SOCIAL CALENDAR

FRIDAY.
Meeting of the Social Card Club, hostess, Mrs. N. Soderquist, on West Government street.

THE GLIDING STAR.

There is a sea—a quiet sea
Beyond the farthest sun,
Where all my ships that went astray,
Where all my dreams of yesterday,
And all the things that were to be—
Are mine!

There is a land—a quiet land,
Beyond the setting sun,
Where every task in which I quailed
And all wherein my course failed,
Where all the good of my spirit planned
Is done!

There is a hope—a quiet hope,
Within my heart instilled,
That, if undaunted, on I sail,
This gliding star shall never pale,
But shine within my labors' scope,
Fulfilled!

And there's a tide—a quiet tide,
Flowing toward a goal,
That swept by every humble shore
And on its fullest ebb no more
And on that final swell shall ride
My soul!

—Stephen Chalmers in New York Times.

MR. OLIVER BRAWNER IS IN MONTGOMERY.
Mr. Oliver Brawner is in Montgomery, a guest of Mr. James Forbes. Mr. Brawner is being missed locally.

ARE GUESTS OF MR. AND MRS. SAUNDERS.
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Saunders, of Lake Park, Ga., are here, and are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Saunders on North Palafox street.

LEAVE FOR MONTGOMERY ON PLEASANT VISIT.
Mrs. Will Carter and Mrs. Emma B. Buchanan, of Birmingham, who have been visiting local friends and relatives, will leave for Montgomery today, where they will visit friends before finally returning to Birmingham.

MR. AND MRS. SESSOMS TO ARRIVE.
Mr. and Mrs. Sessoms, of Bonifay, will arrive in the city today to be the guests of Hon. and Mrs. T. P. McGourin. Mrs. Sessoms, who has an excellent soprano voice, will sing at the Christian Science service in the Masonic Temple Sunday morning.

MEETING OF SOCIAL CARD CLUB TODAY.
The regular meeting of the Social Card Club will occur this afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. Soderquist, and the afternoon, to all indications, will be passed in a most pleasant manner. All the members are planning to attend.

GERI-KELLY WEDDING LAST NIGHT.
The wedding of Miss Theresa Geri and Mr. A. Arthur Kelly took place last night at 7:30 o'clock, at No. 404 East Garden street, the Rev. Mr. Senterfitt officiating.

Both young people are well known in the city among a large circle of friends.

MR. MAX BLOOM LEFT YESTERDAY FOR LOUISVILLE.
Mr. Max Bloom, the bright and very attractive young theatrical star who has been spending a delightful vacation among local friends and relatives, left yesterday for Louisville, Kentucky, after having figured prominently in local affairs, for several weeks. He is being generally missed by his many local friends and admirers.

LAST MEETING OF LE CERCLE FRANCAIS.
The last meeting of Le Cercle Francais occurred yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. F. Zeek, who is the leader of the organization. The members are as follows: Mrs. C. F. Zeek, leader; Mrs. A. M. Avery, Mrs. William Gonzalez, Mrs. Bailey, of the navy yard; Mrs. S. A. Moreno; and Misses Maud Suter, Hilda Blount, Kathleen Mallory, Mercedes Saltmarsh and Cora Louise Simpson.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH PEOPLE GAVE EXCURSION.
An excursion, given on the steamer Monarch by the First Methodist church people, the destination having been Santa Rosa island, took place last night, many having been in attendance. These weekly excursions are a pleasure to all who have formed the habit of attending, and the very worthy object in view makes the events of double interest.

SISTERS LEAVE THIS MORNING.
A number of the Sisters of Mercy will leave this morning for their annual retreat in Mobile. It is a question of course whether or not the same Sisters will return to Pensacola after the retreat, but their many friends here are hoping most earnestly that no changes will be made.

The priests of the city have been in retreat at Mobile during the past week, but will return on Saturday.

DR. WHALEY LEFT YESTERDAY.
Dr. Percival Whaley left yesterday or his home in Charleston, S. C., much to the regret of many who had hoped that his visit might be extended sufficiently in order that he might spend a little time at least among his friends here, with whom he stands very highly indeed. Christ church has never had a more popular or more capable and energetic pastor, and the fine influence and interesting personality of Dr. Whaley is greatly missed.

MR. AND MRS. ODOM ARE HERE FROM NASHVILLE.
Mr. and Mrs. Odom are in the city from Nashville, having arrived last night on their wedding trip. They are guests at the Smith House, and are planning to enjoy the attractions of the bay and gulf with the very congenial crowd who somehow forms the habit of gathering about Mrs. Smith. A launch party in which the good ship Odom will figure is being planned for Monday, and every effort is to be made whereby the very prepossessing appearing young couple may be able to see the city and its surroundings at its best.

AD SOCIETY—MRS. M. D. MERRITT ENTERTAINED DELIGHTFULLY.
When the Thursday club elects to meet at the home of Mrs. M. D. Merritt on Romana street, the members are always assured of a most pleasant event at the hands of this most hospitable member, and it was with an anticipation of several hours of delightful pastime that the club gathered under her roof yesterday.

The Thursday club is one of the most popular in the city, being composed of a bevy of bright, interesting ladies, all of whom are well versed in the game, and who play it, moreover, to the queen's taste, and strictly according to Hoyle.

After some clever and systematic playing, the following prize winners were declared yesterday: Ace prize, Mrs. E. Rady; consolation, Mrs. Hunsbrey; lone hand, Mrs. Wm. Hall; booby, Mrs. G. Rupert; and grand prize, Miss Bonnie Burnham. Fruit punch was served during the game, the color scheme of the afternoon having been yellow and white.

