EXPERIENCE.

In the north, where leagues of forest sag beneath the plumy snow, I've worked with lurching-shouldered lumbermen; I've seen the small, gray fishing boats beat out with lifting bow Toward the foggy coasts of Labrador again; I have plucked the purple, swollen grape beside the Great Blue Lake, And gathered pungent hops from off the vine; I have watched the water swirling in a clumsy ore-boat's wake, Laden down with dusty riches from the mine; I've seen the mad steer plunge and fall beneath the sledge's stroke In packing-houses by the turbid Kaw; I have rotted three long months in a steel-barred Texan jail And felt the bitter mockery of law; I have fed the myriad-headed grain into the toothed machine Which tramples loud with wild interior feet; I have seen the Kansas plains carpeted with soft, young corn And garmented with glory of the wheat; I have camped in California by the shoreward-heaving sea, And have walked Manhattan's pavements all night long— But the lives I've lived and suffered gave me more than poverty; They paid me in the golden coin of song; They paid me in song's golden coin, those days were never lost; Tho' I had died an hundred deaths, it well were worth the cost, For I beheld America; her sunrise kissed my brow I learned to know the miracle of living Here and Now. Harry H. Kemp.

REFLECTIONS OF A WOMAN.

Girls may worship novel heroes, but they really prefer a man who can provide them with three square meals a day. So many women make the sad mistake of picking a quarrel before it is ripe. An ex-husband is apt to think that "alimony" means "all the money." A health journal has an article on "How to Lie When Asleep." What we really need is a few pointers on how to tell the truth when awake. If some women don't have anyone to talk to, they offend gum, which, after all, helps some, and keeps the jaws in good condition. Little lady, remember that by the gentle art of standing up for yourself you may be able to keep people from sitting down on you! There is probably nothing that makes the average woman so howling mad as the thought that a man may possibly think she would not, resent his kissing her. If a woman wants a man to throw himself at her feet, she should not throw herself at his head. The open admiration of a man makes a girl almost as mad as his utter failure to notice her at all.

MONDAY AFTERNOON EUCHRE TO MEET.

The Monday Afternoon Euchre Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lindstrom on Government street. Mrs. Lindstrom is an ideal hostess and a popular member of the club.

DANCE AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

A delightful dinner dance will take place at the Country Club tomorrow night, which promises to be a most brilliant affair. As usual, local select circles will be well represented at the event, which is to be characteristic in every way of the popular club.

MEETING OF NOMADS IS POSTPONED.

The regular meeting of the Nomads

What would be more delightful than one of the dainty, tender, clean picked birds that we are selling for 22 cents a pound?

Don't have the Christmas Dinner a gloomy, an old-fashioned bird, but make sure of getting the right kind by buying here.

We are now ready to take orders for Christmas Turkeys, Meats and Groceries of all kinds. Barrel Olives, Pickles, Sweet and sour, etc.

A McDONALD MOYER, Phone 718, Cor. Government and Alcaniz Streets.

Grams, Clara Sheets, Gena Bjorson, Mesdames Kirchoffer and Torkelsen, and Messrs. Fauria Touart, Will Hanson, Chas. Pohlman, Will Berry, Edwin Pohlman, Leo Resport, Christ Martin, and Charlie Frank. The Carnation Club, in fact, is one of the most popular of local social organizations among the young people.

ARRIVE FOR APPROACHING WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bryant, accompanied by their children, Kenneth, Morrill, Pauline and Louise, of Pollard, Ala., arrived Saturday morning, to be present at the marriage of Miss Robbye D. Curtis, a sister of Mrs. Bryant. They will spend the holidays with Mrs. Bryant's father, at No. 907 N. Alcaniz street.

ANOTHER LOCAL WEDDING FOR THE HOLIDAY WEEK.

Next Wednesday will witness another interesting local event in this city, which is to be the marriage of Miss Robbye D. Curtis and Mr. Robert J. Turner. The marriage is to occur at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Curtis, at 8 o'clock, at No. 907 North Alcaniz street. Miss Curtis is a popular Pensacola young lady, and Mr. Turner is respected by a large number of local friends. They will be at home at Ninety-Six, S. C., after December 26.

