

BRYAN AND CARMACK COMPARE NOTES

To Speak on Same Subjects in the Maine Campaign.

POLITICAL EFFECT DISCUSSED

Reorganization Democrats Think Defeated Presidential Candidate's Help Will Injure the Party—Mr. Carmack Says His Help Is Very Acceptable.

Senator E. W. Carmack, of Tennessee, who is also secretary of the literature committee of the Democratic Congressional committee, left Washington last night for Boston, where he is scheduled to make an address tomorrow night from the platform upon which William J. Bryan will also speak. Mr. Carmack will speak with the New Englanders at Bangor and several other towns in Maine before returning to this city next week.

To agree upon the points of these addresses is understood to have been one of the main reasons for Mr. Bryan's recent impromptu visit to Washington and his midnight conference with the Tennessee Senator.

Compare Notes.

The editor of "The Commonwealth," in his present semi-retirement from public life, is believed to have felt a little ill at ease at the prospect of breaking into the "enemy's country," even in Boston, with its reputed land of so-called anti-imperialism to give moral, even if silent, approval to his utterances. The idea of having a man of national prominence to speak from the same platform with him on this very line of thought, which may arouse more local enthusiasm there than in some other of the big cities, seems to have appealed to Mr. Bryan, and before going away from the Capital of the nation he had secured the Tennessee Senator's promise to make an arrangement of the Administration's course in the Philippines.

The value of Mr. Bryan's services to the Democratic cause is a subject of great deal of varying comment among politicians yesterday. There was a great diversity of opinion as to whether the active participation of the Nebraska Senator in the coming Congressional campaign would be altogether an unalloyed blessing to the candidates who are bending all their energies to beating their Republican antagonists and thereby securing for their party the control of the next House.

His Help Not Entirely Acceptable.

The members of the party who are themselves actively engaged in working up general sentiment for the fall campaign are believed to welcome the ex-"peerless leader" and to regard his return to the ranks of the spellbinders as a good omen for the cause. Others express the view that his connection with the Congressional campaign in certain of the States will result in more good to his opponents than it will to those of his own party.

There can be no doubt, however, that Mr. Bryan's aid will be eagerly welcomed by those of the Democratic leaders who have been most pronounced in their denunciation of the Administration in its principal policies. Not only at Boston but at Bangor, and the other Maine towns where he is expected to address large audiences, it is believed that Mr. Bryan will endeavor in his speeches to outline the Democratic position in national politics as the Nebraska Senator thinks it ought to be put before the public. This, it is understood, is the main point upon which Mr. Bryan wished to consult with Mr. Carmack, as the latter's position on the campaign committee places him in possession of all the secrets which that committee intends to spring from time to time as the leading issues of the campaign.

Wants to Outline Policies.

Mr. Bryan is known to be very anxious to continue his past record at outlining the way the Democratic party should go, and little surprise is felt, therefore, that he should seek out Mr. Carmack and secure from the latter a few "tips" as to which way the wind is going to blow in this part of the country this fall on present political issues.

When asked yesterday concerning the reports that Mr. Bryan's aid was not so eagerly desired by some of the party as previous statements had seemed to indicate, Mr. Carmack said: "Such stories are ridiculous. Of course we want Mr. Bryan, and his aid in the coming campaign is desired by all those in authority in the party. There are always some few who are never satisfied with what they have or are able to get and find greater pleasure in pulling down than in helping to build up. Mr. Bryan is going to help us build up, and as we know he is a good, hearty worker in everything to which he gives his attention, we are more than glad to have him take the stump.

"In Boston, when I speak from the same platform with Mr. Bryan, my remarks will be directed principally to the atrocities which we believe have been committed in the Philippines, and may also touch upon the question of trusts, but this will be secondary to the other matter. My speeches with Mr. Bryan, in Maine will also be along these lines."

WESLEYAN CHURCH'S FUND.

$50,000,000 Subscribed to Century Thank-Offering in England.

MANCHESTER, July 23.—At the Wesleyan conference here today Mr. Robert William Perkins, M. P., treasurer of the Free Church Congress, who is well known in connection with Mr. Verkes London enterprises, announced that £1,641,000 had been promised for the fund of 1,600,000 guineas which British Wesleyan Methodists started to collect three years ago as a twentieth century thank-offering for educational, religious, and philanthropic purposes.

