NOTE the Democratic ticket on Nov. 2.

REMEMBER that the election occurs on Tuesday, November the 2d, this year.

REBUKE Foraker an avowed Penitentiary perjurer by voting the Democratic ticket.

FORAKER wants Nye the lying affidavit maker paroled by the Penitentiary Board for the important service he has rendered.

ON Tuesday, November 2d, every citizen should turn out and vote. Let no Democrat stay away from the polls on that day.

To swear to and subscribe a lying affidavit is not perjury under the laws of Ohio, and hence the Governor and his horse-thief ally are safe no matter what may be their moral guilt.

THE New York Tribune is so thoroughly devoted to Mr. Blaine's political interests that it has not published a word of Mr. Sherman's speeches nor made the barest mention of his campaign.

THE truth is that every citizen who values free Government should make it a point to vote the Democratic ticket Nov. 2d, and thus rebuke the revolutionary actions of the Legislature of last winter.

Roseville voted in favor of local option, Monday, by 51 "yes" and 49 "no."—Shawnee Banner.

Is that so? We thought they had it by virtue of the Republican law. We are glad to know Bro. Smith that they are in favor of it any how.

LET Democrats remember that they are judged and condemned by Foraker Kennedy & Co., on the testimony of Republican horse thieves, murderers and rapists, and that to stay away from the polls on two weeks from next Tuesday is to virtually plead guilty of the perjured statement.

THE election in Georgia was a great Democratic victory. It is an indication that the Republican party is going to pieces. It is likewise an indorsement of the Democratic administration and of everything else Democratic. The foregoing is about as reasonable as the crowd of the Republicans over their recent victory in Maine.

WE are in receipt of the October number of the Song Friend, published by S. W. Straub, Chicago, Monthly, at One dollar per year. This number besides its usual amount of interesting reading matter contains 12 pages of choice music comprising two beautiful songs entitled, The Wanderer's Chime Bells, by Straub, and Among The Daisies, by Weller, also a four hand Wedding March, by Wagner. No lover of music can afford to be without the Song Friend.

DEMOCRAT'S Monthly for October comes to us full to overflowing with good things.

No lady should be without this household guide, for while it amuses through its story department, it instructs and keeps its readers posted right up to the times. It teaches how to adorn home and make it beautiful by instructing the hands as well as the mind and heart. Every man who loves his home should see to it that his wife, mother, daughter or sister is provided with this progressive magazine, which combines the essentials of all others, and besides the magazine itself, which is all that could be desired, a coupon is found in every number entitling the holder to a selection of any pattern in that number, and of any size. A subscriber may thus get patterns to fit to the amount of $3.00 each year. It is a mystery how the Democrat's can offer this.

The Protection of Labor.
THE condition of the laborers in the coal mines, and the modes adopted by the operators in this protected industry is worthy a serious consideration on the part of those who insist that protection makes high wages: that without the tariff "grass would grow in our streets and our workmen be sent to the poorhouse," and that the slightest reduction on any tax save that on whisky would bring upon the country the most horrid calamities.

The miners have employment about half the time, and everything that ingenuity can devise is done to make coal dear and labor cheap. As a writer puts it: "The market is starved to sustain prices," and the employes are kept on half time "so that the demand" for work shall push down the rates of wages, etc. In this connection the Indianapolis Freeman says: And this is the ring for whose benefit we tax coal, thus playing right into their hands. We wish some one would tell us how this tax on coal benefits anybody except the monopolists who starve both the market and their hands in order to swell their own profits. If there is any debt which we owe these gentlemen we are decidedly in favor of making an appropriation directly out of the Treasury to pay it, rather than to keep on levying toll for their benefit upon every man who is compelled to buy coal.

"Cheap labor and dear coal"—that's the way protection works every time. That's the way it is meant to work. All the talk that we hear about the necessity of maintaining the "dignity, etc. of the American labor" is the sheerest hypocrisy. Three or four hundred dollars a year won't go very far when it comes to maintaining dignity—it's a close shave to maintain life. But that is not what is meant. It's the monopoly of the American manufacturer and mine-owner that is to be maintained, and here protection is successful.

We had thought that the protection of American labor by tariff levies on certain manufactures and products, was but a passing dream of some of the Republican stump orators, and was only intended to gull the laboring man into giving their support to the Republican candidates. But when John Sherman makes the protection of American labor and protective tariff synonymous terms in his Portsmouth speech that fact impresses us with the conviction that they believe it.

While we are not ready to say that free trade is the best thing for the country yet we do maintain that of all classes the laborers are the least benefited by tariff protection. Let us give two or three plain illustrations.

A is engaged in manufacturing, and his manufactures are protected by a duty of 20 per cent.

This so regulates competition that the article he formerly sold for 83 cents now commands $1, and to that extent A. is benefited.

B is a laborer, and must depend on the sale of his labor for his support. If he labors for A. his wages are not regulated by the selling price of A's goods but by the selling price of labor in the community in which they live and operate. If laborers are scarce the price will be higher than if laborers are numerous. A. as a manufacturer recognizes this and when labor becomes scarce and dear, he imports labor free of all tariff duties to perform the work he has to do.

