THE MACHIAS GOING SOUTH

Orders Issued for the Gunboat to Proceed to Colon.

Conditions in Colombia Believed to Warrant the Presence of a Warship-Danger of the Interruption of Free Traffic on the Isthmus.

As a result of a conference between the acting heads of the State and Navy Departments yesterday, an order was issued by Acting Secretary Hackett directing the gunboat Machias, now at the Boston Navy Yard, to prepare to proceed to Colen, Colombia, as soon as possible This action was the result of a cable message to the State Department from Units d States Consul Gudger, at Panuma, in stated that the Liberals of Colombia had held up a train on the Pana ma Rajirood near Matachin and captured several Government officials. He added, however, that there had been no looting or damage done.

In consequence of the action on the part of the Colombian revolutionsist on the Panama Railroad, the fear is entertained here that there may be some interruption to trade across the isthmus, and for this reasop it is deemed prudent to have a warship in the vicinity to protect American interests if occasion arises, and to fulfill the treaty obligations.

The Machias will not interfere unless there is some radical change in the situa-tion. Events which have already transpired, do not, in the opinion of the autherities here, justify the United States in intervening in any way, but lest there might, in view of the uprising, be occasion for the United States taking a hand in the affairs there, the gunboat has been ordered to the scene.

Under the conditions of the treaty between the United States and Colombia, the latter guarantees to the Government United States that the right of way of transit across the Isthmus of Panama shall be open and free to the Gov-ernment and the citizens of the United States This Government guarantees the perfect neutrality of the isthmus, with a view of having free transit from one sea to the other uninterrupted at all times. Upon two occasions the Government of Colombia has called upon the United States for aid in the fulfillment of this treaty. The last occasion was during the months of March and April, 1885, when there was a revolution in Colombia. At that time Colombia set forth three reasons for the intervention of the United States, first that it was unable to cope with the revolutionary forces, secend that free transit across the isthmus was being interrupted, and, third, that the Government of Colombia might not be embarrassed and harassed by its enemies upon the seas. This Government decided that it could not take cognizance of the first and third reasons for vention, but did land a number of troops for the purpose of protecting the rail-road and maintaining the neutrality of the isthmus. The United States forces took possession and held for a short time one terminus of the road, and order was soon restored.

In the present situation there appears In the present situation there appears to be no question as to maintaining the neutrality of the isthmus, as so far as the State Department is advised there is no invasion of Colombia from the outside, the trouble which exists in that country apparently being from within. The department knows of no invasion of Colombia from Venezuela. Still, if the revolutionists interfere with free transit across the isthmus, this Government may deem it necessary to intervene and oreacross the isthmus, this Government may deem it necessary to intervene and prevent interruption to traffic, as it did in 1855. It would not, of course, take sides with either of the beiligerents, with the forces of the Gevernment or the army of the revolutionists, both being Colombians, the obligations of the treaty being binding upon both.

The trouble threatened there now is ing upon both.

The trouble threatened there now is somewhat similar to that of 1885. As yet, however, the circumstances do not justify the United States in taking any hand in the difficulties. There is no report to the effect that trade has been interfered with, and the fact that the revolutionists, according to Consul Gudger's report, did no damage, but simply captured several officers of the Government, tends to show that both the Government and the revolutionists realize the meaning and import of the treaty.

OUSTED A WIDOW.

Kentucky Republicans Win in a De termined Postoffice Fight.

Schater Deboe of Kentucky has won a stubborn fight before the Postoffice De partment. His antagonist was a widow, but she was made determined by the facthat she has ten children who depend or her for support, and by the belief that if whe lost her fight she and her children would have to face starvation. Under these circumstances the widow fought the Republican organization of Kentucky behind him, won, and yesterday Mrs. Ger-trade Saunders was removed from the postmastership of Newrastle, Ky. James

Gray was appointed in her place Mrs. Saunders' husband, a steadfast Republican, died several years ago. He was appointed postmaster under President Harrison, and when he died he left to his widow the care of bringing up the family of ten children. She was apinted to succeed her husband, and when President Cleveland came in she was allewed to remain undisturbed. Through the first McKinley Administration she still held the office. During all this time there were no charges against her.

