

AMERICAN QUEEN BEER

Is made very much as you make tea; two of the most healthful vegetables known to medical science (Malt and Hops) are boiled and the essence made into American Queen. That is all there is to it. The small percentage of alcohol, less than 3-1-2 per cent., has been declared by physicians to be an aid to digestion. (Some patent medicines contain over 40 per cent. of alcohol.)

Hops are an unequalled food for weak, starved, shattered, irritable nerves. Your doctor will tell you so, and Malt conveys even more nutriment than bread, the "Staff of Life." Furthermore, you get the twigs as a liquid, a form in which the most delicate stomach can digest and assimilate their beneficial properties. It is something absolutely needed by every woman, child, invalid, convalescent—and in fact by every person weak from any cause. You never hear of a pale, peevish, dyspeptic drinker of beer. They are healthy people.

We invite the most critical inspection of our brewery for cleanliness and purity, and for high quality of ingredients used. We do not fear comparison.

TO REDUCE TRAIN'S SPEED

had entrusted important matter to the "flyer." The train usually carried from fifteen to twenty pouches of this class of matter.

Experience of Conductor.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 22.—Conductor Alexander Hammond, of the Limited, told his experience thus:

"I rushed back to the switch immediately after the wreck. It was open and locked open. The switch light was out. Not a wheel rolled over; the switch since No. 10, the east-bound Chicago and Boston train, went through 45 minutes before. J. Prior, colored, of New York, a porter on the second car of the train, was busy preparing berths for the passengers when he felt the train leave the main track. He said he just went up into the air and then he lurched sideways. I fell against a window and broke it. I crawled out, coming out on the underside of the train. Whenever a face appeared at a window I grabbed for the man and pulled him out. All were saved, but I was hurt a little. My hand was cut and my shoulder sprained severely."

James H. Gibson, of 475 Flournoy street, Chicago, a passenger on the train, died at a Cleveland hospital early today from his injuries. Gibson was conscious up to within a short time of his death and spoke calmly of his experience. He said:

"I can tell very little about it, for I soon lost consciousness and saw but little of what occurred after the crash came. I was seated in the smoker and the first realization I had of an accident was when I felt myself suddenly hurled over the backs of the seats and found myself in darkness among a struggling and shrieking mass of human beings. There was a frightful roaring and hissing of steam and I seemed to be stifling in it. I groped about blindly, and, as it seemed to me, uphill above me what I realized was a window frame. With my hands I broke the glass and managed to drag myself through the window.

"There was such a cloud of steam everywhere that I scarcely knew which way to run, but I had the instinct to stagger away from the blinding, stinging steam that I could feel was scalding my flesh.

"I must have lost my consciousness about this time, for I have only a confused recollection of people coming to help me, and the impression that my hands and arms were bleeding where I had broken the glass. Then I remembered nothing more until I was on board the train coming to Cleveland."

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Anna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance. Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

DISAPPROVES MAYOR'S ACTION

warrants for fraudulent claims, in that the city had paid more for feed of stock than the bids called for. Mr. Morgan characterized as very flimsy. He explained that the voucher calling for the drawing of a check for feed or any other bills, had to be signed by the chairman of the board, the clerk, superintendent and a number of other officials, and that his only duties were to see that the calculations and extensions were proper.

In this connection Mr. Morgan brought to the attention of the board the fact that Mr. Burns, who was under a charge similar to that of himself had just been exonerated by the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Bliss in his reply said that it was not only the duty of the comptroller to perform the duties he had outlined in his statements, but also to see that no warrants were drawn contrary to law, and that no money was illegally expended, and that he considered it the duty of the comptroller to see that the vouchers corresponded with the bids as awarded the contractors.

Mr. Morgan said that he was not supposed to go out to the various houses and weigh hay and oats to see if the correct amount had been furnished.

"Systematically Robbed."

Mr. Bliss during the course of his remarks, made the sensational statement that the city had been systematically robbed in the various departments for years. He deemed it his duty, as chief executive of the city, when he discovered the feed contract, to bring the matter to the attention of the council, and the course taken was the proper one in his opinion.

The Legality of Bond.

