OPERA HOUSE AGAIN CHANGES OWNERSHIP

PENSACOLA AMUSEMENT COMPANY PURCHASES THE PLANT, AND HAS ABANDONED ITS PROJECT TO BUILD A NEW HOUSE.

The Pensacola opera house, which has been owned by numerous parties during the past few months, again changed hands yesterday, when the Pensacola Amusement Company purchased the property from F. C. Brent.

In making the purchase the new company, which formerly controlled the house, abandoned the work of building the new Erlanger house at the corner of Baylen and Chase streets, and all of the workmen who were engaged in making excavations, were discharged during the day.

Speaking of the deal and what would be done, Manager Coe of the old house stated yesterday afternoon that his company would make many improvements in the place before the opening of the coming season. In fact, he said, that many thousands of dollars would be expended, and that the entire interior would be remodeled, all of the galleries removed, and remodeled and when the seats were replaced they would be of the latest pattern and of the finest workmanship. "The house will be made just as fine as it is possible to make it," was the remark of Mr. Coe, "and we will not spare money in carrying out this project."

"As soon as the present season is concluded," he continued, "we will begin the work of remodeling and rebuilding the house. We have had this project under consideration for a number of years, but not being owners we could not carry out our plans. Now we can, and propose to do so, and we propose to give the theatre going public of Pensacola an opportunity of attending one of the most modern and equipped houses in this section. Mr. Smith will remain here during the entire season, instead of visiting the east and will personally superintend the work which is to be done.

"The house will be equipped with the most modern machinery, including a plant for heating during the winter and cooling during the summer months. Ladies' toilet rooms will be provided—and in fact every appliance for the comfort of patrons will be provided. The house, when it is remodeled, will have a seating capacity of about 1,600, if which there will be about 630 in the parquet. These seats will be the best in the house, as the floor will be changed entirely."

WILL ASSUME COMMAND HERE

ADMIRAL ROBLEY D. EVANS WILL RELIEVE ADMIRAL BARKER IN PENSACOLA.

Speaking of the commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic Squadron, the Army and Navy Journal of recent date, contains the following regarding the date that the command will be transferred:

"Admiral Robley D. Evans, who will succeed Rear Admiral A. S. Barker as commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet, the latter part of March, will sail for the south between the 20th and 25th of March. He will assume command of the fleet at Pensacola and will take the Maine as his flagship. In the event that the recent changes in the Maine have not resulted in reducing her smoke, it will be necessary for the battleship to return to a navy yard, where her smoke stacks will be cut down. If this is necessary Admiral Evans will be obliged to transfer his flag to the Kearsarge, which is at present the flagship of the fleet. The selection of the Maine in place of the Kearsarge was due to the fact that she is a newer ship and has quarters for a chief of staff. Capt. John E. Pillsbury has been selected for this duty, and will go south with Admiral Evans. His successor as assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation has not yet been selected by Rear Admiral Converse, who is now giving the matter his attention."

New Suits Filed.

ORIENTAL PEOPLE.

Grace of the Women and Classic Drapery of the Men.

Passing us occasionally, going to Jerusalem with butter and eggs and little jars of leban that showed their thick, creamy throats as they were held up to us, were small companies of women in single file. As one blue procession went by the leader called to us: "Why should you ride and we walk? Why is your lot better than ours?" Given the opportunity for leisurely argument, we could not by any philosophy have made satisfactory answer. We could only admit the fact as they saw it and recognize the universal world plaudit of discontent.

They carry themselves, these women, like figures on an antique frieze. As they stride along, holding in sure balance on their heads their jars and baskets of homely produce, they tread the stony paths with the grace and largeness of action that we of the occident have grown to regard as belonging only to the age of Praxiteles.

The men are also admirable in the simplicity of their gestures, the big lines of their attitudes, the swing of their draperies. I saw a youth fling his mantle over his shoulder and fold it about him exactly in the manner of the classic Greek sculptural in his finely unconscious pose. God save the day when these sons of Canaan clothe their limbs in our ungainly garments!—Metropolitan Magazine.

OLD FASHIONED.

A real old fashioned woman always calls a prescription a recipe.

What has become of the old fashioned man who "got the mitten?"

What has become of the old fashioned mother who accused her daughter of having "false pride?"

"Along about 9 o'clock at night," said an old fashioned man, "I get the stretches and go to bed."

