THE SCHEMES

Of Rambusch Were Operated With Startling Boldness.

In a Letter to His Wife, the Missing Man Makes a Full Confession.

Amount of His Defalcations It is Thought Will Reach Half a Million Dollars—Duplicate Keys for All the Offices and Vaults in the Courthouse.

JUNEAU, Wis., Oct. 16.—All doubt as to the character of W. T. Rambusch, one of the most prominent men of this city, whose disappearance last week led to an investigation which disclosed business transactions, to say the least, questionable, were removed Thursday morning, when a letter was received from him making a confession which fully substantiates the apprehensions of even those who feared the worst.

The letter was dated at Philadelphia and was addressed to his wife. Mrs. Rambusch received it Thursday morning, and, painful as it was, reached the conclusion that it was her duty to make its contents known to those who were investigating the business affairs of her husband.

In the letter Mr. Rambusch makes a full confession, as complete in detail as the limits of an ordinary letter will permit.

The most startling information the letter contained was the assertion that Mr. Rambusch contemplated taking his own life. In fact, it is believed that he expected to be dead before the letter reached Juneau. Telegrams describing the fugitive have been sent all over the country, but there is little doubt expressed that he is now either dead in Philadelphia or sailing across the Atlantic for a foreign port. His wife and child are completely overcome, and the intense excitement in the town still continues.

Thursday's developments in the case have shown that Rambusch had operated with a boldness that is startling. Thursday morning a set of keys were found which proved to be duplicate keys for all the offices and vaults in the courthouse, and the further discovery was made that the official records have been tampered with. It seems that Mr. Rambusch had privileged extended to him because of his high standing that could not have been granted by the officials to anybody else, and it is said that when his doings were criticized by officials who were styled over-officious, the people were indignant that anybody should accuse Mr. Rambusch of doing what was not right.

It is now evident that he used his keys to get into offices and vaults when nobody was around and make such use of records as he saw fit.

The middle grows worse every minute. People are coming to town by the score to see what they have lost and new steals are being discovered every hour. It is now known beyond a doubt that Mr. Rambusch drew absolutely fraudulent mortgages, signed the names of the holders of the land and filed the mortgages. The amount of his defalcations, it is believed, will reach in the neighborhood of half a million.

FUNERAL SERVICES

Over the Remains of Most Rev. Edward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The funeral services over the body of the Most Rev. Edward White Benson, archbishop of Canterbury, and primate of all England, who was stricken with apoplexy during the services in the Hawarden Church last Sunday morning, and died almost immediately afterward, were held in the Cathedral at Canterbury Friday forenoon. The great edifice was crowded with people, among whom were the duke of York and Prince Charles of Denmark, as the representatives of the prince of Wales, the duke Connaught, duke of Cambridge and a host of Ecclesiastical, political and social dignitaries. There were several distinct services, the first one beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning. The coffin containing the body of the deceased archbishop was covered with a white and gold-embroidered pall and was placed in front of the altar surrounded by lighted tapers. Very Rev. F. William Farrar, D.D., dean of Canterbury, opened the series of services by celebrating the function of holy communion. The weather was extremely disagreeable, a heavy rainfall, accompanied by high winds, prevailing, but this state of things had no effect in keeping people away from the cathedral. Everybody present wore deep mourning, and the primate's throne was heavily draped with black. At 12 o'clock the funeral procession was formed in the cloisters of the cathedral, the clergy attached to the diocese leading, followed by the members of the house of commons, members of the house of lords, bishops and members of the convocation. Then came Most Rev. Wm. D. MacLagan, D. D., archbishop of York and primate of England; Most Rev. Wm. C. Lord Plunkett, D. D., archbishop of Dublin; Very Rev. F. Wm. Farrar, dean of Canterbury, and Rev. Hughes Benson. Next came the coffin with the pall bearers, the Earl of Cranbrook, Lord Ashcomb, Lord MacNaughten, the dean of Lincoln; Sir E. M. Thompson and the chancellor of Truro. Within the cathedral the family and relatives of the dead archbishop, the family of the archbishop of York and other representatives of the private mourners occupied places in the rear of the choir. As the procession reached the nave the choir sang Gounod's "Send Out Thy Light," and afterward a special anthem composed by Sir Herbert Stanley Oakley, composer to her majesty in Scotland and professor of music in the University in Edinburgh. The clergy who officiated at the interment comprised Canon A. J. Mason, of Canterbury; Rt. Rev. Randall T. Davidson, bishop of Winchester; Rev. Hugh Benson and the archbishops of Dublin and York.