After the game, a delicious assortment of cake was served with cream. The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. E. Rady on Belmont street.

HINTS FOR NEWLYWEDS.
June marriages are having the usual effect upon my matrimonial column, and rain down upon me from the newly-weds.

One endearing little missive asks how a "young couple without a servant" may give a graceful dinner to persons used to the circumstances of wealth. Another writer wishes to know how tables are laid, what are the smart hours for luncheon, afternoon tea and dinner, and how an invitation to any one of these meals should be worded.

Still another dear girl who has been "accustomed to a more comfortable way of living" inquires if she should apologize to her guests—for, of course, she wants to go on seeing her friends—for the simple home which is now hers.

It is quite the most delightful mail I have received this long while, for where is the woman who does not want to have a hand in the happiness and contentment of the newly married? The prettiest and freshest little homes rise up before me—brand-new paint and curtains—and I feel the greatest desire to make them all sweeter, if that is possible.

The young wife who would apologize for her simple home—good gracious! She mustn't do it! For thereby the husband's dignity is belittled and since his wife has taken him for better or worse she must carry off the situation by displaying an added delicacy not only toward her friends but toward the one whose fortunes she has made her own.

In the mere matter of general breeding, too, it is thought vulgar to apologize for any omission which fortune necessitates, and especially for plain food and for the lack of servants. To offer the hospitality of one's table in itself an exquisiteness, and a young couple may make things go off with a lot more ease and grace if without a word both husband and wife take a hand at the various duties and never appear embarrassed at the lack of any luxury, such as a servant or a fancy dish.

But where there is no servant a table needs to be completely set in the beginning, as every moment of rising to get a thing creates a certain disturbance.

There are a number of ways to arrange for convenience when serving a dinner without the aid of a servant. If there is soup, no other dishes can be put on the table until this course has been dispatched. But after this, with the ordinary dinner, all the other dishes may go on at the same time, with the exception of the dessert and coffee. Salad is generally served as a separate course, but if it involves a material which does not wilt with the dressing, may very well be served with the other things.

To remove the soiled dishes without awkwardness, let me suggest a plan adopted by an enterprising man, who without great means, has lately married a spoiled child of my acquaintance. He has made a species of low cabinet, which is fitted up with broad boards and in to slide in and out easily. The soiled plates are passed to him by the guests and when these are placed upon a lower shelf of the cabinet he takes from the top shelves and passes along the first women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Inse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

WOKE IN WOODS; HIS MONEY GONE

GEORGIAN SEEING SIGHTS WITH NEWLY MADE FRIEND TELLS POLICE HIS STORY—SAYS HENRY McLENARD WAS MAN WHO "SHOWED" HIM AROUND.

Awaking from a deep sleep in the woods four miles west of the city, J. M. Stone, of Baxley, Ga., rubbed his eyes not unlike Rip Van Winkle, the famous sleeper of fiction, late yesterday afternoon, and gazed about him in bewilderment, says a special from Jacksonville. Finally he caught in memory's eye the thread of events during the day and remembered that he had come to Jacksonville; that he had started out to see the town with a newly formed acquaintance, and then he could remember no more.

After wandering about in the woods for an hour or more Stone found a road leading to the city and trudged wearily to the police headquarters, where he told his story to Detective Herbert R. Boggs.

Stone and McLenard yesterday morning Stone had entered the union depot and had checked his small baggage at the check room. With him there was a man, who gave his name as Henry McLenard, and who arrived on the same train.

Stone and McLenard had formed an acquaintance while riding in the smoker, where so many quick friendships arise. McLenard checked his baggage also, and claiming some knowledge of the city, offered to show Stone some of the sights.

McLenard is Unknown. After a few drinks Stone remembered no more until he awoke in the woods. He had a faint remembrance of riding in some rolling vehicle, but whether it was a hack or a street car he could not tell the detective.

McLenard returned Tuesday from Asheville, N. C. Dan McCaskill spent several days of last week with relatives at Garland, Ala.

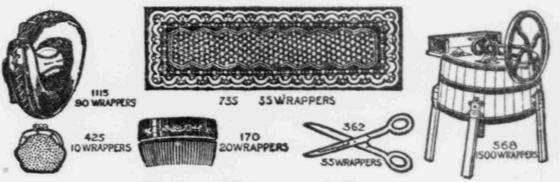

T. A. McCall, of Brewton, was among the business visitors here Friday.

There was an ice cream supper at Mr. Dave Wilson's one night last week. They report a pleasant time.

You pay $1 to $5 for a shirtwaist Look to your soap!

It makes a big difference whether your shirtwaist lasts as it should. If it fades and drops into holes after a few washings, look to your soap!

Ask for GRANDMA'S BORAX POWDERED SOAP
It is a scientific blend of pure soap and pure borax, in powdered form. The borax doubles the power of the soap and water to cleanse but it won't hurt your hands or irritate the delicatest dress. You don't have to shave it. It acts quickly in hot or cold water. It is not a washing powder. Thousands use Grandma who wouldn't have a washing powder in the house.

Start a Wrapper Collection.
Wrappers from GRANDMA, PEARL and EXPORT BORAX SOAP are all good for premiums. With these wrappers, either for all wrappers or part cash and part wrappers, you can earn hundreds of useful articles which otherwise you would have to buy.

WATERMELONS
Car 30 pound average. Finer than car of last week, which was the talk of the town. On sale Friday morning.
