14 WOMEN WERE PLACED UNDER ARREST

Run Houses in the Red Light District, and are Charged With Selling Liquor.

Fourteen women, all located in what is known as the "Red Light" district and alleged to be keepers of places of ill repute, were taken into custody last night by the county authorities, deputy sheriffs serving warrants upon them during the early portion of the night. Each is docketed at the county jail upon the charge of selling mal liquors without a county or state license.

All of the houses in that section of the city were visited, and at each place the keeper was placed under arrest and taken to the county jail. There all of the women furnished bond in the sum of $500 for their appearance at the preliminary trial.

This will occur Wednesday before Judge Henry Bellinger. It is understood that the authorities have evidence that the women have been selling beer and other drinks at their houses without licenses. The women arrested last night were:

Carrie Martin, Edna Wallace, Mamie Whitney, Percy Nelson, Minnie Rivers, Kate Ford, Violet Arnold, Pauline Spencer, Effie McDonald, Bessie Spencer, Gora Pearl, Mollie McCoy, Minnie Foy and Minnie Farley, colored.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out. "Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of a grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Eggleston of Maple Landing, Iowa.

"Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, aiding the same with a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip."

These Tablets promotes healthy action of the bowels, liver and kidneys which is always beneficial when the system is congested by a cold or attack of the grip. For sale by all druggists.

Taking Chances. A small boy had been punished and in consequence was feeling at enmity with all the world, but with his father in particular. When he came to say his prayers at night he gabbled through them at a high rate of speed, and while asking for the customary blessing on all the other members of the family, including the cat, he left out his offending parent.

His mother, understood, but thought it best to "appeal to his better self." "Harold," she said sweetly, "what about papa? You forget, dear."

"Didn't. Don't want papa blessed?" "Why, Harold, when you love him so, just think, dear. Papa has gone downtown now, and how would you feel if he got lost or hurt because you hadn't prayed for him?"

This rather worked on the boy's mind, and slowly he began to clamber out of bed, when just as he got on his knees he heard the familiar click of his father's key in the lock. "I guess I'll risk it!" he announced and quick as a wink jumped back into bed.—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Sanson Punished the Guillotine. The Sansons have a place in French history, not only because they continued so long to hold their odious office, but because two of their number, a father and son, held office during the evil days of the reign of terror, when they were kept so busily engaged with their guillotine. The last of the Sanson dynasty was dismissed from his post in the reign of Louis Philippe, in 1847, under remarkable circumstances.

Although he had inherited a comfortable fortune from his father, the executioner of the revolution, he got into pecuniary difficulties and was guilty of pawning his guillotine, surely the most lugubrious pledge ever taken by mortal pawnbroker. An order came from the procurator general for the execution of a criminal, and the necessary apparatus was not forthcoming. The prison authorities had perforce to get it out of pawn, and the execution took place. But the last of the Sansons was informed that his services would no longer be required. What became of him afterward does not appear to be known.

Quite the Contrary. Tess—I certainly was surprised to hear that Maud was married. Jess—Yes, it was rather unexpected. Tess—Her family's quite incensed, I hear. They say her husband is a man of absolutely no family. Jess—That's all wrong. He was a widower with four children.—Philadelphia Press.

A Fortune in His Legs. During the reign of Queen Elizabeth an English gentleman of wealth named Corbet, of a distinguished family near Shrewsbury, bet that his leg was the handsomest in the country or kingdom and staked estates worth £80,000 on the subject. He won the wager, and a picture is still preserved in the family mansion representing the process of measuring the legs of the different contestants.

Irritation

of the throat, sore and swollen tonsils, loss of voice, and other throat troubles should never be neglected. These ailments quickly work down to the lungs, and often end in consumption or pneumonia.

HAMLINS WIZARD OIL

used as a gargle, and externally on the throat, is a marvelous remedy for these painful and dangerous disorders, and effects relief and cure after everything else has failed.