The old fashioned man with his blue overcoat, which he wore in the civil war, seems to be no more.

What has become of the old fashioned man who wore gray knit socks and sat around in the evening without his shoes on?

There used to be an old fashioned man who inquired when you were introduced to him, "What part of the footstool do you hail from?"—Aitchison Globe.

A Russian Baby's Cradle.

In Russia a cradle is used, contrived rudely as to both structure and motion. It is an oblong box or wicker basket, with a cord from each of its four corners converging to the hook or the rafter from which it is hung and with a looped cord underneath it, in which the mother puts her foot to swing her baby. In winter, which in Russia is long and severe, the cradles or sometimes the hammocks in which the youngest children sleep are swung around the great stove, upon which the parents and other adult members of the family pass the night, wrapped in their sheepskins.—Strand Magazine.

Deserted Their Towns.

So late as the end of the seventeenth century the inhabitants of Ceylon were in the habit of deserting their towns. Their customs are described in the narrative of Captain Robert Knox, who for nineteen years—from 1690 to 1679—was a captive among them. He speaks of several towns as lying desolate owing to the fact that their inhabitants had forsaken them. This they did if many of them fell sick and two or three died soon after one another, thinking that it was a visitation of the evil one. Some of them came back when they thought the evil spirits had departed.

Snowdrifts In Sweden.

The worst snowdrifts experienced by any railroad are said to be those in Sweden. Although the cold is not so intense as in some of our western states, the snowfall is heavy and continuous. The snowplows of various kinds which are used on these roads are said to be the most powerful in the world. There are times, however, when even this machinery fails to clear the way, when hundreds of men must be employed to dig out the stalled trains.

Rather Cynical.

Deacon Jones—What do you think of the proposition that women remove their hats at church? Rev. Mr. Wyse—Think of it? Why, it is the most absurd thing I ever heard of! What do they think the women come to church for, anyway?—Boston Transcript.

The Troublesome Part.

RAILROAD WILL SOON OPERATE

TEN MILES OF STEEL RAILS HAVE BEEN PURCHASED FROM THE MOBILE AND OHIO.

By Associated Press.
Meridian, Miss., March 13.—The Mississippi Eastern Railway, built several miles toward the Alabama state line from Quitman to the Eastern terminus, is shortly to begin work extending its tracks to the Tombigbee river in Choctaw county, Alabama. Ten miles of 60-pound rails have been purchased from the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the rail having been recently taken up by the Mobile and Ohio for the heavier steel being laid between Quitman and Meridian, and the material will be employed by the Mississippi Eastern in extending its lines. Superintendent J. W. Glynn has just returned from a prospecting tour along the proposed route of the extension in Choctaw county, Alabama. He selected a route west from Carmichael, the present terminus of the road, just west of the Mississippi state line. He says the territory contains the finest timber belt he ever saw. He says that grading to any extent will be unnecessary, except at one point about a mile across some hills. The route selected is from Carmichael, Alabama, to Treadville, just across Buchatunna river and thence to Ditch creek, passing Melvin one mile to the north down Ditch creek valley, thence along Okatuba to the Tombigbee. The distance from Carmichael to the Tombigbee is about thirty-two miles. The country is rich as a farming section beside.

Peeps, Peeps or What?

A correspondent (an American, we presume) writes to ask how he shall pronounce the name of the excellent diarist we occasionally quote. "Do you," he asks, "call Peeps 'Peeps' or 'Peeples' or 'Chumley' or what?" Even among contemporary London talkers there is disagreement, but the question should be settled by one Mr. James Carcase, whom Peeps kindly took in his boat to view the great fire and who returned the compliment by a somewhat virulent set of verses in his volume "Lucida Intervalla."

Get thee behind me, then, dumb devil, begone,
The Lord hath Ephthatha said to my tongue.

Him I must praise who open'd hath my lips,
Sent me from navy to the ark by Peeps.

The rhythm is dreadful, but the rhyme is conclusive, and the man who roved in the same boat with the diarist called him "Pipps."—London Chronicle.

[An accepted American dictionary authority also gives Peeps as the correct pronunciation of his name.—Ed.]

They Hunger For Praise.

