ALONG THE ROAD TOGETHER.

Along the road together, in laughter and in light;
The dawning of the morning, the dreaming of the night,
The hopes that burn before us,
The singing and the sun;
With life to join the chorus,
And love to make us one.

Along the road together, in sweetness and in glee;
The brightness for the bitter, the faith in things to be,
The trust that sunders feeling
From hate and scorn and strife;
With hearts together kneeling,
And love to teach us life.

Along the road together, in music and in mirth;
The flowers beyond the folly, the goodness of the earth,
The song that sings of duty,
The dreams that tell the truth,
And hand in hand with beauty
To taste of magic youth.

Along the road together, in sympathy and trust;
The faith to face the battle; the strength to tread the dust,
The joy in all things lovely,
And life made lovely, too,
And all for me made holy
That life makes sweet for you.

The Adamson bill as passed in the minor amendments, is the same measure which the brotherhood leaders officially declared yesterday would constitute a "satisfactory settlement" and prevent the strike. The amendments, added to conform to a draft framed by the Senate interstate commerce committee, would fix the effective date as January 1, 1917, instead of December 1, 1916, and exempt railroads less than 100 miles long and electric street and interurban lines. Briefly it provides:

That eight hours shall be deemed a day's work and the standard for reckoning compensation of railroad employes operating trains in interstate commerce after January 1, 1917, and

That a commission of three appointed by President Wilson shall investigate the effects of the eight-hour standard for from six to nine months and then report to Congress, present wages not to be reduced during the investigation or for 30 days thereafter, and overtime to be paid at a pro rata rate.

Kind Constantine of Greece has abdicated, according to the British official press representative at Saloniki. According to this information, Premier Zaimis will remain at the head of the government.

The correspondent questions whether the entente allies desire the active assistance of Greece.