BELL-STRICKLAND ANNOUNCEMENT.

The many local friends of the young people concerned will be interested in the following announcement, cards having been received yesterday in Pensacola:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillip Bell request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Nellie Bernice to Mr. John Strickland, on Wednesday morning, December the thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eight at eleven-thirty o'clock, at Christ Church, Pensacola, Fla. Come to see us at Atmore, Ala.

DANCE AT THE POST.

A dance which was well attended by Pensacolians, occurred at Fort Barancas on Friday night, the event having passed very pleasantly. The gymnasium, in which the dance occurred, was attractively decorated with flags, refreshments having been served. A number from Warrington and the post were also in attendance.

COLLEGE GIRLS RETURNING FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

One of the prettiest events of the holiday tide is the reappearance of numbers of Pensacola's college girls in local circles, these bright young ladies having returned to spend the week with admiring relatives and friends. Their presence, which quickens the real holiday spirit, local residents, is a pleasure both to those who know them best, and even to the casual observer, who watch their animated "home-coming" faces with an interest which defies comparison. Misses Fisher, Saltmarsh, Blount and Rosasco are among the local young ladies who are expected.

BROWNING CLUB HELD REGULAR MEETING YESTERDAY.

The regular meeting of the Browning Club occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Covington, No. 20 West Cervantes street. Paschiarotto and an Epilogue to Paschiarotto were the two Browning poems under discussion, much of real value having been derived by the ladies present. The Browning Club is an association of brilliant local club women and is one in which the city makes pardonable pride.

MASTER FRANKLYN FORBES ARRIVES HOME.

Master Franklyn Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Forbes, who has been attending the Military Academy at College Park, Ga., is home for the holidays. He is accompanied by his little friend, Master Richard Hull, of Michigan, who is also attending the Military Academy and who will be his guest for Christmas.

MR. AND MRS. LLOYD HAHN IN KANSAS CITY.

The many local friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hahn, recently of this city, will be pleased to learn that they are now pleasantly located at No. 13 West Thirteenth street, in Kansas City. They left Pensacola during the early fall.

MISS BLANCHE McHUGH SPEND HOLIDAYS HERE.

Miss Blanche McHugh, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McHugh, is expected home from Mobile on Tuesday, where she is attending college. This will be delightful news to her many Pensacola friends.

FORMER PENSACOLA LADY RECEIVES FINE APPOINTMENT.

A remarkable honor has just been conferred on Mrs. Lufrida Herr, a well known Pensacola lady, who has been spending some time in the west. She has just been appointed probate judge of the juvenile court at Salt Lake City, a position which not only means considerable dignity, but which also affords a handsome salary. Mrs. Herr was on her way to visit Pensacola friends and relatives when she was appointed, having been considered just the proper person for the position.

During her residence in this city, she was very prominent in local church circles, and was a zealous worker in the W. C. T. U. She is the mother of Mrs. R. K. White, of this city.

TO ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF SON.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lischkoff will entertain on next Tuesday night in honor of their son Mozart, and his guest, Mr. Herman Harris, both young men being students at the Tulane Medical College at New Orleans. The event of Tuesday will take the form of a musicale, and is delightfully anticipated by those who are to be present.

FATHER REED RETURNS FROM NEW ORLEANS.

The many friends of Father Reed, of St. Joseph's church, will be pleased to learn of his return to Pensacola, after an extended sojourn in New Orleans, where he has been confined in a sanitarium. Father Reed is somewhat improved, but no so much so as those who love him best could wish.

MR. MOZART LISCHKOFF WILL SPEND HOLIDAYS HERE.

Mr. Mozart Lischkoff, who is a student of the Tulane Medical college of New Orleans, will arrive in the city on Tuesday, with the intention of spending his Christmas vacation among local relatives and friends. Mr. Lischkoff is one of Pensacola's very promising young men, and will be welcomed home by those who are numbered among his personal friends. He will be accompanied by Mr. Herman Harris, also of Tulane, who will be his guest during the holidays.

BIRMINGHAM YOUNG LADY TO ARRIVE THURSDAY.

Miss Cecile Ropholz, a charming young Birmingham girl, who is exceptionally popular in the winter set in the Alabama city, will arrive in the city Thursday, and will spend the holidays here. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bear on North Spring street.

