SPECIAL EXCURSION FROM MISS FULGHUM'S

One of the most enjoyably merry functions of the summer was "The Trip Round the World," given last night by Miss Lurleyne Fulghum for her charming guest, Miss Carrie Farmer of Valdosta, Ga., "starting" from her home on North Palafox.

The guests were received in the reception hall, which was cool and beautiful in its beautiful ferns and bamboo adornments—by Mrs. Fulghum, assisted by her second daughter, Miss Vera and Mrs. F. E. Brawner, and shown into the parlor which continued the green scheme in tastefully arranged ferns and bamboo.

Here Miss Lurleyne, gowned in champagne colored voile airy with white tulle trimmings introduced the honoree, Miss Farmer, who wore an exquisite white silk mull with insets of real lace medallions.

After a social hour the guests were assembled in the dining room which had been arranged to represent the waiting room of a railway station, with ticket office and all complete, with elaborate decorations in the national colors, red, white and blue, and quantities of beautiful Jap lanterns added greatly to both the exterior and interior.

Great fun resulted from the purchase of tickets which read as follows:

FUNVILLE, LAUGHTINGTON AND ADDLEBRAIN RY.

The Great New York Route. SPECIAL EXCURSION TICKET AROUND THE WORLD.

Rules and Regulations. This ticket is not transferable, reversible or saleable.

The Company will not be responsible for cattle killed by the carelessness of passengers who throw sandwiches out of the window.

This Company will not be held responsible for bumped heads, mashed toes or hair caused by the passengers, but if you have the trip it can be checked by the Baggage Master.

The Passengers must not make love to each other. You are prohibited in this state from standing on the platform throwing Cupid's arrows.

The conductor will collect tickets at the last station. The Stations at Which the Train Stops:

- 1st. A famous discoverer.
- 2nd. A fine cow and a place larger than a village.
- 3rd. A girl, a garment and a proposition.
- 4th. A game, a necessary article of man's attire and a noted poet.
- 5th. Our board of city fathers and a precept.
- 6th. An opera encore.
- 7th. One of Queen Elizabeth's courtiers.
- 8th. An improvement on the sloop that grounded on Mt. Ararat.
- 9th. A small pebble.
- 10th. That which is not old and a port.
- 11th. Rough on Rats.
- 12th. One of the colors of our flag, a lengthened elevation, and an upheaval of land.
- 13th. A game, the summit of a mountain and an inlet.
- 14th. One of the leading pleasures of our day.
- 15th. What our fathers fought for in 1776.

When everybody had secured a ticket and all were ready to start, the most delicious refreshments were served to the passengers, Mrs. Fulghum presiding, assisted by the pretty little waitresses Miss Lillian and Miss Emma Wilson.

Mrs. F. E. Brawner served delightful fruit punch and Miss Vera graciously made herself useful everywhere. Finally, when the train started the conductor read the rules, and when asked at what point they wished to stop each passenger answered by writing the name of one of the fifteen places indicated on the ticket.

Each ticket had a little pencil attached by a cord and tassel, and the names of the stations were written on a space left under each number for that purpose.

DONALDSON-STICKLAND.

Miss Lola Donaldson and Mr. Edward C. Strickland were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother, Wednesday evening at 3:30. Rev. Mr. Tracy reading the ceremony. The wedding was very quiet, only the most intimate friends of the young couple witnessing the ceremony. The bride is the lovely young daughter of Mrs. Dora Donaldson, and the groom is a popular and efficient engineer of the Yellow River Railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left on the Florida train for their future home at Laurel Hill, where they will be at home to their many friends.

THE WOMAN'S HOME NEEDS YOUR HELP.

The Woman's Home, by stress of circumstances, has again become an orphan's refuge—the only place where the homeless, decent woman and her starving little ones may find protection, food and shelter, and—a welcome without separation.

Last Monday night Capt. Norris of the Salvation Army called at The Journal office and told of an appeal made to him by the deserted and deserving wife and three little ones, of a man who, when sober, earns from $15 to $20 a month. He had investigated the case and found it worthy, but, so destitute and, owing to the baby's illness, so imperative and many their needs, he needed help at once, and, while dreading the publicity for the sensitive wife and suffering mother, concluded that an appeal to the public through The Journal was all that was left to him.