He stated that it had been decided to buy the Royal Aquarium, at Westminster, for a church house, library, etc. It is understood that the price agreed on is £320,000.

INDORSE ROOSEVELT.

North Dakota Republicans Nominate Their State Ticket.

FARGO, N. D., July 23.—The North Dakota Republican State convention held this afternoon renominated Gov. Frank White, Congressmen Marshall and Spalding, and Lieutenant Governor Bartlett, and nominated W. L. Stockwell for superintendent of public instruction and C. N. Frick for attorney general. Resolutions were adopted endorsing President Roosevelt and his Administration.

ROOSEVELT AND SPOONER?

Wisconsin Senator Mentioned As Running Mate for 1904.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 23.—"The Germania" prints conspicuously some correspondence from Washington, in which it is declared that Senator Spooner is being spoken of as Roosevelt's running mate in the next Presidential campaign.

DID NOT ORGANIZE NEW BRYAN PARTY

Senator Pettigrew's Guests Talk Other Business.

Plan for Questioning Candidates Regarding Majority Rule by Means of Referendum and Initiative.

There is absolutely no truth in the statement that Senator Dubois and the others who were the guests of ex-Senator Pettigrew at Manhattan Beach last Sunday met for the purpose of considering the organization of a new Bryan party. This is the positive statement of Mr. George H. Shibley, of this city, who is chairman of the Non-Partisan Federation for Majority Rule. Mr. Shibley declares that no proposition looking toward the formation of a new Democratic party was discussed, and that this fact was made plain to the members of the New York press, but that, notwithstanding, they concocted the story without the slightest foundation.

Mr. Shibley further asserts that Senator Pettigrew tried to have the story denied after its publication, but that his denial was not published.

"The thing considered," Mr. Shibley says, "was the non-partisan plan of organized labor for questioning the candidates of all parties as to their attitude toward majority rule by means of the referendum and the initiative."

"In Mr. Pettigrew's State majority rule is an accomplished fact, and as he was largely instrumental in securing its establishment I desired to get his opinion of the present program for majority rule. There was no talk of forming a third party.

"The program upon which our federation is engaged is much more effective than this party politics. It places all legislative candidates on record as to whether they believe in majority rule, and, if elected, will work for a system whereby it may be attained at once, namely, through the optional referendum and the initiative, to be installed by rules of procedure.

"The system was adopted by the Detroit common council last month, and is being pushed in the common council of Chicago, in other cities and States, and nationally. It terminates the power of the political bosses and all special interests. It terminates all imperialism and the entire spoils system.

"Organized labor understands this, for it has been studying the question. Last winter an entire issue of the official magazine of the American Federation of Labor was devoted to the subject, and the entire body of organized labor is insisting upon the adoption of the system. In every State the candidates of all the parties will be placed on record as to their attitude toward majority rule."

VIRGINIA RAILROAD SOLD.

Old Dominion System, of Portsmouth, Changes Hands.

NOAHPOLE, Va., July 23.—The Old Dominion Railway system, of Portsmouth, is sold. It is not known to whom and at what price. The supposed purchasers are the Gould interests, said to be seeking independent railway properties in this vicinity, and the Williams syndicate, of Richmond and Baltimore, who own the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News lines.

The Old Dominion is a good property. It operates a system of tracks covering the city thoroughly, and it reaches to Port Norfolk, Park View, Frontis Place, Belmont Heights, Scottsville and Gilmore.

A loop to the navy yard is also operated. It has about twenty miles of track and is bonded for over $500,000. Horace G. Williams, of Philadelphia, is president, and other capitalists of that city are interested. The Old Dominion is preventing the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News Company from using tracks on High Street. The sale may settle that suit.

HALL-STEVENS.

Widow of the Late C. Albert Stevens Weds a British Army Officer.

LONDON, July 23.—Major Charles Hall, of the British army, and Mrs. May Brady Stevens, of Southampton, L. I., and New York, eldest daughter of late Justice John R. Brady of New York, and widow of C. Albert Stevens, of Castle Point, Hoboken, were married at St. George's, Hanover Square, today. Mr. Charles, the American Ambassador, gave the bride away. Later there was a reception at Claridge's.