B. is forced to work at the price of the cheap hand and at the same time pay the increased price for all the articles he uses, by reason of the protection.

For twenty-five years we have been carrying out the theory of protection. During part of this period the wages of labor was very high, but this arose from causes entirely foreign to the theory of protection.

The war removed a great number of laborers from the productive industries and placed them in the class of consumers.

During the same period immigration almost ceased and the consequent price of labor was very high, but since the army was disbanded in 1865-6, the price of labor fell, and the tendency has been downward ever since, in the exact ratio of the increase in population.

The only protection possible to American labor is that which the tariff, and the Republican party does not give, namely to place an embargo on the importation of laborers, who come in direct competition with them.

Independent of the question as to the effect of tariff upon the business of the country, it is the most gauzy lie to argue that protection of products is a protection to labor, while Chinese, Japanese, Poles and Hungarians, who are not, and do not intend to become citizens, are allowed to compete with them free.

The average Republican stump orator is horrified by a proposition to regulate the tariff so that taxation shall be as low as is consistent with the necessities of the government, but smiles serenely as he sees the honest toiler brought in close and direct competition with the paupers and rat gourmands of Europe and eastern Asia.

Let these Republican buglers tell the truth namely that protection is to enable the few to grow rich at the expense of the many, and to grind the laborers to the last degree.

Be honest, gentlemen, be honest.

Polley Conversion.

The Republican party, masquerading as the friend of the poor men and the laboring men, is about the most amusing thing which the loss of power has brought about. But the mask is too thin and the wolf is plainly discernible under his covering of sheep's hide. A more complete change never came over the spirit of the dreams of any party than that which is now overcoming those of the "grand old Republican party." When in power that party gave away the people's domain by the millions upon millions of acres. It gave this land to incorporated bodies, who used the power thus presented them to rob the people of their homes to enrich the bondholders. Now, with true Republican consistency, they claim to be very anxious to reserve the public domain for actual settlers. When they were in power they constantly refused to reduce the enormous surplus in the United States treasury, but they now demand that it be immediately reduced. More consistency. When it was in power it abolished the income tax which made the rich man pay a just share of taxes, and now, since it is out of power, it demands the passage of laws which shall make the burden of taxes fall on rich and poor alike. In congress it has always opposed the efforts to reduce the tariff taxes, and now it masquerades before the country as the friend of the poor man who has to pay the burden of those taxes.

But the people of this country are not so easily deceived, not so readily hoodwinked as to believe that this pretended conversion is real or lasting. They know the Republican party too well. They know that it is wedded to its idols and that all its legislation has been in favor of the rich man and against the interests of the poor man.

They know it so well that two years hence we shall have a Democratic President again elected, and a Democratic Senate and house of Representatives. The people have found out the character of the Republican party and they repudiate it.

The Democracy is gaining in favor, with the people, daily as the shackles of useless taxation which have been placed on them by Republican legislation becomes more apparent and unendurable.

The Political Wiggineses.

THE predictions that the Republicans made two years ago that the country would go to ruin, if the Democrats got into power, have become a sensitive matter with the Republican brother-hood. They do not like to hear of it.—The St. Louis Republican says.

ALL is not lost that was achieved by the war; the constitutional amendments have not been nullified; the country has not been set back to where it was in 1861; the public credit has not been impaired; the public debt has not been repudiated; the pensions to Union veterans have not been stopped; the rebel debt has not been assumed; pensions have not been given to rebel soldiers; the currency and the revenue have not fallen into disorder; the Treasury is not empty; the civil service has not become demoralized, the national bank system has not given place to wild-cat state banks; the national authority has not been degraded, and a great many other dreadful things have not taken place.

A Statue to Schuyler Colfax.

A committee of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Indiana has agreed on a design for a monument to the late Schuyler Colfax. It contemplates a bronze statue of Colfax, set on a bare granite pedestal, the pedestal to be triangular in shape, thus symbolizing the fundamental principles of the order—friendship, love and truth. A bronze medallion of Rebecca at the well will be placed in the die. The monument is to be completed by next May, though its location has not yet been determined. Mr. Colfax's home was at South Bend, though he was contemplating removing his residence to Indianapolis at the time his death.

Council Proceedings.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, Oct. 12.
Council met in regular session. Present Steinman, Mayor; Gage, Clerk; White, Solicitor; Councilmen Cresap, Price, Wright, Schlagetter, Braddock, Krieg and Rochester.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.
The following petition signed by 293 names was presented to the council:

To the council of the village of Logan:
We, the undersigned, citizens of the village of Logan, do most earnestly petition your honorable body to use the power delegated to councils of Municipal Corporations by the Dow Law and prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within the village, by submitting the same to a vote of the people. On motion of Braddock the petition was laid on the table until next meeting.

The ordinance committee asked further time for consideration of the natural gas ordinance.

An ordinance to regulate billiard tables was introduced, read the first time and referred to ordinance committee.

An ordinance to regulate ale, beer, and porter-houses and other places where intoxicating liquors are sold at retail; read first time and referred to ordinance committee.