A dentist named Gray lives at Newcaspublican County Committee of Henry County, Ky., and he thought the Newcastle mail should be handled by himself instead of Mrs. Saunders. The Henry County Republican Committee is an or-County Republican Committee is an organization unique even in Kentucky politics. It is composed of lifteen members, of whom ten are postmasters in that county. Gray was one of the five who were not postmasters. When the candidate appears for a postoffice in such a county as Henry the matter is usually referred to the county committee. Therefore it was easy for the county committee, every time a postoffice became variant, to endorse one of their own circle for the office, and they have done so regularly. So when Mr. Gray became a candidate he had behind him ten postmasters of Henhad behind him ten postmasters of Hen-ry County, as well as the whole Repub-lican Committee, while Mrs. Saunders had nothing but the good will of the patrons nothing but the good will of the patrons of her office.

Last June Senator Deboe and a party from Henry County came to Washington for she purpose of ousting Mrs. Saunders and installing Mr. Gray. They announced that they intended to stay in Washington until Mrs. Saunders had been superseded. A day or two later Mrs. Saunders appeared—small and pale, but gritty and determined. She besteged the office of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, the Postmaster General, the Postmaster General, and even the Fresident, until she had secured an audience with each and explained her an audience with each and explained her case. She returned to Kentucky with the assurance that she had excited the com-

The excitement died on the could be a support of June. That was in the latter part of June. The excitement died out. The postmasters committeemen—had returned without Mrs. Saunders scalp. Yesterday Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow caused some surprise by announcing her dismissal and the appointment of Dentist Gray. The office pays $400 a month, and will allow the new postmaster time to attend to his regular business.

A DESPONDENT WOMAN'S DEED.

Takes a Dose of Landsnum and Says She Wants to Die.

Despondency led Mrs. Lulu Neurath to attempt to end her life last night by takng a dose of laudanum. She was removed from her home, 302 Fourth Street northeast, to the Emergency Hospital, and is now reported out of danger. At a late hour Mrs. Neurath insisted on returning ome, and left the hospital in a cab. Since the death of Charles Neurath, her usband, late in October of last year, Mrs. Neurath says she has had a hard time to make ends meet. She keeps a small confectionery stere on the first floor of her home, and lives in rooms above the es-tablishment. For weeks she has been iii, and her health has apparently grown worse as time wore on. The death of her husband, caused by consumption, also came as a severe shock to her nerves, however, the circumstances do not justify the United States in taking any hand in the difficulties. There is no report to the effect that trade has been interfered with, and the fact that the revolutionists, according to Consul Gudger's report, did no damage, but simply captured several offices of the Government, tends to show that both the Government, tends to show that both the Government, tends to show that both the Government and the revolutionists realize the meaning and import of the treaty.

The Rear Admiral to Be Relieved of Command of the Asiatic Squadron -Larger Quarters in Which to Conduct the Investigation Desired.

Orders will shortly be issued by the Navy Department directing the return to this country of Rear Admiral Remey, now commanding the Assatic Station. Rear Admiral Remey is now on the Brooklyn, his flagship, and will be directed to take a commercial steamer back to the United States. He will probably be succeeded in command of the station by Rear Admiral Rodgers, at present senior squadron commander.

The reason for Rear Admiral Remey's recall to this country is that he will be needed as a witness before the Court of Enquiry appointed to investigate the conpaign. Admiral Remey was stationed at Key West during the campaign and will be able to tell of orders given Rear Admiral Schley when the latter called there

The feeling is general that Secretary Long's reception room, designated in the precept as the place of meeting for the Schley Court of Enquiry, will prove too small to accommodate all who not unreasonably desire to attend. It is con-venient to the records and other official papers which the court might have occaonly advantage; and in anticipation that the court, after its first meeting, may wish more commodious quarters, a search is already in progress for other available space.