To Talk Against Trusts.

Representative Livingston of Georgia is to stump Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania in the interest of Democratic candidates during the coming Congressional campaign. Trusts and alleged Republican extravagance will be the burden of his speeches.

NO CONCERTED TOURS BY CABINET OFFICERS

Mr. Shaw Denies Report of Political Junkets.

The Secretary of the Treasury Leaves Today for a Visit to the President.

Secretary Shaw will leave Washington today for a five days' trip, during which time he will visit Oyster Bay as the guest of the President. The invitation was extended by the Executive to his Cabinet adviser more than a month ago, and lately Mr. Shaw was advised when his coming would best suit Mr. Roosevelt's convenience.

Home in Vermont.

Mr. Shaw called at the temporary White House yesterday morning to see Secretary Cortelyou regarding the President's New England trip. Mr. Shaw has a beautiful summer home at Thompson's Point, Vt., on the shore of Lake Champlain, and is very anxious to have the President stop there on his return trip.

Mr. Cortelyou has not yet given the finishing touches to the itinerary, but unless something unexpected should happen to prevent, Mr. Shaw will be the President's host about August 31.

No Lecture Bureau.

Regarding the report that all the members of the Cabinet were likely to make political speeches during the fall campaign, Mr. Shaw said:

"It is putting the matter altogether too strong to make it appear as a lecture bureau arrangement" of three speeches a day for so many days. Some of the members of the Cabinet will speak, and some, I believe, will not. I do not know as yet when or where I may speak, but expect to be in Maine at least. The idea that a grand, preconcerted speaking tour is contemplated is entirely erroneous."

ATTEMPT MADE TO BLOW UP A FORT

Incendiaries Set Fire to Torpedo Storehouse at Oregon Post.

ASTORIA, Ore., July 23.—Incendiaries last night set fire to the torpedo storehouse at Fort Stevens, the new military post near this city. Had their plans succeeded they would have blown up the fort and perhaps killed hundreds of persons. The building, however, is fireproof, and the flames failed to ignite the explosives.

A large building at Fort Stevens was recently damaged by fire, also believed to have been the work of incendiaries, but efforts to discover the miscreants failed.

After the torpedo storehouse was found in flames and the troops had extinguished the blaze, fire was discovered in the barracks, the floor of which had been saturated with oil.

After the fire was "out" the soldiers found a note signed "The Twelve Dynasties," to the effect that twelve men had determined to destroy the fort, and that their efforts would be continued until they succeeded.

ESTABLISHING NAVAL BASE.

Work at Culebra Island as an Experiment.

Just to see how quickly a naval base in the West Indies could be prepared in the event of a hostile emergency, the Navy Department has begun the experiment of establishing such a base on Culebra Island, near Porto Rico.

A big supply of coal is to be sent there immediately, and a supply ship loaded with material for constructing necessary buildings and wharves is to be sent off as soon as she can be made ready.

The harbor of Culebra, which will hold eleven big battleships comfortably, is to be buoyed, and wharves for landing marines and supplies are to be constructed in a hurry.

A careful account of the time consumed in doing this work is to be kept, and the Navy Department hopes to gain valuable suggestions from the information obtained.

MURDERED BY LADRONES.

Bodies of Four Missing School Teachers Recovered.

A cablegram received at the War Department from Vice Governor Wright at Mantia confirms the belief that the four missing school teachers were murdered by their ladrone captors. The dispatch explains that the bodies of the teachers have been recovered.

The following is the text of Vice Governor Wright's dispatch: "John E. Wells, 299 Montgomery Avenue, Providence, R. I., and his cousin, Louis A. Thomas, same address; Ernest Heger, 1112 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio; Clyde A. France, Berea, Ohio, missing in Cuba Island, murdered by ladrone bodies recovered. Leader murderers killed; eight others captured by the constabulary."

The news of the disappearance of these four school teachers came in press dispatches about a month ago. The men had not yet been assigned to schools, having arrived after the beginning of the vacation season.

WILL VISIT MRS. M'KINLEY.

Major General and Mrs. Corbin Leave on Western Trip.