The third and last charge, that of not having a bond in accordance with the law was then taken up, and the opinion of the city attorney called for. The latter stated that the records showed the bond had been approved by the council in open session and in his opinion it was legal.

Mayor Bliss stated, in this connection, that in one section of the code he found that the bond of the comptroller should be approved by the council and in the law creating the office of comptroller it states that it shall be approved by the mayor and council, and that in this case it had not been approved by the mayor.

Charges Dismissed.

Alderman Muldon then made a motion that the action of the mayor in removing Comptroller Morgan from office be disapproved. This motion was seconded by Alderman Reilly and carried without a dissenting vote.

Another Charge.

During the course of the proceedings Mayor Bliss handed to Mr. Morgan another paper. This was an additional charge, on the ground that after being suspended from office he had refused to deliver to Marshal Schad the keys to the office of the comptroller. Mr. Morgan wished to introduce this paper in the proceedings during the early portion of the meeting, but it was ruled out of order by the mayor. Afterwards the mayor withdrew the charge stating that in face of the fact that the council had exonerated Mr. Morgan that he would withdraw the last charge.

Former Mayor Talks.

Former Mayor Welles, who was present during the proceedings, asked permission of the council, which was granted, to set himself right regarding the feed bills. He stated that the Board of Works, in awarding the bids, had given the street superintendent the authority to purchase choice feed of a better variety than that called for in the bid, and that the superintendent in several instances had done so. There had been a great deal of trouble, he stated, in procuring feed for stock of the department, and this procedure had been deemed the best. He said if the council wished to corroborate his statements, it could summon any member of the various boards, who would willingly testify.

The Systematic Robbery.

After a number of motions to adjourn had been made, Alderman Muldon arose and made a statement relative to the assertion made by Mayor Bliss that the city had been systematically robbed for a number of years. He said that during the administration of Moreno Jones he served as chairman of the Board of Safety, and that thought he had performed his duty as well as any other chairman, but no better. The assertion of the mayor, he claimed, was a reflection upon every man connected with the city government, and he therefore moved that the mayor be instructed to call a special meeting within ten days and lay before the council his grounds for making such a charge.

Japan's Emperor.

Describing the personal appearance of Mitsuhiro, the emperor of Japan, a recent writer says: "On this occasion his majesty walked, or seemed to walk, with a slight stoop. On other occasions when in his carriage or on horseback the stoop was not noticeable. Yet it in nowise impaired the dignity of his carriage. His hair is coarse and black as the mane of an Orloff horse, excepting a tinge of gray at the temples, and is brushed well up from his forehead.

"His nose large, the nostrils full, the lips thick without being sensuous and the under jaw heavy, convey an impression of iron determination and tenacity of purpose. He wears a heavy mustache and thin chin whiskers. Last, but not least, were the eyes, lustrous, dark, intelligent and of piercing keenness.

"Those eyes peered forth through almond slits from under a high, threatening brow. In their swiftly changing expression they were at once an index and a revelation of the personality shining through them."

MILTON

Special to The Journal.

Milton, June 22.—Everybody is praying for rain. Our gardens are burning up for the want of water.

Our people are as busy as bees. It is gratifying to observe continued activity all along industrial lines.

The ship yards of Milton, are doing a flourishing business. Capt. Hoodless informs us that this enterprise was inaugurated more than a half a century ago. Two fine gunboats were built here for the Confederacy during the Civil war. The Warren Fish Company has in process of construction, a large fishing smack, which will be completed in about six weeks, in these yards. This boat is the fifth in number the company has built for that firm. All work is done here with promptness and dispatch, and gives universal satisfaction.

Our carpenters are among the busiest men in our city. Their handy-work is in evidence all over town.

Mr. W. W. Martin's new house is rapidly approaching completion.

Mr. M. H. Fisher, Jr., will soon be ensconced in his beautiful new home. Mrs. Perry Johnston is happy in the possession of her commodious new home. The comfort and pleasure she now enjoys has been richly earned.

Mrs. Charles Johnston has had her house newly painted. It is now one of the most beautiful homes in the city.

Mr. R. M. Jernigan has added to the beauty and attraction of his home by nicely papering the interior.

