DEBATE WILL OCCUR IN AUGUST

Probable That Broward and Beard Will Meet on 20th of Next Month.

Governor Napoleon B. Broward has written that he will be unable to get to Pensacola during the month of July or the early portion of August to meet Hon. John S. Beard in joint debate upon the drainage question.

This letter was received by Mayor Bliss yesterday, the mayor having arranged the meeting between the two prominent men, and he has replied to the governor suggesting August 20 as a suitable date, inasmuch as the governor stated in his letter that he might be at liberty to come to West Florida somewhere about the 17th. It is very probable that this date will be selected and Pensacolians will be given an opportunity to hear the governor speak upon his pet scheme of draining the everglades and Mr. Beard in opposition to the plan.

The mayor has written Mr. Beard, who is in Tennessee, telling him of the change of date in the meeting, and expects a letter from him within a few days.

SANDERS WILL REMAIN AS DEPUTY

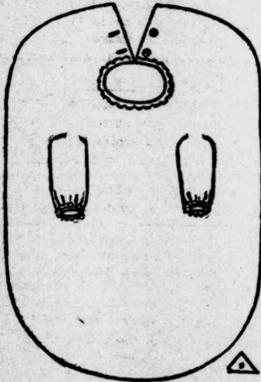

He and the Sheriff Have Agreed to Continue to Be Associated in County Work.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Frank Sanders will remain in the employ of Sheriff Van Pelt for an indefinite period, occupying his present position. Sheriff Van Pelt is authority for this statement, and also for the statement that he has employed Chas. P. Bobe, who will at once assume his duties as deputy sheriff, but still retain his position as constable.

People generally will be glad to know that Deputy Sanders is to remain in the sheriff's office, for he is without doubt one of the best men in that position that could be secured and his loss would be badly felt. Some time since there was a little difference between the chief deputy and sheriff, but as soon as each understood the situation it was easily patched up and they are now as staunch friends as ever.

A BED BIB.

It Ought to Prove a Source of Comfort to Invalids. To avoid the discomforts arising from crumbs when confined to bed I have large bibs made of shrunken India linen, bound with the lawn bias binding that comes in all shades and washes perfectly. These are large enough to completely cover my shoulders and the turn over part of the bed clothes. The amount of material needed is a yard and a quarter of yard wide goods. Twelve inches from the neck of the bib are inserted sleevelets fourteen inches long. Through these the hands are slipped, the cuffs being large enough for that and nothing more. When meal time comes the bib is fastened around the neck, I slip my hands through the cuffs, the skirt of the bib is spread over me like a napkin, and I am ready, with no fear that a solitary crumb will creep into the bed to make me miserable or force my nurse to remake the bed.—Good House-keeping.

Teething Children.

An excellent gruel for children that are cutting teeth is made as follows: Tie a quarter of a pound of wheat flour in a thick cloth. Place it in one quart of water and boil for three hours. Remove the cloth and expose the flour to the air until it has become hard and dry. When wanted grate from it one tablespoonful, put it into a pint of new milk. Place over the fire and stir until it comes to a boil. Then add a pinch of salt and a tablespoonful of cold water.

GORDON

BARNESVILLE, GA.

The Great Preparatory School of the South for Boys and Girls.

Established 1852. Enrollment now exceeds 600. Every southern state represented among the students. Magnificent school plant, perfectly lighted, ventilated and steam heated. Spacious halls, commodious study and recitation rooms.

DELIGHTFUL CLIMATE—IDEAL ENVIRONMENT.

The character and management of Gordon appeal to parents who desire to send their sons and daughters to a school where every faculty—mental, moral and physical—will be developed in the right way and to the highest degree. It is non-sectarian, but Christian in its influences. The discipline is firm, but not rigid, the cordial relations between teachers and students being particularly noticeable. Military department under direction of U. S. Army Officer. Barabable. Military department under inhabitants, is 1,000 feet above sea level, and its climate is mild and equable. It has all the advantages without the dangers of a large city. It furnishes an ideal location for a great school like Gordon. The faculty is as strong as that of any college and the curriculum is as high as that of any female college. A high degree of attainment is demanded of every student. Catalogue No. 37, just issued, gives detailed information of the advantages which have for half a century enabled Gordon's graduates to excel in college, professional and business life. Said of Pensacola and Pensacolians

Soon be Somethin' Doin'.

