

EVENTS IN THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Dinners in Army, Navy and Diplomatic Circles.

CARDS OUT FOR COMING WEDDINGS.

General and Mrs. Corbin Entertained—Senator and Mrs. Burrows the Guests of Colonel and Mrs. Fleming—Winter Dances.

Surgeon General and Mrs. George M. Stenberg gave a dinner last night in compliment to General and Mrs. Corbin. Among the additional guests were the Secretary of War and Mrs. Root, the Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Sanger, General and Mrs. Gillespie, and General and Mrs. Davis.

Col. and Mrs. Robert Fleming entertained at dinner last night in honor of Senator and Mrs. J. C. Burrows. Invited to meet them were the Commissioner of Pensions and Mrs. Evans, Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, D. D., and Mrs. Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, Mrs. Shunk, wife of Major Shunk, United States Army, and Mr. Nathaniel McKay.

Signor Mayor des Planches, the new Italian Ambassador, had under consideration several houses, one of which he may lease. In the meanwhile he is registered at the Willard. Though the youngest diplomat of his rank at the National Capital, he has had a brilliant career in the diplomatic service of his country. He was Minister to Serbia when he received his promotion to his present important post. It is probable that when he makes his first public appearance at the New Year reception at the White House he will wear the uniform of the Order of San Maurizio e Lazzaro, which was founded in the sixteenth century by the Duke of Savoy. The cloth is of dark green, blazoned with gold.

His excellency's wife is a French woman, endowed with the wit and charm that seem to be the birthright of the daughters of her native land. She is expected to arrive here some time in January.

Miss Cockrell has closed her visit to Warrenburg, Mo., and joined Senator Cockrell at their home on R Street. Some time next month or early in January she is to christen the Missouri, which is to be the most formidable battleship of the navy. The launching will take place at Newport News, Va.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Marianna H. Boutwell, daughter of Mr. John B. Boutwell, of Mr. Charles L. Glover, next Tuesday evening, December 1st, at 8 o'clock, at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Miss Marcella MacLellan, who has been an acknowledged belle since her debut, two seasons ago, is now ill with nervous prostration in Kittery, Me., with friends, whom she went to visit earlier in the autumn. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. W. F. MacLellan, who for thirty years has been chief of the Warrant Division of the Treasury Department. Last April the Government sent her to Honolulu in an official business involving the disbursement of $5,000,000 in gold. He was accompanied on the trip by his daughter, and the shock of a railroad collision near San Francisco, in which every car on the train but their own and one other was wrecked, is the main cause of the latter's illness.

During her four months' stay in Honolulu, Miss MacLellan was the recipient of many social attentions, extended by members of the American colony and native society alike. One of her most interesting trips is a daintily painted lagoon blossom, on which is illuminated a verse from the "Rubaiyat," and which did duty as an invitation to an Omar and Shamsy feast. This unique dinner was served in the launai, or wide piazza of the hostess' home. The walls were hung with tapes of native mats, woven and embroidered, some of which were centuries old. Sprayed over this ancient splendor were thousands of carnations and countless spray of alliums, the sacred flower with which the Hawaiian royalty weaves its neck garlands or leis. The grounds surrounding the house were illuminated with star-like lanterns, and music was furnished by a Hawaiian band. The guests were attired in Persian dress, the women wearing misty, tantalizing veils, that, except for their eyes, concealed by hid their features. When the hostess entered to receive them, she was attended by two Harvard men, attired as Arabian slaves. They wore black tight-fitting muslin trousers and jackets of copper gold, and carried flaming torches. The company then seated themselves on the ground, and while they enjoyed their banquet in true Oriental fashion a group of native girls danced the national hula on the grass foreground, and then disappeared in the shadows.

To carry out the spirit of the last verse of the poem, there was a vacant place at the table, and at the close of the festivities, the hostess lifted a large crystal bowl filled with wine from which each guest took a sip. She poured the remainder on the ground, and going to the unfilled place, "turned down the empty glass."

Another valued memento of her visit is a calabash of polished wood over 500 years old, from which its successive generations of native owners, when affectionately stringed, Miss MacLellan, when affectionately stringed, will visit friends in New York before returning to her home on Nineteenth Street. She is a lovely girl, with hazel eyes and a clear beautiful complexion, and is a second cousin of Lady Randolph Churchill, whom she greatly resembles.

The marriage of Miss Mary Prince Davis, daughter of Judge Advocate General George B. and Mrs. Davis, to Capt. William Ruthven Smith, of the Artillery

Corps, U. S. A., will take place at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening, December 4, at St. Margaret's Church.

