Joe Cannon Talks on Rules of House

"but they tried to dictate legislation. Speaker Reed and the majority who were responsible for legislation refused to be dictated to. Reed counted a quorum of those who were present for mischief but declared they were not present for business. That action of Reed was denounced as 'carism' but the supreme court sustained Reed and so did the Democratic party when it came into power. It adopted what it had denounced as the Reed rules. FILLIBUSTER BY DEMOCRATS.

"Why this fuss and fury? The old cause, the effort of the minority to rule. On the eve of the last presidential election the Democratic leader sought to dictate legislation. The majority would not accept dictation. He began a filibuster which continued to the end of the session, frankly stating on the floor that the minority would resist and embarrass in every way possible all legislation unless certain measures demanded by the minority should be brought forward.

"History repeated itself. The Democratic platform denounced the carism of the speaker, just as the Democratic platform did in 1890. The minority had demanded legislation for special interests, not for the general interest. There are other special interests demanding that the speaker use arbitrary power in their behalf. When he refused to violate the rules and traditions of the house he was denounced as a czar."

MISS MARY D. SPIERS RESIGNS AS SECRETARY TO MRS. TAFT.

MARY D. SPIERS

Washington, April 30.—Seventeen days as private secretary for Mrs. Taft and the official career of Miss Mary Dandridge Spiers comes to a sudden end. Why, no one knows. Miss Spiers refuses to make public at present why she has gone back to the war department as clerk. The wife of the president will not discuss the matter, but friends of Miss Spiers declare a statement will be issued before the first of the month explaining the mystery.

Washington, April 30.—John Barrett is a happy man. After years of work his dream was realized when President Taft assisted in the dedication of the new bureau of republics building April 28. The work of the bureau of republics has gone ahead with such rapid progress and such good results have been secured that the dedication of the magnificent new building was a gala affair in which all the representatives of Central and South American republics took an active part.

tion would overcome all attacks as did Grant.

"In his memoirs," the speaker said, "Grant tells of an incident in his campaign in Texas, where one night the camp was disturbed by an unearthly noise that had a panicky effect on the soldiers and caused some uneasiness among the officers. A squad was detailed to make a reconnaissance. They stealthily moved in the direction from which the sounds came and as the men rounded a butte they discovered two coyotes on hillocks engaged in a serenade.

"The noise by the liberal and Democratic press against Grant was a fitting parallel to that episode in his early life. It did not frighten him nor the Republican rank and file who marched to the polls with the same determination they had four years before and 600,000 more of them dropped Republican ballots into the boxes."

RADCLIFFE TO VOTERS

CHAIRMAN OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE DIRECTS ATTENTION TO FEATURES ON THE TICKET.

Chairman Frank Radcliffe, of the Escambia County Democratic Executive Committee, has addressed an open letter to the Democratic voters of Escambia county in which he calls attention to the fact that for against a state convention will be voted on, and also that the name of a circuit judge candidate will appear on the local ticket. The letter, however, is interesting, and is as follows:

WILL STOP VANDALISM OF MANY CURIO HUNTERS

By Associated Press. Lexington, Ky., April 30.—To stop the vandalism of curio hunters, a gigantic stone image of Henry Clay, which for half a century has topped a shaft 100 feet high in the Lexington cemetery, was lowered today and buried near the mausoleum containing the bodies of the statesman and his wife.

To the Democratic Voters of Escambia County.

The state chairman advises under date of April 20th, that after the state and congressional candidates, and before putting any county candidates on ticket, that we shall insert the following:

For a State Convention, Against a State Convention; To be voted on in coming primary. I also beg to invite your attention that the executive committee, as your representatives, on March 18th, by resolution, permitted circuit judge to qualify and run in primary to be voted for, and the result to be certified to governor as recommendation from this county for their appointment.

The vote on this matter will tend to show whether or not the people concur with their committee in their action.

Yours very truly, FRANK B. RADCLIFFE, Chairman Escambia County Executive Committee.

Not Satisfactory. "Have you succeeded in evolving a thornless rose?" I asked the amateur Burbank.

"Yes," he sighed. "But why that sigh?" I exclaimed. "I should think your success would make you feel elated."

"It would," he answered, sadly, "if my rose could be distinguished from an ordinary, measly buttercup."

REVIVING HOPE THAT MAINE WILL BE "REMEMBERED" AFTER TWELVE YEARS

Washington, April 30.—The action of the subcommittee of the house committee on naval affairs in reporting favorably the bill providing for the raising of the wreck of the Maine from Havana harbor has roused anew the hopes of those who have been laboring for more than a decade with that end in view. The work of raising the Maine is to be done by contract, according to the present plans of the committee. The bill carries a provision for the burial of any remains found in the wreck in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., where lie the bones of those formerly taken from the steel hulk. Their graves are marked by an immense anchor, suitably inscribed. The Maine was destroyed Feb. 15, 1898, either by an exterior submarine explosion, as reported by the American board of inquiry, or through an interior explosion, as the Spaniards asserted. Out of a complement of 360 officers and men 2 officers and 264 men were killed by the explosion or drowned and 60 were taken out wounded. The commander of the Maine at the time was Captain Charles D. Sigsbee, who is now a retired rear admiral.

Spring Debility

Is due to the debilitating weather of the season, and to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood caused by too close confinement, too little outdoor air and exercise, too heavy diet during the winter. It is cured by the great constitutional remedy which effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. It urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit. 100 Doses 5¢
