SOCIETY

trousseau is said to include only the most exquisite of lace trimmed, hand embroidered lingerie without a button—all laced with ribbons. The bridal dress is also the going away gown, but there is an embroidered white lace princess for evening, a blue Panama cloth for visiting, an elegant black voile, and numerous other beautiful things, to swell the possessor's heart with pride and the beholder with joy.

Miss Ethel Scholls leaves in a few days to join Miss Wiggins's house party in Monroeville, Ala.

Miss Ruth and Miss John Glenn are visiting their uncle Mr. John Glenn of Grove Hill, Ala.

Mr. F. E. Brawner, and Mr. and Mrs. Gant, who went north by steamer from Jacksonville, arrived safely and registered at Van Renssler Inn New York Friday.

Mrs. C. U. Robinson returned Thursday from North Carolina, where she has been since February.

Capt. Clyde E. Miller is the guest of his mother Mrs. M. J. Williams having recently returned from Biloxi Miss., after an absence of eight months, to the delight of his relatives and friends.

Mrs. L. M. Hockett and daughter Miss Mabel have returned from a visit to her daughter.

Miss Julia Tiffin of Brewton, Ala. and Miss Mary Morgan are spending the week with Miss Ida Richards at "Camp Nonesuch" at the bluff. Monday the three young ladies go to Escambia to spend a week the fortunate guests of Miss Tiffin's noted uncle Hon. Cal Tiffin, affectionately known as "Uncle Cal."

Mrs. E. Mead Wilson and sons Frank and Mead, returned Friday evening from a month at Michigan resorts. At Macatawa they found Mrs. Sims of the Escambia and her three daughters who are spending the summer there.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnston left Thursday to visit in Indianapolis and Chicago.

Mrs. T. A. Jennings and daughter Elizabeth, and Miss Mattie Jennings left Friday night to visit in Columbus and other points in Georgia.

Mrs. F. E. Wheeler and baby, and niece Miss Gertie McDonald, have gone to spend six weeks on Garner's Bayou, for Mrs. Wheeler's health.

Miss Florence Holst of Fisherville who spent the week with Miss Annie Belle Grosskopf, went home Saturday.

Mr. Alva Moog returned Friday from New Orleans looking well and says he feels so, to the pleasure of his innumerable friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Howard of Birmingham, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James T. Gerolds for the summer. Mrs. Howard is pleasantly remembered as Miss Danyne Howard formerly of Pensacola.

The news comes from Tallahassee, by wireless, that the Hon. J. Emmet Wolfe, private secretary to Governor Broward, is to be married about August 15 to a charming and popular young woman of that city who was formerly stenographer to one of the state officials. The Pensacola friends of Judge Wolfe were unable to confirm the report but it appears to be pretty authentic.

Miss Abbie Brooks, who accompanied Miss Viva Harrison north as her guest has returned after a visit of three delightful weeks with her in Cleveland, O., and in New York City, where Miss Harrison remained.

Mrs. J. W. Holden leaves tomorrow for Passaic, New Jersey, where she will spend about three months. Mr. Holden will accompany her, but will return in about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McLean and children and Mes Mollie Crawford, of Freeport, are in the city for a few days, arriving here from St. Andrews on the Tarpon Friday night. They are stopping at the Park Hotel.

Mrs. T. H. Lannon and Master Ryder left Thursday night for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they expect to spend the balance of the summer.

The Misses Davenport of Bayou Grande are guests of the Misses Fulshum.

Miss Annie McMullen is the guest of her sister Mrs. Cuyler McMillan.

Mrs. Cook who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Charles Rice, has gone to her home in Greenville, Ala.

REAL ESTATE MAN INSPIRES PISCATORIAL RHAPSODY

The following piscatorial rhapsody, written by one of the Bayou Grande poets, was inspired by the record catch which a young Pensacola real estate man made near or in the bayou a few days ago:

The sun had scarce driven
When Bullock went for his'n
In Star Lake's beautiful water
With his glittering quarter.

Did you see that noble trout?
Which must have had the gout
When Bullock pulled him out,
With many a fear and many a doubt.

On the half past seven trolly,
Which is always very jolly,
Hymen's candidate told the story
Of that trout and Bullock's glory.

Oh, did you see that splendid fish?
Fit for any royal dish:
The trout that Bullock caught,
With countless dangers fraught.

He lay in silvery sheen
Where he was easily seen;
The trout Bullock caught
For which he went and fought.

Joe's face shone with visions fair,
While Milton's wishful stare
Made Bob Keener to try the water
Strong with bait and firm for slaughter.

Bob and Smith and Jack
Said Bullock was a quack,
While the Parson sadly listened,
And saw the trout that glistened.

Say, did that trout you see;
The fish that Bullock caught?
A fish that once was free,
A subject now for thought.

Sure no trout could long resist
This huge Bullock's strength;
The trout so many have missed,
Though so large, so great in length.
—CAR WHEELER.

Don't Save Silk.
It is a mistake to try to "save" a taffeta silk petticoat. Many women of moderate means will buy such a silk skirt and then keep it to be worn on special or rare occasions, but they might just as well wear it often, for the silk will wear out just the same hanging in the closet or lying in the bureau drawer as it will when worn. One girl had a very beautiful pink skirt presented to her and, not wishing to wear it just at the time, put it away until spring. At the end of three months she took out her skirt for wear with a new frock and found it full of tiny holes and cracks. As it is impossible to prevent this, even in the best silk, the most sensible plan is to wait until you need a taffeta skirt and, once bought, get the wear out of it at once. Carefully used, it will last through a season.—New York Press.

STOVES AND RANGES

To the intending purchaser of a STOVE or RANGE we cordially extend an invitation to see our very fine line of both. All-Steel Ranges, asbestos lined, keeps the heat in the stove and concentrates it inside. They are so constructed they consume but little fuel, and are, therefore, very economical, soon saving their cost in the consumption of coal and wood. Small stoves of the better quality can be had at exceedingly small figures. Our line of kitchen furniture is complete, comprising everything the housewife requires to make her work light and easy. You can BUY NOW AND PAY LATER.
