HENRY CLAY-His letter of Resignation .he following is the letter of the Hon. Henry Clay, addressed to the Legislature of Kentucky and tendering to that body his resignation. It is said that his health is gradually declining, and it may be that he will not be able to attend to the duties of his office, even to the period named by Washisoros, 17th December, 1851,

To the General Assembly of Kentucky:
When you did me the bour to confer on m the appointment of a Senator from Kentucky which I now hold, in accepting it I did not intenor expect to serve the entire term of six years.

I had previously retired finally, as I supposed from that body. But out of the territorial sequisitions, resulting from the war with Mexico, moreover. mentous questions arose, seriously menacing the harmony and peace, if not the integrity of the Union. I felt it to be my duty to return again to the Senate and to contribute my humble aid, by an amicable settlement of those questions, to avert the calamities with which we were threatened. Such a settlement was attempted during the last Congress, is now in progress of execution

On the approach of the present Congress was with much hesitation proceeding partly from my feeble state of health, that I concluded to re-turn, for the last time to the Senate. But I have not thought of ever again taking a seat in that body, after the class of the present session. Having come to this determination. I consider it in cumbent on me to place it in the power of the General Assembly to appoint my successor during

I do, therefore, hereby resign the office of a Kentucky, this my resignation to take effect on the first Monday of September, 1852.

I soon discovered that the Mohammedan natives of Soudan were much further advanced in mind than the idolatrous inhabitants of the coast. Several blacks of Haoussa and Adamawah related to me that they had taken part in expeditions against a nation called Miam-Niams, who had tails. They traced their route, on which they encountered tigers, giraffes, elephants and wild camels. Nine lays were consumed in traversing an immense forest. They reached at length a numerous people of the same complex. ion and frame as themselves, but with tails from twelve to fifteen inches long. This organ or excrescence they describe as smooth and motionless. The Haoussas massacred the greater part of the tribe; among the bodies were found some females with the same appendage. Both sexes went entirely naked. Some lived in straw hovels, but the greater part lived in caves. The only article of furniture seen among them was a wooden bench, pierced with holes for the accommodation of the tail."

This last circumstance is comical e nough; the witnesses were seven or eight, who declared that they handled the excrescence, cut it, and so forth. The Count does not guaranty the statements; secondingly. he intends to publish separately the interrogations and answers, along with the maps, vocabularies, and portraits of distinet tribes, which he procured in his researches in Brazil.