Mr. Price Jernigan has treated his house to a new roof and other improvements are noted on his premises, which indicate thrift and prosperity.

Dr. Chun, not to be outdone by his progressive neighbors, has built a beautiful new fence in front of the Waldorf.

Capt. John Robinson is abreast of the times. See that beautiful new fence encircling his home.

Frank Harrison is by no means lagging along in the old fashioned way, but is keeping pace with the improvements being made in our city. He has thoroughly remodeled his house until it is now one of the most comfortable homes in our city.

Joseph Capers, a resident of this county, sixty eight years old, was a poor farm subject. Dr. N. E. Eldridge, attending physician, filed a petition to the county judge for examination as to his sanity. The examining committee adjudged him insane, and the judge so decreed. He was placed in jail until he could be sent to some hospital for the insane. It was soon discovered that his case was so critical that it was unsafe to send him away, so he was returned to the poor farm.

C. H. Holley and wife, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. T. C. Credille, of Pensacola, are very pleasant visitors in the home of Judge E. P. Holley, of this city.

Dr. Mills was in Pensacola Wednesday attending the meeting of the U. S. Pension Board, of which he is secretary. Mrs. Mills and daughter, Olive, accompanied him, and will remain in the city a few days to visit relatives.

Services were held in all the churches last Sunday. Pastor Abbott gave the right hand of fellowship to eight new members.

Mrs. L. M. Rhoda is visiting friends in Alabama and will not return for some time.

Concerning Reading.

Of course reading may become a mere indulgence and dissipation, a habit to be corrected; also it is very evident that many great, resolute natures have been built up with little reading or by much reading of a few books and much pondering—much reading of men, of opinions, of events, rather than of the printed page. Men like Cromwell and Lincoln and others who have changed the course of modern history have been so nurtured. We could even point to a very great and effective modern scientific genius who, with an apparent aversion to scientific literature, gets his learning not so much from books as from experiments and from the "twopenny question" system intelligently applied to friendly experts.—Century.

Valiant Volunteers.

During one of the frequent revolutions in Haiti the commander of the government forces at Port au Prince made a requisition on the authorities at Cape Haiti for men to aid in putting down the uprising.

After a somewhat rough experience of two or three days the authorities got together the required number of men and loaded them aboard ship. Then the following message was sent: Commander Government Forces, Port au Prince.

Sir—I send you per steamer Baginaw today 190 volunteers. Please return the ropes with which they are bound. COMMANDER AT PORT HAITIEN.

Novelties in Whiskers.

"The most remarkable whisker novelty," the barber said, "is to be found in France. Frenchmen for the last six months have been wearing box beards. A box beard is as square as a piece of carpentry, nine inches long, five inches wide, two inches deep, every corner sharp and true and all the surfaces, upper and under and side, smoothed as if with a plane.

"The box beard is neat and queer. It was introduced by the king of the Belgians. The English have a new mustache—the butterfly. The butterfly is not more than two inches long. It is just a feathery little thing under the nose, with ends turning upward and inward. It has been adopted by all the young army officers. The king has stamped it with the stamp of his approval.

"You will hardly believe it, but in Italy the patch is being worn. The Italian has his chin shaved smooth except for a tiny circular patch the size of a shirt stud, and in this patch he grows a little tuft a half inch long. It is as though the Italian had a mole there, but he has no mole really. The patch is just his coquetry."—Chicago Chronicle.

Birds "Go to the Bad."

Consul General Bray reports from Melbourne, Australia, that the English starlings introduced from Great Britain for the destruction of insects and protected by law have changed their habits and have become a pest to orchardists.

The few pairs brought into the state have increased to myriads and have become so destructive to the fruit industry that the regulations framed for their protection have been repealed and steps are advocated for their eradication.

The fruit destroyed by them includes peaches, pears, cherries, figs, apricots, plums, grapes, strawberries and apples. From many districts reports come that fruit growing will have to be given up unless some radical steps are taken.

Insect eating birds, such as kingfishers, diamond birds, tree swallows and tree creepers, are driven out of their nesting places by starting, and before long these birds will be driven out of the state.

That is a worse record even than the English sparrow has made in this country.
