THE CUT RATE DRUG STORE.

To the physician's prescription is pinned the sacred faith of the confident patient. I never pull the pin. I make no mystic fizzes of wizard concoctions elided together in a wizard of time while blindly grabbing for the trick penny rolling down the hill of commerce.

My prescription department is the honest locker of purity. I charge for actual worth of the medicine, and not for the know how.

My prescription clerks are men of experience, and not merely boy flippers of medicine. Prompt attention given to special orders. Goods delivered. Open Sundays. Yours for business.

The Marietta Daily Leader

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1899.

Asked the Doctor to Marry Him.

On Wednesday morning a young man from Boaz, W. Va., came into the office of Doctors Hart and McClure and asked Doctor McClure, who was in the office, "Will you marry me?" The Doctor, who is not in the habit of doing such things as that, but understanding the young man's intention, told him no, but he would find for him a man who would do the deed. He accordingly took him to the office of Squire M. H. Hart, just across the hall from his own office, and the necessary arrangements were made, the young lady sent for, the young man in the meanwhile procuring the license and the Squire performed the ceremony in his most happy manner in the presence of a few friends who had accompanied the couple to the city. The young man is James McAtee, of Boaz, and the young lady was Miss Mae Shuman, of Williamstown.

Important Real Estate Deal.

Wednesday Mr. Peter McLaren completed a sale of 19 feet of his lot on the lower arch, to Mr. Jacob Wittlig. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $200 per front foot, and the property is one of the creamiest pieces of ground in the city. It is Mr. Wittlig's intention to begin the erection of a fine store building upon his new purchase at once. The probability is that the lot adjoining will be sold at once, and that the intending purchaser will build at once a handsome business house; and that following this event Mr. McLaren will finish out his remaining land with a building of a similar nature. This is improving, indeed, and will mean much for the enhancement of Front street.

Let the good work go on! Pittsburg Will Remember Her Name-sake Handsomely. The river and harbor committee of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce which yesterday was instructed to purchase a suitable gift for the steamer selected a silver water service. It is the handsomest in the city. The silver tray is 25 inches long and the tilting ice pitcher stands two feet high. Accompanying it are also two silver goblets, gold lined. The token will be presented to the steamer tomorrow. The council it is said will present the steamer with the colors of the city.—Wheeling Register.

Lenten Reading.

The last of the Lenten readings that have been given Wednesdays during Lent at the home of Mrs. Tasker Bosworth, took place yesterday afternoon. Madame Roland was the subject for this reading and an exhaustive and able paper was prepared and read by Mrs. Bosworth on this interesting character, whose life helped make the history of France at the time of the French Revolution. At the conclusion of the reading, tea and wafers were most gracefully served by Mrs. H. N. Curtis and Miss Florence Boyd.

Another Bank.

There is quite a healthy rumor afloat to the effect that certain citizens of our fair city are anxious to open a banking institution and are talking seriously of doing so at no very distant time in the future. We are not at liberty to mention any names, but the persons interested are good sound business men and will command a fair share of the banking business of the city should their project be carried out. It has not been decided whether it will be a National bank or an independent one yet.

Mrs. Margaret Young.

Died, at the home of her son, Sixth street, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Mrs. Margaret Young, aged 83 years. Death was due to causes incident to old age, from which causes she had been confined to her bed for over a year. Four children survive her, William and John Young, both of this city, and Mrs. Mary E. Leonhart, of Columbus, and Mrs. Catherine Beck, of Chicago. The time of the funeral was not announced Wednesday afternoon.

This Beats the Record.

Al Appenzeller, a farmer residing about two miles below the Kanawha, near the Traugh settlement, is the owner of a little bunch of sheep, and claims that among them he has two of the most prolific ewes in the country. A few days ago one of them gave birth to three well developed lambs and several days afterward another had four lambs which are still living and thriving. At this rate he expects to have a pretty good sized flock.—Sentinel.

Oil Notes. YESTERDAY'S MARKET.

Table with 2 columns: Location and Price. Includes Tiona, Pennsylvania, Barnesville, Corning, Newcastle, North Lima, South Lima, Indiana.

The rig for No. 18 on the Moore farm has been erected about 400 feet northwest of the fish pond well. A rig has been erected on the Cleveland Stone Co. farm about 100 feet northeast of the Cassidy No. 1. Spudding began on the Whitekind No. 7 Wednesday.

The rig that was erected on the Drake farm has been dismantled and is being removed to town to a location that has been made on the Ciesler farm beyond Eighth street, near the slaughter house.

