DEYO-VAN BUREN.
On Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride occurred a quiet wedding which united in marriage two of the young people of our village whom the older residents have taken real pride in and looked upon as almost members of their own family.

The bride was Miss Anne Deyo daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Deyo and the groom was Donald C. Van Buren, son of Mrs. Nellie Van Buren. Only members of the families of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends were present. To the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March played by Mrs. Walter Caddell the bride and groom took their places and the words that made them husband and wife were pronounced by Rev. Frank E. Kenyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren left on Train No. 16, Thursday evening for Cleveland their home ready for their occupancy awaited them. Both bride and groom have lived on the same street and in the same block from childhood up through boyhood and girlhood and their wedded life in the public schools of Wauseon graduating from the high school not so long ago that any of us have forgotten it. They were married at Wesleyan University in Delaware and later entered Smith College in Massachusetts from which last institution she graduated.

Mr. Van Buren completed his college course and took his academic degree from Western Reserve University at Cleveland and graduated from the Law School of Harvard University at Cambridge, Massachusetts. He is at present of the law firm of Caldwell, Brunner and Van Buren in Cleveland.

The hearty best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life to the friends, neighbors and acquaintances of "The Old Home Town," go with Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren to their new home in Cleveland, and we all hope that in due time to come back often for a visit.

BUCHAREST A LITTLE PARIS

Built as a Capital Only, it is a Gay City, Without Factories—Has Famous Parks and Buildings.

The Rumanians have spared no effort or thought, says the National Geographic society, toward making Bucharest, the capital city, a real capital, and not just one of the larger Balkan towns, out to the severe design of the modern commercial city that is found throughout the West.

The whole history of the Rumanians since the casting off of the Turkish yoke has been one of conservative progress leavened with enterprise, of thrift lightened by keen appreciation of the embellishments and pleasures of life.

And in Bucharest one finds more artistic, literary, and scientific life than in any other part of the peninsula.

Bucharest is an attractive city of broad boulevards and avenues, as becomes a capital, and has, like Paris, Berlin and Washington, famous drives and parks within its area, and "avenues of paradises," and zoological and botanical gardens.

The city is built in a hollow between the hills upon both sides of the Dimbovitza river, which is crossed by 13 ornate bridges.

FOUR MILES IN AIR

WONDERFUL VIEW AFFORDED TO THE AVIATOR.

At That Height Two Hundred Miles of the Earth, in Every Direction, May Be Seen—its Effect on the Nerves.

Augustus Post writes of the "Experiences of an Aviator." He has been up four miles and tells how the earth looks from that altitude.

"For every mile's ascent," he writes, "26 miles of view open out, so that at the highest point I have reached, more than four miles, one could see 200 miles on the earth's surface in every direction, unless low-hanging clouds lie between the aviator and the rest of humanity. Sometimes like fields of polar ice, sometimes opal and rose and gold—it is a wonderful thing to see the upper side of a sunset—the floor of the clouds, ever shifting, ever taking on more varied shapes, moves beneath you, or you rise through a high-floating one, in a brief, white solitude.

"One side of the cloud floor may be red above the last rays of the sun, while waves of orange, purple and sulphurous yellow stretch across to the east and west, and the silver splendor of the moon, for it is at full moon that long distance balloon races are always arranged to take place. Here and there fountain-like forms rise from the mass stretching beneath you and curl back like giant flowers; they are currents of hot air breaking through the cloudbank from below.

"Your pulse rate rises, your respiration grows faster, perhaps your hands and feet are a trifle numb, as the barograph needle rises—indeed, by this time it has risen above the card entirely, for the instruments commonly in use record only to 16,000 feet, and is making its mark in the metal cylinder; in time it will leave the cylinder altogether.

"If you open a bottle of water the air that has been confined at a lower level pops out as if you were opening a bottle of charged water. Going higher still—for men have reached an altitude of seven miles—the air is so thin that one must take along oxygen tanks, the pressure of sea level being 15 pounds. Up here you are subjected to only half the pressure; you feel lighter than cork; the nerves are drawn taut.

"If you poke a pencil or your finger into your skin the indentation will remain just like making a hole in a piece of putty. Doctors call this 'pitting,' and on the surface of the earth they take it as a proof that life is extinct. There is less 'mountain sickness' than one would think, judging from the masses felt on the high peaks of the earth, but in mountain climbing there is great physical exertion, exhaustion even, and here there is absolute calm—nothing to do till tomorrow, and that seems a long way ahead with no breeze, no sound, no motion save the slow movement of your own jars the basket a trifle,"—American Magazine.

What War Babies Mean.
"War Babies," says the New Republic, should be legislated, but for the babies' sake, not because they fill the gaps made by war. "A race cannot be strengthened by mere multiplication. Only the wholesome barbarism of war and capitalism and imperialism expansion would ever make more than a quantity of a standard of morals. That is why the sentimental appreciation of war babies is so disheartening. It is not a flare-up of liberalism, not a new sense of the sanctity of life, but a worried and careless attempt to re-act to the horrors of war.