MR. RICHARD STILLMAN ARRIVES HOME.

Mr. Richard Stillman has arrived home from Yale, and will spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stillman.

He has many local friends who are interested in the fine progress which he is making in the noted eastern college.

MISS SMITH TO ENTERTAIN.

Miss Iela Smith will be hostess at a card party next Wednesday evening to be given at her home at No. 21 East Wright street. Her most friends are anticipating a delightful event.

TOMORROW IS TAG DAY.

Tomorrow is Tag Day. Are you sufficiently impressed with the glaring fact that Pensacola has reached a stage of sufficient enterprise to inaugurate her first Tag Day along with, or shortly after, cities of the size of New Orleans, Atlanta and others?

ABOUT YOUR CHRISTMAS CHARITIES.

If there is one place in which the soft, thrilling, indescribable personality of the real woman—the womanly woman—should prevail, and where the deft touch of her dainty fingers and the very charm and utter sweetness of her power in all things should be experienced in its its witching vagaries, that place is, essentially, Christmas.

Dear little Pensacola woman, with your charming friveries—your frothy capes in the air, and your pretty head full of social things of the holiday world, don't lose the very sweetness of it all by falling to figure in the great amount of charity work which is being planned in your city for this week.

Make your Christmas infinitely sweeter by the knowledge of some good work well done—some graceful act with which you have been identified—which is to make you feel like the fine, charitable little person that you know in our hearts you are. The B. P. O. E. ladies are working with an energy which is praiseworthy indeed. They aren't going to allow the picture of their own Christmas fireside to become darkened with memories of large-eyed little children crying for the bare necessities of the things we call life—not they—and furthermore they are not going to lose sight of that most delightful vision of their own tots dancing about the gifts supplied by the old saint himself, in a shudder of apprehension as to just what scene is being enacted in some particularly sad and entirely forgotten scene on this morning of mornings.

If you are fortunate in being the guardian angel of a nursery all your own, remember the unfortunate little ones along with the joy you will furnish your own particular brood.

If your home, perchance, is hushed for the want of childish prattle at this time of year when such conditions are somehow noticeable, your whole interest and effort should be directed toward the city's very poor little people—indeed your duty is quite clear. You have articles which would delight the heart of some poor boy or girl, have you not?

Of course you have. If you do not wish to enter into the beautiful work single handed, however, there is no need for you to do so. Join forces instead, if you like, with others who are already identified with the work in hand, and, by your own charming personality and presence, work marvels, the equal of which you have probably never dreamed!

A GOOD DINNER

Should always be ended with a dainty treat, made with Blue Ribbon lemon or vanilla.

Judge Lindsey said: "When you seek a boy, go after his heart. You can't get his heart by sending him to jail."

MILADY BEAUTIFUL.

Not one woman in a hundred drinks enough water to keep her system in a healthy condition. Three pints a day is not a drop too much.

An excellent lotion for keeping the hands white and soft is composed of two ounces of glycerine, one ounce of rosewater, one-half ounce of bay rum.

A simple cough medicine that children will take is made of one cup of granulated sugar, the juice of one lemon and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Cook it until it snaps in cold water, pour it into a buttered shallow pan and when it begins to harden out it with a knife into small squares. When cold the candy can be broken into small pieces. This is pure and reliable.

Do you go to bed hungry? This is not a good thing to do. Nothing should, of course, be eaten which is hard to digest, but something should be taken to stay the stomach's craving and insure sleep. Warm and warm milk, hot water and brown bread or a few dates are all good. They should be eaten slowly. If it is not well digested, instead of inducing sleep it will cause wakefulness.

Compound spirits of ammonia if used in water will remove the disagreeable odor arising from excessive perspiration. It is a cheap and harmless remedy.

Seize upon every chance to keep out in the open air. If you can do no more put your head out of a window as many times a day as you can, if your work is confining and give the lungs a good airing. Walk instead of riding whenever you can, whether you feel like it or not. Train yourself to it. On all occasions walk, exercise, play, do anything, in the open air, if it is only to sit in the sun and take a sun bath. Whenever you can sleep in the open. This is not only good for tuberculosis patients; it is good for us all.

