CITY HAPPENINGS.

Rev. W. H. Perkins, of Louisiana, is in the city on a visit.

Fresh Buckwheat and Finest Maple Syrup just received at Morgan, Walker & Co's.

Miss Mabel Cayce is visiting relatives in Tennessee for several weeks.

Gunter Bros., the leading undertakers, will save you from 10 to 15 per cent on all funeral expenses.

Union Academy, colored, caught fire Monday from a defective flue and was slightly damaged before the flames could be subdued.

Sixty laughs to a yell, sixty yells to a howl and sixty howls in a "A Texas Steer," at the new theatre next Saturday night. Guaranteed.

Master Leonard Brooks, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooks, has been quite sick for the past few days. He was reported better yesterday.

A cold wave of rather exceptional severity struck this section Monday night. Following the rain the wind commenced and by morning the thermometer had fallen over 30 degrees or to the freezing point.

Attention is invited to the new ad of Messrs. Barney & Co., which appears this morning in another column of this paper. This firm keeps only first class groceries, both staple and fancy, and are clever and polite to their customers.

Mr. Kaye's operations in boring the city well have been temporarily suspended by the breaking of a piece of machinery. The important part has been ordered and the work will be resumed as soon as it arrives.

Will Lewis' nocturnal howling expedition Saturday night has gotten him into trouble. Lewis feloniously appropriated and carried away one game rooster, the property of Ike Chandler. "Thirty days and costs," quoth His Honor, the Mayor, and Lewis went farmward.

Mr. W. E. Brothers died at his home in Phoebe, Miss., last Saturday evening, leaving a wife and four children to mourn his demise.
Mr. Brothers was a brother of Mr.
Dan Brothers, of this city, and the latter gentleman's friends sincerely regret his sorrow and misfortune.

River men are happy over the prospect of a big river. The heavy rain of Monday afternoon and evening has already caused the Bigbee to swell and it is expected it will go several feet higher. With a good river the "Vienna" and "City of Columbus" will be enabled to make several trips and our cotton receipts will swell several thousand bales as a result.

The nuptials of Miss Lena Moody and Mr. John Sneed were celebrated yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Frank Gordon, in Middleborough, Ky. Miss Moody has been a resident of this county for years past and has endeared herself to a large circle of friends, whose best wishes will ever attend her for a bright and happy life.

The house of Dr. D. W. Box, in the Military Springs neighborhood, just across the county line in Alabama, was totally destroyed by fire last Monday afternoon. The flames started from a defective flue and burned so rapidly that nearly all the furniture and household effects were lost. We could not learn if Dr. Box was protected by insurance. His friends heartily sympathize with him in his misfortune.

The Presbytery's Tribute.

With great sadness the Presbytery of Mississippi has learned of the death of Mrs. Annie C. Peyton, who was for many years one of the most efficient and valuable members of the church in which we are now holding our sessions. She died on the 11 of November, 1898, at her home in Columbus, surrounded by her children and many loved ones.

She was a woman of rare gifts and many attainments. She had early training in the home, in the Sunday school and in the church.
She was educated in the schools of her native state. Graduating at Whitworth College, she became a teacher in the same institution, where she laid the foundations of an intelligent and practical life.

While in the morning of her young womanhood she became the wife of a distinguished Chancellor, Eph-raim G. Peyton. Together they walked in the ways of righteousness and their hearts were united in working for the upbuilding of the Master's kingdom. Mrs. Peyton was a true and loving wife and a careful, devoted mother.

She honored every sphere in life in which she moved.

Gifted as she was, she could have been eminent in literature or in public assemblies.

But she loved her home. It was her sanctuary. She felt that God had called her to train her children and live for them. No promises of applause or other inducements could entice her to leave her God-given work. She loved her church.
She worked for it by day and dreamed of it by night. She longed for the improvement of all classes of people. Her heart went out in earnest longings for the education and elevation of the girls of her native state. She used her pen vigorously and used her personal efforts to have a school established by the state for this great work.
Her efforts were crowned with success. She lived to see as many as 400 girls gathered from all parts of the state within the walls of the Industrial Institute and College of this state. After the lamented death of her husband she was called in the providence of God to be a teacher in the institution for whose establishment she had labored and prayed so earnestly. To this work she gave her most assiduous and conscientious efforts. For seven years she put forth her finest energies for the intellectual development of the girls in the college.
Her heart was in the work. She lived for it. The girls loved her.
Her influence over them was wonderful. The most thoughtless girl could find in her a warm friend in whom she could safely confide.
No chaplain was ever more constantly interested in the spiritual welfare of students, than was Mrs.
Peyton in these girls.

We are not able to form an estimate of her great and good work.
Eternity alone can reveal the beautiful results of her earnest labors.
Of many a girl it should be said "under this good woman's influence she was born into the kingdom of Christ."

There will be many stars in her crown. Her end was peace. Conscience to the very last, surrounded by all of the children, her quivering voice joined theirs in a beautiful hymn, "Saved by Grace," and as the last echoes died away she fell asleep. The presbytery of Mississippi hereby records this expression of our gratitude to Almighty God that he gave to the home, the church and the service of the state, such a true, loyal and devout woman.

We thank God for her consecrated and eminently useful life. She realized in a beautiful way the ideal woman as set forth by the words of King Lemuel in the prophecy taught him by his mother: "Favor is deceitful and beauty is vain, but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised." Adopted by Presbytery.

S. C. CALDWELL,
Stated Clerk.

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove by death Mrs. Annie C. Peyton from our midst, we the teachers of the Mission School desire in token of our affectionate respect for her memory to adopt and place on record the following:

Resolved, That we greatly recognize the Divine agency which directed the talent of Mrs. Peyton into the work of uplifting and instructing the mind of the young and which fitted her in an eminent degree for the important position of a teacher in the Sabbath School.
She presented the great truths of the gospel, not only with simplicity and earnestness but with power.

Resolved, That we recall with gratitude her efficiency in the Mission School work—her sturdy love of truth, her zeal for the interest of the church of which she was a member, her judicial wisdom and her plain spoken candor.

Resolved, That we tender our sympathies to her bereaved family and commend them to God and to the words of comfort contained in His holy Book.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of Mrs. Peyton, and to have them entered upon the minutes of the Mission School history.

which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes

REMOVAL SALE!

Our new store, being built especially for us, will soon in our new quarters with an entirely new stock of goods. In order to do this we have decided to close out our present stock at greatly reduced prices. It will be cheaper to get you to help move our stock than to move it ourselves, and you save money. We are going to offer the people of Columbus and vicinity the chance of their lives to secure rare bargains in Seasonable Dry Goods. Sale begins TO-MORROW—

Monday, Nov. 21st.

The goods advertised are for the entire week, but, of course, you cannot expect us to have every article up to Saturday night. Some things will sell chance than those who wait until the middle or last of the week. See that you are one of the first, and we'll do the rest.

of napkins of similar character cost little because of our special Thanksgiving prices:
