IMMIGRATION TO THE LAND OF FLOWERS.

A recent issue of the Gainesville Sun contained the following article relative to immigration to the Land of Flowers:

Another large colony of Germans is expected to arrive in Pensacola the first of April, and they will locate in the territory known as the Perdido section, having been induced to come to Florida by the Pensacola Investment Company.

Experience in the Northern states has shown that the Germans and Dutch make as good citizens as any who have settled in that part of the country, and among the thrifty farmers of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, the Germans predominate. They are industrious and in nearly every instance build good homes and attend strictly to their own business. In their business transactions they are scrupulously honest, and it is seldom you will find a lazy person in a household of Germans, the men, women and children all taking hold when they start out to make a home wherever they may locate.

In communities where they are found in great numbers there is always a fear of their being anything but good citizens, as they are generally too busy attending to their own affairs to interfere with others. The state of Florida can furnish plenty of lands that are better than many of those people occupy in the North, where the have settled in the woods and by hard labor brought forth from those dense forests many beautiful farms, occupied with substantial buildings, and in a section where advantages are not to be compared with the lands in this state to be had at a very small price.

West Florida offers particular advantages to all classes of immigrants. The climate is superb, the soil fertile and lands may be purchased at reasonable prices and upon favorable terms. And, best of all, the new comer to this section always finds a hearty welcome awaiting him.

Grover Cleveland celebrated his birthday anniversary on Saturday last. He is eight years past the chloroform limit.

The seventh satellite of Jupiter has been found. Owner can have same by proving property at the Lick Observatory.

Last night there appeared on our desk a centipede half an inch long, a mosquito and a mola. Surely spring has arrived.

Colonel Watterson has written a letter to the Courier-Journal about "Moonshine in Maard." How does it compare with the Kentucky product, Colonel?

Last night's dispatches say that General Kuropatkin's nerves are badly shattered. He got off easier than thousands of his countrymen whose bodies were shattered by Japanese shot and shell.

Judging from the comparatively small catches reported by fishing smacks lately the festive red snapper has received a tip that lent is at hand. The oyster is still with us, however, and has no chance to escape.

Dr. Osler can wriggle out of his chloroforming theory as regards Field Marshal Oyama by asserting that, inasmuch as Oyama is seventy-six years of age, he has reached his second childhood and is therefore exempt.

The latest question that has been injected into the Russo-Japanese difficulty is the possibility of an alliance between the two countries after terms of peace have been agreed upon. Russia badly needs a spunky ally that can keep her from being licked when she gets too obstreperous.

A decision which it may, in the not distant future, be desirable to cite in this state has been handed down by the supreme court of Ohio which held, in the recent case of the State vs. French, that the legislature of a state may provide for the protection of fish, and to that end may declare nets set or used contrary to law a public nuisance, and that they may be destroyed by wardens or other executive officers, and that a statute so providing is not in that respect unconstitutional on the ground that it deprives the citizen of his property without due process of law.

The Lewis and Clark Fair Guards will be selected from members of the Oregon National Guard. There is but one exception to this rule. Cherokee Bill, who accompanied President Roosevelt in the assault on San Juan Hill, has been given a position, at the special request of the president.

On St. Patrick's Day the Ocala Banner appeared with a green head line and front page design. Brother Harris is not an Irishman—at least his name does not sound like it. Yellow journalism is decidedly common these days but this is our first collision with the green brand. Yellow and green make blue. Blue—well, let that pass. The paper, although white, was read. Red, white and blue! Hurrah for Harris and the Banner and the patriotism they signify.

President Castro, of Venezuela, is waltzing around with a chip on his shoulder looking for trouble. His latest scheme is said to be the capture of New Orleans and invasion of the Mississippi valley with an army of 20,000 men for the purpose of "teaching the yankees that the sons of Bolivar are not to be insulted with impunity." If Ciriaco tries that scheme he will find his sorrow that he has bitten off a piece entirely too large for mastication.

THE HUMILIATION OF GENERAL KUROPATKIN.

(Jacksonville Times-Union.)

The Russian government shows a contemptible spirit in seeking to needlessly humiliate General Kuropatkin. He should have been treated with courtesy for his services in other wars. His loyalty has never been questioned. Success was required of him and he did not furnish it. His failure would give good ground for a change of commanders if there were any need now for a commander. It does not give reason for adding insult to removal.

The failure of Russia became a certainty when the Japanese destroyed her feet. If she had had in Manchuria the best army in the world, commanded by the ablest living general, she would have been crushed by the weight of numbers. True, Japan has not had more men in Manchuria than Russia, but this was only because she did not need more. She could have outnumbered the Russians there, and would, if it had been necessary.

But the Japanese did not need as many men as the Russians, because their army was as near a perfect fighting force as any the world ever saw. It moved with the precision of a machine—a machine composed of men, each one a fanatic, ready to die, but never ready to give way. By the Japanese everything was done in silence and with precision. Among the Russian army there was neither silence nor precision. This difference was not chargeable to the commanders. It was a difference in the two governments. Japan is governed by statesmen. Russia is governed by court favorites.

In spite of this, Russia's large population and mammoth army make her a great power in Europe, but she cannot compare with Japan in Eastern Asia—too distant to permit the employment of her overwhelming numbers.

Russia went into this war boastfully and with no fear of failure. She did not expect to need to exert much of her strength. Men who were well posted knew better. Nations are sometimes blind. When they are ruled by personal friends of the so-called ruler they are generally blind. France was blind in 1870 and Sedan completely restored her sight. Russia was blind in 1904 and professes not to see even after Mukden. The French government should have known in 1870 that Prussia alone had a stronger army than France, without counting on the other German states. The Russian government should have known that Japan of 1904 was not the Japan of a half century before, but was fully abreast with nations of equal size in Europe.

