IN SOCIETY.

Pleasant Social Session of the Epworth League-- Other Social Functions--Society Notes.

On Wednesday evening the closing ball of Prof. C. A. Fowler and pupils was given at the Imp'd O. R. M. Hall. Space will not permit us to review the elegant costumes of those present; suffice it that this was the most elegant ball given in Logan in a number of years. Thirty six couples on the floor, good orchestra and pleasant evening were the component parts of a royal reception. Prof. Fowler and pupils are to be congratulated on the most excellent success of their closing party. We hope the Professor will have another class here next year.

The Epworth League Literary were charmingly entertained, and spent a most enjoyable evening at the home of Miss Grace Fickel, last evening. The topic of the evening was "The Sun." God's great natural heat producer called forth many interesting talks, which occasioned a very spirited discussion between Rev. Rudisill, Pascal Bright, and other members of the League. Miss Jennie Hall, one of Logan's sweetest singers, delightfully entertained the members with excellent solos, and Miss Essie Juergensmeier gave some several organ recitals, which were much appreciated by those present. After the close of the program, some innocent diversions were participated in, in order that the fertile brain of the studious gain a slight relaxation after soaring among the clouds in search of historical facts relating to the luminary. Empty sacks were passed around and all informed that a number of peanuts were hidden about the room, and that the one finding the most would be rewarded with a prize. Amid the flow of social chat, a diligent search was made for the hidden nuts. Pascal Bright, finding 27, was declared the winner and was presented with the prize, a beautiful bouquet. Miss Sarah Moore brought up the rear of the procession, finding only 4, and was presented with a red bird kite, to remind her that she need not soar above the clouds when in search of the necessities of this life. Following this, other social games were enjoyed, and at a late hour the young people departed after voting Miss Grace a royal entertainer.

The "Big Six" were delightfully entertained by Mrs. F. F. Remple Thursday afternoon at the Col. Remple farm west of town. The outing was given in honor of Mrs. H. L. Wright's house guest, Mrs. J. W. Brooker, of Springfield, Ky. Mr. George Henderson and Miss Maud E. Beattie were married at the residence of the bride at Nelsonville Tuesday evening. The happy young bride is a sister of Mrs. Bertha McCall who attended the wedding.

The Junias will be the guests of honor of the Saturday Club Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. S. H. Bright of Glenview. Mrs. Walter Lacky, of New Burlington, is the pleasantly entertained guest of her brother Editor F. M. and Mrs. McKay. The Art and Thimble Circle were royally entertained by Mrs. Barsha Work at her hospitable home Wednesday.

Mrs. A. B. Horn will entertain the "Left overs" to night. Miss Myra Brown entertains the C. L. S. C. this evening. Perry Moorehead Dead. Mr. Perry Moorehead, who has been a long sufferer, died last evening at 10 o'clock. Mr. Moorehead has been one of the old and substantial citizens of Logan, but for many years has not been able to be out much, though never forgotten by the many kind citizens who often called to look to the ministering to his wants. He was a prominent member of Rochester Post G. A. R. here, who will have charge of his funeral.

C. H. V. & T. Earnings. The estimated earnings of the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo Railway company for the month of April shows that prosperous times are not yet here. The report shows a decrease of $27,000, as compared with the same month last year, which was not a good month by any means. The figures as furnished by the company, are as follows: April, 1896, $214,011 92 April, 1897, 187,004 24 Decrease, $7,007 68

Base Ball.

Here is some good news for all you ball fans: Mr. Charley Wood has an idea on a base ball club, and should he carry it through we will have one of the best clubs ever in this valley. His idea is this: to combine with Carbon Hill, Nelsonville and Logan players, under the name of the Logan Ball Club. Now Woody, you're talking, and if you carry the deal through, you will be the idol of all the fans. You have the grounds, and with a good club you could not help but make Logan the base ball center of the valley. Support? Well I guess! Don't waste any time. Organize at once and give us a game real soon, and then consider the times and make the admission so that it will be in the reach of all. And the ladies, let them be admitted with "an escort" free. What would a ball game be without the fair sex.

