HORSES ON THEIR KNEES

One St. Asaph Racer Broke a Leg and Was Killed.

FATAL SPOTS ON THE TRACK

In Wet Weather They Become Death Traps For Jockeys and Horses-Ofticials Have Neglected to Keep the Ground in Proper Condition-Talent Hard Hit in the Opening Event.

From the day that the St. Asaph track threw open it's gates the ground has never been in the condition that it should be. The far turns has been particularly bad; borse after horse falling, and many more going down upon their knees,

After the heavy rain of the past few days it was in narricolarly bad shape and two The first one to fall was Agnes O, in the third race.. She must have stepped in a hole as she broke her leg and had to be killed. The boy escaped with a badly bruised ankle. The other one to go down was Marie Lovell, but neither she nor Jockey Rocks was burt.

IT IS A FATAL SPORT. The place where the accident happened was the same spot on which Jockey Dick horses out of a ten-horse field went down The officials should look into this matter and have the track put in proper condition by some competent person. It has been let go far enough and should not be allowed to drift along until another serious accident occurs when half a dozen boys might be killed at one time.

That speedy filly Levina again demonstrated what a truly high-class animal she is. She was in with some of the crack ones at the distance and giving away lumps of weight to every other contestant got the worst of the start and yet managed rather eleverly to win from Con Lucy.

The talent received a pretty hard blow in the opening face, as Samarstan, Who was a 6 to 5-favorite, was left at the post. The fault could hardly be placed, as it was more a combination of circumstances than anything else. The start was a good one for all but Samaritan. The Snake was the first one to show in front, and, getting well out, was never caught. Murphy had the mount, and made the prettiest kind of a grand stand finish, Winning by a DANGER OF A STUMBLE. It was a very risky thing to do, however, as the jenst sumble would have lost him the race. With a dry track it would be all twist, but in case something had hap-pened to make him lose the race there would have been no end of a row, and be would possibly have been set down.

Miss Rowser was heavily played in the latter was however, at all times the favorite, going to the post at even money. After he horses had been at the post for ten or the horses had been at the post for ten or fifteen minutes it was discovered that Septoar was short of weight and he was called back and the mistake righted. It was a good thing for his backers that it was found out before the race was run. When they did finally get off Hamcarried the favorite right out, and making every post a winning one he won in a gallop by three kingths from Gimme who came from nowhere and beat Miss Bowser a head. Delia M. was made favorite in the third event and she justified the betting by ramoing a game race and winning deverly by a length from Prosper, with Tioga third.

Thervish was plunged on to win the fourth race, and Tem Tengh's price therefore receded from 9 to 20 to 9 to 10. It was said that he could not ran in the mud, but he fooled them all by taking command at the start and winning all the way.

After Con Lucy had set the pace in the fifth race until well into the stretch, Murphy brought Levina up and in the hardest kind of a drive smatched the verdict by a head.

The closing race went to White Cockade, who had the money won from the fall of the flag. Luray ran a goodrace and finished second, a length before Tralec.

Games To-day. New York at Brooklyn, Boston at Philadelphia Pitisburg at Cleveland, Cincinnati at Louisvill St. Louis at Chicago.

The Washington team was beaten yesorday because it played tail-ender bail, while its opponents were in championship

It was outplayed at every point, and made a show almost pitiable alongside the rapid Orioles, who simply toyed with he slow and dignified Senators.

The pitching was dead easy, the fieldng ragged, team work absolutely wantng, and the batting beneath contempt. While they were up against a pitcher those wiles were far too deep for them, the locals never once made even an atwhile the visitors, who hit Mercer about is they pleased, got away with no less han seven infield hits, of which five least should have been handled in time o relife the batters.

Lawn tennis is about the game for schmelz's crew to tackle just at pres-ent. Baseball is too hard for them.

ORIOLES WALLOWED IN LUCK. Luck, that ever-present scapegoat, had a and in the game, for the balumeres were imply wallowing in good fortune, while, f the Senators had been playing for steam-boats, they couldn't have won a gang plank. Their hardest drives went straight at ome Monumental fielder, and a large proortion of the infield plays of the Baltiores was made by scarcely moving from beir tracks.

Then, too, every error of the home team throw in the seventh gave seven uncarned

The fielding reflects little credit upon my one, except Crooks and Abbey, the former making a brilliant stop and double play off Kelley in the fourth.

Glasscock took in lots of chances, but was exasteratingly slow on several infield shots that had to be scored as hits. Catwright was completely rattled in the early part of the game, and twice lost chances by leaving his base unguarded. Joyce had just one chance to put a man out by catching a thrown ball, which he called by account

FIELDED WITHOUT AN ERROR. On the other hand, the enemy swatted the ball hard or bunted it rafe in every inning, pushing his men around the bags so fast that the locals got dizzy, and fielded without the studow of an error. They fattened up their batting averages off Mercer in rapid style, every man but Carey and larke getting two or more hits, and Hoffer leading with a clean score of four hits and winning his own game by scoring himself and driving in three runs.