Major General and Mrs. Corbin left Washington last evening for a Western tour. They will visit Senator Hanna and Col. Myron T. Herrick at Cleveland, and will then go to Canton to see Mrs. McKinley.

General Corbin will also make an inspection of work at Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Fort Leavenworth and Riley, Kan.

Now at Hand.

The reason for diarrhea and dysentery is now on hand and many are interested in knowing how to get quick relief. There is one remedy that never fails and is pleasant to take. Read what Mr. J. L. Story, of Union, Ala., says of it: "I had an attack of dysentery which lasted about two days, then I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured by two doses of it. This remedy is for sale by Henry Evans, Wholesale and Retail, at all drug stores."

SHORT STORIES FROM THE SMALL AD. PAGE

How a Marlboro Agriculturist Discovered the Art of Getting Work.

"Say, d'ye know," said a weather-beaten man who walked unceremoniously in the Times editorial room yesterday afternoon, "I've come clear down from Marlboro to thank 'e for a-gittin' me a good job. I a'pose you fellows sometimes think it's fun to take our money for puttin' in a little ad-virtis'ment that don't cover the space in the paper big as a postage stamp, and to confess that I used to think the same thing myself. But it's different now."

"You see, it was this 'ere way," continued the man, whose clothes plainly betrayed the occupation of state had from the color of the mud stains. "I got out of work. Wall, I thought it was an easy thing to get a new job. Just walk about and find 'em. I tried it. You ought ter see me. Golly! that night when I got through a-walkin' I was that dead plunked out that I vowed that afore I'd hunt another job I'd go starved first."

"Just as it was a-retrinin' a neighbor came to console with me. He was a good feller. He said I was a blamed chump for a-junketin' about the country a-huntin' a job when it was a dead easy cinch. All yer had to do, he said, was to put a small ad. in The Times, and the job 'd come ter you."

"Well, you bet I laughed. Fact was, I hadn't read The Times, and didn't read 'em much in the paper line. Finally I 'sanded me 'I try an ad. I tried, and gee whillekens! never a-knowledged afore how many jobs there was for a good, live, hustlin' man, willin' and knowin' how to get 'em. The circulation list is downstair, you say? Wall, I am a-goin' ter put in my bid for The Times for a year. I've got the money. It's my pay from my new job. First week."

STORY OF A $40 PANAMA AND A TREASURY JOKE

Experts Called in to Open a Combination Vault Door.

Suspicion That Incident Was Result of Many Calls for 98-Cent Hats at Local Store.

"Please send a safe expert down here at once. This is the office of the Assistant Attorney General of the Post-office Department. Some one shut the big vault. It hasn't been closed in five years and we don't know the combination. Please rush a man, because there is something in the safe that must come out right away. Hurry up."

The above message was received over the phone at the Treasury Department yesterday. A messenger rushed around and found an expert on safes. The expert gathered his tools and rushed to the Assistant Attorney General's office. He found half a dozen men grouped around the big vault in the back room, and one of them looking first at the closed vault and then at the clock on the wall.

A Panama Hat Disclosed.

The expert knew that it must be something very important, and did his best, with the result that in a few moments the massive door swung open. The safe was empty, save for a packet of dust-covered papers in a compartment and a new Panama hat on one of the shelves.

The man who had been fidgeting and looking at the clock gave a cry of delight, grabbed the hat and thanked the safe expert, glanced again at the clock and rushed out of the room. Every body except the safe expert laughed.

The expert was about to make a few rude remarks about the man who had telephoned for him when a clerk told him aside. The clerk explained that a few days before the man who had grabbed the Panama hat had walked into the office and told the Assistant Attorney General and all the clerks with him in hearing that the hat had cost him only 98 cents and that it was a wonderful specimen, made by a new process and not to be told from the original. He named the store where he had purchased it and said there were only a few more left.

A Run on 98-Cent Hats.

As a result, every official and clerk who had examined the hat took a few moments off that day and went to the store in question and asked for a 98-cent Panama. And each of the prospective purchasers was very much astonished when the man behind the counter pulled out a slip of paper, asked the name of the prospective purchaser and checked it off on his list.

