Princeton Female Institute,

PRINCETON, KY. THE Trustees beg leave to call the attention of parents and guardians to the superior advantages of this Institution. It is pleasantly situated in one of the most healthy and pleasant towns in southern Kentucky, in the midst of a refined and enlightened community; affording a safe and pleasant home for the student. It is easy of access, being within 12 miles of the Cumberland river at Eddyville, and 80 miles of the Ohio at Smithland, with both of which it is in daily communication by stages over excellent roads. The course of studies and the system of instruction are as thorough as in any similar Institution in the State; and every facility is afforded for young ladies to acquire a thorough acquaintance with all the branches of female education. The Institute is under the superintendence of Dr. J. H. JUREY and his lady, whose moral worth combined with superior literary and scientific attainments and long experience prominently qualify them for their position. Southerners themselves, by birth and education, we think they have peculiar claims upon the South for patronage. The fourth session will commence on the 1st Monday of September next. Terms per Session of 10 months. Board & Tuition in Literary Department, $100 00 Tuition in Music with use of instruments, 40 00 Text books furnished at Louisville prices. No extra charges whatever. And in Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and diseases of females it is equal, if not superior, to any water in the South, and to establish this fact many certificates from intelligent and scientific physicians can be produced. The Springs are situated in a healthy, elevated district of country, abounding with the purest freestone as well as mineral water, 11 miles east of Lexington on the Kosciusko road and 40 miles from Yazoo city. Dr. Kennon has been constantly engaged in the treatment of chronic and Female Diseases of every variety, for several years at Cooper's Well, and will give his personal attention to invalids who may visit the Castillian Springs. Board per week $7, children and servants half price. July 1, '53. 51-4f.

YOU are hereby cited to be and appear before the Probate Court of Yazoo county on the fourth Monday in September, 1853, then there to show cause, if any you can, why an order should not be made for the sale of the following described lands belonging to said decedent, lying and being in the county of Holmes in said State, it having been suggested to our said court that the interest of said estate would be promoted thereby, to-wit: one undivided half interest in the west half of northwest quarter of section 4, and east half northeast quarter and west half southeast quarter and southwest quarter of section 5, township 14, range 2 east; also, the entire interest in west half of northeast quarter and east half of northwest quarter of section 5, township 14, range 2, east, and further to do and suffer such things as shall be considered and ordered by our said court in the premises. Letters to Bishop Green. ON Apostolical Succession, by Rev. R. Arney, just received and for sale by MANN & ANDREWS. June 17, '53.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS. The high church party have gained a loss in the sermon (Bishop Green's) that has called out such a response. The twelfth chapter is especially pointed and strong. N. O. Ch. Advocate. High church pretensions stand about as good a chance among these "Letters" as an unlucky boy in the midst of a nest of yellow jackets. They are dignified and respectful, but they sting all round.—Nash, Ch. Advocate. This work will evidently command an extensive sale. The writer takes strong practical views of his subject, and invests the entire argument with much more than ordinary interest. The book will make its mark, go where it may.—Dr. Stevenson, M. Book Agt. We must say that in some respects the Letters make about the highest book on Succession that has been seen. The author takes the broad common-sense view of the subject, and in doing so presents some arguments that the Successionists will find more difficult to get over than were the Alps to Hannibal and Napoleon.—Lou. Ch. Advocate.

THE WHIG.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1853.

Col. A. K. McClung. The accounts of the progress of his canvass are most cheering. The vast difference between him and his competitor is so manifest,—he is so far the superior of Mr. Singleton in mind and information as a debater,—that scarcely a doubt need be entertained of his election. Mississippi stands peculiarly in need of such a representative at this time. She wants a representative who will expose, in a bold and masterly manner, the corruptions that boil and bubble in the public stew at the Federal City. One, who, when he takes his seat, will rank with the first intellects of that body, or the land. His ability no one can doubt, his devotion to the interests of the State no one can question, his patriotism has been proven in other fields than those merely political; the honorable scars on his body, his mangled hand, are living witnesses of his patriotism and his devotion to his country and its honor. That same patriotism which shone so brightly on the field of battle, will shine as fair in the National Councils,—the same quickness of perception and sound judgment, which saved the Mississippi Regiment at Monterey, will mark his action while in Congress. But for his quickness of perception, and good judgment, at Monterey, the Mississippi Regiment would have been destroyed. If he had no other claim but this, to the suffrages of his fellow-citizens, it should entitle him to their warm and generous support. We appeal to the Union men of this District, of this county,—come up strongly and manfully in his behalf; let not the whispers of his opponents, or objections of a personal nature, magnified and distorted by lying rumor until they bear no semblance of truth, prevent you from giving him your vote. We tell you, Union men of Madison, if you do your duty you can elect him, and he will serve you as faithfully, as boldly and as truly as he has ever done in any station in which he has been placed. To our Whig friends we would say, in times past he has battled for your cause, diligently, faithfully and bold,—without the prospect of fee or reward,—for those principles which he and you believed would most redound to the prosperity of the country,—and will you not now come up most cheerfully to his support? To the Union Democrats, we tell them in his own language,—the old issues are passed by, buried and forgotten; he plants himself on the principles of the President's Inaugural Address, which is not approved of by any of the party opposed to him,—and gives his heart and hand to the cause of the gallant leader of the Union party of the State. We feel assured you will give him your support, as your brethren in the Eastern part of the District are doing: There, the Union party are as firmly united as in 1851,—as firm of purpose—determined of action—with hearts resolved and hands prepared, to adhere to and stand by the men and measures of that party whose platform of principles was—The Union and Constitution of our fathers. Canton Citizen.