Kuropatkin realized the magnitude of the task entrusted to him when other ers in Russia thought it could be accomplished without an effort. There is not the slightest probability that any other Russian general would have done better in battle or would have done as well in saving his army after defeat. But the incompetents that involved Russia in this war needed a scapegoat. They selected one who is as little responsible for Russia's overthrow as any other man of equal prominence in the Czar's empire.

P. C. S. NOTES OF INTEREST

STUDENT LIFE HAS SETTLED TO A STEADY PACE—TOO MANY SCHOLARSHIPS—PREPARING FOR ATHLETIC MEET.

Now that the carnival and its attractions have passed, student life in the Classical school has settled down to a steady pace.

If our seniors are wearing anxious, thoughtful looks who have examined the school calendar can readily find a cause. Graduating essays are due in less than two months and none of them are allowed to forget this fact.

One subject that seems to be worrying the principal is the disposition to be made of the numerous scholarships in the gift of the school. With the scholarship recently conferred by the Washington and Lee University, of North Carolina, and that at the University of Tennessee, there are more free scholarships than eligible candidates for them. It is a cause of much regret that these advantages offered graduates of the school, will have to go unenjoyed for another year.

The faculty and students of the Classical school had much pleasure in receiving such a report as we have had from our Tulane scholar, Mr. Franklyn Zeek. His first term work in the sophomore class won the "magna cum laudis" commentary.

Now that basket ball has been put aside for the year, athletic activity is passing to other fields. First there is the field day events, when the representative of the P. C. S. will meet the athletic team from School No. 1.

The schedule of events has not yet been arranged, but among them will be the hundred yard, forty yard, two hundred and twenty and four hundred and forty yard run, a relay race, hammer and shot throwing, high jumps, broad jumps and vaulting. The P. C. S. boys feel that they will be at considerable disadvantage in not having more men to put into training for so many different events, but they are taking hold hopefully, if not confidently.

The organization of a base ball team has gone to the extent of electing a manager, Melville Boulter, and captain, "Billie" Turtle. The manager has already begun his efforts to arrange games.

Mr. C. A. Dykstra, who went to New Orleans last week to be present at the inauguration of President Craighhead, of Tulane, has returned.

Got Off Cheap. He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant, and certain cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c. Guaranteed at all drug stores.

MONEY ORDERS WERE STOLEN FROM SAILOR. The postoffice officials notified several business men Saturday not to cash any money orders that might be presented, as a sailor had had two orders, for $100 each, stolen from him. The sailor took out the money orders in favor of his mother, who lives in Norfolk, but before he had a chance to mail them they were stolen.

New Suits Filed. The following new suits were filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of the circuit court:

J. E. Long vs. The Lewis Bear Co., a corporation; damages $4,000; Avery & Avery, attorneys for plaintiff.

A. M. Avery vs. J. C. Van Pelt, damages $800; Avery & Avery, attorneys for plaintiff.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

CARRYING AWAY BALLS FROM LEE SQUARE. Editor Pensacola Journal: Some miscreant or some bad mischievous boys from the public school have been carrying off the iron balls from the Lee Square. It was reported to me to-day that nine balls had been taken. If this is done by the school boys I hope the principal will try and put a stop to it by punishing the guilty boys if they can be located. It would be well for the police to give this matter more attention and I hope that the city marshal will take this matter in hand and try and arrest the guilty party. This square is in the care of the Daughters of the Confederacy and they are spending a considerable amount of money in keeping it in good order. Some one is also despoiling the seats around the monument. I would suggest that the city authorities offer a small reward for evidence to convict the guilty party. GEO. REISE.

Like Finding Money. Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. C. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs; but, after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds." Greatest sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At all druggists; 50c and $1; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

With a deficit of $75,000,000 staring us in the face, hadn't we better go slow about assuming the debts of boottail republics to the south of us? —Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Greatly Exaggerated. Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, like Mark Twain, says that the reports of her death are greatly exaggerated.—Savannah News.

Congressional Garden Seeds. The Biblical text "Whatever ye sow that also shall ye reap" was not meant to apply to the garden seeds sent out by congress. Not since the days when the government began buying instead of raising its seeds has there been any assurance that beet seeds may not bring up rag weeds.—Quitman Advertiser.

What Russia Needs. The Russian troops are still dispersing mobs at home. What Russia needs is troops able to disperse the Japanese away from home.—Atlanta Journal.

Jeffries Endorses Roosevelt. The Hon. James Jeffries approves heartily what the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt says about the sanctity of marriage, and adds:

"He expressed the same views to me when I boxed with him in Washington recently. The president is the stoutest defender of the American home we have. It is said that actors are often unfortunate in their marriage relations, but I haven't found it so. I owe much, if not most, of my success in life to Mrs. Jeffries, who has been my companion during 50,000 miles of touring all over the country. As friend, counselor, yes, as treasurer, she is invaluable. But what's the use of keeping together uncongenial persons under the marriage yoke?"

When the Hon. Mr. Jeffries tires of the ring and the drama there is an opening for him on the lecture platform. Starry grandiloquence, golden metaphors, flowery smiles, poetic roundelays, and all such ornaments of thought would be impressive tripping lightly from his tongue. But softly—is he in a position to speak fairly on the subject? When one-half of the family is champion of the fighting world, why shouldn't there be beautiful, sweet peace on the part of the other half?—Louisville Courier-Journal.