He was given the names and ad-resses of Mrs. Laura Thornton and Mrs. T. V. Kessler, Mrs. Frank Marston and Mrs. Andrew Lewis of the board of lady managers of the Woman's Home. He reached Mrs. Kessler and Mrs. Thornton at once by telephone and, in less than an hour he was informed that the poor woman and her children could be at once admitted to The Home.

It was too late to do anything more that night but early Tuesday they were all comfortably located in a comfortable room with enough to eat and plenty of fresh, pure air to breathe, sharing the "Home," where another helpless mother, daughter and little son and five elderly ladies have also found a refuge from the cold indifference that is part of poverty's torture.

God bless the good women who not only started but have maintained, with the generous support of their friends, such a refuge for women and children—made helpless by poverty's illness, discouragement and despondency—who must suffer the ill of outrageous fortune through no conscious fault of their own.

But, The Home under its extended scope, needs more than these ladies have been able to contribute, beg and borrow.

The unusual expenses incurred by the protracted illness and recent death of two of the old ladies, the liberal help extended to the needy in their poor little homes outside and the recent payment on The Home itself, have exhausted their resources and they need funds at once to carry on the good work and continue to maintain this blessed place of refuge.

Some of the business men and women have done so much and so continuously for The Home that the ladies naturally shrink from asking them for more. But they do ask the general public to help, and no doubt the response will be as liberal as is the refuge The Home offers to the women and children who need it.

The incident related above proves that no unnecessary "red tape" is permitted to prevent the immediate opening of The Home in emergency, and that no "pull," social, political nor denominational is needed to open its doors.

Give what you can. It will do you good and "lending to the Lord" is always a profitable business—sooner or later.

Phone or call upon either of the ladies connected with the board of lady managers of which Mrs. W. D. Chipley is president, but she is out of town just now, and the help is needed at once.

Mrs. Laura Thornton, first vice-president resides at 20 West Belmont street—Phone 95.

Mrs. T. V. Kessler, Hollywood on the Bayshore—Phone 142.

Mrs. Frank Marston, 1402 North 12th avenue, East Hill—Phone 816.

Mrs. Helen Lewis, 9th avenue and 12th street, East Hill—Phone 943—and a number of others. But, these ladies are in charge this month.

WHIPPOORWILL CAMP AND VICINITY.

Capt. E. G. Crist and his two nephews Earle and Rob Wellman were welcome visitors at the camp the past week. Mr. Allison Livingston came up from Pensacola Monday night to visit his mother at Kelkerfield.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Crist welcomed a little daughter to their home on the Fourth.

Mrs. Mary Livingston of Kelkerfield left Tuesday night for Molino to visit her sister, whom she has not seen for seventeen years. She will also visit relatives in Pensacola before returning.

The Whippoorwillites and their visitors spent an exceedingly pleasant day at Florida Town the 4th, notwithstanding the difficulties met with in getting to that desired spot. Starting in a leaky bateau, without oars, Capt. Crist, the chief propeller, soon discouraged the crowd as to the progress being made, and, as most of them were better walkers than swimmers, they chose the former way and found plenty of sand to soften their path.

The celebration was well attended. Three trains brought people from Grandmuckla and the surrounding country. Boat excursions were run from Milton, Bagdad, Perry Pass and Pensacola.

A new pavilion had been erected and the younger set engaged in dancing. Tables had been provided but on account of the large crowd and the immense quantity of eatables, cloths were spread under the large oak trees and a dinner that none could fail to enjoy was served in "that good old-fashioned" picnic style. All in all the picnic was a success beyond expectation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hodgeboom arrived at Camp Whippoorwill Sunday morning.

A party of the campers engaged a horse and wagon Friday afternoon and made a foraging expedition through the neighboring country and returned well laden with pears and peaches, leaving orders for vegetables to be sent the next day.

