Miss Brewster Entertains

Miss Mary Lou Brewster delightfully entertained a number of friends last evening, at her home on School and Jefferson streets. The features of the evening were the music by Misses Kannon and Conner and songs by Mr. and Miss Kannon. Delicious refreshments were served and very much enjoyed by all.

Miss Brewster, in her lovable manner, proved herself to be an ideal hostess and each guest expressed the desire that she entertain them again soon.

Those present were: Misses Lula Bell Gregory, Nettie Conner, Nannie Lou Fitzgerald, Hilda Kimmons, May McDowd and Kannon, Messrs R. R. Vinter, Robert Bransford, L. S. Brewster, Charlie McGehee, Robert Quinn and Kannon.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

There will be a musical, for the benefit of the Episcopal church, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Jansen, at eight o'clock Friday evening, April 30th. This promises to be one of the most attractive events of the season, not only in the way of the best talent the city affords but also in the way of some splendid numbers on Mrs. Jansen's electric piano to say nothing of the appetizing refreshments. All are cordially invited to be present. Price 25 cents.

Hard Fight for Life.

A two hours' swim in the sea at night in danger of being overtaken by a flood of burning benzine was the experience of Mrs. Anna Boeme, wife of the captain of the Russian steamer Kometa, which blew up off Algiers and was completely burned, with the loss of 15 of her company. "My husband put me in a boat after the ship had burst into flames," she said, "but it capsized, I began to swim in the black water, which was lit up by the burning ship. The benzine spread on the sea and formed one vast burning film which the wind drove towards me. For two hours I swam desperately from the flames. At last, when I was on the point of giving up, I heard a voice shouting in Russian, 'Come here.' It was the chief stoker and some of the men in a boat which was full of water. They hoisted me in it and I sat a water up to my hips for two hours more."

Rheumatism Sprains Lumbago Sciatica

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."—Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 88, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I chanced to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

Quantity Plus Quality

No American monthly at any price offers the same amount of reading as The Youth's Companion, and none can offer reading of better quality. Less than four cents a week engages its service in your family—its clean entertainment, its fine suggestiveness, week after week. There is an Editorial Page marked by clear and conscientious thinking, not giving voice to the personal convictions of the editors, but supplying the matter out of which convictions are formed. There are stories in which are to be found the thrill of action and the quiet interest of home life, sparkling humor, and genuine pathos. There is information, carefully sifted, so that the reader may rely upon its trustworthiness.

If you do not know The Companion, let us send you one or two issues free with the Forecast for the current volume.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for a year's subscription will receive free The Companion Home Calendar for 1915.