The following named players constitute the Lancaster Base Ball Team for this season. Howard McClenaghan, Hayes Pursell, Clarence Mock, Sherman Carpenter, Max Miller, Frank Hooker, Tom Barnes, Clarence Bowers, John Hodgson, Frank Tarpey and Leff Pursell. The club will open the season at their park on East Main street on May 31, with the Nelsonville Grays. Our home club will leave on June 16, for a four days tour to Chillicothe, Washington C. H., Wilmington and Circleville. Here's success to the Lancaster Club.—Lancaster Gazette. What Logan will do with this aggregation when we meet will be a plenty.

Gus Dundon is playing a great game of ball for Dubuque and is referred to by the base ball writers of that city as a great "find." Gus always could be depended upon while playing in the local league, and now that he has started in faster company his many friends here expect a good report from him this season.—Columbus Press. Logan has plenty of timber that can lay all around Gus.—Ed.

Quite a number of the local players and "fans" engaged in a pretty exciting game of ball yesterday at the ball park. The error column got overloaded and in consequence we were compelled to dump it into the waste basket. But seriously the boys had lots of fun and enjoyed the exercise.

Strelt who played here last season with the Atlanta Grays is still drawing his salary at Columbus and that is about all he is doing. Loftus is afraid to push him out.

Charley Wood, our new base ball manager, is a huttler, and if you give him your hearty support you can look out for some hot base ball right here in your own city.

Frank Hooker of the Lancaster Colts did not hold down his place very long in that southern league club.

Let us get organized in time to have a game with some good club here on Decoration day.

Gallipolis, Zanesville and Athens are all anxious to give our new club a whirl.

FIRST HEARING

Of The Case of State of Ohio vs Barber and Dupler.

The Defence is Developing Into Self Defense Very Strongly.—Probable Out Come.

The preliminary hearing of the State of Ohio vs Arthur Barber and Pearl Dupler for the killing of Dunk Christian, was heard in Squire Floyd's court to day. A great crowd of witnesses were up from the valley in the vicinity of the shooting at Longstreth. The first witness was Mr. McManaway who was in Brookers lunch store, when the defendants came in, complaining that they had been at the church festival and had to pay twice for supper. Barber said he believed he would go up and clean out the ranch. Dupler said, "you go up stairs and I will stay with you." McManaway went up stairs, and on steps heard Dupler say, "you go up and clean out the place and I will stay with you. Witness went up and when he was eating supper, he was attracted by loud talking, and saw Perry Christian running toward the witness pursued by Arthur Barber who was firing a gun at him. Witness got up and run after his child, and passing a table found Dunk Christian dead under a table with a revolver in his hand. Raised up his head and took revolver away from dead man. Revolver had one load yet in it, and one empty shell. Heard several shots, and could not tell who fired first. Barber pursued old man Christian out the door striking with empty revolver. Said that the dead man breathed twice after he got to him.

JOHN LAX.—Was in the hall. Heard Barber get up from the table and give a war whoop. Perry Christian told him to be still or go out. Defendant said he had better put him out. Soon after, defendant went out.

JOE BROOKER.—Keeps store under hall. Some body came in and bought cartridges. Didn't know the boy. Barber and Dupler came in and bought stogies. Former threw his hat down on case, and said he was the best man in town, and he would go up and clean out the ranch. Heard Dupler say he would stay with Barber.

ROBERT STEWART.—Is a church director. Barber passed him in hall, and said that he had a ticket for supper for nothing; that if it had not been given him he would clean out the ranch. Mr. Christian said to Barber, "You had better keep still or go out." Barber went out and came back. Christian came back in also and walked around Barber, and said to his father, Perry Christian, "What did Barber call you?" Father said "Nothing, go away and never mind." Young Christian said "I want let anybody call my father a son-of-a-b—." Young Christian then rushed toward Barber, his father holding him back. Shots were fired. Did not know which fired first.

