L. & N. PENSACOLA DIVISION BONDS

Under the terms of the Louisville and Nashville division mortgage, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company was obligated to issue bonds for the year 1885 to buy or pay cashly bonds for the sinking fund in an amount as would retire the bonds at the time of maturity, in 1905. Under these provisions only 100,000 bonds were retired. Recently the company has issued a call for the payment of $175,000 bonds covering the period from 1885 to 1905, including at 100 and interest, which was again to be paid under the market value of the bonds at the time the calling was made. It had been stated on what seemed to be final authority that there was little or no chance of bonds being called, but if any call should be made it could only be for the current year, and the company had no power to exercise for past years. On investigation of the point by counsel, Storey, Thorndike, Palmer & Taylor, holders of called bonds have been advised that the terms of the mortgage do not warrant calling the bonds for the years 1885 to 1904, inclusive, and the claim of the company that such bonds can be called will be carried to the courts for a decision, and holders of the called bonds are invited to co-operate in protecting their interests.

FLORALA TEAM AGAIN THE WINNER

Special to The Journal.
Florala, Aug. 25.—Business was almost entirely suspended today and everybody who was able to do so witnessed the second baseball game of the hotly contested series between Florala and Greenville. As in the game yesterday Florala cleaned up the visitors in fine style, the score being, Florala 3, Greenville 0. The attendance was fully five hundred. The batteries were: Florala, Helms and Cawthon; Greenville, Robinson and Baker. Summary.
Base hits. Off Helms 3; off Robinson 10.
Struck out: By Helms 8; by Robinson 10.
Time of game 1:35.
Umpire Sessoms.
A large amount of money was wagered upon the result of the game. The teams will meet again on Saturday.

A little forethought may save you a lot of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by all druggists.

REDUCING THE INSPECTION FORCE

Only Five Sanitary Inspectors are Now at Work, as the City Is in Good Condition.

Owing to the excellent sanitary condition of the city there remain at work only five sanitary inspectors of the fourteen who were on duty a few weeks ago. The inspectors have covered the city thoroughly, and the progress made in the inspection of houses and vacant lots has been very satisfactory to the officials.

As conditions now exist the city is in a better sanitary condition at this season of the year than at any time during the past five years, and the authorities not only intend to keep it in this condition but to improve upon it if possible.

In cleaning up the city the city officials have met with the hearty co-operation of the residents, who realized the importance of placing their premises in a thoroughly sanitary condition. In fact whenever inspectors have given orders for the places to be cleaned up they have been willingly obeyed, and out of the entire number of notices served, only two parties have been arrested for failure to comply with the same.

In reducing the force of inspectors from fourteen to five the authorities did so by degrees, cutting off a few men each week as the work progressed, and there now only remains five men on this work, four of whom are regular inspectors.

BULWER'S ODDITIES.

The Fight the Author Made Against Signs of Old Age.

Bulwer's appearance was decidedly what is generally understood by "aristocratic" or what the French call "distingue." Tall, slim, with finely cut features, prominent among which was a long aquiline nose, with an abundant crop of curly brown hair and a full beard, the first impression he produced, aided by a careful toilet, was one of ease and elegance. At a dinner table, where he liked to speak, and, if possible, to speak alone, he was certainly useful as well as ornamental with his large blue ribbon and star of the Order of the Bath. There was a certain naïveté, strange as that word may sound when applied to so confirmed a man of the world, in his vain and very apparent struggle against the irresistible encroachment of age. He did not give in with that philosophical resignation which might have been expected of one so clever and in some respects so wise. He fought against it tooth and nail. Lord Lytton's hair seemed dyed, and his face looked as if art had been called in to rejuvenate it. A quack in Paris had pretended to cure his growing deafness, a constant source of legitimate grief to him. He was radiant one autumn on his return to town because he thought he was cured, but not for long. The copious use of snuff was no doubt part of the attempted cure, of which the most palpable results were large dark red or blue pocket handkerchiefs, quite out of harmony with his otherwise elegant toilet. His expressions of regret at his impaired digestive organs had something ludicrous about it. He would point with a sigh to a rosy cheeked American apple and say, "To think that there are people who can eat that!"

One of his physical infirmities—his deafness—proved a bar to his ambition. He was sorely disappointed when Lord Beaconsfield, instead of including him in his last cabinet, "kicked him upstairs" into the house of lords, principally because he could not follow the debate—Rodolph Lehman's "Recollections."

DRUG LEADERS

The people of Escambia County, as well as the manufacturers generally, look upon us as the drug leaders of this part of the country. Hence, everything in drug store goods comes to us first, and people come here first for their drug store needs. They have learned that that saves time and trouble and is most satisfactory.

Humanity in Prison.

It is true there are peculiar specimens of humanity in prisons—craunks, freaks, degenerates and hardened and vicious characters—but so are there all these outside the prisons mixed in with the other people of the world in the different grades of society. The deliberate professional criminal, with peculiar and pronounced characteristics and forming a different type of man and woman, is too infrequent to constitute a definite class unless he, with many others not in prison, be considered as a member of a diseased class in humanity. Those who do not agree with this impression and persist in believing that there is a distinct, typical criminal class must, if they study society and also become familiar with the inmates of our penal institutions, admit that only a small portion of the class are confined therein.—C. E. Ordway in Atlantic.

Human Nature.

"We tried a new experiment in our town," said the man with silver rimmed spectacles. "We thought that the tendency to vanity was so great that there ought to be some reward for people who were capable of standing aside and rejoicing in the success of others. So we organized a society and arranged for the presentation of modesty medals."

"How did it work?"

"Badly. As soon as a man won one of the medals he would swell up and get so proud that we'd have to take it away from him."—Washington Star.

The Turkish Postman.

Postal conditions in the interior of Turkey are still in a patriarchal stage of evolution. When a postman arrives in a village on muleback he distributes the letters in a public place, giving each his own, and then putting the undelivered ones into the hands of relatives or acquaintances of those to whom they are addressed. Yet it is said that 90 per cent reach their destination.

Good Work

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Pensacola still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. F. B. Albert, living at 803 East Belmont street, says: "My mother has used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which she procured at Sidney Kahn's drug store, No. 9 South Palafox street. She values them very highly. She has suffered severely from her kidneys and back for years. Doan's Kidney Pills have relieved her of the backache and made her kidneys stronger and better in every way than they have been in many years."
