WHITFIELD REMAINS.

It will be good news to the college and gratifying information to the people of the State to know that Mr. Whitfield is to remain at the head of the college in the city. His salary will be a thousand dollars less than paid the heads of the other State colleges, as this is fixed by law, but the legislature will, no doubt, take cognizance of the discrimination against him at the next session and increase the sum to the standards of the other educational institutions.

It is unfortunate for our colleges that they are involved in our political system. Their heads and attaches are on the anxious seat during the progress of a political campaign. The fact that they are regarded as political assets of an administration, to be used in paying political obligations, mitigates seriously against their good work and there is a spirit of uncertainty and unrest over them all until the future is fixed after each quadriennial election. President Whitfield has taken no part in the present gubernatorial campaign. He has made a success of the college and there he should be allowed to remain.

GIDEON D. HARRIS.

A gentle life closed Wednesday morning, a life ripened into the full function of long years, with useful living, tireless service and uncompromising resignation to all that came to him. Gid. D. Harris was one of our oldest citizens. He came from one of the best families of all this section, and all his life he maintained the good name he proudly bore.

As a business man, as churchman, as citizen, neighbor and friend, his whole career was honorable and useful. As husband, father and friend his walk among men was distinguished for its simplicity, its urbanity and its charity and kindness to all. His going away was at the beginning of a beautiful day in his garden where he loved to linger and play with God's gifts to man. May the Perfect Day open unto him in the Garden of Paradise above, for such he deserved.

BRINGING FRUIT.

The suggestion in Wednesday's Dispatch that our commercial organization should be revived, brought results. Bright and early Wednesday morning a committee of three enterprising citizens called at this office and volunteered their help. Accordingly a meeting will be held this week and plans for a county wide luncheon to lay the matter before our citizenship, will soon be held. It is planned to have two hundred representative men present, one hundred from the city and one hundred from the county, and to form a county wide organization to deal with all the problems presented to us as a people. When you are called be sure and come.

Mr. T. J. Locke has returned from St. Louis and Chicago, where he went on business after attending the Russell Jollification meeting in Jackson. He gives a vivid picture of the acuteness of the race problem in Chicago and warns Southern men to stay away from that city until the race problem in Chicago is solved. He conferred with business men of his line in the large wholesale houses while there and says it is his opinion that the crest has been reached in the living scale and henceforth the living scale is bound to recede.

Hot Weather---Ice Tea.

True economy consists in obtaining what you want at a fair price; there is no economy in buying cheap, common stuff, particularly does this apply to tea. Golden Gate Teas—all flavors—are high grade; full flavor, choicest quality, packed in flavor-tight, moisture-tight cartons, six varieties, Ceylon, Japan, Oolong, Gunpowder, English Breakfast, Black and Green. All make delicious drinks, whether hot or iced.

One pound of Japan tea will make 300 cups; one pound of Ceylon Tea will make 400 cups; both are good; neither cost to exceed 1-4 of a cent per cup. If you have not done so, try Ceylon as an iced beverage. You will be delighted; it is flavory, rich, pure, clean, economical and healthy; also try it as a hot drink; its excellence will surprise you.

We have the sole agency for Columbus of Golden Gate Teas, Coffees, Spices and Flavoring Extracts.

COMMUNICATED MAGOWAH.

For The Dispatch:
The publicity given the Magowah Gun Club through local newspapers and press dispatches, suggests that perhaps a word of explanation as to the name, may prove of passing interest. It is the Indian name for a creek emptying into the Tombigbee river from the west and whose headwaters come from localities at and between Crawford and Penn station, on the M and O. R. R. The word is said to mean impassible, the stream in pioneer days having been bordered on both sides by broad and impenetrable cane breaks.