Says Henry Wade, of Harlin, Mo.: "I am under obligations to you for the great good which Hamlin's Wizard Oil did my wife. She suffered from Throat Trouble for a year, and though she doctor and doctored, nothing did her any good, until she tried Hamlin's Wizard Oil." Price 50c and $1.00.

SAILORS CHASED BY CANNIBALS

SHIPWRECKED MARINERS HAVE EXCITING TIME IN THE SOLOMON ISLANDS.

By Associated Press. San Francisco, Dec. 6.—Among the passengers who arrived here yesterday from Australia on the liner Sonoma were Captain Watts and Chief Officer Felix Stinson of the American ship Susquehanna, which foundered shortly after she left Nehone in New Caledonia on August 23 last, with a cargo of chrome iron for Delaware breakwater. The crew left the ship in three boats, which were headed for the Solomon Islands. Only one boat landed there, the other two having been picked up at sea by a trading schooner. There the men were kindly treated for a time, but finally had to fight for their lives from a set of cannibals, who threatened their existence. They were subsequently picked up by a trading vessel and joined the rest of the crew at Sydney.

GOOD WORK OF THE SALVATION ARMY

MANY POOR PEOPLE AIDED THROUGH EFFORTS OF OFFICERS OF LOCAL POST.

A most generous response has been made by the people of Pensacola to the Salvation Army's appeal for donations of clothing for the worthy poor of this city, between one thousand and eleven hundred pieces of various character having already been sent to the army, nearly all of which has been distributed. The work of the army in assisting the poor and needy is entitled to the highest commendation and is worthy of generous assistance. Many have been assisted through their efforts this fall, and especially during the recent cold weather, who would otherwise have suffered greatly.

It is the purpose of Captain Norris to give a Christmas dinner to the poor of Pensacola, a proceeding which is usual every year whenever Salvation Army posts are established. Last year about 150 were given a dinner by the Army in this city, and it is the intention to at least double the number of beneficiaries at the dinner this year.

SHERIFF COLLAPSED AT MINNESOTA HANGING

By Associated Press. Elk River, Minn., Dec. 6.—C. D. Crawford, who was convicted of the murder of Heine Ludeen in a box car near here on November 1, 1904, was hanged yesterday. Sheriff Ward, of Elk River, collapsed and was unable to pull the drop. Sheriff Rornick, of St. Cloud then pulled the trap and Crawford was killed by the fall.

It's There Postum restores its normal action. There's a Reason.

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE UP CASE OF TURNER

Father of Man Who Was Killed by Wife is Now Securing Evidence for Trial.

The case of Frank Turner, who was killed by his wife, several weeks ago, is now in the hands of the grand jury for investigation and some of the evidence for the state is being prepared by the young man's father, Rev. F. M. Turner, who will assist in the prosecution.

Rev. Mr. Turner called at the county jail yesterday and was shown the revolver which was found in the room where the tragedy occurred and with which it is presumed the shooting was done. On examining the weapon, Mr. Turner said it did not answer the description of the pistol which he had been told his son carried. His previous investigations, he said, had led him to believe that his son's pistol was a double action one, while this one is only a single action gun. The coroner's jury, it will be remembered, returned a verdict of manslaughter against the dead man's wife, but his father thinks that charge does not cover the case. Under the grand jury's verdict, the case would be tried in the criminal court, but as the court has no jurisdiction over cases of murder, this case, if the grand jury returns an indictment for a higher crime, will be tried in the circuit court.

A Certain Cure for Croup.

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is a time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has been in use for many years and has never been known to fail, viz: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. M. F. Compton of Market, Texas, says of it, "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in severe cases of croup with my children, and can truthfully say it always gives prompt relief." For sale by all druggists.

STARS FOR VOYAGERS.