The First Secretary of the Russian Embassy and Mme. de Wollant called for Genoa today on the Puert Bismarck. They will make a short stay in Italy before going to St. Petersburg for the winter. While in Russia they will spend some time on M. de Wollant's estate.

Representative Beidler of Cleveland, Ohio, has taken for the Congressional session the former home of the late John Starnburg, on E Street, where he spent the city with his family the early part of next week.

At the luncheon given by Mrs. Albert Clifford Barney Friday the guests were Mrs. Hobson, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Boardman, Mrs. Audenreid, Mrs. Lowndes, Mrs. Nicholas Anderson, Mrs. Lars Anderson, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Schenck, and Miss Dennison.

The Spanish Minister and Duchess d'Arcos will sail next Tuesday to spend the winter in Spain.

Lady Pauncefoot and the Hon. Sybil Pauncefoot will sail for this country November 30.

When Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse bought their Washington home from Mrs. James G. Blaine, it was furnished just as Mr. and Mrs. Blaine left it before the illness that resulted in Mr. Blaine's death. Mrs. Blaine has now removed her household goods and Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse will now refurnish the mansion throughout before their return, about the middle of December.

The ladies of the Southern Relief Society will assist a benefit of Gen. Robert E. Lee Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at Confederate Veterans' Hall. The bar-relief is the work of Barbee, the well-known Virginia sculptor, and is made from marble quarried in the Confederate States. Prominent speakers will make addresses and there will be music by Haley's Band. All friends of the society are invited to be present. A dance will follow for the young ladies who assisted at the annual ball.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Somerville have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Souness, to Mr. Sidney Thomas Epley, Tuesday evening, November 26, at 8 o'clock, at the Fourth Presbyterian Church. Enclosed in the invitations are cards for the church and for the reception afterward from 8:30 until 10 o'clock, at 1343 Princeton Street.

Miss Grace Bell will spend a portion of the Thanksgiving holidays in New York. Her debut will not take place until December.

Among the debutantes of the season will be Miss Olivia Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Howard, 1514 N Street.

Miss Elizabeth Randall, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mrs. Howard Zealde.

One of the prettiest social incidents of the past week was the tea given by Mrs. Francis M. Gunnell to introduce her debutante daughter, Miss Mary Faulstich Barnes. The residence of ex-Surgeon General of the Navy and Mrs. Gunnell, on Twentieth Street, was decorated artistically with palms and flowers, the floral color of the dining room being red. In the drawing room the air was fragrant with blossoms of every color, sent to the debutante in honor of the day. The attractive group of maids who assisted the young hostess in receiving were Miss Mackay-Smith, Miss Poole, Miss Fennell, and Miss Fennell, who are yet to make their formal bow to society, while Miss Hagner, Miss Bessie Lord, of Baltimore; Miss Killogg, and Miss Webb, presided at a flower-decked table, whose candles glowed under shades of vivid crimson. The several hundred guests present were made up principally of the old residents of the city, the matrons and maids of the navy circle, with which Dr. Gunnell has been identified for so many years.

The debutantes of the week to come will be Miss Anita Poor, who will be introduced on Thanksgiving eve, and Miss Hoban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hoban, whose coming-out tea will occur on Friday. Miss Poor has been making a visit to Miss Anne Emlen Hammersley, of Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

Mrs. A. J. Halford will give a tea next Saturday from 4 to 7 o'clock to introduce Miss Halford.

The District Chapter of the Children of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. Sternberg, wife of Surgeon General Sternberg, is president, will give a patriotic entertainment, entitled "The Roll Call of the Nation," on February 22.

Mrs. Elizabeth Marsh was given a surprise party by her daughters and grandchildren Wednesday evening at her home on lower Monroe Street, Anacostia, in honor of her birthday anniversary. Her presents were numerous and pretty. Refreshments were served, after which there was vocal and instrumental music and a number of pretty speeches by her grandchildren.

The chaperons of the dance to be given at the Shoreham next Saturday evening will be Mrs. A. O. Bliss and Mrs. J. M. Culp. The committee in charge is composed of Misses Towers, Evans, Snyder, Alexander, Chase, Edmunds, Lyman, and Craig.

The Daughters of the American Revolution in the District will hold their first State conference in the rooms of the Washington Club on Saturday, November 30. Not only the members constituting the twelve chapters are invited, but all visiting daughters and members of the national society will be welcome. All sessions are free to those wearing the badge, which can be procured only at headquarters in the Loan and Trust Building, Ninth and F Streets. There will be reports and discussions at the morning and afternoon sessions. In the evening ing a detachment of minute men will escort the President General, Mrs. Fairbanks, and the District Regent to the platform, where addresses will be made by the ladies of the club. Mrs. E. E. Foster and Miss Mary Desha. The clubhouse will be decorated with flags and potted plants and the exercises will be enlivened by choice music.

