

A CONVINCING EXPERIMENT

Dr. Sabourand, of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with human dandruff germs, and "in between five and six weeks," says the official report of the Pasteur Institute, "the rabbit was completely denuded; in fact, it had become entirely bald."

This experiment proves that dandruff is a contagious disease due to the presence of a microbic growth in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. It also proves that unless the formation of dandruff is stopped—by destroying the dandruff germ—that it will lead to falling hair and incurable baldness.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Is the Original remedy that kills the dandruff germ, and its success in the treatment of dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair is oftentimes little short of marvelous. Send for booklet.

Two sizes, 50c and $1 at drug stores. Send 10 cents in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Dept. N, Detroit, Mich., for a sample. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906 Series No. 916. Applications at prominent barber shops.

estimate of the Controller is correct. He counts for a three million increase and this for the whole state is not much. The increase of license tax which the legislative committee thought would increase the revenue matter really promises to fall short of the estimates, one reason being that the license tax from liquor dealers will be appreciably diminished. Prohibition elections are pending in several counties with the prospect of prohibition winning. If this is the result the license taxes from this source will be reduced and the reduction will probably amount to as much as the increase calculated on from other lines will amount to.

Health Fund.
The board of health fund, amounting to nearly one hundred thousand dollars in the treasury, is a tempting reserve to the eye of the financier who believes in the quick utility of all available assets. The board of health has no use for this amount of money, unless an epidemic should strike the state. The normal expenses of the board of health are nominal, and in an emergency such as threatens the snug sum to the credit of that department might be used with profit, but under the law it cannot be touched except upon order of the State Board of Health or by legislative action.

The other moneys in the treasury are largely school funds that cannot be drawn upon except for the express purposes for which they were provided, and this leaves the General Revenue Fund, which must stand all current expenses and pay all appropriations, to stand on its own footing, and that footing at the present time is extremely shaky, the total amount being, as stated but little above eighteen thousand dollars and there are now in the hands of the Treasurer requisitions for the expense of grand juries in the various counties for eleven thousand dollars of this sum.

Extra Session.
Opposition to an extra session of the legislature has been general and outspoken, based entirely upon the expense of it, but the question naturally arises if it would not be better to settle the question of finance even at an additional expense to the State than to let affairs rock along at such an uneasy rate for the two years to come. It is plainly a question of public policy, whether an initial expense shall be incurred and the credit of the State internally preserved, for there will be no alien creditors to question it, or whether the blunder of the Legislature shall be visited upon the State officials and the people affected thereby for the ensuing period of legislative inaction.

ent. It is expected that the convention will be attended by some three thousand delegates and that its work will eventuate in great good for the improvement of the Mississippi and the Gulf ports, in which Florida is directly interested.

Three of the state house figures have been absent this week at a nearby town where they officiated at the installation of a new Knights of Pythias lodge. It is interesting to observe that the fraternal organizations have a strong hold on the official life at the Florida capital. R. Hudson Burr, chairman of the Railroad Commission was one of the officiating members of the grand lodge present and he was ably assisted by Comptroller Croom and Secretary of State Crawford.

Indian War Claims.

The Indian war claims commission held a session Wednesday and received a file of the claims, which the committee will in the course of its authorized duty pass upon. The amount of the claims reaches about $350,000. It is not probable that any great proportion of this amount will be paid, for many of them will undoubtedly be proven invalid and for other sufficient reasons will be thrown out. It will be necessary for some member of the commission to go to Washington and prove the claims by the original records on file at the national capital, as none of the necessary records are now in the custody of the state.

The work of the commission has thus far been only preliminary, and it is not probable that the claims will be paid for some time to come, probably not before the next session of the Legislature, as the amount of valid claims will of necessity be returned to the legislature as valid and of credit for payment. The committee is only an auditing committee and though it should order claims paid there are no funds now available for their payment.

brethren engaged in the same business might profit by his example—quit the whiskey business, vote the dry ticket for the good of their fellowmen.

As to claiming prohibition won't stop the sale of liquor, that is all a farce. If one will read the blind tiger laws now on the statute books and then reason that we have a good Christian gentleman on the bench of our criminal court who will prove to them that the way of the transgressor is hard, he will see the handwriting on the wall.

The liquor traffic has got to go. So far there has not been a failure of a dry vote in the Southern states. Now, with the onward march of Christianity and all the churches in the fight, God will lead His people to victory as he always has.

Christ told his disciples that he that is not for us is against us. It's true in this fight. The man that is helping to win this victory is bold and has nothing to fear. There is no middle ground and there will be a fearful day of reckoning in the near future for those who shirk their duty or join the cohorts of evil. Those who are in line in this fight will keep tab of all that goes on for future reference and every one should show his colors or he may get on the wrong list. We are praying for victory.

Fourth prize of $1.00, won by No. 32.

ness of $150,000,000, still there is no way apparent for the treasurer to meet the demands upon this fund unless there is special legislation to provide for it.
This is the situation which gave first suggestion that a special session of the Legislature was needed. If the beneficiaries of the special appropriations can wait there will be no immediate need for a special session, but it is plainly apparent to the student of affairs that some more thorough system should be provided. The legislators seem to have overlooked a number of items that would be of necessity paid from the general revenue fund for which no adequate provision has grown within three sessions from $100,000 to $360,000. In addition to this increase there have been other increased appropriations and also extraordinary appropriations, yet the tax levy has been increased by only one-half of one mill. This might be sufficient if there were shown any remarkable increase in the taxable valuations, but this is not so if the