GEORGE DIXON.—Had dispute with Barber about his not paying for supper. That Barber he thought was intoxicated. Set down glass hard on plate, turned around gave a whoop. Mr. Christian told him to keep still or he would put him out. Barber went out and came back. Dunk Christian came in and said to his father that he did not allow anybody to call his father a son-of-a-b—. His father told him to never mind. It is all right. Young Christian started for Barber; shots were exchanged. Did not know who shot first. Much confusion, and witness was busy gathering tickets.

MISS BROOKER.—Heard Christian say Barber must keep still. Barber said "then keep the girl still, too."

THOMAS LITTLER.—Asked Barber to come down stairs. They went down. He talked to him, tried to get him to stay down. Barber said there was no danger of trouble.

DR. APLIN.—Was physician at inquest. Three shots took effect in Dunk Christian. One passing through the heart.

WM. SIX.—Saw shooting as testified by others. JACOB SIX.—About the same as before testified.

DEFENSE.

WM. MITCHELL.—Barber gave a war whoop attracting attention. Perry Christian said, "None of that goes here." Witness told Barber when he came in not to raise any trouble. Tried to get him to go down. Heard young Christian who was killed, say, "you son-of-a-b—" and saw him shoot, and then Arthur Barber shot at once. Positive that Christian shot first, as witness was close to Barber, and in front. About had Barber persuaded to go out, when Christian attacked him.

JAMES WOODYARD.—Saw the shooting as had others testified. Dunk Christian poked his gun past witness head and fired at Barber; latter returned the fire.

DACE EVANS.—Saw the shots fired. Dunk Christian fired the first shot. Saw it distinctly.

PEARL DUPLER.—Was with Dupler. Both been drinking. Didn't know that he ever said for Barber to go in, he would stay with him, except in a jocular way down stairs. Didn't know Barber had loaded gun. Was on his way home when shooting occurred.

MISS CHRISTIAN.—Third cousin of the deceased. Was going home with Dupler, an hundred feet from the hall when shooting took place.

At this juncture a motion was made by Buerhaus, attorney for the defense, to discharge Dupler. The court accepted the motion and discharged the prisoner.

ARTHUR BARBER.—Was up in hall several times. Had some dispute with old man Christian. Went down and back again; was standing against a bench. Saw young Christian rush toward him. Call him an son-of-a-b—; pulled his gun and fired at deft. Defendant retreated first. Did not know young Christian. Never had any trouble with him.

Several other witnesses were called and about the same story told.

LATER.—Arguments were made by the attorneys resulting in the court binding the defendant Barber over under the charge of murder in the first degree.

The court held that though the testimony run that Christian, the deceased, fired the first shot, yet Barber had provoked the quarrel, had been looking for trouble, had fired several shots trying to murder the father after the son was killed; that self defense constituted a civil means to defend one's self; that going away and leaving trouble is often the best; defendant persisted in having a quarrel, though at the time of the shooting he was second to shoot, yet he was the aggressor, in provoking the quarrel. The Common Pleas Court Judge O. W. H. Wright, will probably call a special grand jury in June and have the case heard.

Bicycle Decision.

In a common pleas court in Northern Ohio, a village passed an ordinance making it finable for any person riding on the side walks. Under these provisions a young business man was arrested for riding pavements and was fined $10. He paid his fine, but carried the case up to the common pleas court for reimbursement of the money paid. The case was stiffly contested being a test of law and ordinance powers, and was decided unconstitutional, and ordered the village to pay back the $10 and the costs of the case. The judge held in his decision that a council in a village wherein the streets were not paved, had no power to legislate out of its usefulness any apparatus to the furtherance of public and business interests. That with mud streets in wet season, which sometimes lasted several weeks, the aforesaid convenient and rapid transit was rendered useless, that in the cases of the plaintiff and other business men who lived a few miles from their places of business, it was a menace to the business interests of the community. The judge recommended, however, which he held is constitutional, that the council pass an ordinance that riding on such side walk not be permitted more rapid than an eight mile gait, (common walk) thus avoiding accident. This decision might be of some importance to the hampered condition of affairs along this line in Logan. The bicycle is a dead machine on wet days, as the streets are mud roads.