McDonaid officiated as unpire and contrived to keep both teams lighting mad all through by his cross-eyed rulings.

Nearly-everyinning was enlivened by a scrap. Crooks was burt by a collision at second pase in the seventh, straining his wrist, and gave place to Boyd. Cartwright and Crooks alone found Hoffer for more than one hit. The first baseman, Mercer, and McGuireeach drove in one of the lone one trio of runs. Washington should have scored in the first, when Selbach started with a base on balls and took second on Joyce's out. Cartwright made a cannon-ball drive to third, which McGraw did well to knock down, but had no license to get near first of the st. Cartwright's shoes, however, were fuller of scrap iron than Hart's jumping frog of shot, and he was headed off, according to McDonald, by a nose BALTIMORE PLAYED BALL.

Baltimore did better. After the first wo had gone out on fattling stops by Glasscock, Jennings poked a bunt toward third, at which Joyce made a feeble bluff, and Kelley just cracked a three-bagger over Abbey's head, scoring Jennings. Brodie was an easy victim to Cartwright.
Crooks hit for a double down left line, after two were out in the second, but Abbey lifted a foul for McGraw.

lifted a foul for McGraw.

Gleason's sharp grounder was well stopped by Crooks, but he could not recover on the slippery ground in time to make the throw. "Kid," however, was caught stealing by McGuire's fine throw, well handled by Glasscock. Carey got a life when Cartwright dropped Glasscock's throw, and the big first baseman was allowed to take second on the claim of interference by Cartwright, in spite of the latter's countercharge that Carey knocked the ball out of his hands. Glasscock fielded Clarke out at first, and Hoffer got in the way of a pitched ball. Mc Graw poked an easy bounder to left, and Washington got its maiden tally in the thisi, after two were out, on Joyce's hit to left, Hassamer's drive over second, and Cartwright's double nearly to the left fence, McGuire flying to Brodie. For the next three innings the team was ratined in order. retired in order.

HOW NOT TO DO IT. The seventh was a sample inning of the way not to do team work. Glasscock and Crooks led off with clean hits, but Abbey, instead of bunting, got while Jennings scored. Carey filed to Hassamer and Clarke struck out. Hoffer's single to left scored Kelley and Brodle.

Sharp play prevented any runs in the next two innings. Crooks put out the side inthe fourth, taking in a fly from Jennings and then smaking a circus stop off Kelley, touching second, and thus retiring Keeler, touching second, and thus retiring Keeler, who had bunied solely, and completing a double by throwing Kelley out Glasscock made a brilliant stop off Clarke in the fifth, forcing Carey at second. One run was made in the sixth on MeGraw's double, a fielder's choice which retired Hoffer at the plate, and Jennings' fly to center.

Brodie was first up in the fatal seventh and singled to right, but was forced on Gleason's built to Mercer. Carey's hit to Boyd who had replaced Grooks, would easily have forced Gleason had not Glasscock dropped the ball, and Clarke's fly to Hassamer would have closed the inning without score, but with two out Hoffer, Keeler, Jennings, Kelley and Brode hit safely, the latter for the second time in the inning. McGraw got a base on balls, and by this fusilade Selbach's fumble of Kellley's grounder, and McGuire's wild throw to eatch Brodie at second, seven unearned runs were counted up before Gleason made the third out on a hit to Mercer.

PHILLIES DO WONDERS.

Thirteen an Unincky Number For Boston Ball Tossers. Philadelphia, Pa., June 1.—The Phil-lies took the Beancaters into camp to-day, after one of the hottest struggles seen on the local diamond for many a day. For thirteen inningsthe game hung in the balance, then Sam Thompson pushed out a two-bagger, Carsey repeated the dose, and Clements and Hallman contributed singles. Two rous came in, and the visitors took three outs in short order. Each team it into his head that he could make a home run, and flied to Brodie without advancing a runner. Mercer sent filass-cock home by timely drive to center, and after Kelley had captured Schach's fly Crooks went fast asleep at second base, and Clarke's throw caught him fifteen feet away.

The last ron came in the eighth on Cartwright's hit to center and Mctoire's three-base drive over Brodie's head.

Baltimore got a running lead in the thrid aming. Jennings singled to left, stole second and was given safe at third on Glassrock's throw to Joyce off Kelley.

Mercer thraped Brodie on the arm and filled the bases; Gleason bunted to Mercer, who got the bull in time, bit Cartwright did not cover his base and the batter was safe, while Jennings scored. Carty filed to Hassamer and Clarke struck out. Hoffer's Brooklyn, N. Y., July 1 -New York lost the game to-day through their inability to hit Stein's curves.
