ONE CASE IN CRIMINAL COURT

WILL KELLY, CONVICTED OF GRAND LARCENY AND SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR.

Only one case was tried in the Criminal Court yesterday, Judge Beggs presiding. It was that of Will Kelly, charged with grand larceny. He was convicted as charged and was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary. Kelly is the young man arrested some time ago charged with having robbed two boarders, who were rooming with him, relieving them of about $35 and a watch. The boarders were Messrs. Barnett and Ketterer. The case of Alonzo Murphy, charged with assault with intent to murder was then called, but the defendant was not in court, so the case was not tried. No afternoon session was held there being no cases docketed for trial.

DEPOSITORS WILL GET 40 PER CENT

By Associated Press. Manila, July 18.—The depositors of the American bank will receive forty per cent of their claims. The American bank was closed on May 18 last, on an order given by Governor General Wright, and its affairs were placed in charge of the insular authorities. The reason given at the time was the protection of its depositors. On May 26 the attorney general applied for the appointment of a receiver. The bank was capitalized at $100,000.

TO STUDY CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

By Associated Press. Paris, July 18.—Paul de Roulede, who recently refused to return to France under President Loubet's proclamation after having been convicted for sedition, is considering a visit to the United States for the purpose of studying the American constitution with a view to advocating a revision of the French constitution. The announcement was made today by his brother, Andre de Roulede in response to statements that Paul de Roulede was going to America.

Hidden Treasure in England. In England when hidden treasure is found the law requires the coroner to hold an inquest over it. Formerly it was a coroner's duty to hold an inquest in case of a burglary. A statute of Edward I. decrees that "when coroners are commanded by the king's beiliffs or by the honest men of the county they shall go to the places where any be slain or suddenly dead or wounded or where houses are broken or where treasure is said to be found and shall forthwith command four of the next towns, or five, or six, to appear before him in such a place."

The Abashed Shark. In a recent article on Americans an English writer gives the following as a characteristic American after dinner story, its subject being a politician in bathing: "All at once a shark, a man eater, was coming the other way and swam up squarely in front of him. They eyed each other for a moment, and then the shark—blushed and sped away."

Out of Season. Mrs. Hi Uppe—Dear, did you see any of those fine old aqueducts while you were in Italy? Mrs. New-Rich—Never seen a duck. And while we was riding across Germany we kept a lookout for some of them German peasants, but I never seen such a scarcity of fowl no place.—Kansas City Drovers' Telegram.

True Friends. "A friend cannot be known in prosperity, and an enemy cannot be hid in adversity. True friends visit us in prosperity only when invited, but in adversity they come without an invitation."

At His Own Option. Pessimist—Yes, sir, I hold the mortgage on most of the troubles of this world! Optimist—Well, you don't have to foreclose if you don't want to!—Detroit Free Press.

Heretic Surgeon. When the Medical and Chirurgical society of London was founded in 1805 the barber-surgeon was still more or less tolerated. At one of its early meetings one Dr. Wardrop advocated the "excellent custom" of bleeding patients till they fainted, so that they might be the subject of surgical operation while in an insensible condition.

It Rained. When a highfauntin' editor is in a hurry he doesn't waste words by saying, "It rained." He simply writes, "After many days of arid desiccation the vaporing captains marshaled their thundering hosts and poured out upon scorching humanity and the thoroughly incinerated vegetation a few inches of aqua pluvialis."

Sunset Chorus. "Oh, Mr. Chappie," exclaimed Miss Gusch, "why weren't you up on the hill to see the sunset? It was just too lovely!" "Yaas," replied Chappie, "sent my man up to do it for me. He understands that 'sawt of thing, don't y' know."—Philadelphia Ledger.

GROUNDS FOR NEW UNIVERSITY

OFFICIAL SURVEYORS REACH GAINESVILLE AND PREPARE FOR ACTUAL WORK.

The Gainesville Sun says: "Matters have assumed a rather definite proportion in the matter of locating the University of Florida in Gainesville since the surveying corps have arrived in the city and are preparing to begin the actual work of laying out the university grounds."

"Prof. N. H. Cox, professor of civil engineering, and his assistant, F. G. Ekman, accompanied by Dr. Andrew Sledid, president of the university, arrived Friday, and in the afternoon in company with Mayor W. R. Thomas and others, visited the grounds recently donated by the city about one mile west of the court house. After careful examination of the grounds, Dr. Sledid expressed himself as being pleased with the location, as a better site could not have been secured."

"Prof. Cox expects to begin the active work of laying out the grounds Monday morning, and will be engaged for about two weeks. He will be assisted by Surveyor J. W. Patton and a local force. In speaking of the university Friday Dr. Sledid stated that the faculty for the coming session would be the best the state has ever known, and will equal anything in the South. There will be ten Ph. D.'s who have been selected from the leading institutions of the world, and the other members of the faculty will be specialists in their respective branches. Dr. Sledid is very sanguine that the coming session of the university will prove a great success, and he and his efficient faculty are determined to work to that end."

THE ANCIENT ZORA.

It Was the First Corset and Was Used in Cleopatra's Time.

It was back in Cleopatra's time that the corset was first thought of. Who knows but perhaps the dusky beauty of the Nile thought to hold Mark Antony's fickle fancy longer could she add some new charm to her face or figure? Anyway, it was then that the embryo corset first appeared in the shape of a stiffened linen girdle called a "zora." Sometimes it was worn outside the tunic, tightly laced and much jeweled.

