

LAST SIX DAYS' SACRIFICE OF THE FAMOUS

American Girl Shoe.

NEVER BEFORE SOLD FOR LESS THAN STAMPED PRICE.

This is the first time in the history of this celebrated footwear that it has been retailed for LESS than its stamped price, which appears plainly on the sole of every shoe. The 4,000 pairs which we purchased from the manufacturers will scarcely last longer than next Saturday.

$1.50 FOR LADIES' OXFORD TIES. EVERY PAIR STAMPED $2 on the Sole.
$1.75 LADIES' HIGH SHOES FOR EVERY PAIR STAMPED $2.50 on the Sole.

These shoes are all of this season's manufacture, and any that fail to give satisfactory wear will be replaced with a new pair free of cost. A box of dressing made especially for "American Girl Shoes" free with every pair.

FAMILY SHOE STORE,

310 and 312 Seventh Street.

CHARGED ON MACFARLAND

The Commissioner in the Thick of a Fray at Camp Ordway.

Skirmishers Capture the Guns Which Welcomed Him on His Arrival at the Camp of the District National Guard-Soldier Degraded.

CAMP ORDWAY, LEESBURG, Va., July 20.—It is doubtful if Commissioner Macfarland was ever in a more warlike place than this afternoon, when 800 soldiers charged up the slope of the knoll on which brigade headquarters is located and practically captured the battery which had fired in his honor a salute.

The Leeburg authorities have today made no complaint of the conduct of the soldiers in the town. With the reputation of the Guard at stake, the men are behaving in a most orderly manner. The effect of the dramatic measures meted out to an offender by Major Brooks, of the First Separate Battalion, is sure to be beneficial.

There will be held a general meeting of the National Guard at Leesburg, Va., tomorrow. The bill of fare for dinner is broiled chicken pie, mashed potatoes, sweet corn, pickled beets, rice pudding, bread butter and coffee.

Notes of the Camp. There is no jolliter mess than that of the general non-commissioned staff. The mess tent directly behind that of the brigade staff is one of the liveliest points in camp three times a day.

People can live in a temperature which feels from ten to twenty degrees cooler than their neighbors enjoy, by regulating the breakfast.

The plan is to avoid meat entirely for breakfast, use a goodly allowance of fruit, either cooked or raw. Then follow with a sauce containing about two tablespoons of Grape-Nuts, treated with a little rich cream.

Experience and experiment in food and its application to the human body has brought out these facts. They can be made use of and add materially to the comfort of the user.

POSED AS MR. HANNA'S SON

A Badly Wanted Swindler Fails to Defraud Local Jewelry Stores.

An Exciting Chase on the Avenue and a Desperate Struggle With Detectives—Prisoner Admits Crooked Work—St. Louis Police Claim Him.

After having successfully eluded capture for the past year by the police in many of the large cities, nearly all of which have offered unusually large rewards for his apprehension, Lewis C. McDowell, alias J. Pierpont Morgan, alias William J. J. Morgan, alias R. Hanna, one of the shrewdest crooks in this country, was captured by Detective Sergeant Muller and Weedon, but only after a desperate struggle, yesterday afternoon, in the corner of Sixth and C Streets northwest.

McDowell's capture was fraught with danger and excitement, and although a man of unusually short stature, he gave nearly 1,000 citizens a rapid chase for several blocks through the most prominent thoroughfares of the city, before he was finally overtaken by the two detectives.

Dressed in clothes of the latest fashion and wearing a long light English sack coat, the crook walked into Chateauberg's jewelry store shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon and selected a pair of diamond earrings valued at $1,000. He requested the unassuming clerk who waited upon him to charge them to Dan R. Hanna, the son of Senator Hanna, which name the crook gave as the name of the man to whom he was to deliver the goods.

But even at this state of affairs the jeweler did not become confused. He quickly gave the jeweler his address as 21 Lafayette Square and requested that the jewels be sent to his home before 5 o'clock. The well-groomed stranger then sauntered slowly out of the establishment.

Among those present in the store at the time of his visit was a man who had been informed one of the jewelers that the ostensible purchaser of the gems was an impostor. This statement created intense excitement among them, they having at first believed the story of the smooth talking individual.

