BOTHA RETREATED

Beyond Driving Him From the Capital Nothing Was Accomplished by Roberts.

NO PRISONERS OR GUNS WERE TAKEN.

It is Announced That the Army of Natal is Now in Touch With Lord Roberts.

Gen. Clerly Encountered No Opposition in His March From Ingogo to Laings Nek, Which He Occupies.

London, June 15.—Lord Roberts' engagement with Gen. Botha terminated as expected, by the Boer commander-in-chief retiring from his position. Beyond driving Botha further from the capital, little seems to have been accomplished, as Lord Roberts does not mention the capture of prisoners or guns or the infliction of loss. Perhaps the most important feature revealed by Thursday's official dispatches is the announcement that the army of Natal is at last in touch with Lord Roberts' troops. The accomplishment of this movement, long delayed, should considerably accelerate the pacification of the Transvaal. That it is already bearing fruit is evidenced by the submission of the Wakkerstrom district to Gen. Lyttelton. Another dispatch from Gen. Buller says Gen. Clerly encountered no opposition in his march from

RIOT AT YUN-NA-FU

The Roman Catholic and Bible Christians' Mission Utterly Destroyed by the "Boxers."

INLAND MISSION PARTIALLY WRICKED.

The Positions of the Foreign Legations Are Now in an Extremely Critical Condition.

Thirty Thousand Chinese Troops Are Drawn Up Outside the City to Oppose the International Relief Force.

Shanghai, June 15.—A dispatch from Chung-King says that a riot has taken place at Yun-Na-Fu. The buildings of the China Inland mission were partially destroyed and those of the Roman Catholic and Bible Christian missions were utterly demolished. All the missionaries are safe.

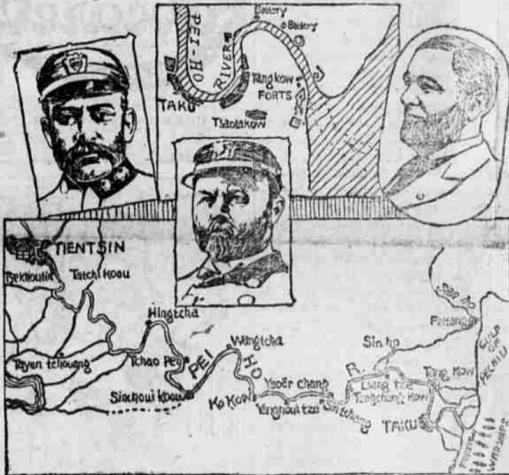

A Russian troopship passed up the Yang Tse Wednesday, June 13. It was reported that her troops were to be landed at Hankow, but the Russian officials at Shanghai explain that the transport has merely gone to Hankow to load for Odessa and the troops on board are time-expired men on their way home.

London, June 15.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says the positions of the legations at Peking is most critical. According to this dispatch 30,000 Chinese troops are drawn up outside the gates of the city to oppose the relief force and guns are trained on the American, British and Japanese legations. The American, Russian and British ministers have sent couriers to Tien Tsin asking for 2,000 troops of each nationality. The United States gunboats York-tion for signatures addressed to the president, asking that this government take energetic steps to protect American lives and interests in China, also that the United States act in concert with the other powers in this emergency.

It was said at the state department Thursday that no request for 2,000, or, in fact, for any number of troops, has been received from Minister Coger, as reported from Shanghai. As a matter of fact, the state department has not heard from Minister Coger for 36 hours past. As it is gathered that the European foreigners are in precisely the same position respecting their diplomatic representatives at Peking, it is assumed at the state department that telegraphic communication between Peking and the outside world, which for the last three days has consisted of a single line running north into Russian Manchuria, has at last been totally interrupted.