Then fashion wearied of the "zora," and for twelve centuries the corset languished. The Greeks and Romans next held sway, and beauty unadorned was good enough for them.

In the sixteenth century along came Catherine de Medici, that energetic lady who meddled in everything, from empires to hairpins, and she revived the corset with a vengeance.

She not only wore it herself, but also issued an edict that all women of birth and breeding should wear corsets which should reduce their waist measures to thirteen inches.

This corset was called a "corps" and was stiffened in every possible manner. In this the body was pinched and forced, while over the "corps" was clasped a perfectly fitting corset cover, constructed of thin plates of steel, fashioned in two pieces and opening on a hinge.

This instrument of torture lasted until the early part of the seventeenth century, when more pliable materials were adopted.

Beautifully quilted satin bodices replaced Catherine's invention. The next change in the corset's history took place in the early part of the eighteenth century, when leather stiffened with whalebone came into use.

Since then it has gone on steadily improving until today for every type of woman there is a specially adapted corset.—New York American.

THAT WELL-DRESSED FEELING

It's something that most men appreciate. Some of them pay pretty high to secure it, others wear 'em ready-to-wear and get it for half the money.

We don't ask you to take our word for the excellency of our clothing, but it would PLEASE US IMMENSELY if you would come in and look at our offerings.

If you are a merchant tailor's man, we will guarantee to surprise you. Paying too much and waiting too long is the "made-to-order" way.

Paying just enough and getting satisfaction is our way. We fit all shapes, $5 to $15.

New York Stock Market. New York, July 18.—The opening of the stock market found few orders for execution and gains of 1/4 to 1/2 were the rule, varied with a few scattered losses. Pittsburg Coal preferred fell 1/4 and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 1/2.

Cotton Market Conditions. New York, July 18.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3/8 points on near positions and unchanged to 3 points higher on the late months. Cables were higher than due and there were large overnight buying orders sending prices somewhat above last night's figures all along the line during the early trading, but crop reports were a little less bullish than expected, and with the weather good and receipts heavy the market later weakened and sold off to net the loss of about 17 @ 18 points. There was a rally of 7 @ 8 points later in the morning on a renewal of bull support, but the market looked very nervous and unsettled in expectation of a bearish weekly crop report at mid-day.

Eton and Harrow. One of the Eton and Harrow school cricket matches recalls an amusing incident. Eton had a monotonous series of wins for some years, and one day the Harrow captain received the following: Oh, ye boys of Harrow school, Of cricket ye have no knowledge; It is not cricket, but the fool, You play against Eton college.

The Harrow school poet was hunted out and commanded to send a fitting reply. This clever response made him famous: If, as you say, we play the fool, No wonder we were beaten, For at that game no other school Could e'er compete with Eton.

Docility in Dogs. Will people who talk about dogs ever learn to differentiate between intelligence and docility? The word "intelligence" is used almost universally in talking and writing, when people really mean docility—i. e., the readiness of the animal to accept instruction. Now, as in human beings, docility is likely to be an evidence of second rate intelligence, and the degree of intelligence is likely to appear when the animal is doing things on his own hook. It makes no great difference, but to the man who tries to think accurately the constant parade of an obedient animal as one of exceptional mental ability is painful.—Joseph A. Graham in Outlook.

Man's Vest. Man has one purely rudimentary garment. The coat and trousers yield to the ravages of toll and time, but the vest ever preserves its pristine freshness. The history of a man's clothes can be written from the old vests stored away in his wardrobe. The coat be wore at graduation and his wedding trousers become but myths, but he can always show you the vests he wore upon those august occasions. The tailor who invents a style of dress that will omit the vest has fortune and fame in store for him.

His Audience Warmed Up. Hi Tragedy—Hamm made his debut as a star last night, and I hear his audience was very cold. Lowe Comedry—Yes; they were at first. Hi Tragedy—Ah! Only at first? Lowe Comedry—Yes; they remembered they had paid to get in, and they got hot.—Catholic Standard and Times.

BE A BEAVER. GRAND OPENING OF MORRIS DANNEHEISSER'S BRAND NEW SALOON ON WEST ZARRAGOSA STREET.

I, the undersigned beg to inform my many friends and the public in general that I have again opened the doors of a first-class saloon. It is hardly necessary to introduce myself to the public, having been the senior partner of the firm of Danneheisser Bros for about 18 years. It is nearly a year ago when I dissolved my partnership. After dissolution I went to Pittsburg to engage in business, but owing to the severe climate and ill health, I concluded to come again to the sunny south and settle among my friends in Pensacola. When I came back my many friends urged me to go into the liquor business again. I am now ready to serve you with the finest and best brands of liquors and cigars, and beg to inform you that my aim and motto will be, polite treatment, fair and honest dealing, and nothing misrepresented. I shall keep polite and experienced bartenders and shall endeavor to make you feel at home, when you enter my saloon. I will also call your attention that I have a special wholesale department. I have engaged Mr. Julius Gugenheim, a young man well known here, to solicit your patronage, and any order he may receive will be carefully and promptly attended to. My prices are as low as possible. Free fish chowder on my opening day. Soliciting your kind patronage, I am Yours for good liquors, MORRIS DANNEHEISSER.
