AN OLD RECORD

While looking over the books and papers of his father, H. Grandy deceased, Mr. Fred Grandy found an old school Board record that is interesting because of its age and its association with the early history of Swan Creek township.

The record opens with the minutes of a meeting held July 28th, 1838, at the house of Hiram Clark at which time George Black, Charles Gunn and Hiram Clark, who had been appointed by the town clerk, school directors in District No. 3, Swan Creek township, Lucas county, Ohio, were sworn in as law, appointed Charles Gunn clerk and treasurer, voted that the site for the school house should be as near the center of the school as suitable ground could be found and adjourned until August 7th, 1838, when they met and drove a stake to mark the site of their school near the quarter post on the north line of section 5, township 7. On November 24th, there was a meeting of directors and householders to cut the logs for the school house and on the 29th there was a "raising" and the school house was built. The first school of which there appears any record was a three months term to begin during the month of August, 1839, and to be taught by a female named "Who the female" was or whether this term of school was held does not appear in this record. It was not until November, 1840, that the winners of the school house were furnished with glass. Along in 1852 the record shows that the district has become subdivided into No. 4, Fulton county, and in 1861, Henry R. Grandy became the secretary of the board. The last entry in the book is dated in 1880, so this record covers a period of 42 years of the early history of the eastern section of this county.

CORN BOYS EN ROUTE

The Buckeye Boys who have established their rank as real corn growers, are en route to Washington, D. C., last Monday. Lawrence Perry was No. 1 from Fulton county; through some failure to get the requisite money in on time Hal Stites, of Chesterfield, who was entitled to the trip, having secured the seventh place among the contestants of the county failed to get the requisite pass and so missed the trip.

H. L. Goll, of Swanton, was "Colonel" of the train out of Toledo and H. D. Meister, editor of the Democratic Expositor, went on the trip as "captain" of the car containing Fulton and Lucas county boys.