The Journal is gradually working up sentiment against the ice trust in Pensacola, and soon there'll be something lively in that deep water town.—Lake City Index.

War on Pistol Toters.

Judge Beggs of the Escambia county criminal court has attracted attention before by the stern war he is making on the "pistol-toters." He now gives notice that he will be no respecter of persons when it comes to sentences for carrying concealed weapons. A minimum sentence of three months in the chain gang coupled with a fine of $100, is what he promises all offenders. Judge Beggs will earn the grateful remembrance of the innocent part of the community if he succeeds in stamping out the "pistol-toting habit."—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Great is the Bay Country.

Hon. Frank L. Mayes, editor and manager of The Pensacola Journal pays a glowing tribute in The Journal to St. Andrews Bay as a result of impressions formed on the occasion of his first visit to the bay on the Fourth of July. No unprejudiced mind can visit this beautiful bay country without being similarly impressed.—St. Andrews Buoy.

Deserve a Medal.

The boys of the Pensacola fire department who pluckily extinguished a blazing car of gasoline, last week, are entitled to a medal for bravery and we hope will get it. Start the ball rolling, Brother Mayes.—Chipley Verdict.

Pure Food Agitation.

The pure food agitation in Pensacola has gone further than the meat storage houses. One of the inspectors recently appointed arrested three restaurateurs on the charge of serving tainted meats and fish to their patrons, with the result that all were fined, but the penalty was suspended on the promise of greater carefulness in observing the law. Wait until the Pensacolians wake up to the fact that cans sometimes conceal cleverly disguised filth and appetizing-looking polisons, and that meats are not the only foods that need inspection. This is abundantly shown by the investigations of state chemists in various states that employ such officers. The trouble is that it needs the aid of chemistry to detect some of these frauds on the stomach and perils to health. Even tainted meat is not so dangerous as poisonous preservatives, the red coloring matter in some tomato catsups and the copper used to give a bright green to pickles and French peas.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Pensacola's Fly Mayor.

Charles Bliss, the human fly, so called because of his trick of walking on a ceiling, head down, recently died out in Wisconsin. Charles Bliss, the fly mayor of Pensacola, is still very much alive. He is walking all over wrong-doers and has reversed the trick by making them go with heads down.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

"Uncle Joe" is Thankful.

Pensacola now comes to the front with a kind of eminence she doesn't desire. A man-eating shark, 13½ feet long, was caught in the bay there the other day. Perhaps there isn't another man-eater in Pensacola bay, but perhaps there is, and under the circumstances we are rather glad we didn't take a dip in those waters the other day when we had the opportunity. There are sharks and sharks and they are all bad, but while the land variety skin a man, at least they turn him loose and give him another chance.—Live Oak Democrat.

Judge Beggs for Governor.

Speaking of candidates for Governor next term, what's the matter with Judge Beggs, of the Criminal Court over in Pensacola? He's the man who sticks it to pistol toters to the tune of $100 fine with 90 days imprisonment in addition. That's the most notable and praiseworthy thing done by any public man in Florida recently that has come to our knowledge. The governor of Florida needs to be a man with plenty of iron in his bloods, who not only believes in enforcing the law (they all say that), but does enforce it; and that, too, in a way to make it cut to the quick and discourage a repetition of the offense. Judge Beggs seems to be that kind of man. Speak out, Judge; shall we start a little boom for you?—Live Oak Democrat.

Beggs is After 'em.

Judge E. D. Beggs of the Escambia county criminal court (and by the way he is our "Dixie" of former days) is determined to do what he can to abate the "pistol toting" nuisance in his county. He has announced that in future persons convicted in his court of carrying arms secretly will receive a minimum sentence of three months "on the gang" in addition to pay a fine of $100. Such a sentence applied once or twice, will make a Christian out of the average "pistol toter."—Madison New Enterprise.

Hold the Shark Championship.

Pensacola has overshadowed West Palm Beach in landing enormous sharks. The Gulf City is credited with a thirteen and one-half foot man-eater, while the Cottage City lays claim to a twelve and one-half foot specimen.—St. Augustine Record.

Ought to Visit Us.

Pensacola is thrilled with the possibility of a visit from President Roosevelt on his return to Washington from his trip to Panama. He will get an earnest invitation to stop over there from the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce, with the great Louisville & Nashville road to back it up. The president really ought to visit Pensacola and inspect the finest harbor on the Gulf Coast, to say nothing of other attractions.—Live Oak Democrat.

