TWO KILLED

And a Third Fatally Injured in a Colliery at Girardville, Pa.

A Mine Worker "Robbing Pillars" Causes a Singular Accident.

After Applying the Match to a Blast a Miner is Pinned to the Ground by a Lump of Coal—The Others Go to His Help With Overt Results.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 3.—An accident resulting from a singular cause cost the lives of two men and the fatal injury of a third at Packer colliery No. 3, at Girardville Monday afternoon. Thomas Welsh, of Lost Creek, John Hulan, of Gilberton, Jos. Staum, of Lost Creek, and Michael Mack were at work in the mine Monday afternoon. Welsh had been engaged in what is known as "robbing pillars." He had driven a hole in the face of the breast in which he put the blast. He applied a match to the squib and hastened away for a place of shelter. He had gone but a few feet when a large lump of coal rolled onto his foot, pinning him fast to the ground.

Momentarily expecting the explosion of the blast, he cried for help. The other three men were working near and, disregarding the danger to themselves, they ran to Welsh's rescue. They had scarcely reached him when the blast exploded, bringing down with it a mass of coal upon the men Hulan and Staum were crushed to death and Welsh fatally injured, while Mack was fortunate in escaping with slight hurts.
