SPORT SNAP SHOTS by DAN McCARTY

It's tough to have an artistic temperament. It's particularly tough, though, when one is a ball player and a hero. And it's tougher on the manager of the club that is furnishing the hero with a meal ticket than any one else. All of which is apropos to the latest tantrum cast by Tyus Raymond Cobb, of Royston, Ga., demoted batsman of the Detroit Tigers. You've heard about it. Ty got angry at a Chicago hotel clerk because thoughtless engineers persisted in running railroad trains up and down outside his window. Ty wanted another room, and when he didn't get it he made up his mind to leave the hotel. The other players doctored his story, didn't care to go along with him, much to Cobb's astonishment and chagrin, and he quit the team in a huff and went back home. Hughie Jennings, like a hen-pecked husband, tried to keep it quiet. Hughie told the newspaper Ty took a lay-off because he was suffering from a hard cold. But, then, what could Hughie do? Certainly it isn't the best thing in the world for discipline to have on a ball club one favored pet who is permitted to kick over the traces whenever he feels like it. This isn't the first time, by any means, that Ty has done it. Yet he always has gone unpunished. For why? You ask. Perfectly obvious! In Ty's nimble legs and lusty wallop lie about one-half of Detroit's strength. Jennings would like to be a strict disciplinarian. But he is fonder still of winning ball games, so when Ty concluded he'd go home, he went, and all Jennings did was to offer to the public a lame excuse which nobody took very seriously. One time in Cleveland Tyus had another encounter with hotel people which involved a night watchman, a jack knife, and a similar departure.

ART FROMME IS REDS' BEST HURLER

Art Fromme, who last year was the Cincinnati Reds' best hurler, is playing in his old form. The criticism was freely made last year that the Reds' poor showing was due to lack of good pitching. Fromme is determined that this criticism shall not be made again this season if he can help it.

FORMER GUNBOAT HORNET IS NOW A TOWBOAT

New Orleans, April 23.—The former United States gunboat Hornet, a filibuster in Central American affairs, has been transformed into a towboat and sailed yesterday presumably for Morgan City. The Hornet was seized during the last revolution in Honduras, brought to New Orleans and sold last July by the United States marshal for $4,500 to C. A. Barbour of Houston, Texas.

also. The improvement is marvelous, the reverend says: "May God bless the Health Teacher for the Quaker Remedies for the great good they are doing in this community." Mr. A. Brown, Jr., of No. 1505 E. LaRue street, who has been suffering for some time with his friends, indigestions, and other troubles—after taking the Quaker Extract a few days felt much improved, had no pains, his food digested and bowels acted nicely. His little three-year-old babe was very restless at night, grinding the teeth and screaming out in its sleep; the mother gave it one dose of the Quaker Herb Extract at night upon going to bed, and when child's bowels acted in morning out came the horrid stomach worms about eight inches in length. Here was the cause of that poor little innocent child's troubles, and, my dear parents, there are thousands of little darlings who are resting beneath the cold, cold sod, and nothing on God's green earth caused their death but worms. Mr. Herman LeRond, who is employed at Warren Field, Co., Baylen street wharf, suffered 11 years with bloating, belching, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, dizziness, growing weaker and thinner day by day, most always had a ravenous appetite, after using Quaker Herb Extract four days expelled a 58-foot tapeworm—now well, cured completely. THE TEAM OF YOUNGSTERS IS SELECTED

MANAGERS OF BOYS WHO ARE TO PLAY CANDIDATES ANNOUNCE THE LINE-UP OF THE TEAM CHOSEN BY THEM.

The managers of the team of youngsters who are to play the team to be selected from among the candidates for county offices, yesterday afternoon announced that they had selected their team and are ready for the game, which is to be played at Maxent park Thursday afternoon for the benefit of the Pearl Egan home. However, some of the managers of the candidates said yesterday afternoon that they had not yet selected the players of their team and also claimed that some of those named by the managers of the "kids" were over the age agreed upon, which was ten years.

The managers of the youngsters, however, say that the candidates are trying to back out and that if they do they will have to donate enough to build a new roof at the Pearl Egan home. The game is scheduled to be called at 3:30 Thursday afternoon and Joe Fitzpatrick is to umpire. The line-up of the team of youngsters as announced yesterday afternoon, is as follows: Ernest Graham, catcher; Arthur Villar, pitcher; Alvin Bicker, first base; Walker Bonifay, second base; Leon Johnson, third base; Herbert Reddel, shortstop; Roy McVoy, right field; Humphrey Jendovine, left field; Dave Merritt, center field; substitutes, Ed Johnson and Ed Cope.

While the managers of the youngsters believe they have an easy task to beat the candidates, the latter have confidence in their team and have plenty of backers, and the result is that the game will probably draw even a better crowd than did the one between the two teams selected from among the candidates.

DETECTIVES WATCH GRAVE OF ALEXANDER DOWIE

Chicago, April 23.—Mrs. Jane Dowie, widow of the late John Alexander Dowie, founder of Zion City and general overseer of the Christian Catholic church in Zion, having heard that a movement was on foot to remove the body of her husband from its grave to a mausoleum, has engaged detectives to prevent the desecration of his grave. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor of Dr. Dowie in Zion City, announced today it is said, that he had planned the erection of a mausoleum near Shiloh laboratory, in which was to be placed the body of the former leader. It was his idea, he said, to arrange pilgrimages to the mausoleum annually on the Feast of the Passover.

WILL MARK THE OLD INDIAN HIGHWAY

Nashville, April 23.—The first steps in this state toward marking the old Natchez trace, the Indian highway from middle Tennessee to the southwest, was taken yesterday afternoon when Old Glory Chapter, D. A. R., of Franklin, unveiled a marker ornamented with a bronze tablet sixteen miles from Nashville. It is proposed to mark the thoroughfare at intervals along its entire length. Many notable figures traveled over the Natchez trace in the old days. Meriwether Lewis, the northwestern explorer, killed himself while journeying over the trace, his grave in Lewis county, Tennessee, being marked by a broken shaft.
