A Woman's Responsibility

The responsibility of properly handling the family income devolves largely upon the women, and every good housekeeper desires to discharge this duty as well as possible.

Paying all bills by check will greatly assist in putting household expenditures upon a systematic basis.

WE ESPECIALLY SOLICIT THE ACCOUNTS OF THE LADIES

We still have on hand a number of our artistic souvenir mottoes, and we invite every lady who has not already done so, to call at the bank and secure one of them.

First State Bank

The Bank That Says "Thank You" COLUMBUS, MISS.

Columbus Man's Lucky Find.

Will Interest Readers of Dispatch. Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorders, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging state- O. A. Miller, proprietor of a furniture repair shop, 610 Market St.,

Columbus, says: "I well know what Doan's Kidney Pills are and don't mind recommending them to anyone troubled with their kidneys. A few years ago my kidneys were out of order and did not act right. My back finally became lame and ached quite badly through my kidneys. I had always read and heard a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I began their use. It took only a short use of Doan's to get me rid of the pain and regulate my kidneys."

OLD BELIEF CALLED SILLY

Idea, Long Held, That Pearls Decay if Not Worn is Ridiculed by Expert.

Pearls abound in romance, and romance abounds in fiction. This fact was strikingly brought to light by a full page advertisement of Hurcomb's, a London auctioneer who does a large business among the British nobility, published recently in the London Times. Hurcomb chats familiarly with his prospective customers about fact and fiction in the business of buying and selling jewels and plate. This paragraph he quotes from a weekly paper which "has the largest circulation of any religious newspaper in the world."

"Some family heirlooms of great historic value had to be inspected. A visit was paid by the solicitors to a bank, where various tin boxes were deposited in a strong room. One of these tin boxes contained a lovely pearl necklace. On being opened, however, it was found that after many years the pearls were discolored, and in some cases had crumbled to dust. A specialist said if they had been occasionally brought to the light and had been worn, they would have been in as good a condition as when they were deposited in the strong room of the bank. What a lesson it conveys of the folly and error of hoarding our possessions! God wants us not to bury our talents any more than our treasures. They will sink into atrophy by non-use."

Hurcomb comments that "the editors should have exercised more care than to insert such utter rubbish."

"Being a specialist," he says, "I repeat that the statement is all rubbish, every bit of it, although I agree with the application."

FATEFUL DAY IN HISTORY

Americans Have Good Reason to Remember Events Connected With the First of July.

In American history the first day of July is to be particularly remembered by the battle of Gettysburg, the advance of the scouting forces of the Union and Confederate armies coming together in the forenoon of July 1, 1863. The fight continued for three days. The second day was the bloodiest of the Civil war and 33,000 men fell, killed or wounded. One year previous to the battle of Gettysburg, the battle of Malvern Hill was fought, and it was then that General McClellan's action of retreating in the morning, instead of following up his advantage, evoked a storm of criticism which eventually destroyed his reputation as a capable commander of large armies in war. In later years, the battles of San Juan and El Caney were fought on July 1, 1898, during the Spanish-American war. Both ended with American victory. Among the regiments that charged up the side of Kettle hill in the attack on San Juan was the one commanded by Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who afterward, in writing the history of the regiment, said that for one reason or another the public christened it the "Rough Riders." At first he and his men fought against the use of the term, but to no purpose, and when generals of division and brigade commanders began to write it so in formal communications, the regiment adopted the name also.

SETTING GALVANIZED STEEL CORNER AND END POSTS

[National Crop Improvement Service.] After the ground has been thoroughly leveled so that the bottom of the fence shall rest snugly against the ground at the lowest points, the next step is to dig holes for end posts and corner posts. Under ordinary conditions, with soil fairly firm and not too wet, the hole for the galvanized steel end post may be in size 18 by 20 inches, the longer dimension being parallel with the fence line. Set the post not less than three feet deep, or even deeper, if the post will admit being more than three feet in the ground, while leaving enough above ground to carry the fence.

Be certain that the bottom of the post hole is larger than the top of the hole, which will keep the concrete block from pulling out.

Steel end posts should be provided with a brace rod. Without disturbing the concrete about the end post, slip the brace over the brace connection, rest the end of the brace on the ground and make a mark two or three inches nearer the post than the end of the brace. This mark will be the end of the brace block hole next the post. Dig another hole 18 by 20 inches deep or a little bigger and a little deeper, if the ground is soft and yielding. This is important because this brace block must be made solid to withstand the heavy pressure, as it carries practically all the strain.

Corner posts under normal conditions, require a hole whose dimensions are 20 by 20 inches, and not less than three feet deep.

After digging this hole, fill it with concrete, level with the surface of the ground, attach the brace to the post connection, attach the brace foot, and press down in the concrete until it is buried two or three inches below the surface; then let it alone until thoroughly set.

Posts should not extend above the top wire of the fence more than two inches. After digging the hole for the end post, make a mark on the post to show how far the posts should be set in the ground. That is, leave enough of the post out of the ground to take the entire width of the fence and two inches more at the top.

The brace collar should be placed about 14 inches from the top of the post and the nut turned up very tight. The collar must not slip. Do not begin stretching your fence wire until the concrete is perfectly set and hard.