The first Grange organized at the residence of the late Dr. P. C. Hairston, adopted the name. Later a post office was established on the Love place near by, as Magowah. The Turner stock farm is known as Magowah Meadows. And last the Gun Club also appropriated the name, whose meeting place is near Bethel church. So Magowah can be applied to no given point, but embraces a general locality, so to speak. Its name, however, has completely lost its significance, for the creek is now spanned by a steel bridge and the broad cane breaks have been converted into fertile tilled drained lands producing bountiful crops which can be seen from the Jackson Highway. "Choctaw."

Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Pope and Miss Joanna will make their home on the Coast at Biloxi until the coming session of the North Mississippi Conference in November. Mr. Pope will engage in evangelistic work the latter part of the fall, and take an appointment at Conference for the ensuing year, after a years absence in over seas Y. M. C. A. work.

Mr. David Pope will return to the University of Alabama soon. He expects to get his degree at that institution this year. He is making a specialty of chemical engineering. Will plan to finish that course at Boston Tech next summer.

MIDDLE CLASS TO

er or later. For my part I am willing to end it now in order that the children may escape the conflict.

"I do not deny the right of the laboring man to quit his job," continued Senator Williams. "He has an inalienable right to do that. A thousand men may quit, or ten thousand. The adoption of the thirteenth amendment to the constitution put an end to compulsory labor in this country. But this does not mean that gigantic conspiracies may be formed which stop the whole transportation system of the country and reduce the American nation to a state of paralysis.

"Nor does it mean that any body of men may drive the members of this Congress before it like cattle. When any man tells me that I have got to do a thing, he is pretty apt to find that I will not do that thing, ized labor undertakes to tell Congress even if it is right. And when organ that Congress has got to do a thing, labor may defeat even a righteous act.

"What I want to see is a league of peace between the employer and the employe. I want to see those elements come together to prevent industrial conflicts just as we propose to bring nations together in a league to prevent war between them. And I know no reason why the government should not command capital and labor to submit their disputes to a fair-minded tribunal. Neither ought to want and neither has a right more than justice."

Referring particularly to the threatened uprising of the railroad operatives, Senator Williams declared that if they should dare to abandon the country to the horrors of a great nation wide transportation strike, they would soon find that the American people as a whole would man the railroads in their own way and run them, strike or no strikes.

"This could be done. Make no mistake about it," the senator exclaimed; "it could be done. There are tens of thousands of people who could step in and take the places which had been deserted. It may have been true many years ago, but it is not true now, that the country must submit to such thing. The old tyranny of expert labor over the country has gone a-glimmering."

The Williams speech was startling in its boldness. Many senators have from time to time shown resentment of the demands of labor, but he is the first to show absolute defiance of those who are threatening the government in the present crisis.

"Girls"

Adapted from the Famous Play by Clyde Fitch.

Lips that grew whiskers should never touch theirs!

Then one night a poor innocent man dived right into their apartment and faced them—three raging furies—in their nighties!

Perhaps they treated him too cruelly and were sorry. Anyway, the Man Haters' League crumbled. And now—well, it won't be well for the person who speaks ill of their husbands!

Made from the famous play by Clyde Fitch. Chief man-hater—dainty Marguerite Clark. Better come!

STATE PHARMACEUTICAL EXAMINATION.

J. C. McGee of Jackson, Miss., secretary-treasurer Mississippi State Board of Pharmacy, announces semi-annual examinations to be held in Jackson on October 7. This examination will be on the following subjects: Pharmacy, Chemistry, Posology and Toxicology, Practical work, Materia Medica. Examination will begin at 9 o'clock on morning of October 7, in the Representative Hall, State Capitol.

Applicants who intend taking this examination should make application to the Secretary on or before Oct. 5, largest class that has been before the Board in years.

The members of the Board are insisting on all druggists employing registered men in their prescription departments. For the duration of the war many druggists failed to comply with Sec. 18 and 20 of the law due to the fact that so many registered Pharmacists were in the service of the Government. But at this time registered men can be had and there is no excuse why druggists should violate State laws by not having registered men in their prescription departments.

Following are members of the State Board:
S. C. Lindsay,
C. C. Davis,
J. H. Stribling,
Fred W. Smith,
J. C. McGee.