Gov. Foote at Jackson. The 13th inst. was a proud day for Tishomingo. Her Union-loving sons and daughters gathered from far and near to listen to the eloquence of a master spirit whose fame as a patriot, orator and statesman, is National. From 1500 to 2000 persons (so it was estimated) were present, most of them those who stood by the Union in the perilous days of '51, and who yet stand as firm as the rock of ages, in support of a great principle and the embodiment of that principle. Gen. Foote stood amid a sea of upturned faces densely packed about the stand.—Mighty power—that of eloquence. That body were swayed to and fro, like the reed by the river's side—now in laughter, now with scorn, now with contempt, now with patriotism, at the speaker's various moods, "from grave to gay, from lively to severe." Perhaps it was the place—glorious old Tishomingo with her 1300 Union majority—the large assemblage, or the responsibility as the advocate of a holy and just cause—be the cause what it may, he out-did himself. Like the rushing of an impetuous river came an irresistible flow of argument that broke down the bulwarks of prejudice, the cob-webs of sophistry, and carried conviction to the minds of all in strains of eloquence that took the heart by storm. For two hours he held the audience spell bound—almost breathless. All was enthusiasm. The wavering, if there were any such, were confirmed and the strong were made stronger—if that were a possibility. Tishomingo, will speak in trumpet tones in November. Wait her thunder!

We have no time (having returned just before issuing this No. from a two weeks absence,) to give a synopsis of Gov. Foote's speech or the events of the day. North Miss. Union.

Economy is a good thing, and should be practiced by all, but it should manifest itself in denying ourselves—not in oppressing others. We see persons spending dollar after dollar foolishly one hour, and the next trying to save a penny piece off a wood-sawyer, coal-heaver or market woman. Such things are disgraceful, if not dishonest.

I am of opinion that the Bible contains more true sublimity, more exquisite beauty, more pure morality, more important history, and finer strains of poetry and eloquence than can be collected from all other books, in whatever age or language they may have been written. Sir William Jones.

"Pray, Miss C." said a gentleman the other evening, "why are ladies so fond of officers?" "How stupid!" replied she, "is it not natural that a lady should like a good officer?"

Melancthon was denounced by some one for changing his views on a certain subject. He replied—"Do you think I have been studying assiduously for thirty years, without learning anything?"

Twenty-five or thirty pounds of blood is the usual quantity in a common sized body.

Mr. Muse, the Secession Candidate for Secretary of State.

It has been said that the caucus system throws to the surface the act of society. This is exemplified in the case of the present secession candidate for Secretary of State. Except that he comes before the people heralded by that most corrupt system, he would not receive five hundred votes in Mississippi; but we suppose, in accordance with the usage of that party, he will receive its entire support. Public opinion and public action—the privilege of thought and reason, has been surrendered to the tyrannous behest of King Caucus, and men whose characters stand blackened and begrimed in the eyes of the moral and the virtuous, when backed by the caucus system, receive the votes of freemen for office. W. H. Muse is a candidate for Secretary of State and we believe he will get the vote of his party, though he only merits the scorn and contempt of every gentleman in the land. When the charge was first made that MUSE HAD ATTACHED HIS MOTHER'S PROPERTY FOR BOARD, DURING A VISIT TO HIS HOUSE, we did not believe that human nature could have fallen so low—become so steeped in the depths of degradation. We believed the charge could be so explained as to save him from the scorn and contempt of all men. By Muse's own confession the charge is true! He admitted in his speech at Carrollton, that part of the debt on which the attachment was founded, was for board. Yet, we predict that this man, so lost to all shame, to all the natural impulses of nature, to all sense of honor, love, filial affection,—this monster, who should be branded with burning scorn, and hung as high as Haman upon the gibbet of public contempt, will receive a hearty support at the hands of the secession party.—Canton Citizen.
