The Quaker Crimped Crust Bread Pan.

As the Crimps so shall thy Slicing be.

It is with no small degree of pleasure that we present to the public this new device which makes itself felt immediately, for the reason that it strikes directly at the foundation of good living and household economy. Everybody knows that the first requisite to good living is good bread, and it is therefore passing strange that for ages there has been practically no improvement in this most necessary, essential and indispensable article of diet. Not even the painful cries of the hopeless dyspeptic, agonizing under the baleful influence of the sodden underdone bread of the country, have been sufficient to start the inventive genius, man. The physician and the inventor of patent nostrums have seen their opportunity and have piled the stomach of man with worm-wood and gall in their efforts to repair the wrong produced by the consumptive of bad bread.

RELIEF AT LAST!

Relief has come at last in the invention of the Quaker Crimped Crust Bread Pan. It is not a novelty, but a thoroughly reliable addition to the culinary department of the household. It has been thoroughly tested, and is now being used extensively by all classes and conditions of people. It has sprung into popular favor with a suddenness that but shows how great was the need for such an article. We wish at this time to point out a few of the advantages of the Quaker Crimped Crust over the ordinary bread pans now in use, and after so doing we shall leave it to the consideration of the individual.

ADVANTAGES OF THE QUAKER CRIMPED CRUST PANS OVER ALL OTHERS.

Taken for granted your flour is good, that your yeast is fresh and potent, and that you have observed all the conditions necessary to the making of a good sponge—the great prime requisite in the baking of bread is an even application of the heat which shall produce a perfect coagulation of the albumen. The Quaker Crimped Crust has the advantage of being round, and receives the heat from all points at the same time. There can be no burning on the top while the bottom remains underdone and soggy, as in the old square pan so common in use.

GREATER HEATING AND CRUST SURFACE.

The Quaker has more heating surface than any other pan. "It's in the crimp"—the many folds of which afford a large surface for the even distribution and application of the heat.

THE CAB DRIVER

Important Evidence in the Walling Murder Trial.

Allen Johnson Swears He Thinks Fred Chester Mullen Was the Driver

Of the Cab When It Left Wallingford's Saloon on the Night of the Pearl Bryan Murder—Walling, Jackson and the Girl Were Seen in Bellevue, Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky., June 2.—At Tuesday's session of the Walling trial Druggist Foertmeyer, of Bellevue, testified that Alonzo Walling was in his drugstore the last week of January with a young man whom he has since identified as Scott Jackson, and a blonde young lady. The two young men came into the drug store. Walling purchased cigars and inquired about a skiff ferry across the river. The young woman did not come into the drug store. Foertmeyer caught only a side glimpse of her face. She was a blonde and plumply built. She wore a flat, dark hat and a cape, which the witness said he could not describe accurately.

Half an hour later he saw them walking down Washington avenue.

The day was either Thursday or Friday, and he believed it was the latter. It was 11 o'clock when he first saw the trio.

Allen Johnson, the colored porter at Wallingford's saloon, took the witness stand. He began to testify without being sworn, but the lawyers stopped him. Said he knew Walling well enough to borrow money from him. Witness then related his previous testimony. Jackson brought Pearl Bryan to Wallingford's saloon between six and seven o'clock on Friday evening. They remained there about fifteen minutes. While they were in the saloon the girl sitting in a chair in the wine room Alonzo Walling came to the door. "I opened the door for Jackson when they left. He helped the girl into a cab on the Plum street side of the saloon, and the three drove south on Plum street."

On cross examination the witness said that Jackson and Walling may have been in the saloon the Monday before Friday night, but did not see them again that week until Friday. The porter said the curtains are always drawn across the window of Wallingford's winery. There are electric lights in the stalls. Attorney Shepherd made him describe minutely the surroundings at the saloon. Witness never said it was Thursday night that the trio were in the saloon; he denied attempting to bribe Attorney Allen Andrews.

Col. Shepherd grew earnest in his cross-examination. He wanted to know all that was said when the porter served a glass of champagne to Pearl Bryan. He asked what Pearl did, where she sat, in what direction the porter turned. Shepherd attempted to trip the witness with questions about Pearl Bryan's cape, but the witness only answered: It had some fur on it. It might have been a fur cape.

