MARIETTA DAILY LEADER

MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1896

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

—Everything bright and new in millinery goods with prices at the bottom, quality at the top, at the Bee Hive Store.

—Miss Gertrude Nelly, of Parkersburg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Grimes.

—Ex-Councilman Steen, now located at Zanesville, spent Sunday in the city with his family.

—Phil Bachman left for Cincinnati on a business trip Sunday.

—Cool's Big Stock Company, which played a week's stand here last week, did a very satisfactory business and left town this morning for Canton. This company is made up of people of refinement; persons of talent and whom it was a pleasure to meet. For lack of hotel room they were taken into private houses and lodged, so that the troupe made many friendly acquaintances. Marietta enjoyed having the players here, and we guess the members of the company are glad they came.

—Invitations have been issued for a dance to be given on the evening of April 6th by the Sunshine Fishing Club. A large attendance is expected.

—W. H. Henning, Jr., left for Zanesville this morning.

—Dr. C. E. Athey, of Salem, spent Sunday in the city.

—Miss Mary Oldham left Friday night for Baltimore, to visit the family of Bishop Penneck.

—Dr. Villars, of Little Hocking, was in the city a day or two ago looking about with a view to locating here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill will leave Marietta for an indefinite time, and will make Columbus their home. Mr. A. W. Hutchison has leased the Hill home for five years and will occupy it at once.

—Miss Blayney, of Elizabeth College, is at Mansfield spending the Easter vacation.

—The Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette is one of the best musical combinations traveling this season and the excellence of their entertainment will be testified to by all who were so fortunate as to hear them last night.—Chatanooga News.

—It will pay you to visit the Bee Hive Store Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

—J. J. Hannahan, First Vice President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, will be here on Wednesday, April 1st, for the purpose of organizing a local branch of his order.

—W. R. Grimes, the enterprising shoe merchant, has remodeled his show windows in true metropolitan style and they are beyond doubt the handsomest in that line in the city. Fine French plate mirrors, both back and sides, terra cotta panels, old gold portieres and an elegant display of wares all contribute to the handsome effect. The work on the windows, which were opened up Saturday, was done by Cebhan, Pierce & Co., of this city.

—Attorney A. D. Follett will read a paper before the Muskingum County Historical Society on Thursday of this week, April 2d. Mr. Follett's paper will treat of the ordinance of 1787, especially the history of its conception.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.
So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner's Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at W. H. Styer's Drug Store.

River Matters.
Business at the steamboat landing is becoming quite active, both in passenger and freight traffic. The regular packets are often delayed some time receiving freights, principally merchandise. Large quantities of Irish potatoes and other produce are being brought up the river and meet with ready sale. As yet there is nothing doing on the United States government boats. Frank Sullivan, of the United States dredge boat Malta, has about perfected plans and specifications for a stone boat barge sixty-five feet in length, twenty-five feet in width and forty-two inches depth of hold. In the course of a few days the plans will be submitted to boat builders for bids for the construction. This barge will be used in connection with the United States engineers' steam propeller Vega.

Captain Webster, of Beverly, is prospecting about Pittsburg for a suitable steamer to run in the Zanesville and Beverly packet trade, making tri-weekly trips.—[Times Recorder.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.
Improvements Which Make Their Use Hardly Noticeable.

Painstaking skill and constant improvement are necessary factors in the perfection or success of almost any industry, but nowhere, says the New York Mail and Express, are they more fully attended than in the making of artificial limbs. There was a time when the lame and the crippled had to show their defects and misfortunes to the world. Now it is just the other way. People with artificial legs can now walk so perfectly as to avoid detection, and a person with a single amputation can almost defy detection. Improvements make it possible to move the knee and ankle joints, and this innovation also strengthens the whole limb and makes it more durable.

One of the latest improvements is in the knee joint of the leg for thigh amputation, which is so arranged that when in a sitting position the cord and spring are entirely relaxed, thus relieving all strain and pressure. There are in the United States 100,000 persons who have to be supplied with new limbs on an average of once in every five to eight years. The manufacturing of these articles in New York has become quite an enterprise.

A Wealthy Railroad Fireman.
A young man in blue overalls and a greasy cap and jacket is now employed as fireman on the Long Island railroad. He is George D. Pratt, the son of the late Charles Pratt, the multi-millionaire Standard Oil prince. Young Pratt was graduated from Amherst college with honors in 1893. As one of the representatives of his father's estate, who is the second largest stockholder of the Long Island Railroad company, he proposes to learn the railroad business through every grade, from laborer up. He started in the car shops at Morris Park, and after service at the bench, the forge and in the assembling-room, he learned how to use tools, how every part of a locomotive is made, and how the whole is put together. After having served the requisite apprenticeship in that department, he jumped into the locomotive cab and commenced shoveling coal in the capacity of a fireman.

ANTARCTIC CONTINENT.

Believed to Be a Land Full of High Mountains.

The hydrographic office has issued a new chart showing the limits, according to the numerous reports received at the United States hydrographic office, of the enormous ice fields encountered by mariners in those waters during the exceptionally severe years of 1892 and 1893, says the Washington Star. All of these reports agree in describing the icebergs seen during these years as colossal in height and extent and herded so closely together that any attempt to force a passage through the main body of the drift was attended by grave danger, many vessels being more or less damaged by collision and two lost.

Some of the bergs are high and perpendicular. Others are known to be of recent origin. Anders are known to be old. Their character is such that they could not have been formed on low, flat lands. Scientists believe there are high mountains in the Antarctic continent.