In the meantime the customer who denounced McDowell as a fraud followed him upon his departure and saw him enter the store of C. C. & Co. This man standing behind a tree box where he could obtain a good view of the crook, saw the well-dressed stranger emerge from the establishment shortly and hurriedly retraced his steps toward Sixth Street. The customer shadowed the crook closely until the jewelry shop of C. A. Goldsmith was reached and was surprised to see the bold impostor enter that establishment.

The first thing McDowell did upon entering was to enquire for Mr. Goldsmith, and when he found the proprietor was absent, asked to see a diamond brooch. A number of them were shown him, and he finally selected a magnificent diamond heart, valued at $1,000. "I guess I will secure this one," said the bogus Mr. Hanna, taking the costly decoration in his hand and examining it closely.

"To whom shall I charge it?" enquired the clerk. "Why, to M. A. Hanna, my father, of course," replied the stranger. The clerk, believing his customer to be telling an honest story, stated that he would send the gem to the address given.

Now McDowell, evidently chagrined and a trifle anxious, put an earnest question possible between him and his late visiting place, and was just about to cross Ninth Street at a rapid gait when his shadow, seeing Crossing Policeman Elliott standing near by, cried out at the top of his voice: "Catch the crook!"

Policeman Elliott at once sprang for the mostly dense gentleman pointed out, and was about to grasp him by the collar when McDowell, with a quick movement, suddenly drew a revolver from his side pocket, and wheeling upon the stalwart bluecoat leveled the weapon against the latter's head.

The unexpected sight of the revolver so startled the policeman that he involuntarily halted and then McDowell started off at a rapid pace down Pennsylvania Avenue. Instantly the officer in pursuit, followed by a rapidly increasing crowd of citizens, who were crying "Stop, thief!" but were afraid to advance too close upon the fugitive for fear he would make use of his weapon, the barrel of which glinted brightly in the sunshine.

Every time his pursuers would seem to gain upon him the determined crook would halt for a moment and then disappear.

People can live in a temperature which feels from ten to twenty degrees cooler than their neighbors enjoy, by regulating the breakfast.

The plan is to avoid meat entirely for breakfast, use a goodly allowance of fruit, either cooked or raw. Then follow with a sauce containing about two tablespoons of Grape-Nuts, treated with a little rich cream.

Experience and experiment in food and its application to the human body has brought out these facts. They can be made use of and add materially to the comfort of the user.

KRETOL,

The Most Powerful Disinfectant, Germicide, and Antiseptic

KNOWN TO SCIENCE. A HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY.

A new idea has occurred to the leading families, and that is the use of KRETOL to render the home antiseptic. This is a recent departure. All baths can be made antiseptic at a cost not exceeding ONE CENT by the use of KRETOL.

Cheap, Effective, Convenient, and Non-Poisonous.

Use CONCENTRATED KRETOL with a sprayer to PREVENT MOTHS from destroying carpets, woollens, drapery, etc. Spray the closets and bags which contain the furs. No insect of any description can exist where Kretol is used. Does not stain or injure clothing, bedding, or carpets.

KRETOL is proof against the spread of contagious diseases. Should be used in all cases of sickness, especially in cholera, smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet and typhoid fever, etc., etc. More powerful and prompt in its action and more lasting in its effect than all others.

Use CONCENTRATED KRETOL for cuspidors and sinks. KRETOL SOAP, the highest type of medical soap in use. Fine for shampooing ladies' hair. KRETOL KOLD KREAM can be had by calling at the main office, 1224 F Street N. W. New lot just from the laboratory.

Use CONCENTRATED KRETOL, diluted with water, for gardens, hen houses, and to make a bath for your dogs and cats; sure to destroy fleas. Destroy caterpillars on trees by spraying them with KRETOL with an Uncle Sam Sprayer.

Public schools and institutions of all kinds are adopting Kretol. BE SURE YOU HAVE THE NAME RIGHT, as there are similar sounding names which are palmed off on the public for KRETOL.

For Sale by All First-Class Druggists and at the Main Office, 1224 F Street Northwest, Washington, D. C.

would halt for a second and, turning in the direction, level his gun at them. Several of the more venturesome pursuers ran up to him, but were frightened away at the sight of the weapon. The fugitive was now crossing Seventh Street and making for C Street.

In the meantime all was confusion among the officials at Police Headquarters. Major Sylvester had just received a message from Chateauberg's store, which informed him that a man had been seen there at about 6 o'clock, who had just left a diamond thief, who had just left.

The detectives had just crossed Sixth Street northwest when a man in a dark suit and a man brandishing a revolver, and, noticing the great crowd closely following him, Weedon and Muller ran rapidly in that direction.