The statement that this government has not in the slightest degree changed its position respecting the expediency of landing United States troops in China, is made with the knowledge on the part of the state department officials of the extreme peril that the other powers intend, notably Great Britain, Russia and Japan, either have already, or are about to land troops at Taku and Tien Tsin. There seems to be a disposition to make a distinction between the use of troops and marines under existing conditions. It probably is assumed that the presence of marines on Chinese soil indicating from their character that the landing is purely temporary, is much less apt to raise grave international issues, either with China or the other powers represented at Taku. Their employment therefore marks the extent of the force to be put into play by the United States government, according to the present determination, but for whatever injury has been sustained by the United States, either through the killing of citizens or the destruction of missionary property, China will be held for a heavy indemnity.

town and Castine left Wednesday for Tong Ku. There is no foreign warship now here.

Tien Tsin, June 15.—Owing to the extensive damage done to the railroad line it is now feared the international troops can not reach Peking before Sunday.

The Japanese cruiser Suma has arrived at Taku.

Hong Kong, June 15.—Four companies of the Hong Kong regiment, a mountain battery and a field battery of Asiatic artillery, with a battery of 2.5-inch guns, started for Tien Tsin Thursday.

The Passiers are expected to sail on the Terrille June 18.

Washington, June 15.—The following cablegram has been received from Adm. Kempff:

"Fong Ku, June 15.—Secretary of Navy, Washington: Twenty-five hundred men are on the road to Peking for the relief of the legations; 100 are Americans; English and Russians in large majority; all nations here represented. The viceroy at Tien Tsin gave permission to go there; railroad being repaired as force advances. Russians now sending soldiers from Port Arthur, with artillery."

"KEMPF."

Tien Tsin, June 15.—Railroad communication between this place and Adm. Seymour's International force has been cut three miles beyond Yang-Tsun. Two bridges have been destroyed. It is rumored here that the Boxers were determined to burn Tien Tsin station Thursday night.

Washington, June 15.—John Ford, secretary of the American Asiatic association, Thursday received the following cablegram from Shanghai branch of the association:

"Shanghai.—Grave danger threatens Americans in Yang-Tse valley. Urgently advise immediate gunboat protection."

"THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION."

On the 7th instant the following cablegram was received by the association from its Shanghai branch:

"American lives and interests in north China are seriously imperiled. Urge government to act promptly and vigorously with adequate force."

The association uses these two cablegrams as a basis in circulating a pe-

INSISTS ON THE WEDDING.

The Plans of a Prisoner Will Marry Him in the Courthouse Park at Bowling Green, O.

Bowling Green, O., June 15.—One of the most unique marriages that ever occurred in the state will take place Sunday in the courthouse park here. Harry Harris, an inmate of the jail, will be married at that time to Miss Florence Robinson, a young woman to whom he was engaged before he got into trouble here. He was caught coming from a house with articles which it is alleged he had stolen, and he is now awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of housebreaking. As soon as he was locked up he wrote to the girl releasing her from her promise to him.

She wrote back stating that she would not release him and that she would be here next Sunday to marry him. Sheriff Kingsbury has agreed to it, and has made arrangements to have the ceremony performed. A woman inmate of the jail will be the bridesmaid and a groomsmen will be secured. The woman has been instructed to get a license at her home at Marion and come here in the morning. Harris will be led from the jail coupled to one of the deputies and will be taken back to his solitary cell as soon as the ceremony is over.

MOORE--RILEY.

Nuptials of Two Prominent Young People of the Pioneer City.

"Orchard Place," the charming suburban home of Col. John H. Riley, was the scene Thursday evening of one of the most notable weddings ever celebrated in Marietta—the contracting parties being Miss May, second daughter of Col. J. H. and Mrs. Riley and Mr. Charles Frederick Moore, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Moore, all of this city.

The evening of the wedding was not such a one as might be considered ideal, for just as the guests were repairing to the scene of the ceremony a drenching rain set in and overcast all outdoor considerations with a decided sense of damp. But this expression of nature did not in the least interfere with the pleasure of the guests when within the most complete and beautiful Riley home.