One Used by Navigators to Place a Ship's Location. There are nine eminent nautical stars considered by navigators. They are important as determining the position of the ship at the time the observation is taken, calculated by their distance from the moon. The stars are Alpha, Arctis, the principal star of Aries, but of the second grade; Aldebaran, first magnitude, in the rich asterism of Taurus, easily distinguished by its red color; Pollux, second magnitude, in Gemini; readily known by its companionship with the brighter Castor; Regulus, a first class star in the breast of Leo (hence often called Cor Leonis, the Lion's Heart); Spica Virginis, a first class star in Virgo, remarkably conspicuous from being isolated in a dark surrounding field; Alpha Equule, generally known as Altair, first magnitude; Alpha Pegasi, second class, usually termed Narkab; Antares, first magnitude, in Scorpio, distinguished by its fiery red color; Fomalhaut, first class, in Piscis Austrinus. These stars are conveniently situated with reference to the moon's path and are used for taking tables of lunar distances by makers of nautical almanacs in order to enable vessel masters to deduct their longitude. The distances of the center of the moon from some of the nine conspicuous stars near the ecliptic are computed with the utmost care for every three hours during the year at Greenwich. When on the broad ocean the navigator finds his position by marking when such a lunar distance, set down accurately in the almanac for the day and hour, occurs, as seen from his own vessel, and deduces thereby his whereabouts on the watery waste.—Milwaukee Free Press.

MADE TO ORDER BEAUTY.

Artificial Noses, Mouth Formers and Dimple Denters. The best artificial noses nowadays are made of paper mache, enameled. Such a nose is fastened to a spectacle frame sometimes for the sake of convenience and thus may be put on or removed at brief notice.

There is a patented contrivance, somewhat resembling a clothespin, for attachment to the nose to give to the organ a proper taper. Another device is supposed to improve the lines of the mouth.

Not a few people have no roofs to their mouths, having been born without any, or in other cases having lost them by disease. For such unfortunate artificial mouth roofs made of galvanized rubber are furnished.

There is a patented device for cleaning the tongue, consisting of a knife with a concave edge to which a sort of sponge brush is attached. When one is not well one's tongue is liable to be disagreeably coated, but the annoyance may be removed by means of the instrument described.

If you desire dimples you may wear a certain kind of wire mask at night to which are attached blunt wooden points that may be caused by the help of screws to press upon the points where the dimples are wanted. Thus after awhile the dimples are made to appear.

Danderine GREW THIS HAIR AND WE CAN PROVE IT.

MISS MARIANA HENRY, 5036 Forrestville Ave., CHICAGO. Miss Henry says: "Before I began using Danderine my hair was falling out in great handfuls, and I am pleased to say that Danderine not only stopped it as once, but has made my hair grow more than twice as long as it ever was."

ELCENCE RUSSELL, 315 Mohawk Street, CHICAGO. Age 6 years. Since it has become generally known that Danderine causes hair to grow just as abundantly on the heads of children as it does on those of matured persons, many truly marvelous cases are coming to our notice. Little Miss Russell, whose photograph appears above, is certainly one of the remarkable ones. Her beautiful hair is over thirty inches long and her mother says that "DANDERINE GAVE MY BABY BIT OF IT."

MISS SELMA HASSELL, 3728 North 43d Court, CHICAGO. Miss Hassell says: "My hair would not reach below my waist when I began using your Danderine. It was also noted and splitting at the ends. Now it is over 34 feet longer than it ever was and it has regained its original rich blond color. I used the tonic about four months all together."

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, fertilizing and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. IT IS THE NATURAL FOOD OF THE HAIR, SCIENTIFICALLY CHARGED WITH NEW AND GENUINE LIFE-PRODUCING ESSENCES UNHEARD OF BY OTHER MAKERS OF HAIR TONIC. NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. FREE. SAMPLE SPELLINGS.

Words on Which Dictionaries Agree and Which Differ.