A New Coal Mine To Begin Operations.—A Little Encouragement For The Miners.

About three years ago the Hocking Coal and Iron company sunk a shaft at Beaumont, built a tippie and drove several entries. A switch was built from the C. H. V. & T. track to mine and a small quantity of coal was mined. For some unaccountable reason the mine was closed down shortly after put in operation, and has remained idle ever since. It is now definitely settled that the mine will again be put in operation. The mine has been leased by the Chauncey Coal & Coke company, and they will proceed to place the mine in running order at once. Several weeks will be required to clean out the mine, lay tracks and repair the machinery, but it is the intention of the company to have it in operation with the least possible delay.—Athens Messenger.

MURDERER BARBER

Who Killed One Man and Fatally Shot Another.

Comes Into Logan and Surrenders to the Sheriff.—Refuses to Talk About the Crime.

Arthur Barber, the young fellow who did the shooting at the ice cream supper at Longstreth's last Monday night, in which one man's life was sacrificed and another is not expected to live, after remaining in hiding for thirty-six hours, drove up to Logan Wednesday morning and hunting up the sheriff, voluntarily gave himself up. Since giving himself up, he has been continually besieged by newspaper men including The OHIO DEMOCRAT reporter all anxious to get the particulars of the shooting for their respective papers, but to all he turned a deaf ear and respectfully, but determinedly refused to answer any questions or say anything for publication.

When the OHIO DEMOCRAT man called on him he was sitting in the corridor in his stocking feet, busy reading a newspaper. He was very willing to talk on any subject except the shooting scrape. Whenever this subject was broached, he refused absolutely to say anything. In a conversation with his honor, Judge O. W. Wright, relative to the disposition of Barber and Dupler, his pal, whom Sheriff Ryan took to the County Jail Tuesday evening, Judge Wright replied that he would have to figure on the expense as to whether it would be cheaper to keep them in here until the grand jury meets in September or to call a special session and dispose of the case at once. Barber seems to take things coolly and does not appear to realize the enormity of the crime.

Councilman Pond.

HOTEL MADISON, PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA.

Mr. J. B. Dollison. SIR.—It may perhaps be of interest to some of your readers to know of the whereabouts of a "Weary Willie" who delights at divers times to hang up his "derby" and pull up close to the "mahogany" in the good old town of Logan. Duty has brought me to this place, but its natural attractiveness prevents the same cause from jerking me away from here. We are but 17 miles from the Old Atlantic, with a delightful breeze blowing up from the coast, at all times tempering the fierce rays of an almost tropical sun. Norfolk is just across a beautiful arm of Chesapeake Bay, with a ferry every 15 minutes. Just below us is the United States Navy Yard, which like all Government Institutions embraces an abundant amount of Red Tape, and many points of interest. Lying just off from the Navy Yard is the U. S. Receiving ship, Franklin, aboard which is stationed Lieut. James Cresap, U. S. A., who is an old Logan boy, and to whose beautiful home on North Street of this city, I have accepted an invitation to call this afternoon. Although willing to tarry longer at this place, I shall have to leave here tomorrow evening for Richmond. This point is the turning post in my eastern trip, and after I leave here I will be working homeward the balance of the month with the idea in view to be in Logan for the Logan High School Commencement exercises. So it is just now with me as it was with the Union Army near the close of the "late unpleasantness," and the old cry of those stirring times, "On to Richmond," finds an echo in the make up of this "Wandering Ike."

So for the present I bid you a fond farewell.

Yours Respectfully, Frank B. Pond, Portsmouth, Va.
