

A BLUE AND GREY TRIUMPH

Georgetown Defeats the V. M. I. by a Score of 5 to 0.

Cadets Play Strong Football and Hold Their Advantages Down to Touchdown—Improvement in Form Displayed by the Locals.

A lone touchdown, five points, made by Georgetown carry in the game, was all that stood between a nothing-fussing football argument on Georgetown Field yesterday afternoon between the Blue and Grey and Virginia Military Institute. Few better contests have been seen in Washington than the one witnessed by nearly 2,000 spectators yesterday.

Nervy Reilly, the crack Georgetown halfback, wriggled through the Cadets line about ten minutes after the first kick off. Then it was back and forth in the center of the field. The Georgetown slogan and the V. M. I. yell were sent across the field so strenuously at times that the cadences became as much mixed up as were the players.

The game was a first class exhibition of the great college sport. The day was ideal for both spectators and players. The Blue and Grey showed the good effects of the rigid work of the past week under Coach Church. The line played much lower, changed better on offense, and held better when the Cadets had the ball. There was enough uncertainty throughout the contest to keep the spectators on tiptoe. Fumbles were frequent, but not once was anything of a blunder responsible for any considerable gain.

Georgetown almost entirely confined its offensive tactics to the line-bucking game, although sometimes the ends were tried, frequently with success. The Cadets tried and proving a weak link. Reilly circled the end in the second half for a gain of 35 yards. When tackled, he bled, already somewhat injured, was so badly hurt that he was forced to retire. C. Seitz took his place, but was inclined to touch in individuality in his play. The rest of the team game. Drill and Owens, on the left side of the Georgetown line, proved practically impregnable. Hardesty, at fullback, played a first-class game. P. Edmondson did the punting and held his own with Perry, the crack Cadet quarterback.

Georgetown looked off at the opening of the game. Perry returned with the ball about 15 yards. Georgetown took the ball about the center of the field. By line plunges and short darts at the ends the Cadets on a fumble. Perry returned the ball to Georgetown's ball on their own 25-yard line. The rest of the game, with out resorting to punts, advanced the ball straight down the field without a break. Finally Reilly, who had been tackled and over the line within ten minutes after the whistle had blown. The marking ten minutes of the game, he remained no particularly brilliant work.

During the second half until the latter part, when the Cadets gained a slight advantage, the game was confined to the center of the field without either team encroaching on the danger zone of the other. The line-up:

HOPKINS TEAM BLANKED.

Defeated by Gallaudet by the Score of 12 to 0.

The eleven gridiron warriors from Johns Hopkins University trudged out to Kendall Green yesterday afternoon to take a fall out of the Gallaudet pigskin blusters, but were greatly surprised when the mutes scored two touchdowns without permitting the doctors to score. The Johns Hopkins lads got the ball very near the last line, but were held down by the mutes.

Gallaudet had a walkaway and did not have to exert themselves to secure the two touchdowns. They held their opponents for downs several times in the first half, and after receiving the oval they made a number of end runs which easily averaged twenty-five yards each. When the leather was within fifteen yards of the goal Gellifuss skirted around right end and scored the first touchdown. He kicked an easy goal, making the score 6 to 0.

The visitors had their line broken through on numerous occasions and were not checked the mutes, who went through with terrific weight and force. Waters, Andrew, Gellifuss, Erickson, and Neenan all made gains averaging thirty yards each. Waters, a short, chunky fellow, was the easiest to shove through the line. When the team needed ground he was given the pigskin, and always made the required gains, and often more. The visitors tried to kick goal from the field several times, but were not successful.

The doctors were on the defensive throughout the game, their main occupation being to hold the mutes down to the line. The doctors did not work hard enough to secure a touchdown, but exerted all their efforts in preventing the mutes from rolling up a big count against them. Yearley, Houghton, and Sawyer did excellent work on the line and also made long advances. None of the visitors' gains were for more than fifteen yards, and only two for that length were made. The visitors were weak on the ends. The mutes recovered the fact early in the game, and ran around both ends for gains. The doctors were somewhat stronger in the first half than they were in the second.

Johns Hopkins kicked off to the mutes and closed in on them without allowing them to bring the leather back any distance. The mutes tried several trick plays, and they were near the center of the field when they lost the pigskin on a fumble. The doctors were held for downs, and the mutes sent Andrew around left end with the ball. He made a gain of thirty yards. The mutes hit the line for several yards on each advance.

On the next line-up Gellifuss ran away from the bunch and scored a touchdown on a forty-yard dash. The ball was kicked out and Gellifuss kicked goal. There remained about ten minutes to play, but the mutes were not either team's possession for any length of time, and was nowhere near either goal at the end of the game.