At a late hour last night Sergeant Carter was notified by St. Louis the following report: "I have just received a report from a man who has been in the city for some time."

When seen in his cell at the First Precinct station last night by a Times reporter, McDowell was in a happy frame of mind, despite the fact that it may be many years before he will again be a free man. He remarked to one of the detectives last night, when speaking in regard to which city would probably pay the most reward for his capture:

"I would like to see the city of Philadelphia itself would like very much to have me, but I will have to wait a while."

"Well," said McDowell in his cell at the station last night to a Times reporter, "I'm up against it proper now. This was my first time in Washington to 'do a job' and I lost. Well, it's my own fault, I might have known they'd catch me if I continued into every jewelry store I saw, but I needed the money and took a chance, and lost. If those people who chased me today had given me a half a chance I could have gotten away, but they followed me too close."

When asked why he drew the gun on the detectives, McDowell said: "I wasn't going to shoot either of them. All I wanted to do was to get away, because I realized that it would be all up with me if I was caught. But I had made up my mind to shoot myself before being captured, but the two sleuths were too quick for me."

The prisoner last night admitted to the reporter that his right name was McDowell, despite the fact that he gave the name of John Doe when arrested. He appears to be greatly worried about his wife, whom he says is waiting for him to return home, he having lost all of his money at the race track. He left her, he said, to come here to try to secure sufficient money with which to return home. McDowell refuses to employ a lawyer, and it is not believed will refuse to accompany the St. Louis police official upon the latter's arrival here Sunday night.

TRIED TO WORK BALTIMORE.

McDowell Narrowly Escaped Arrest in the Monumental City. BALTIMORE, July 20.—Lewis C. McDowell, who was arrested in Washington today, owes his capture primarily to a sharp-witted clerk in the employ of Henry, Bates & Co., jewelers of this city.

After selecting a brooch valued at $800 he asked that he be allowed to take it away and the bill be sent to his office or to his father. The salesman became suspicious, and after consulting the firm notified the detective department. The young man became suspicious, however, and disappeared. Captain Humphrey, of the detective force, immediately detailed a number of his men to watch the various jewelry establishments and the railroad station.

A man answering the description of the swindler had departed by way of Camden Station and word was immediately sent to Washington, Philadelphia and Wilmington. McDowell registered here as A. H. Coroy, of Chicago.

peared. Despite the fact that descriptions of both escaped men were published in circulars and scattered throughout the country, nothing was ever heard of the two until McDowell was arrested yesterday.

Immediately upon learning the prisoner's identity, Major Sylvester wired Chief Kelly, of St. Louis, a brief despatch telling of McDowell's capture, and added that if the St. Louis authorities desired the prisoner they should have an officer in this city by Sunday night to take him away. This was done because of the fact that two detectives had been assaulted and injured with intent to kill and another of carrying concealed weapons were arrested.

At a late hour last night Sergeant Carter was notified by St. Louis the following report: "I have just received a report from a man who has been in the city for some time."

When seen in his cell at the First Precinct station last night by a Times reporter, McDowell was in a happy frame of mind, despite the fact that it may be many years before he will again be a free man. He remarked to one of the detectives last night, when speaking in regard to which city would probably pay the most reward for his capture:

"I would like to see the city of Philadelphia itself would like very much to have me, but I will have to wait a while."

"Well," said McDowell in his cell at the station last night to a Times reporter, "I'm up against it proper now. This was my first time in Washington to 'do a job' and I lost. Well, it's my own fault, I might have known they'd catch me if I continued into every jewelry store I saw, but I needed the money and took a chance, and lost. If those people who chased me today had given me a half a chance I could have gotten away, but they followed me too close."

When asked why he drew the gun on the detectives, McDowell said: "I wasn't going to shoot either of them. All I wanted to do was to get away, because I realized that it would be all up with me if I was caught. But I had made up my mind to shoot myself before being captured, but the two sleuths were too quick for me."

The prisoner last night admitted to the reporter that his right name was McDowell, despite the fact that he gave the name of John Doe when arrested. He appears to be greatly worried about his wife, whom he says is waiting for him to return home, he having lost all of his money at the race track. He left her, he said, to come here to try to secure sufficient money with which to return home. McDowell refuses to employ a lawyer, and it is not believed will refuse to accompany the St. Louis police official upon the latter's arrival here Sunday night.