Then the salesman explained that it was all a joke, and that a bet was on to see how many people would take a $40 Panama for a lineum imitation on a mere 98c. During the day about 200 officials and clerks in the Postoffice Department tried to buy $40 hats at 98 cents apiece.

When the man who had started the trouble next appeared in the office he placed his hat on a shelf in the safe, knowing that it was never closed. It closed on this occasion, however, and no one seems to know how—and no one remembered the combination. While the Assistant Attorney General was trying to think of it 4 o'clock came and the Treasury safe expert went home.

The man whose hat was in the safe had to catch a train the next morning, and did not want to leave without his Panama, so the safe expert was given the impression that the fate of the nation hung in the balance.

ELIGIBLE TO PLAY FOR CUP.

Mr. F. O. Horstmann to Contest for the Ravinokas Prize.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Two Princetonians—Abraham Poole, Jr., and Percy Pyne, carried off premier honors at the annual golf tournament of the Onwental Golf Club today at Lake Forest, each tying for low score—79—in the qualifying round for the historic Ravinokas Cup.

Scores from 79 to ties at 84 were eligible to play for the cup, the only Easterner in addition to Mr. Pyne to qualify being F. O. Horstmann, of Chevy Chase, who got an 81.

Among the eight who qualified for this trophy are P. B. Hoyt, the Western champion, 83; W. A. Sticken, St. Louis, 81; H. Chandler Egan, of Exmore and Harvard, 82; white Walter E. Egan tied for last place with 84.

ALEXANDRIA ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Special Meeting of the City Council Probable

Rumored Wish of W. A. & Mt. V. Electric Railway Company to Double Track King Street.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 23.—It is probable that a special meeting of the city council will be called some time next week to transact some important business which may be presented for early action, and also to dispose of some unfinished business.

It is rumored here that the officials of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company desire to place a double track on King Street, or at least the principal portion of that thoroughfare, before the street is paved with vitrified brick, and that they will appear before the council with a proposition to that effect. Whether or not the matter would meet with the approval of the property owners on that thoroughfare is a matter of conjecture.

It is thought, however, that a double track would be a great improvement over the single track, and would also do away with the numerous switches now on that street. Another question that would be considered by the property owners is how much of the street the railway company would be willing to pave. Under the present system the railway company pays for the cost of paving between their tracks and on two feet each side thereof.

Another matter left over from the last meeting of council, when that body adjourned, is the matter of an appropriation of $2,500, to rebuild the second-hand fire engine recently purchased by the city. This matter is now in the hands of the finance committee, and they have the matter under consideration. It is more than probable that they will render a favorable report on the matter. There has been talk for some years past of the need of a third fire engine, and if this measure goes through the city will then have three excellent fire engines, and will be able to cope with any fire that might occur.

A club to be known as "The Cameron Run Hunt Club," is being organized, the objects of which are for the promotion of social enjoyment of sports in this and adjacent counties. The following are the officers of the club: Robert E. Lee, Jr., of Fairfax county, president; Charles R. Hooff, of Fairfax county, secretary; David Rust, Jr., of Alexandria county, treasurer.

The following constitute the board of governors: Messrs. Robert E. Lee, Jr., Thomas R. Love, and Charles R. Hooff, Jr., of Fairfax county, and Courland H. Smith, Francis L. Daingerfield, Overton Price, Robert Hume, David N. Rust, Jr., of Alexandria county.

The organization will open a clubhouse some time during the month of September next to the home of Mr. Cazenove G. Lee, on the old Braddock Road, in Fairfax county. Among the members of the organization will be tennis, golf, hunting, shooting, etc.

Mrs. Mary A. White, wife of Mr. Wynn White, local manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, died about 1 o'clock this morning at her home, 718 Queen Street, after a brief illness of typhoid fever. She was twenty-nine years of age, and is survived by a husband and two small children. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. D. C. Reihohl, of Washington, and had resided here since her marriage to Mr. White, a few years ago. The funeral services will take place at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Hamilton M. E. Church, Ninth and P Streets northwest, Washington.

Mrs. James Frances Reed, widow of James W. Reed, died shortly past 10 o'clock last night at her home, 311 Wolfe Street, after a brief illness. She was fifty-four years of age and is survived by three sons, Messrs. John, James, and Leonard Reed. Mrs. Reed was a daughter of Mr. William King, of Westmoreland county, and was a native of that county. The funeral will take place from her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 p. m., and the interment will be private.