It is not strange considering that our language is in a stage of transition—growing, as all languages do—that authorities should differ on many points; hence we find that our three great dictionaries sometimes differ in the matter of spelling. The following spellings, however, are agreed upon by the Century, International (Webster's) and Standard dictionaries, though many people often vary from them:

- abacost, acoustic, ax, amidin, antemetic, arabin, az, baptize, barytone, benzoin, Bering (sen), blond (adj), bluing, bouquet, Budapest, bur, caldron, caulk, er, ing, caligraphy, camellia, cantharidin, carbureted, Chile (S. A.), colter, consensus, coxy, darky, defense, denouement, dietician, drain (weight), dumfounded, Eskimo, gelatin, glycerin, gully, hacienda, Hindu, Hindustan, Mohammedan, mold, er, ing, molt, ed, lug, moneys, mustache, nickel, oculist, offense, paraffin, pedagogy, polt, quartet, quietest, rarely, rubia, staitlaced, sestet or sextet, smolder, ing, sobriquet, stanch, supersede, tranquillity, typify, veranda, vermilion, vitreous, wain, whisky.

How many readers are aware that all our dictionaries give "wolverene" as the correct spelling of the name of the animal from which the Wolverine State takes its name? Here is where the dictionaries vary from popular usage.—Chicago Chronicle.

Not Encouraging. "But," said the persistent suitor, "if I were to prove to you that I would go to the ends of the earth for you?" "First," replied the Boston girl, "you would have to prove to me that the earth really has ends, and that, you know, is quite impossible."—Philadelphia Press.

CAVE OF THE WINDS.

The Vision Carved in Stone Under Its Hills of Dakota.

The great wind cave has the form of an eight story house, each story, or stratum, containing a distinct formation of its own and each containing chambers of a size and magnificence of decoration such as have never been found in any subterranean cavern of the world.

It is a dream, a nightmare, a vision, carved in solid stone under the green hills of Dakota, "stone as white as the milk the hired man used to give us to drink in the dawn of a happy June morning, stone as red as the heart of the first bloodroot that you dug in the spring when the world was all spring to you and stone that is blue with a blue that all the painters who have ever painted Venice have tried to get for generations and have failed.

Frozen fountains are there, white with the leaping foam of untold ages, sculptured cats and horses and great monsters to be dreamed about o' nights and feared in dark corners in the daytime, organs built by the hands of giant gnomes for a Titan to play wild hymns of praise upon, a kitchen for the cooking of weird dishes never thought of up here in the sunshine, all manner and all kinds of rooms, ninety miles of them, down there under the hoofs of the gallant little range horses who pound the grass into hay the year round, up there in South Dakota.

ICE FOR HEATING.

One of the Oddities of Our Modern Civilization. The use of ice for heating purposes is one of the oddities of our modern civilization. Often it happens that a train carrying fruit from the south to the northern market encounters a cold spell while en route. If the temperature goes below a certain point the perishable merchandise will be ruined. But such a misfortune may be prevented by covering the fruit car with a coat of ice, a thing easily accomplished by turning a hose upon it and allowing the water to freeze until the whole vehicle is enveloped in a glassy and glibbering blanket.

It may, indeed, be appropriately called a blanket, inasmuch as it prevents the radiation of heat from the interior of the car. The ice being a good non-conductor the warmth is retained and the fruit, or possibly it may be vegetables, goes on its way unspoiled even by zero weather.

Cars used for transporting oranges and other fruit from California to the east are often provided nowadays with large cylindrical "ice stoves," as they might be called, at each end, which, while useful in summer time for refrigeration, are filled with ice during a cold spell in winter. When the temperature outside is at zero, or below, the ice, at 32 degrees F., is comparatively warm, and thus the "stoves" described act as heaters.

Physiognomy.

Dr. Barnardo, the great London child savior, was once discussing crime and criminals with a Scotland Yard expert and expressed his disbelief in the theories of heredity and criminal physiognomy. He produced two photographs of two well known men and showed the faces only to the expert. "One," he said, "is that of a once notorious criminal, and the other is that of a notably good man. Tell me which is which." Without hesitation the expert designated one of the photographs as that of the notorious criminal. Dr. Barnardo was triumphant. The expert criminologist had chosen the photograph of an archbishop of Canterbury.