TRIED TO WORK BALTIMORE.

McDowell Narrowly Escaped Arrest in the Monumental City. BALTIMORE, July 20.—Lewis C. McDowell, who was arrested in Washington today, owes his capture primarily to a sharp-witted clerk in the employ of Henry, Bates & Co., jewelers of this city.

After selecting a brooch valued at $800 he asked that he be allowed to take it away and the bill be sent to his office or to his father. The salesman became suspicious, and after consulting the firm notified the detective department. The young man became suspicious, however, and disappeared. Captain Humphrey, of the detective force, immediately detailed a number of his men to watch the various jewelry establishments and the railroad station.

A man answering the description of the swindler had departed by way of Camden Station and word was immediately sent to Washington, Philadelphia and Wilmington. McDowell registered here as A. H. Coroy, of Chicago.

job' and I lost. Well, it's my own fault, I might have known they'd catch me if I continued into every jewelry store I saw, but I needed the money and took a chance, and lost. If those people who chased me today had given me a half a chance I could have gotten away, but they followed me too close."

When asked why he drew the gun on the detectives, McDowell said: "I wasn't going to shoot either of them. All I wanted to do was to get away, because I realized that it would be all up with me if I was caught. But I had made up my mind to shoot myself before being captured, but the two sleuths were too quick for me."

The prisoner last night admitted to the reporter that his right name was McDowell, despite the fact that he gave the name of John Doe when arrested. He appears to be greatly worried about his wife, whom he says is waiting for him to return home, he having lost all of his money at the race track. He left her, he said, to come here to try to secure sufficient money with which to return home. McDowell refuses to employ a lawyer, and it is not believed will refuse to accompany the St. Louis police official upon the latter's arrival here Sunday night.

TRIED TO WORK BALTIMORE.

McDowell Narrowly Escaped Arrest in the Monumental City. BALTIMORE, July 20.—Lewis C. McDowell, who was arrested in Washington today, owes his capture primarily to a sharp-witted clerk in the employ of Henry, Bates & Co., jewelers of this city.

After selecting a brooch valued at $800 he asked that he be allowed to take it away and the bill be sent to his office or to his father. The salesman became suspicious, and after consulting the firm notified the detective department. The young man became suspicious, however, and disappeared. Captain Humphrey, of the detective force, immediately detailed a number of his men to watch the various jewelry establishments and the railroad station.

A man answering the description of the swindler had departed by way of Camden Station and word was immediately sent to Washington, Philadelphia and Wilmington. McDowell registered here as A. H. Coroy, of Chicago.

TRIED TO WORK BALTIMORE.

McDowell Narrowly Escaped Arrest in the Monumental City. BALTIMORE, July 20.—Lewis C. McDowell, who was arrested in Washington today, owes his capture primarily to a sharp-witted clerk in the employ of Henry, Bates & Co., jewelers of this city.

After selecting a brooch valued at $800 he asked that he be allowed to take it away and the bill be sent to his office or to his father. The salesman became suspicious, and after consulting the firm notified the detective department. The young man became suspicious, however, and disappeared. Captain Humphrey, of the detective force, immediately detailed a number of his men to watch the various jewelry establishments and the railroad station.

A man answering the description of the swindler had departed by way of Camden Station and word was immediately sent to Washington, Philadelphia and Wilmington. McDowell registered here as A. H. Coroy, of Chicago.

TRIED TO WORK BALTIMORE.

McDowell Narrowly Escaped Arrest in the Monumental City. BALTIMORE, July 20.—Lewis C. McDowell, who was arrested in Washington today, owes his capture primarily to a sharp-witted clerk in the employ of Henry, Bates & Co., jewelers of this city.

After selecting a brooch valued at $800 he asked that he be allowed to take it away and the bill be sent to his office or to his father. The salesman became suspicious, and after consulting the firm notified the detective department. The young man became suspicious, however, and disappeared. Captain Humphrey, of the detective force, immediately detailed a number of his men to watch the various jewelry establishments and the railroad station.

A GENERAL'S SON HELD. Young Eric Kobbe Charged With Shooting a Boy. SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—One of the young sons of Gen. W. A. Kobbe, now stationed at Manila, has been arrested and held charged with assault on murder. The victim is young Paul Wisig, whom the boy shot in a tug with his rifle.

