TERSELY TOLD.

The many friends of Mr. Ike Dehman, who has been ill for the past few days, will be glad to learn that he is now able to sit up.

Miss Marion E. Spencer, a niece of F. R. Goulding reached the city last night from Sterling, Fla., to attend the funeral of her uncle.

Mrs. Margaret Duncan, who is staying with her nephew, Jas. Nix, at 107 East Gregory street, is very ill, and her friends have doubts as to her recovery.

The two cases of fever at the Brent home on East Romana street have been discharged, the house has been fumigated for the last time, and the quarantine lifted.

Miss Katie Ward returned yesterday from Chicago, where she had been spending the summer with Mrs. John Cavanaugh, her sister.

Mrs. Thomas is confident that the yellow fever situation in Pensacola is not as bad as generally supposed, and will return to that city tomorrow to resume his duties upon The Journal staff.

Mayor Bliss yesterday received from Chris. Thiesen, who is now in Cincinnati, a letter and also a check for the sum of $100.00 which the donor asks to be placed to the credit of the fund which is now being raised in Pensacola to clean up the city.

Mr. Thiesen and his family left here some weeks ago, and have been in Cincinnati since that time. When he heard that a fund for the cleaning up of the city was being raised, Mr. Thiesen, immediately sent his check to the mayor for the above amount.

He also stated in his letter that he hoped that the authorities would be able to stamp out the disease in a short time, and that the spread of it had been stopped. The mayor will turn the check over to the finance committee, which is now soliciting funds.

FROM A DURNING TO WATERY GRAVE

Jacksonville Man Escapes Death From Flames Only to Meet It in the Water.

The Jacksonville Times-Union of Friday says: Fred Green, a merchandise broker, employed by the firm of Candish & Rosser of this city, was drowned last night just off the Harwood dock, near the Ostrich Farm, at about 11:30.

The young man, in connection with J. F. Franz, M. C. Hutto, Joseph Oetgen and Charles Marean, all young men, left the city last night at about 8:45 for Phoenix Park in a gasoline launch, owned by Mr. Franz. The party went to attend the Knights of Pythias picnic, and left the park on their way home at about 10:35 to the city.

They were making their way by the foot of Main street, and when opposite the Ostrich Farm the feed carbonator broke and gasoline leaked out into the bilge of the boat. The gasoline released from the tank caught fire and Green and others jumped from the boat.

All Had Narrow Escape. Young Marean could not swim, and yelled for help. The calls of young Marean appeared to call the others to the boat, and all of them clung to the shore, except Green. Franz went to the rescue of Green, and twice had his hands upon the drowning man, but could not hold him in the struggle.

The last time Franz had hold of Green it was by his hair, but the drowning man broke away, and sank for the last time. The fire in the boat had in the meantime been extinguished, and the young men remained where Green had gone down for the last time, but could not find any trace of him. They hurried to the city, and at once went to the offices of Charles A. Clark, where they requested that the undertaker drag the river at the point designated for the body.

Cause of the Accident. It appears that the accident which led to the drowning of young Green was caused by the breaking of the feed pipe of the gasoline tank. Had Green remained in the boat his life would have been spared.

Hutto Tells of Accident. "We were returning from Phoenix Park and were opposite the Hayward dock, when feedpipe broke and gasoline leaked out into the boat. I saw that the engine was slowing down, and knew that something was the matter. I rushed to the engine from the rear of the boat, and when I got there I saw that the engine was taking too much gasoline. I closed down the carburetor, when my hand struck the float, and I saw that it was broken. I immediately went to the other side of the engine to shut off the switch, when the engine backfired and ignited the gasoline which had flooded from the carburetor. It was then that the boys jumped.

Fought Through Flames. "I immediately tore the spray shield as far as I could. The fire was so bad that I had to jump overboard, after I had badly burned my hands. I crawled to the bow of the boat, and tore the rest of the spray shield off and got down in the flames in the bow of the boat to shut off the gasoline from the tank, which flowed from the lead pipe. I did this in case that the lead pipe should melt. I would have the gasoline shut off in the galvanized iron tank. This done, I had to again jump overboard and swim to the stern of the boat. We then commenced work with our boats and fought the fire, while Franz went overboard to endeavor to save Green.

Effort to Save Green. "Franz caught Green, and the two went down together. Franz brought Green with him to the surface, but in the struggle lost his hold. Franz again dived for Green and again caught him, only to have the drowning man again escape his hold. Several times Franz dived for Green, and the last time got only a slight hold on Green's hair, which he could not hold. After this Franz dived for him several times, and until he was himself so exhausted that we had to throw him a line in order to get him back into the boat. We were compelled to pour water in Franz's face to bring him to.

Marean states that had he not yelled that he could not swim, he believes that the entire party would have abandoned the boat and endeavored to make the shore, so frightened were they by the appearance of fire on the craft. But his cries, he states brought all the boys to their senses and caused the efforts which succeeded in putting out the fire.

Dragging for the Body. As soon as the drowning was reported to the offices of Chas. Clark a party set out in a launch to drag the river. Mr. Rosser at once notified a brother of the young man in New York of the drowning. His mother, who lives in Columbia, S. C., will be notified this morning.

The launch in which the young men were making the trip in a nine-horse-power, three-cylinder launch, and was regarded as one of the fastest and safest launches on the river.

All the young men showed signs of having been badly burned, with the exception of Franz, who, while others were fighting the flames, was endeavoring to save Green from drowning.

You Never Know the Moment When This Information May Prove of Infinite Value.

It is worth considerable to any citizen of Pensacola to know how to be cured of painful, annoying and itching piles. Know then that Doan's Ointment is a positive remedy for all itching of the skin, for piles, eczema, etc. One application relieves and soothes. Read this testimony of its merit:

Mrs. U. Mertins, 117 1/2 W. 1st St., Pensacola, Fla., writes: "I used Doan's Ointment, which I procured at Sidney Kahn's drug store, No. 9 South Palafox street, for eczema which had bothered me for more than ten years. It was worse during the heated parts of the year than any other time, and I suffered terribly. I used one ointment and salve after the other, but with little success, and treated with different doctors but without obtaining marked benefit. When one fifty-cent box of Doan's Ointment cured me it is no more than natural that I should be pleased to let others know of the wonderful merit of this preparation. It is a remedy which all sufferers from itching skin disease can rely upon with the utmost confidence."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PORTLAND HAS RUBBER-NECK GIRL

Her Neck Is Three and a Half-Foot Long and She Rubbers All Day Without Tiring.

Portland, Sept. 15.—"Have you seen the rubber-neck girl?" is the popular question at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

"Sure, thousands of them," is the common reply, and commonly you are mistaken for there is only one rubber-neck girl, properly speaking, and she has permanent quarters in the Manufacturers building at the Fair.

This rubber-neck girl has a beautiful face, a peach-bloom complexion, and baby stare. She stands all day long, and never gets tired for she stands on a rubber mat. Twenty times a minute she turns to the right and stares at you with her baby stare, and as many times she turns to the left. She is a wonderful girl to be sure.

The rubber-neck girl in the Manufacturers building at the Fair is one way superior to the ordinary rubber-neck girl. She does not chew gum. The reason for this is that her mechanism does not provide for gum-chewing.

The rubber-neck girl is used to attract attention to a rubber exhibit, and she does her duty. She has a rubber neck that is a marvel to look upon. It is three and a half feet long, and curved like the neck of a goose.