It is reported that the work in Archers Fork field is very much delayed because of the very bad roads, it being impossible to get any supplies to the field.

A very bad oil fire occurred in the Moores Junction oil field Tuesday evening about eight o'clock. The well where the fire occurred was the Moore No. 17, which was drilled in Sunday last and shot on Monday morning. It had been put to pumping and there was no one around the well when the fire started and therefore it is impossible to tell how it originated. The entire rig was burned to the ground, all the stuff about the derrick being a complete loss. There was a new cable in the derrick.

Sam Longfellow, the Macksburg oil man was in town Wednesday morning on his way to Woodfield, where, in connection with Barnsdall, he has large holdings. Mr. Longfellow has had the varied career of most oil men, having drilled twenty-four dry holes before "it" was struck. Today Mr. Longfellow, outside of his production in Noble and Washington counties, is interested in ten drilling wells, located as follows: Two at Macksburg, on the J. W. James farm; one at Dudley, on the James Ogle farm, and the rest in the Monroe county field, one of which was shot Tuesday, and is good for 100 barrels per day, and three more will be drilled in this week. Messrs. Barnsdall and Longfellow have 4000 acres of territory in Monroe county and to date have a production of 600 barrels per day. Mr. Longfellow will give his holdings in the Dudley field a thorough test during the spring and coming summer.—Caldwell Journal.

A deal for a large share of Elk Run territory was pending yesterday between Parkersburg persons who own it and some Marietta people. Whether it was consummated we are unable to learn. The territory includes some development and production and should be worth a neat figure.

Hugs His First Fee.

Col. George H. Moffett, of the claim department of the O. R. R., exhibited to the Sentinel a 50 cent piece he has been carrying as a pocket piece for 32 years and the piece has a history.

It was back in 1867, and the colonel was just out of the army. He had "barrels" of Confederate money, and out little of that endorsed by Uncle Sam.

He had just been commissioned a notary public by the governor of this state. The fact of the matter is, he had just put out his shingle in the little town of Buchanan, and was sitting with his feet up on a box, patiently awaiting the coming of a client.

The sheriff of the county was the man, and, in a business like and been accustomed-to-it-for-years style, the colonel signed some papers in due legal form. He was asked what the charges were, which he politely informed the sheriff would be 50 cents. The sheriff paid it and the colonel pocketed his first fee. He has kept it with him ever since and although the date and lettering are nearly obliterated, it is dearer to the colonel than ever.

He was asked if there had ever been a time when he felt tempted to spend it. He acknowledged there had been many a time.—Sentinel.

Scio College to Move. The Scio Daily Oil Exchange of Saturday contains the following: "The faculty of Scio College met Friday and decided, under the direction of the trustees of the college, to remove the literary department to New Philadelphia for the next term. The pharmacy and commercial departments will remain at Scio. It is understood that this action of the faculty was taken not because the people of Scio would not provide for the students, but because the literary students would not come to Scio next term, except a few. Scarcely any young lady could secure the consent of her parents to return to the next term. The friends of the college need not be alarmed, fearing that our cherished institution is gone never to return. However, nothing should be left undone to make Scio the best place in Ohio for a college, and to bring a change about just as soon as possible."

SAVE THE BABY!

A mother will risk her own life many times over, to save her babe from the horrors of hydrophobia. There are grave perils from which a mother should protect her child. A mad dog is a rare sight, but thousands of children die daily because of the seeds of disease implanted in their little bodies before birth. A woman may insure the health of her babe if she sees to it that she is thoroughly strong and healthy in a womanly way during the period of gestation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that sustain the burden of maternity. It makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and elastic. It banishes the squeamish spells of the expectant period and makes baby's introduction to the world easy and nearly painless. It rids maternity of peril. It insures the new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. It transforms sickly, nervous, fretful, despondent, childless women into healthy, happy, helpful, amiable wives and mothers. Over 90,000 women have testified to the benefits derived from this marvelous medicine. It does away with the necessity for the embarrassing examinations and local treatment upon which most physicians insist. It substitutes certainty for the doubtful treatment of obscure physicians, who seldom correctly diagnose these troubles. All medicine dealers sell it, and Dr. Pierce will cheerfully give free advice to ailing women who write him.

Scores of women who have been permanently cured of obstinate and dangerous diseases by this great medicine, have permitted their names, addresses, experiences and photographs to be printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This book is free and contains 1008 pages, telling the home-treatment for most diseases. Send in one-cent stamp to cover mailing only, for paper-covered copy. Cloth binding at stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