The Sanitary Campaign.

The Pensacola Board of Health is to be congratulated upon the vigorous campaign which it is waging to keep that city in a sanitary condition during the summer months, and its efforts should be seconded by every resident who has the welfare of that city at heart.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

Stagnant Water.

Over in Pensacola the city record er fines them $2.00 and costs for per hitting stagnant water on their premises, even in a tub, where mosquitoes may breed. People with primitive untrammelled ideas of personal liberty might think this an outrage, but it's just right. We give up a large part of our natural rights as the price of organized government and civilized society, and in the great cause of sanitation to preserve the general health, not even the stagnant water in the washtubs of a freeborn American citizen should be permitted to stand in the way.—Live Oak Democrat.

NEW DRUG STORE WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The Beautiful Crystal Drug Store Invites the Public to Call Monday.

The Crystal Pharmacy opens its doors tomorrow.

Pensacola, the progressive deep water city of the Mexican gulf, continues to grow and this magnificent business has been established to meet the new conditions.

With the splendid fixtures and new, fresh stock of the finest imported drugs, medicines, toilet articles, etc., selected from the best pharmaceutical houses in the country, everyone will have an opportunity of purchasing such articles with complete satisfaction.

This establishment throws open its doors tomorrow morning and with its best bow to the public, makes its bid for popular patronage. Those who have been permitted to inspect it pronounce it the finest establishment of its kind in the state of Florida, and it is predicted that quite a large number of people will visit the new drug store tomorrow.

SAGE LEAVES

Special to The Journal.

Brent, July 25.—The showers have been unusually "local" through the past week. One side of a farm receives a drenching rain, while the dust continues to fly on the other portion of the same field.

Dog days are now in full bloom and milk will sour before it gets cold—(without ice.)

Rush in your sweet potato vines now, as the season is about winding up. They rarely pay for planting in August.

A religious bell has been procured for the Methodist church at Brent, which is to be fixed in the tower this Saturday evening.

This will give new awakening to the Christian cause, to ring up the forgetful and sleepy "workers" of the entire neighborhood.

A 500 pounder should be understood from Goulding to Oakfield; and be heard beyond the hills of Carpenters creek, and far out into the distant west.

There will be Baptist services in the Methodist church on Sabbath, the 29th inst.

Farming in West Florida is rapidly increasing, and the Pensacola market consumes most of the surplus products. The Bears cane plantation and Mr. Brent's 35-acre "melon patch" are successful experiments on a gigantic scale.

A careful inspection of the agricultural doings in Escambia county would show many surprising new departures along this line. Mr. Staples says that he has 8 acres of beautiful cotton between Olive and Roberts.

The farm products daily coming down the hard road from the northward to Pensacola market dispels the old idea that this will never be a farming country.

BIRD CITIES.

Many Places That Have Feathered Inhabitants Only.

All along the coast of the Atlantic ocean are little cities inhabited by birds. Gardeners island, at the extremity of Long Island, is the place where the fish hawks come during their breeding time, and owing to the friendly attitude of the family on the island the ospreys have become very tame, and build their nests upon the ground instead of in the high trees.

In the Indian river, Florida, is a small island called Pelican Island. It received its name through being one of the favorite settlements for the pelicans during their nesting season.

Away up in the mouth of the St. Lawrence river is the famous Bird rock, "the greatest bird tenement house in the world," as one naturalist expresses it. This rock rises abruptly from the water, and in its formidable clefts thousands of northern sea birds dwell—the snowy feathered gannets. On the crest of this rock rises a lighthouse, whose keeper is on the best of terms with his countless feathered neighbors.

These bird cities, or settlements, are under the protection of the American Ornithological union.

Bath Bags. The invaluable bath bags are made by filling a thick muslin or thin calico bag with two-thirds of bran or oatmeal, bits of soap and orris root, just to give a sweet savor. Let this soak in the water before entering the bath, and make a splendid lather all over the skin. If you use this only two or three times a week it will make the body smooth. But each bag is good only twice using. Once sour it does more harm than good.

A Darning Help. Try filling up a big hole with a bit of coarse net when you are darning the stockings of the young hopeful of the family, who goes through stockings with a superb disregard of the wearisome stitches somebody else has to take in consequence of his carelessness. Then darn back and forth, taking your stitches in and out of the net, yet darning as closely as you do ordinarily. He'll have trouble to wear that darn out.