New cloak gowns, which may be worn as an outdoor garment or as a princess robe, come in broadcloth, in black, navy blue, violet and smoke color.

The simulated buttonhole, elaborately worked, is seen on every variety of gown.

Net waists, lined with china silk, have tucked fronts and backs and long sleeves.

Black fringe is especially popular this season; also the braid trimming with side fringe.

Embroidered roses in natural shades will be found upon sheer dresses made over satin foundation.

Russian turbans of white marabout and spotless ermine are destined to be taken up for visiting hats.

It is a season of myriad colors. Everything is seen from the faintest tints to the most gorgeous hues.

Buttons are not prominent in new automobile coats, but the collars and cuffs are extravagantly ornate.

Fur cloth bands are much used as the finishing touch to the edge of a coat or extreme edge of a dress skirt.

The earring is still pronounced, large pearls and semiprecious stones being freely worn.

A simple but most effective way to make the hair wave in the big ripples which continue to be fashionable is to dampen it and tie it down with bands of baby ribbon.

Jumpers are modified into the directoire waistcoat of lace or linen worn under coats.

Corsets are high in the bust, small and round in the waist and very long from the waist down.

Crystal headwork is found upon very dressy evening frocks, but the style is not so well received as satin flower decorations. Persian bandings are used, under slashed waist seams.

Unquestionably the most fashionable of trimmings are braids, and every variety is employed. Soutaches have lost nothing of their prestige, and are employed on all kinds of material. Braiding with soutache in elaborate patterns is gaining favor, and is announced as a strong spring possibility.

UTILIZING REMNANTS.

We can all look back to the days when the piece bag or remnant box would yield no more promising Christmas harvest than a few scraps for plush cushions, sachets, and similar ornamental if not always useful gifts. Today the Christmas fad is for practical things, however dainty, and the gift-maker can do wonders with left-overs.

First, here is a good idea for a corset cover that will not take much time. You may have a three-quarter length of dotted Swiss, checked dimity or other white fabric left from a summer blouse or dress. It is just the thing to use for one of those two-piece corset covers. Now to give a piece down the back. Cut it to the bust and waist measurement of your girl friend, but without any skirt or tail piece. Finish it around the bottom with lace or embroidery beading. At the top, finish with insertion, then heading, then edging. Now to give a face effect of the handwork, on the left side right over the heart, you know, feather-stitch a circle in white mercerized floss, say two and a half inches in diameter. Inside write your friend's Christian name in distinct letters, and outline stitch this with white floss. Run white or pale blue, pink or lavender ribbons through the heading, and you have a hand-made gift, providing of course that you do the sewing, hemming and lace sewing all by hand, as the French do.

A girl who found three different scraps of wash fabrics in her remnant box bought a bolt each of inexpensive insertion and edging for 70 cents, some bearing at 45 cents a bolt and ribbon at a sale for 21 cents. Her three lovely gifts cost her $1.35 and made a good appearance.

Another lovely personal gift is neckwear and here the remnant box will prove useful. If you have any sort of soft, glistening silk, particularly messaline, cut it into either straight or bias pieces as you would for folds, two inches or a trifle less in width. Make first a band to fit snugly around the neck, then several ends of various lengths. Finish two of these ends with tiny rosettes of the silk, the third with a scrap of fringe if you can match the silk or a tassel. Make a smart little bow with which to fasten the ends to the collarette, two loops not over an inch long, and you have a pretty cravat that any girl friend will like.

Or, if you have a length of velvet ribbon left from trimming a dress utilize that, finishing the ends with button fringe, balls or ornaments which you can pick up cheaply on bargain counters. A stunning combination is golden brown with gold bullion. Blue of a rich shade with silver

MILLINERY.

A feature of the millinery for the coming season is that the designs harmonize with the costumes worn. The dressiest hats are of velvet, moire, satin, faille or ottoman, and are profusely trimmed with plumes, aigrettes, choux and bows of silk or satin, etc. Bandeaux are almost entirely discarded, and the hats are set firmly on the head, the hair being so arranged as to afford a good support. The smart hat shown above was a blue felt, trimmed with brown and white aigrettes, emanating from a steel buckle studded in folds of blue velvet.