The house fairly glowed from basement to roof with numberless lights, and added to this was the soft white rays shed by the numerous Welsbachs which stood outdoors as torch-bearers showing the way about the grounds. Within the rooms which are tasteful in the extreme, there was floral decoration in profusion the central decoration being in and over the bay window of the dining room. Here palms and crimson creepers prevailed, and formed a charming altar. A pathway from the hall through the parlor and to the altar was marked by white ribbons cut up on "poets" consisting of stanzas of white lilies.

A few minutes after the hour appointed, Miss Vera Harpold, cousin of the bride, struck the splendid and dignified strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, and all was eager expectancy for the wedding party was approaching.

The first to appear, slowly coming down the aisle, was Miss Marie Derriksen, of New York, maid of honor, who was closely followed by Miss Rathbone. After the latter came little Helen Moore, a sweet little Miss with fair hair in curls—a tiny bearer of flowers. Following the little girl came the bride, leaning on the arm of her father. At the altar the party was met by the groom and his brother, Mr. George Moore; and arranging themselves before Dr. John Boyd, the ceremony which merged the identity of the two people into one, was most impressively rendered.

After they were pronounced man and wife Dr. Boyd greeted "Mr. and Mrs. Moore," and the guests rushed in to offer their well wishes.

The bride's costume consisted of a beautiful gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with point d'indian lace and chiffon. Small folds of satin marked the trimming of the dress, and over all was the filmy canopy of the bridal veil of tulle. She wore a necklace of diamonds and pearls—the gift of the groom. Also true to the legend, Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. She carried a handkerchief, the property of Mrs. John Landay, and in the fabric of which was embroidered the names of bridesmaids of Mrs. Landay who have since become brides. The bride carried white roses.

Miss Derriksen wore a dress of pink Paris moulin, with white lace yoke and black velvet ribbon trimming—an artistic toilette. She carried pink roses.

Miss Rathbone's gown was much the same style of dress except its material was pale green, and it was trimmed in white lace and applique. A bunch of pink roses constituted an easy and attractive burden.

Mrs. Riley wore a handsome gown of black and white taffeta silk, trimmed in white lace applique.

Mrs. Nelson Moore was becomingly costumed in a black grenadine, elaborately trimmed with ruchings of the same material.

Generally speaking the dresses worn by the ladies were the most elaborate of the season.

Supper was the next feature of consideration, and it was served in the basement dining room and under tents and awnings on the lawn adjacent to the house.

Mrs. Dye and Mrs. Hovey did the honors of the repast and did it well. It consisted of seven courses, as follows:

Bouillon, Vapers, Olives, Almonds, Softshell Crabs, Brown Bread, Chicken, White Bread, Peas, Creamed Potatoes, Parsch, Tomato Salad, Fish, Bread Steaks, Brick Ice Cream, Cake, Coffee.

Drinking the evening little Misses Caro Shaw and Eleanor Lee served refreshing lemonade from a bowl resting on a cake of ice in which was frozen a number of ferns.

At the bridal table in the dining room sat Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Derriksen, Miss Rathbone, Mrs. Landay, Mrs. Booth, Miss Eells, Mrs. Ludey, Mr. George Moore, Dr. Casey, Mr. Lindsay, Mr. Booth, Mr. Joe Eells, Mr. Ludey and Mr. Cram.

After the discussion of the supper, and the guests had had good-bye and good luck to the bride and groom, and

EMERGENCY POLICEMEN.

They Are Guarding Property of the St. Louis Transit Co.—Regular Force Back on Their Beats.

St. Louis, June 15.—All the policemen who have been on duty guarding the power houses, car sheds and cars of the St. Louis Transit Co. since the strike began, went back to their regular beats Thursday morning.

All of the 300 emergency policemen, sworn in for strike duty, were also divided among the various stations and will do patrol duty. The power houses and car sheds will, until the strike is over, be guarded by the posse comitatus.

Since the strike began a large part of the city has practically been without police protection, most of the officers being centered around power houses and cars. There have been numerous holdups and many complaints have come from citizens who declared they had been unable to find policemen when they wanted them. Thursday's order applies to both night and day service and Thursday for the first time since May 1 all the lines are being operated without police protection.
