of the situation. Business men of all classes are trying to effect an arrangement with London bankers or with Canadian concerns which will be urged to extend business to this extent.