The work of rebuilding the city gas works, at a cost of $20,000, has been commenced by the contractors. It is feared that owing to a scarcity of material the work will be considerably delayed. Just how long the contractors are awaiting the arrival of several car loads of supplies, and

SUMMER ADVICE.

By One Who Knows.

Keep cool in hot weather. "How?" By eating Grape-Nuts every day.

"Rats!" No, not rats, but a good, sound fact that thousands make daily use of. Grape-Nuts is a nutritious food which makes digestion easy.

It gives the nourishment without the internal heat caused by heavy carbonaceous foods.

You can feel from ten to twenty degrees cooler than your neighbor when you eat proper food that does not over-tax the stomach.

Grape-Nuts is made from certain parts of the grain and by mechanical process the starches are changed into grape sugar in the same manner as the stomach would do in the first act of digestion.

The phosphates of the cereals are retained in Grape-Nuts and these and the grape sugar supply the necessary nourishment to body, brain and nerve centers.

Grape-Nuts is a concentrated food giving strength, vitality and coolness to the body and energy and clearness to the brain, in place of the heavy, sluggish draggy feeling caused by meat, potatoes, etc.

It is thoroughly cooked at the factory by food experts and saves you the trouble.

You get it from the grocer and by adding cream, it is ready to serve. No hot stove, no cross cook, no loss of time or exertion as with other food. Its crisp taste with the delicate sweet of the grape sugar makes it pleasing to the palate of the most critical epicure. The recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts gives many pleasing puddings, salads, entrees and desserts that can be made. Worth a trial and a package will prove it.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE A BIG BENEFICIARY

Will of Orson V. Tousley Filed for Probate.

Bulk of Estate Left in Trust, to Finally Revert to Massachusetts Educational Institution.

Williams College, Massachusetts, is a beneficiary under the will of the late Mr. Orson V. Tousley, dated January 17, 1891, and filed yesterday for probate. The amount bequeathed to the institution is not named, but by the terms of the will it appears to be considerable.

Provisions of Will.

The will provides for the following bequests: To the testator's wife, Mrs. Julia B. Tousley, $5,000.

To his sister, Minerva B. Warren, of Waco, Ill., $1,000.

To his niece, Mary E. Peterson, Fairport, N. Y., $400.

All his household furniture, books, and bric-a-brac is left to his wife, except an oil painting of his first wife, which is given to Margaret P. Glen, Seneca Falls, N. Y.

To his wife, Julia B. Tousley, $1,500.

To his sister, Minerva B. Warren, $400.

To his niece, Mary E. Peterson, $200 annually.

To Revert to College.

Upon the death of these beneficiaries the testator directs that the whole of his remaining estate shall revert absolutely to the president and trustees of Williams College, Massachusetts. If it would please the college trustees, Mr. Tousley suggests that the fund be invested in a library to be known as the Orson V. Tousley collection.

The testator directed that his body be cremated.

The estate of the deceased is estimated to be worth $100,000, about three-fourths of which is in stocks and bonds.

NEW WILLARD ORCHESTRA RENDERS "TIMES MARCH"

The Composition Is Received With High Favor and Makes Strong Bid for Popularity.

The orchestra which furnishes the evening program at the New Willard offered "The Washington Times March" last night and the composition was accorded the same hearty commendation which has greeted it since the composition was first introduced to the Washington public by the Times Newsboys Band.

The march was first written in its simple form, then arranged for the piano and later put into band form. Only a few weeks ago Mr. White, the composer, and leader of the band, wrote the orchestra parts and the latter arrangement has proved one of the most attractive of the number.

The composition is now in the hands of the publisher, and from the high favor it has met thus far it bids fair to become one of the popular marches of the day.

HEINZE GETS A STAY.

Minnie Healey Mine Injunction Held Up Till Next Monday.

HELENA, Mont., July 23.—The supreme court has granted F. A. Helme a stay of operation of Minnie Healey injunction issued last Monday. The stay holds until next Monday, in order that Helme's attorneys may present an appeal for a rehearing or for a modification of the injunction.