POLICE PROTECT SMUGGLERS.

Windlessor, Out. Aug. 7.—Because he was too atsiduous in the discharge of his duty Dr. Alvin T. Gregory, one of the special officers in the employ of the United States Trendurf, Department, was ordered out of Windser this afternoon, and the order came from the chief of publics.

n given for this drastic action was that Gregory was injuring the trade of the local merchants by "spoting" women who cross the river from Detroit and buy such contraband articles is silk and laces and then systematically and artistically arranging their purchases beneath their skirts, return to Detroit without paying duties to the United States. The Treasury officials have long been aware that smuggling was carried on here on an extensive scale, but as women have invariably been the offenders it has been found extremely hard to trap them. So large has this American trade become that the large stores have special dressing rooms for their American patrons, where the goods to be smuggied an be arranged at leisure.

Some idea of the extent to which this smuggling is carried on can be gathered from the fact that Detroit patronage alone is estimated to be worth at least half a million dollars a year. He then followed them across on the ferry and when the boat reached De-troit the smugglers were taken into the custom house and searched. The Windsor was decreasing of late and blamed it to the vigilance of Gregory. He was charged with loitering on the streets. HYPNOTISM AND HICCOUGHS

Local Physicians Unable to Cure Loretta Kemp's Affliction.

The Patient Vields to the Strange Influence But Spasms Continue Unabated - Previously Had a Three Months' Attack-Doctors Puzzled

For nearly sixty hours a pretty seven-teen-year-old girl at the Casualty Hos-pital has been suffering from a case of continued hiccoughs, and the combined efforts of the best physicians in the city have been exerted without avail to stop the convulsions. She is Miss Loretta Kemp, the daughter of Ezra Kemp, a carpenter, who lives at Fairmont Heights, a settlement near Benning station,

On Monday evening Miss Kemp began ughing. The convulsions were slight at first. Gradually she lost control of her muscles, and the biccough increased. All Monday night she biccoughed steadily without a break in the continued spasms and on Tuesday morning she was brough into the city, and taken to the hospital, where her case immediately excited great interest among the physicians of the institution and members of the medical pro-fession generally in Washington.

After all known methods of treatment in such cases had been tried, an eminent physician, and a man who has had great success through the use of hypnotism in his practice, visited the hospital on Monday afternoon and endeavored to effect a cure by hypnotic suggestion. The attempt was a failure, so far as any re-hef was concerned, and throughout the treatment Miss Kemp continued to hic-cough as she had since first attacked. The power of the doctor over the young woman was complete. She responded al-most immediately to the influence of the physician's mind, and went into a trance, While in this condition she would obey the hypnotist. Her body, would remain in whatever position placed, and her will was completely subjective to that of the doctor, yet she resisted every effort made toward the control of the convulsions. All the methods used by hypnotists were exerted. She was told that she thought she had the hiccoughs, but that as a fact she did not have them. To all such suggestions the girl turned a deaf ear an hiccoughed just the same. When first taken to the hospital the physicians administered cocaine, internaliy. Five drops of the powerful drug were given to her every hour, but the medicine might as well have been water, for all effect which it had. Chloroform was then resorted to, and so long as the girl could be kept under the influence of the optate the hiccoughs ceased, but immediately upon recovering from its influence the spasms returned. Morphine, in large quantities, finally caused the hiccoughing to stop at 5 o'clock Monday evening. Un der the soothing and stupefying influence of the drug she was able to sleep until 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Upon awakenting the hiccoughing began again. Anesthetics were again administered, with considerable success, and temporarily during the day the spasms ceased for a few minutes at a time, only to return with apparently greater force toward