Witness said he thought Fred Albion was driving the cab when it left the saloon with Jackson, Walling and Pearl Bryan.

Chester Mullen was the next witness, and told of a young man who came to his stable and hired the gray horse and rockaway for three silver dollars. He said Walling resembled the man; was built like him. Court then took the noon recess.

At the session Tuesday afternoon Chester Mullen was again put on the stand. "It was ten or fifteen days after I hired the rig," said Mullen on cross-examination, "before I tried to refresh my recollection. I can not remember very well the man who hired the rockaway." Witness had no railroad iron or iron weight about his place with which Coachman Jackson says he hitched the gray horse at Ft. Thomas on the fatal night. Mullen gave the time card of the night car running between Peebles' corner, Walnut Hills, and Cincinnati. The carriage was returned to Mullen's stable at four o'clock Saturday morning. The night car had then stopped running, and the man who returned the vehicle would be compelled to walk back to the city.

John Foster, of Bellevue, testified to seeing Jackson, Walling and Pearl Bryan at Wallingford's saloon January 30, between 11 and 11:30. They were on the river bank. Foster testified that Walling asked him about a skiff ferry. The young man gave him a cigar. This tallies with Druggist Foertmeyer's testimony that Walling had an extra cigar when he left the store.

"The girl who was with the young men was slender," said Foster. He adjusted his spectacles, and identified Pearl Bryan's picture as a photograph of the young lady he saw in Bellevue. Upon cross-examination Col. Walling questioned minutely as to Walling's dress. Foster said the defendant wore an overcoat.

AN AGREEMENT.

LOOKS FISHY.

The Story of the Alleged Disbandment of the Cleveland Club.

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—The story to the effect that the Cleveland baseball club had sold its franchise and that the players were to be divided up between Brooklyn and Indianapolis, was news at the office of President Robison.

"Both President Robison and Secretary Howard Robison are out of the city," said the assistant secretary of the club, "but no such movement has been contemplated, so far as I know, and I think I should hear of it about as soon as anyone."

Three Pension Bills Become Laws.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Three pension bills became laws Tuesday under the constitutional limitation without the approval of the president. They provide pensions for Catherine Smith, widow of James Smith, Sixteenth Indiana volunteer; Russell N. Reynolds, late 130th Ohio infantry, and an increase of pension to Mrs. Amy Colwell, widow of Thomas W. Colwell, Second Ohio infantry, Mexican war, and Fifth Ohio cavalry in the civil war.

Reported Missing Man Safe and Sound. BALTIMORE, June 2.—Charles L. Simmons, of St. Joseph, Mo., reported as one of the missing in the St. Louis disaster, is safe and sound in Baltimore. He was in the fated city at the time of the storm but escaped uninjured.

Passed Over the Veto. WASHINGTON, June 2.—The river and harbor bill passed the house Tuesday over the president's veto 220 to 60.

ROBERT EMORY PATTISON.

Pennsylvania's distinguished ex-governor is being groomed for the presidential race by Chairman Harritt, of the democratic national committee. He was born December 8, 1850, at Quantico, Md. In 1882, when only 31 years of age, he was elected governor of Pennsylvania over Gov. James A. Beaver, one of the most popular republican leaders in the Keystone state. In 1890 he was again chosen chief executive on a platform of reform by a majority of 16,584, although the republican candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs were elected by majorities upward of 20,000. Mr. Pattison has declined several important offices offered to him by President Cleveland. He is president of the Chestnut street national bank at Philadelphia, and takes quite an interest in Methodist church work. He is a strikingly handsome man; 6 feet 2 1/2 inches in height, straight as an arrow, and weighs 200 pounds.

Post Office Robber Fatally Wounded.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 2.—Thieves Tuesday morning robbed the post office at Crescent Hill, a suburb. They secured $400 and were leaving when the postmaster, P. Watson, was aroused. He fired at the men as they ran, and a load of shot struck one in the side, inflicting a fatal wound. At the hospital he gave his name as James Williams.