After an intermission of ten minutes the second half began. The mutes kicked off to the 25-yard line, and Gellifuss went around right end and kicked the leather back to the 35-yard line. When the mutes had gotten the ball to their 25-yard line the pigskin was given to the visitors, and they held for downs. The visitors returned the oval to their 5-yard line, but were held for downs. The doctors were held for downs in close formation and offered an excellent interference. Andrew, who had the ball, made a gain of ten yards. The mutes returned the ball to the visitors' line, and the mutes returned the ball to the visitors' line, and the mutes returned the ball to the visitors' line.

But twenty seconds play remained, and the visitors made no attempt to return the ball. The half was closed with the score standing 12 to 0, in favor of the Kendall Green lads.

NAVAL CADETS OUTPLAYED. State College of Pennsylvania Victorious at Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—State College of Pennsylvania, defeated the Cadets today by a score of 11 to 6. The Cadets defeated the University of Pennsylvania last Monday and were perfectly confident of winning this game, but they were decidedly outplayed.

YALE ANGRY AT COLUMBIA

Fisticuffs Marked the Game at New Haven Yesterday.

Members of the New York York, It is Declared, Are Professional Athletes—One of the Connecticut Players Bitten During a Scrimmage.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26.—Playing against a team acknowledged by Columbia men to be 50 per cent better than the team which went against Harvard, Yale today defeated the Blue and White by a score of 10 to 5. Barring the slugging, the game was one of the proudest this fall. The slugging, however, was a disagreeable feature.

"I think that it is very peculiar," said one Yale man, "that Columbia should show up here with a team which contains scarcely any men who played Harvard, and men for the most part rangers. They may be Columbia students, but they are practically professionals, and are members of athletic clubs."

It was very difficult for the Yale players to keep their temper, and to refrain from doing a little slugging on their own account, and one or two, after particularly rough handling by the Columbia slug, jumped into the Columbia men and struck them.

One of the Yale players said tonight: "You would not believe it, but Columbia men did not stop at slugging. One of our men had the middle finger on his right hand bitten. That was pretty fierce business."

The first half was a trying half for the Yale coaches and Yale friends, owing to the fact that the aggressive work of the New Yorkers kept the Yale slugs from scoring. It was fierce and savage work, throughout the half, from start to finish, and the slugging, Columbia being a grievous offender in this respect, repeatedly brought the thousands on the grand stand to their feet in uproarious protest. Yale was not absolutely satisfied with the result. Yale soon scored a touchdown. Ten minutes later Cohen Morley, of Columbia, kicked a goal from the field. In the latter part of the second half Yale scored her second touchdown, making the final score 6 to 0.

Coaches Stillman, Ely, Adee and Morris, of Yale, and Coach Sanford, of Columbia, had a consultation late tonight, the result of which was that Yale issued a statement positively denouncing the slugging, and asking that the Yale men physically in the second half. The Tigress, on the other hand, were admirably fit to stand the test.

During the first half the powerful guards back play used by the Easton slugs, which was so effective in the first frequently, but, instead of looking quite organized by the continuous battering, they were completely broken down under the test, as was shown by the determined stands which the Tigress made in the second half.

Lafayette's attack was spasmodic. Nevertheless, it is a fact that, while they were playing the Tigress, they were playing the Tigress at a standstill.

CORNELL'S WORK GOOD. A Large Total Kicked Up Against Oberlin College.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Cornell put up a surprisingly good game against the Oberlin College eleven this afternoon, and the score, 24 to 0, is a record for Cornell. It was a larger total than when the coaches anticipated.

For the first five minutes of the play the Westerners held Cornell well, and before the end of the first quarter the score was 10 to 0. Cornell's defense was strengthened by the twenty-yard line when Hilton failed at a placed goal. Cornell kicked a long run was made by Purcell and Finneane, and before the half was over Cornell had scored twice.

PRINCETON AT A STANDSTILL. The Tigers Escape Defeat by Only a Narrow Margin.

PRINCETON, Oct. 26.—Lafayette played Princeton to a standstill here today. When there were only six minutes more to play, neither side had scored. The Princeton supporters were enveloped in a gloom more intense than that occasioned by the approaching night.

Princeton had just thrown away a chance to score by a fumble on Lafayette's seven-yard line. Cure had punted the pigskin to the center of the field. There was a clash as the two lines came together in the next scrimmage, and then suddenly Dewitt emerged from the struggling men in the left side of the Eastonians' line. As he broke away into the open a Lafayette tackle sprang at him, but the big runner warded him off. There was only one more chance to score, and victory for Princeton, Tackler, Lafayette's little quarterback, kicked Dewitt, but could not hold Princeton's young giant, who broke away, and rolled over the line for a touchdown. Pandermonium reigned for a few seconds, and to allow it kicked the goal, making the score 6 to 0.

The Tigers easily dallied away the remaining six minutes of play, and the game was ended with the ball in their possession at the center of the field. Lafayette had a fine defense while it lasted, but the line seemed to go to pieces instead of making any stand. The Tigress, on the other hand, were admirably fit to stand the test.

AMONG LOCAL ATHLETES.

