

LINER SUNK BY MINE

ALUMINA OF CUNARD LINE SINKS IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL NEAR LONDON.

FOUR OF CREW ARE MISSING

Two Hundred and Fifty-Five Passengers Were Landed at Falmouth—Boat Destroyed While on Way to Capital With 13,000-Ton Cargo.

New York, Oct. 21.—The Cunard liner Alania, bound from New York to Falmouth and London, was sunk on Thursday by a mine in the English channel.

All of the 243 passengers on the liner were landed at Falmouth before the vessel struck the mine, according to officials of the Cunard line here. Four members of the crew were lost. News of the destruction of the Alania was received by the Cunard line in a cablegram.

Passenger Superintendent P. W. Whitworth of the steamship line said that he had been received that all of the Alania's passengers had been landed at Falmouth. He gave out this statement:

"All of the Alania's passengers were landed at Falmouth on Tuesday morning. Some freight had also been taken from that liner at that port. We had previously received a cablegram giving us this information. The Alania was on her way from Falmouth to the Suez docks in London to unload the balance of her freight when she struck the mine."

The Alania carried 185 first-class passengers and 58 steerage passengers.

Officials of the Cunard line said they believed all of the passengers had been landed at Falmouth and that the vessel struck the mine while on her way from that port to London.

The text of the cablegram at the Cunard office follows:

"The Alania struck a mine in English channel this morning. Sank during forenoon. Capt. H. M. Denison and majority of crew saved. Four missing."

The Alania was armed for defense against submarines, included among her passengers were ten Americans. She sailed from New York on the same day that the German submarine U-53 appeared in Newport harbor, leaving her pier about half an hour after the midnight hour.

The report of the arrival of the U-53 in American waters reached the Alania officials just before the Alania sailed. Captain Roberts and Assistant Manager R. L. Walker went aboard and told Captain Denison to take every precaution. An effort was made to keep the news of the German submarine's arrival at Newport a secret from the passengers.

It was possible, the steamship officials pointed out, that the passengers had been sent from Falmouth to London to save time. When the Alania left this port she carried 18,000 tons of cargo, a large part of which consisted of war supplies.

The Alania was a twin-screw steamer, built in 1915 at Greenock for the Cunard Canadian one-cabin service. She was 13,251 tons net register, 540 feet long and 64 beam. Fitted with Marconi wireless and a system of submarine signaling and with accommodations for 2,140 passengers, the Alania was regarded as one of the finest vessels in the service at the present time.

QUAKE IN THE SOUTH

SEVERAL CITIES REPORT DAMAGE AFTER SHOCKS AND HURRICANE.

100-MILE AN HOUR GALE

Ships Wrecked During Storm at Mobile—Chimneys Topped Over at Birmingham—People Rush From Buildings—$1,000,000 Loss at Pensacola.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 20.—The South was rocked by earthquake and swept by storm at the same time on Thursday. While a tropical hurricane was flaying the Gulf coast, earth tremors overturned chimneys and frightened many people from their homes in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

The earthquake did little damage, but a wind that reached a velocity of 114 miles an hour lifted roofs from houses at Pensacola, Fla., and sank a number of vessels in the harbor. One life was lost. The property loss was estimated at $1,000,000.

Mobile reported that it had been touched more lightly, although the wind blew 110 miles an hour. Two small buildings were destroyed and a negro woman was killed by a live wire. Shipping at Mobile had been warned and apparently suffered little harm. Two river steamers were sunk, a schooner and a steamer were driven ashore and small boats were lost.

The earth shocks were felt shortly after four o'clock and were severest in Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., where swaying office buildings were emptied within a few minutes. In these cities chimneys were destroyed and small houses built upon a live wire. In residences and shops, elsewhere no damage was reported.

The earthquake was felt as far north as Louisville, Ky., and east to Augusta, Ga. Its duration was about three minutes and there were two shocks.

At Burrwood, La., there was a fall of nearly eleven inches during the day.

Montgomery, Ala., was swept by heavy rain, but there was a heavy rain, but little damage. Houses were damaged at Opp, Ala., and there was damage at other small towns throughout Alabama. Houses and stores were unroofed at Troy.

CHANCES ARE AGAINST BOYS

SENT TO THE STATE REFORMATORIES, DECLARES DAY-TON RABBI.

COTTAGE PLAN IS IDEAL THING

Convention of American Humane Association Closed With Eloquent Address by Dr. Wm. O. Stillman as President.

Western Newspaper Union News Service Cincinnati, O.—Reformatories do not reform.

This is the assertion of most of the 200 delegates who attended the 40th annual meeting of the American Humane Association at the Hotel Gibson. "Reformatories at best are institutions maintained forcibly to detain certain classes from society," declared Rabbi David Lefkowitz, Dayton, O., in discussing the question, "Do Reformatories Reform?"

"Many successful men can look back to a boyhood spent in a reformatory," he admitted, "but these institutions as a rule are places where the old gangs again congregate. The children held there become only more clever and more other so-called incorrigibles, who teach them their own private brand of devilment, in exchange for the newcomers." A boy comes out of the reformatory much better, or very much worse. Circumstance favors the latter.

For "Cottage Home" System. The "cottage home" system of Europe is favored by a majority of the delegates, rather than private homes or large institutions. These places are the ideal solution of the problem. The institutional stigma is obliterated, says humane workers, and the system gives the added advantage of easy supervision of each youthful offender.