The steamer Helen dropped anchor off Whippoorwill Camp Thursday afternoon long enough for Capt. Crist to make a call at the camp and carry off the largest watermelon it afforded. C. O.

THE KALEIDOSCOPIC ARMY AND NAVY SOCIETY.

The Washington Post says: "Washington official society is kaleidoscopic, but the Army and Navy society is even more so." No sooner does a hostess in the Army or Navy set become familiar with her surroundings and make herself well liked than her husband is either ordered away or retired. Rear Admiral and Mrs. Francis J. Higginson have had just two years of social leadership here at the navy yard, where the admiral has been commandant, and now the admiral is retired and Captain Edwin C. Pendleton becomes his successor. Captain Pendleton has been the captain of the yard for the past three years and that position now becomes consolidated with that of commandant, so that Captain Pendleton will practically have no successor in his former place. Mrs. Pendleton is as well known in Washington as her distinguished husband. She was formerly Miss Mary Saxton of this city and has spent many years here during her marriage; for the captain has been stationed here several times.

Mrs. Pendleton is a charming woman and has scores of friends here. She will unquestionably discharge the social duties of the wife of the commandant with all the grace and tact of her predecessors. Mrs. Higginson has been greatly liked during her comparatively short residence here. She is a New York woman, formerly Miss Grace

Mrs. Norris Lewis and children Norris, Katharine and baby Margaret, arrived last evening on a visit to her parents Col. and Mrs. T. V. Kessler.

Mr. T. A. Nettles and son Joe of Tummell Springs, Ala., are in the city for several days.

Mrs. A. J. Lee of Puryear, Ala., and her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Betts of Burnt Corn, Ala., arrived Sunday to spend the week with Mrs. L. M. Amos, 400 North Hayne.

Miss Ella Ward entertained a few friends at the Country Club last evening for her little cousins and guests, Miss Minnie Kate Kemper and Miss Aille Kemper of Louisiana.

Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Mallory Kennedy entertained with an informal dance at the Boat Club Tuesday evening, after a party luncheon for Miss Norton of New Orleans.

A DRESSY COIFFURE.

The loose, soft, artistic pompadourings, and three velvet roses are dis-rolled is dressed rather high in the front, posed, two on the pompadour and the strands caught into a loop, which is tucked into the low knot back of the back, and the back hair is coiled the left ear. A coiffure hair net is into a figure of eight knot rather lowly placed on the neck, the invisible kind of pearls is carelessly interwoven's chevelure exactly being the one through both front and back dress-chosen.

RHEUMATISM ROBS LIFE OF PLEASURE

Rheumatism does more than any other disease to rob life of pleasure and comfort. It is so painful and far-reaching in its effects on the system that those afflicted with it find themselves utterly unable to enjoy bodily comfort or any of the pleasures of life. Some are bound hand and foot and suffer constantly with excruciating pains, swollen, stiff joints and muscles, and often distorted, crooked limbs, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant fear and dread of the next attack, when, at the least exposure to damp weather, or slight irregularity of any kind, the disease will return. The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, produced by food lying undigested in the stomach, poor bowel action, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the system. External applications, such as liniments, oils, plasters, etc., do not reach the cause and can only give temporary relief. The blood must be cleansed and purified before a cure can be had. S. S. S. attacks the disease in the right way—it neutralizes the poison and filters out every particle of it from the blood, stimulates the sluggish organs and clears the system of all foreign matter. It cures the disease permanently and safely because it contains no harmful minerals to derange the stomach and digestion. Book on Rheumatism and any advice you wish, without charge.

I had been troubled with Rheumatism for two years, had been under the treatment of physicians, and tried everything recommended to me, but all to no avail. My knee and elbow joints were so stiff that I could not use them. I was unable to do my household work, and was truly in a pitiable condition. S. S. S. cured me after using it for awhile, and I unhesitatingly give it the credit it so much deserves. Sta. A., E. Liverpool, O. Mrs. M. A. DECKER.

There was an enjoyable "Box Social" last night at the residence of Miss Idelle Everitt, 520 East Garden for the Muscogee wharf M. E. Mission.
