FROM HYMEN'S ALTER TO A PRISON CELL

Tragic Sequel to Ship Yeoman Lane's Marriage.

STOLE FROM CAPTAIN PLATT

In Order to Provide Funds for His Wedding a Naval Attaché Purloins the Property of the Commandant of the Steamer Fish Hawk - Arrested While in Company With His Bride of Two Days.

Married on Tuesday, arrested on Wednesday, in jail on Thursday.

Such will be the record of the first three days of the new year so far as Samuel Lewis Lane is concerned. He was taken into custody last night by Detectives Weedon and Lacy, charged with the grand larceny of three pairs of binocular ships' glasses, valued at $75, the property of Capt. Robert Platt, commanding the United States Fish Commission steamer Fish Hawk, now lying at the Washington Navy Yard.

Capt. Platt appeared at police headquarters yesterday and reported to Inspector Hollenberger the loss of the above articles. He did not suspect Lane, who is ship's yeoman or captain's clerk, and who was off on furlough to get married, although Lane's furlough had expired three days ago. The detectives quickly located two pairs of the glasses, one pair having been pawned at Steinman's pawn shop and another at a peddler's. After the property had been identified by Capt. Platt, the detectives arrested Lane in the bar of the Hotel Euclid, where he had gone to take a drink, leaving his bride to be married on New Year's day, waiting outside.

When the husband came out in custody of the officers the young and pretty wife asked Lane what was the matter. "Nothing doing," he replied. "Go home. I will be there in a few moments."

Lane was taken to police headquarters, where he was searched and a pawn ticket found in his pockets, showing that he had deposited the other glasses at Fulton's. He was locked up at No. 1 police station. The prisoner is thirty-five years of age, and came from New York City. He has been in the Navy for some time, and always enjoyed the fullest confidence of his superiors. The young lady to whom he was married is Miss Josephine Brookman, and they have been stopping at Beveridge's boarding house, on Third street, near Pennsylvania avenue, northwest. Lane admitted to the theft of the glasses, but pleaded that he needed money to carry out his marital contract. At the different pawnbrokers he gave the names of "J. L. Lewis" and "S. L. Lewis," and his address as No. 101 G Street, southeast.

DOINGS OF THE COMMISSIONERS Order to Correct Assessment Plats on Brightwood Avenue. MUST CONFORM TO LEGAL WIDTH

Seventy Tons of Garbage Per Day Collecting at the G Street Wharf - Fidelity Company. Surety for National Sanitary Company. Confers with Commissioners - Question of Damage to David J. Catter's Property.

An order was issued yesterday directing the District assessor to correct the assessment plats of properties abutting on Brightwood avenue, formerly known as Seventh street road, to conform to the legal width of said avenue, as established by the opinion of the attorney for the District, which is ninety feet, and also for conformity with the previous orders of the District authorities concerning the east line of said avenue and its width.

One of the orders referred to, dated December 13, 1892, provided that as the width of the avenue had been fixed at ninety feet, and inasmuch as certain structures encroached upon the street space, the surveyor should, as soon as practicable establish the ninety-foot lines, and that the building inspector notify the owners of abutting property to at once remove the obstructions.

The immediate result of the latest order will be to reduce the assessment of the property on the line, and will vest the title in the District to all the ground between the street lines that has heretofore been carried upon the assessor's books with the abutting lots.

Garbage is accumulating at the G street wharf at the rate of seventy tons daily. Carcasses of dead animals, principally horses and dogs, are being deposited at the foot of South Capitol street at the rate of from forty to 60 per cent.

The Fidelity Company, as surety for the National Sanitary Company, had representatives before the Commissioners with the professor of public health, who stated that the sanitary conditions at the wharf could be improved for the relief of the situation.

While the cold weather continues there is believed to be no danger from the decaying refuse, but when the weather moderates there will be too much risk to admit of delay, and there will be none.

Harbormaster Sutton, acting under instructions, yesterday engaged a day yesterday in an effort to employ some one to undertake the contract, but failed.

Capt. Tyler, from whom account have been withheld, refused to double price, and said he would have to be guaranteed indemnity against the loss of his boats, for loss was certain to result.

Henry Brown, of the American Towing Company, a corporation well equipped with scows and other craft, was inspecting the condition of the river yesterday, and returned to report that the river was in good shape, and that the towing companies were willing to cooperate to the extent of putting up the funds necessary, and to carry out any plan that could be adopted to present the Commissioners a better proposition.

Messrs. J. W. Babson and Evan H. Tucker, presidents respectively of the East Washington and West Washington Citizens' Associations, delivered to the District Commissioners a copy of the protest of the two organizations against the location of the hospital for the insane on the site of the old site of the Washington Hotel.

The odd situation is presented in the case of David J. Catter, whose property at No. 3222 O Street northwest has been seriously damaged by water from an obstructed sewer, that the District acknowledges his responsibility, but is unable to "see his way clear" to grant compensation for the injury inflicted.

The report made to the Commissioners by Capt. Beach, assistant engineer Commissioner, shows that whatever damage may have resulted to the property was caused by parties who "deposited sticks in the manhole," but "as the District made no effort to apprehend the parties, and could remedy the trouble by such a simple expedient as putting a tight cover over instead of the open one," he is inclined to believe the District authorities can be held responsible. He recommends, however, that the matter be referred back to Mr. Catter with the information that the District cannot grant his request.

F. H. Smith, chairman of the committee on expenditures of Columbia Hospital for 1894, reports to the Board of Directors of the hospital, for the restoration of the original item of $25,000 instead of $30,000, as proposed, for the use of that institution for the year 1895.

Office of LIGHT BROS., WHOLESALE CLOTHIERS, (Limited), BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 28, 1894. To MR. PERCY M. LONG, Managr. The Famous:

Replying to your letter of 26th instant - Have your stock and books in such shape as to enable us to take stock January 10, 1895. In view of the fact that, as you say, your stock is excessively large, you will, on receipt of this, inform our friends throughout the District that the entire stock will be sold at prices actually 25 per cent. under cost prices.

The above letter explains itself. The instructions contained therein will be carried out to the letter. Twenty-five per cent. under wholesale cost price will mean more than you can readily imagine - SUITS and OVERCOATS were never sold so cheap as we're selling them now.

Make Waste! Make Waste! Here's a chance to clothe yourself in the BEST for the price you'd pay ordinarily for the WORST.

MISSIONARY WORK IN INDIA. Rev. A. W. Rudisill Tells of His Experience in the Orient. There was a large attendance at Foundry M. E. Church, corner of Fourteenth and G streets, last night to hear the lecture of Rev. A. W. Rudisill on foreign missionary work, and more especially the work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in and around Madras, India.

Dr. Rudisill has been engaged in foreign missionary work for the past ten years, and he assures his hearers that at no previous time has it progressed so favorably and with such good results as within the last few years. As an example of the untold spirit against which the missionary society in India has to contend, he relates the story of the conversion of the soldiers of the 10th Madras Infantry, the host of whose colonel it was that not one of them believed in God.

Missionary Work, better known than our "Crazy Father Hen" called on the officers repeatedly, but just as often was roughly repulsed. After persistent efforts, however, Father Hen obtained a hearing which resulted finally in the conversion of the whole regiment. Dr. Rudisill also related several stories of the conversion of the Indians, which was very interesting.

Dr. Rudisill gave a very encouraging account of the establishment of the many new schools, in which work Miss Grace Stephens is taking a very active interest. After a collection was made for the purpose of purchasing a life membership in the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for the benefit of Miss Stephens.