"Against the proposal to drop the savage punishment of the illegitimate no humane person will say a word. But against the idealization of hap-hazard, unwanted and promiscuous unions, should be legislated. It asserts that the way to replenish the race is not to stampede women into child-bearing, but to acquire a fresh sense of the terrible wastage of life in the normal pursuits of peace.

"England or France can make up the losses of this war by dealing with their slums and their factories, their poverty and their disease. They can make permanent additions to their racial strength by a regard for the quality of births and the opportunities of growth. If Hamilton was to surprise the minister by presenting him in the name of the congregation with a bicycle. A sort of boomerang surprise party, you see. But when Mr. Hamilton had received and acknowledged his loving cup, whatever it might be, he brought forth the bicycle and presented it to the minister, the dominie's jaw fell and he was utterly flabbergasted.

"Well, Mr. Hamilton!" he exclaimed at last. "You certainly do have a way of putting people in a hole!"

After that there were no more surprise parties in the Presbyterian circles of Joyville for several years.—Newark News.

Slip of the Tongue.
The church people planned a surprise party for Mr. Hamilton on his birthday anniversary as a member of the Joyville Presbyterian church. The congregation was to call upon Mr. Hamilton and the minister was to present him with a loving cup, or a set of Shakespeare, or something else, no matter what. When that ceremony was over, Mr. Hamilton was to surprise the minister by presenting him in the name of the congregation with a bicycle. A sort of boomerang surprise party, you see. But when Mr. Hamilton had received and acknowledged his loving cup, whatever it might be, he brought forth the bicycle and presented it to the minister, the dominie's jaw fell and he was utterly flabbergasted.

"Well, Mr. Hamilton!" he exclaimed at last. "You certainly do have a way of putting people in a hole!"

Victoria Cross Way.
"I've talked," said a war correspondent, "with a number of Victoria Cross and Iron Cross and Medaille Militaire men.

"These fellows are not usually over-strong. As a rule, in fact, they are little and thin. I asked them how it was then, in hand-to-hand fighting, that they didn't get killed by their bigger opponents.

"Well, their answer to this question was pretty much the same thing in every case. A composite of their answer would be:

"When two men come together in dead earnest with the bayonet one in each always funks, and I never do."

Business First.
The sleight-of-hand performer was doing wonderful stunts on the stage. He had handled cards with ease and dexterity. "Now," will any one in the audience lend me a ten-dollar gold piece?" he asked. And the pawnbroker in the fourth row at once replied: "On vat?"

ACHIEVED FAME EARLY

It is astonishing how many prominent players now before the public help catarrh would be to have a cure in the Theater Magazine. Patti made her reputation at the age of eighteen, and when she was twenty-one was already making a specialty of "farwell" tours. In 1904, at the age of sixty-three, she made her twelfth "farwell" tour to America at $5,000 a night, and many predicted it would prove her last adieu, but Adelina, now hale and sprightly at the respectable age of seventy-four, is threatening a positive "final" farwell to the land of dollars next fall. At twenty-one, Maude Adams had emerged from lurid melodrama to become leading lady for E. H. Sothern in "The Highest Bidder."

When Miss Madern (Mrs. Fluke) attained the age of twenty-one, her career was full of achievement. Annie Russell made her first stage success with a juvenile "Pinafore" company. At twenty-one she became a star as a result of her great triumph in "Esmeralda." E. H. Sothern was twenty-one when he appeared with the late Helen Dauvray, and he did so well that Daniel Frohman decided he was of stellar timber, and featured him in "The Highest Bidder."

WAR AS SEEN IN THE PAST

The Museum of Hamburg History has begun the collection of soldiers' letters from the front to relatives at home, and the latter's replies, as an adjunct to its archives connected with the war.

The aim is to get, not the writings of officers and the exceptionally well educated, but the humble comments of those who have written without any expectation that their words ever would be published, and therefore were completely unobscured.

The proponents of the plan want to get an insight into the patriotism, courage, hate and love of peasant and citizen, worker and storekeeper by which they were actuated while at the front, to know their feelings as they thought of their homes, their relatives and their families.

Decadent Sport.

"Yes, but you are speaking literally. The average prize-ring is neither square nor on the level."

HERE IS NEW VIGOR FOR OVERWORKED STOMACHS

Read & Wager the popular druggists, have been in the drug business long enough to have their own opinion of the best way of selling medicines. They say the plan adopted by Mi-on-a, the greatest dyspepsia remedy, is the fairest they have ever heard of. They don't believe that a medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. And Mi-on-a is sold under a positive guarantee to relieve dyspepsia or to refund the money. You simply leave 50 cents on deposit with them and if, after you have used the box of Mi-on-a you decide that it has done you no good, all you have to do is to tell them so and they will return your money. Hundreds of people have been relieved of stomach agonies by using this remarkable remedy. It is not simply a food digester; it is a medicine that puts all of the digestive organs into normal condition and gives ruddy, glowing, vigorous health. A change for the better will be soon apparent to the sufferer who uses Mi-on-a, and its continued use will soon give the power to eat anything at any time and not suffer distress afterwards. Use Mi-on-a and see how much more there is in life.