Eric and Hermann Kobbe, fifteen and sixteen years old, for several weeks have been shooting on a rifle range at Fort Mason, where their mother lives. Men in boats have complained of the boys' recklessness. One oarsman came near having his boat sunk because the boys popped it with bullets.

Yesterday Wisig, with three companions, was in a rowboat when several shots fell about them and Wisig received a wound in the right lung, which the surgeon at the hospital fear will prove fatal. The Kobbe boys told their mother the younger boy admitted that he must have shot Wisig, but said that they did not see any boat. Eric was held for trial.

AUCTION SALES.

THOS. J. GREEN & SON, AUCTIONEERS, 1117 F ST. N. W. TRUSTEES' SALE OF TWO-STORY AND BASEMENT BRICK DWELLING, NO. 655 C ST. N. E.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust, duly recorded in Book 228, Page 10, of the Land Records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the parties secured thereby, we will sell at public auction, on the premises on THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1901, at 5 O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises, situate being in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, and distinguished as being lot numbered 77, in Buchanan Hall's subdivision of part of square 83, as per plat recorded in the Office of the Surveyor of the District of Columbia, Liber 15, Folio 124, with the improvements thereon.

Terms of sale—One-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest secured by deed of trust on the property sold, or all cash at the purchaser's option. A deposit of $100 required at time of sale. Terms governing, recording, etc., at purchase as per contract.

BATES WARREN, MICHAEL V. TIERNEY, Trustees.

The above sale is postponed until MONDAY, JULY 23, 1901, at 4 O'CLOCK P. M., by order of the trustees.

Samuel Friedlander & Co. 416 Seventh Street N. W.

THE LAST DAYS OF THE GREAT IMPROVEMENT SALE!

- Women's Furnishings.
 - 2c for Women's 10c Swiss Ribbed Vests—low neck and sleeveless.
 - 1c for Women's 5c Fancy Border Handkerchiefs—fast colors.
 - 4c for Children's 10c Fast Black Hose.
 - 9c for Women's 15c Bleached Swiss Ribbed Vests—taped around neck and arms.
 - 9c the yard for Pure Silk Taffeta Ribbons; very wide; all shades; regular price, 25c.
 - 23c Patent Leather Belts; all the rage.
 - 7c for Women's 12-13c Peerless Fast Black Hosiery; seamless and stainless.
- Men's and Boys' Clothing.
 - $5.75 For Men's $12 and $15 Suits.
- The Dry Goods Section.
 - 6c the yard for yard wide Cambric—splendid quality—regular price 10c.
 - 4c the yard for yard-wide Unbleached Muslin—extra heavy—regular price 8c.
 - 3c the yard for Satin Plaid Nainsook—neat patterns—regular price 5c.
 - 3c the yard for Dainty Scotch—lavender—neat patterns and color effects.
- Women's Garments.
 - $1.75 for Women's $2.50 Oxford Grey Walking Skirts.
 - $2.49 for Women's $5 Ladies' Cloth Dress Skirts; Black only.
 - 98c for Women's $1.50 Covert Cloth Wash Skirts; graduated dounces.
- Second Floor Bargains.
 - 19c for Women's 25c Satenee Strip Corsets; white and gray.
 - 25c for Children's 50c Muslin Night Gowns; ruffled yokes.
- Toilet Articles.
 - 7 cakes of Butterfield Soap 10c
 - 3 cakes of Palm Oil Soap 10c
 - 3 cakes of Elderberry Soap 10c
- Laces and Embroideries.
 - 2c the yard for 10c English Torchon Lace; all widths.
 - 3c the yard for 10c Torchon Lace; all widths.
 - 2c the yard for Pretty Embroidered Dress; worth 10c.
 - 2c the yard for Dainty Embroideries; worth 10c.
- Millinery Bargains.
 - 15c for Women's 30c Straw Sailors; newest shapes.
 - 5c a bunch for Flowers; worth 25c.
- Men's Furnishings.
 - 6c for Men's 15c Summer Suspender; wire buckles.
 - 16c for Men's 35c Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers; strong effects.
 - 20c for Men's 50c Muslin Night Gowns; trimmed with braid.
 - 45c for Men's 100c Negligee Shirts; French and Madras; detached cuffs; exclusive designs.
 - 89c for Men's and Women's $1.50 Mercerized Gloria Umbrellas; tight roll; case and handles; pretty handles; German silver trimmed.

SAMUEL FRIEDLANDER & CO. 416 Seventh Street N. W.