First Indoor Meet Will Be Held at Philadelphia November 2.

National Basketball Committee Adopts New Playing Rules—Y. M. C. A. Footballists—Institute Has a Fast Baseball Team—Eastern A. C.

The first amateur indoor athletic track and field games of the season will be held in the gymnasium of the Central Athletic Club, Philadelphia, on Saturday evening, November 2. This club is a new bidder for athletic honors and proposes to make the reputation of Philadelphia as a center where the cream of the amateur athletes will compete. It will be liberal in the prizes it offers and in every way hopes to make its meets attractive to athletes in the Atlantic Division of the A. C. U.

The opening games will include open-to-all and interscholastic events. In the former there will be the following: 50-yard dash, handicap; 40-yard run, obstacle race, scratch; 100-yard run, handicap; 200-yard run, handicap; 400-yard run, handicap; 800-yard run, handicap; two-mile handicap, and one-mile relay race. The programme will close with a basketball game between well-known teams. Entry blanks and all necessary information may be had by addressing John A. Roden, 229 Madison Square, Philadelphia.

This being the opening set of games of the indoor season, many clubs will take the opportunity to try out their men for a good try-out, and it is quite probable that this city will be represented by several track teams.

At a meeting of the basketball committee of the Amateur Athletic Union held in New York City last week several changes to the playing rules of the popular game were recommended and adopted.

First of all the committee felt that a field goal should be worth more than twice as much as a goal from a free throw, and that the rule should be changed so that three points in the future instead of two for a field goal; one point from a free throw, and one point from a free throw.

The matter of dribbling was fully discussed, and it was finally decided to eliminate the rule which prohibited throwing for a goal at the end of a dribble. The following rule was substituted: If a player dribbles the ball and then throws a goal it shall not count, and the ball is to be thrown up in the center. If it misses the basket the ball is to be thrown up in the center. If it is further decided that a dribble is two or more bounces, and that it shall not be a foul for a man to catch the ball with two hands and fumble, or allow it to bounce on the floor once and catch it again with both hands.

It is to be decided that a player who has the ball should be allowed to substitute players as follows: A player may be substituted only during the continuation between the halves, except for sickness or injury. A player once taken out of the game cannot play again in that game.

When the whistles of the referee, umpire and band sound, and the game is to be resumed, the referee shall direct which one takes precedence.

Athletics at Y. M. C. A. Considering the fact that the field less than a month, and has had no professional coaching, it has made a splendid showing against the teams from the high schools and elsewhere with which it has lined up. The team has several players who are well known, and has still a number of open dates, which it would like to fill in with good local or out-of-town teams, and communications under the subject may be addressed to Manager A. C. Smith, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.

The basketball team is a rattling good one, and promises to make a strong bid for championship honors. It is a fast, well-balanced team, with Bates, Muller, center; Brewer, left back; and Pinner, right back. The team is an exhibition series, and will remain to be played with the Corcoran and Carroll teams, which always attract large crowds.

The candidates for places on the bowling team are about as follows: Smith, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Jones, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Brown, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; White, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Black, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Green, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Gray, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; White, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Black, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Green, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.; Gray, 1111 1/2 St. N. W.

Venable, Atz, Boyd, Moffitt, Thompson, and others.

The club will give a "smoker" next month, and it is proposed to make it a gala affair. Some of the best local talent will appear. Some of the best local talent will appear. Some of the best local talent will appear.

National Guard Athletics. The Sixth Battalion, District National Guard, will have a basketball team in this season's league, under the management of Lieutenant Paterson. If the team makes a good showing effort will be made to secure membership in the local league, the formation of which was informally discussed last month.

Candidates for places on the team are: Paschal, Klum, Clements, Dixon, Warren, Maxwell, Courtland, Fowler, and O'Hagan. Captain Hodges, of the Capron Cadets, has called a meeting for this week for the purpose of deciding on a team. There is good material in these companies for either basketball or baseball, and all that is needed is to get the men out and have them gain confidence in their ability by frequent practice. The Corcoran are showing the proper spirit, by practicing with any and all comers. It is beneficial to all hands.

Captain Brian, of Company A, Fifth Battalion, the Ureli Rifles, has, with Captain Edward Corcoran, organized a local baseball league, and the practice of the teams indicates that the military will stand firm in the championship race.

More Than She Expected. (From Harper's Magazine.) She had returned with an M. A. from the university after her name had been elected to the chair of English literature in a small local college. On the day before the session opened the president was called to her the duties of the office. "In addition to your work in English literature," he said, with apologetic hesitation, "I should like to request that you accept of a series of classes in elocution, and also assume charge of the physical culture."

"Well, no; not at present." "You perhaps noticed in the catalogue that those two departments were to be supplied." "And I was elected to the chair of English literature." "Yes," the president answered gloomily. "But he was reassured by her winning smile. 'I will take on what I can do with it, and I will be elected to the chair of English literature.'" "Wrong Place.
