Among Arctic Whalers Created by Rich Gold Discoveries.

A Number Desert Their Vessels But Are Captured and Returned.

Other Deserters Gave Battle But Were Overpowered—An Indian Trading Camp Devastated—Another Battle Takes Place—The Deserters Worsted

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 10.—Letters received in this city from the Arctic whaling fleet, in winter quarters at Herschell Island, report an unusually thrilling experience in the winter and spring.

There were 13 ships there, with a total colony of about 500 souls. Early in the fall reports of rich finds of gold in the Yukon valley created discontent among the crews and desertions followed as early as November.

In the first attempt two Germans ran away to walk to San Francisco, but gave it up and came back five days after the start. In January seven more deserted, but were brought back in iron, but three escaped in a pitched battle with rifles.

About the middle of March 12 more deserted and were pursued by 20 officers and sailors. The deserters pillaged the native settlements and terrorized the Indians, who fled to the fleet for protection. The pursuers overtook the deserters and a battle ensued in which 40 or 50 shots were exchanged. The pursuit was then given up.

Soon after, the deserters devastated Hoffman's trading camp, which was in charge of a single Indian. On hearing of the affair Hoffman pursued with ten Indians, overtook the robbers and a desperate battle followed.

One of the deserters, said to be named Kennedy, was killed and one fatally wounded. The rest of the party surrendered, but only six were taken back to the ships in iron, as the others managed to escape on the way.

A BIG GUN.

Largest Ever Attempted by Either Army or Navy.

This One Will Be Sixteen-Inch Caliber and Will Cost $175,000.

A Single Shot From This Weapon Might Destroy the Heaviest War Vessel Afloat—Gen. Miles Will Make an Inspection of the Western Fortifications

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Forgings will shortly be delivered to the war department for the manufacture of a 16-inch gun for coast defenses, which the authorities intend assembling at the Watervale arsenal. The gun will be the largest ever attempted by either the army or navy, and will cost when completed fully $175,000. Congress, last session, authorized a gun of this calibre to be built as an experiment and made the necessary appropriation to undertake the work. For years Gen. Flagler has advocated the manufacture of such a gun, although the navy has contended that a 12-inch caliber is sufficient not only for war vessels, but coast defenses. The army has maintained that the difficulties in mounting and handling a heavy gun on ship board did not prevail in shore batteries, and with vessels protected with armor of great toughness, the heaviest guns would be required to pierce their sides at great distance. Gen. Flagler says that a single shot from a 16-inch gun might destroy the heaviest battleship afloat, while several shots from lighter guns would not do half so much damage. He is confident the 16-inch gun can be manufactured, and expects to show that it is essential as a part of the coast defense plan, which some years ago included a number of these guns.

Gen. Miles, while on his western tour, will make an inspection of the great land fortifications the government proposes constructing on Puget Sound, nearly opposite the British defense at Vancouver. The plan of the war department, recently approved, includes a large expenditure from last session's appropriations for defending the northwestern ports, and Gen. Miles will urge that the greater part of it be used on the fortifications opposite Vancouver. For years he has regarded this point as particularly vulnerable, and one of the first that would be struck by Great Britain, should the two countries ever be at war with each other.

For this reason he will recommend that the government make Vancouver one of the most important places of defense on the Pacific coast, and that the heaviest guns and mortars be located here. Gen. Miles, while west, will also have the dynamite gun battery at San Francisco tested in order to see how it works under trying conditions. No thorough trials of these guns have been given since soon after their installation, and it is intended now that they be subjected to the severest tests possible to give them.

PERRY'S VICTORY.

Preliminaries to the Celebration of the Anniversary of the Event at Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 10.—As a preliminary to the celebration Thursday of the anniversary of Com. Perry's victory on Lake Erie in 1813, the marble statue of the naval hero in Wade park, first erected in 1861, was decorated with flowers and ex-Senator Butler, of South Carolina, a nephew of Perry, made an address, the subject of which was the era of peace and the good will between the north and the south. Gov. Lippitt, of Rhode Island, which is the native state of Perry, spoke briefly, thanking Cleveland and Ohio for honoring its distinguished son. Appropriate speeches were made by Rev. George W. Popper, ex-consul to Milan, Italy; Col. C. C. Dewstoe, J. G. W. Cole, president of the chamber of commerce, and others. Among those present was Col. Oliver H. Perry, of Elmhurst, Ct., a grand nephew of the commodore.

The anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie was made a holiday for the city. The majority of the shops and factories closed and the city put on a gala dress for the occasion. Commodore Perry's monument in Wade park was covered with flags and flowers. At the foot was placed an elaborate floral vessel bearing the inscription: "Don't give up the ship."

Great numbers of visitors from northern Ohio, many of whom remembered the dedication of Perry's monument in 1890, came to the city on the early trains. The visitors from New England wondered that this monument had been taken from the public square in the center of the city and placed in an outlying park. The day was ushered in by the booming of cannon. Gov. Bushnell, of Ohio, presided at the morning exercises in the O. N. G. Armory. The immense building was well filled, many of the audience coming from the east. Gov. Bushnell suggested that congress ought to appropriate money to erect a monument on Put-in-Bay island to the memory of the men killed in the battle of Lake Erie. "If the general government is not able to do it," he said, "the state of Ohio ought to do it."

He then introduced Gov. Warren Lippitt, of Rhode Island, the orator of the day. He said: "Precisely in the victory on Lake Erie, due to Perry's personal character. Naval history does not furnish another example of personal bravery like that of Perry's."

Ex-Senator M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, a nephew and Oliver Hazard Perry, of Elmhurst, N. Y., a grandson of the commodore, were introduced and made remarks.

One of the most interesting incidents of the morning meeting was the introduction of Mrs. Elizabeth McPeters. She is a daughter of Ben Fleming, one of the gunners on the Lawrence. She is now an inmate of the city infirmary. Gen. Axline sprang to his feet and moved that steps be taken to take her from the institution and give her a comfortable home. L. E. Holden promised that one would be provided. Rev. C. E. Manchester, a cousin of Commodore Perry, delivered the closing prayer.

The commander-in-chief was given authority to appoint a committee of five to represent the organization at future G. A. R. encampments. The election of officers took place Thursday. Col. Jas. L. DEAR SIR:—Replying to your favor of the 14th, we beg to say, it is no trouble whatsoever for us to fill all orders we receive from you, in 7 days after their arrival here, in fact on special occasions in 3 days, if required. We have the largest STRICTLY TAILORING establishment in the United States. We say STRICTLY TAILORING, because there are houses who do ready made and tailoring together. Our advantages over small tailoring concerns are very many. 1st. We buy all our goods from manufacturer's agents, or in other words from first hand. 2nd. All our purchases are on the largest possible scale. 3rd. Every garment we turn out is made on the premises, giving us the advantage of getting them out on short notice. Furthermore, it assures our customers that they are neat, clean and fresh. 4th. Strictest care is exercised in the selection of our goods. Most of the patterns we handle are designed and made expressly for us. 5th. The large volume of business enable us to work successfully on a small margin. We occupy our own building, using 6 floors 75x150 for cutting, fitting and manufacturing. Employ about 40 cutters and 600 hands in different shops. In conclusion we beg to say, that we guarantee every garment we turn out, and at any time where customers have just cause for complaint, do not hesitate to notify us, as we are always ready to live up to our agreement.

Yours very truly,
MARSH ARNHEIM.