"Praise is sweet," remarked a certain tailor, "yet it seems to be against the rule of many business houses. Perhaps they fear you'll demand a raise if they compliment your work. Why, even a man friend of mine, who is engaged in window decoration, says he wants to be told if his work is satisfactory. He dreams of it all night when it doesn't give him a nightmare, and he works at it all day. He longs to be told when it is effective, but he has to be content with the fact that, as he puts it, he'd be fired if it were not satisfactory. As for me, I design these doll dresses and other dainty things and also arrange them for display. I long for praise when I feel that my labors have been crowned with success. But, alas, my firm also pursues the clam policy—perhaps it is the best policy—in spite of the fact that I'd work the skin off my fingers to try to exceed my best work if only that were praised."—Philadelphia Record.

Sensitive Horses.

The horse does not like a nervous, fidgety, fussy or irritable man. He is too nervous and irritable himself. "Why is it," one teamster was heard to ask another, "that Phin's horses are always gaunt? Phin feeds them well." "Yes," was the reply, "but he's like a wasp around a horse." A well known owner of race horses, not at all a sentimental person, recently made an order forbidding his employees to talk in loud tones or to swear in the stable. "I have never yet seen a good mannered horse," he says, "that was being sworn at all the time. It hurts the feelings of a sensitive horse, and I'll keep my word good to discharge any man in my employ if I catch him swearing within the hearing of any horse in this stable."—Country Life in America.

Turkish Attar of Roses.

Turkish attar of roses is mainly produced in Bulgaria and is carried on in the fertile valleys on the southern slopes of the Balkans. The rose harvest in Bulgaria begins about the third week in May and lasts about a month. The second great seat of rose farming in Europe is the space between the Maritime Alps and the Mediterranean, in the extreme southeast of France. This is, in fact, the great scent farming and perfumery making center of Europe, the town of Grasse being the emporium of the district. Of course attar of roses is also produced in India, Persia and Asiatic Turkey under the climatic conditions desired, but the great bulk of the supply is furnished by the European regions already noted. The roses employed for attar making in Europe are: In Bulgaria the red damask rose and in the south of France the Provence rose, a hybrid or variety of the hundred leaf rose, to which also belongs the well known cabbage rose.

JOHN S. LONG.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the Great Neurologist, Warns Americans Who Neglect Their Nerves.

"In busy centers the number of deaths due to nervous causes has increased twenty per cent in forty years. One-fourth of the deaths in cities to-day are from nervous diseases."—Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

The clean, rich nerve-force that was behind the health and happiness of thousands upon thousands is literally burning itself up like the dry wick of an empty lamp. It is the "Strenuous Life," with a vengeance.

Can men who go to their work in the morning tired and with lax spirits give to their own affairs the electric touch of confidence and power upon which success depends?

Can mothers worn out and nervous, plodding dully or ill-tempered through the routine of homekeeping, bring into the family life that precious spirit of hopefulness and happiness without which the word "home" seems a mockery?

When you feel exhausted—when you grow tired sooner than you should—when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life—when you feel discouraged—when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be—when you spend a sleepless night—when you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed—when you are worried.

These are all signs that your nerve forces are burning low.

Neglect the nerves and they will make you feel this neglect in many ways, they control all of the organs of the body and must be kept healthy and strong to do their work properly,—tired nerves cannot keep the organs of the body working in that harmony which is essential to real health.

This is why Paine's Celery Compound is able to bring health in so many different forms. Paine's Celery Compound feeds and nourishes the nerves. It makes new Nerve Force. It makes pure, rich blood, a clean active liver, a stomach that acts quietly and strongly upon all the food that is given to it, bowels that throw away promptly and surely all the ashes from life's engine room.

It makes the heart beat true and evenly, it makes the brain clear and vigorous.

The Nerve Force does this all, and Paine's Celery Compound makes the Nerve Force.

Best of all it makes that buoyant life-spirit, the thrill of health, that is the secret of happiness and the keynote of individual success.

Without Nerve Force there can be no health at all—no success—no joy in living.

John S. Long's case is simply one of thousands upon thousands. An average case and an object lesson to the average person.

"For nervousness and stomach troubles Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine. I was almost a physical wreck when I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as healthy as any man in the world, and I owe it all to Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle I took helped me wonderfully, and by the time the second was used I was a well man, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one as being the best medicine I have ever used."
—John S. Long, Ballard, Wash.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

Take two days' treatment. See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials roll away.

For over 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world.

Remember this—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University. All reputable druggists recommend and sell Paine's Celery Compound.