Miss Grace Bell will spend a part of the Thanksgiving holidays in New York. Her debut will not take place until December.

Miss Marian Bell has inherited from her distinguished father, Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, a love for science which she has cultivated from her earliest girlhood. She is greatly interested in the mysteries of electricity, and when Marconi's wireless telegraphy first attracted the consideration of the scientific world, made a careful study of the subject, and mastered it so intelligently that she has given a clever talk about the inventor and his work before a large audience at the Washington Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble D. Larner will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary tomorrow evening with a reception at their home, 837 I Street, from 8 until 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will also give a reception at their residence on S Street.

Tuesday will be the wedding day of Miss Dorothy Rockhill and Mr. Joseph Hopkin, the ceremony to be followed by a breakfast, 1523 J Street. Miss Rockhill resided at the advantage of foreign study and travel, and is in consequence an accomplished linguist. She spent a portion of her childhood in China and the season after her debut in London. She is accompanied her parents to Athens, where they remained several years. While in Greece she continued her studies in art, of which she has most interesting and extensive knowledge. Mr. Hopkin belongs to the prominent Boston family of that name.

Mrs. Francis W. Vaughn and Mrs. William J. Kyle will be at home Tuesday next from 3 to 6 o'clock, when they will have with them Mrs. Frank W. Vaughn, Jr., of Boston.

The United States Engineer School and Dramatic Club will give a series of hops at the Washington Barracks throughout the winter, the opening dance to take place next Tuesday.

Miss Eleanor Blackstone Goldsmith and Mr. Robert Allan Veitch, of Maryland, were married last Wednesday evening at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Goldsmith, of Virginia Avenue southeast.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles F. Sontag, rector of Grace Episcopal Church. The best man was Mr. Frank Pearce, of Maryland, cousin of the groom, and the maid of honor Miss Nellie Blackstone, of Washington. The bride was becomingly attired in white Swiss, trimmed with lace, and carried bride roses. Miss Blackstone wore white and trimmed with pink, and carried La France roses. The bride was given away by her father, who has for a number of years been connected with the United States Fish Commission. The bridal party marched to the wedding music from "Lochlynne," played by Mr. Clarence Anderson. The bride received at the coming out session of the club, at the coming out session of Congress is one to give Mrs. McKinley a personal franking privilege, such as it has been accustomed to confer on the widows of deceased Presidents.

Mrs. Julia Bent Grant and Mrs. James A. Garfield both enjoy such privilege and Mrs. McKinley will undoubtedly be given the same postal franking right early in the coming session of Congress.

A FRANK FOR MRS. MCKINLEY. Free Use of Mails to Be Accorded by Congress.

A number of personal letters from Mrs. McKinley to friends in Washington have been going through the hands of the local postoffice authorities recently. The letters were, of course, stamped. This call to mind the fact that one of the first bills to be presented at the coming session of Congress is one to give Mrs. McKinley a personal franking privilege, such as it has been accustomed to confer on the widows of deceased Presidents.

Mrs. Julia Bent Grant and Mrs. James A. Garfield both enjoy such privilege and Mrs. McKinley will undoubtedly be given the same postal franking right early in the coming session of Congress.

"If they're Rich's Shoes they're proper." Ten-one F—Cor. 10th. Entire Building. Phone "one fifty."

You may depend on this store to show all the very correct footwear for all uses at all times in most comprehensive assortment. You may count on finding here all the same styles as are shown by the foremost shoe shops of New York, for we control the sale in Washington of all the productions of the foremost makers.

Just now we wish to call your attention to footwear for sports and outdoor exercises and particularly riding. No form of exercise combines so much increase of health with such high enjoyment of mind and such exhilaration of spirit, nerve, muscle, hand, and heart.

For both men and women we show the newest effects, and we have all sizes, so that you may be assured of a perfect fit. Men of extra large or extra small build will appreciate this.

The same completeness of variety will be noticed in our footwear for golfing, shooting, hunting, &c.

For men we are showing the new heavy tan leather hunting boots, which lace all the way up, and which do not have the objectionable features which catch the briars and bushes.

Young ladies who will make their debut shortly, and prospective brides, should look to us to supply them with the necessary footwear—the correct slippers and carriage boots. Brides can buy footwear for their entire trousseaux—for traveling, for boudoir wear, for reception, and opera wear.
