

The Medical Cabinet

What is the odds so long as the fire of soul is kindled at the taper of conviction, and the fire of friendship never molts a feather?

DATES AND FIGS.

Chopped dates or figs, mixed with chopped nuts and a little cream, make nice sandwich filling.

Fig Custard.—Wash a pound of figs and stew for an hour in water to cover; add to the juice a few strips of the peel of a lemon; make a custard of a quart of milk, four eggs, a half cupful of sugar, reserving one white for a meringue. Put two spoonfuls of the figs in each cup, fill with the custard, cover with a meringue and cook in hot water until the custard is thick.

Date Pie.—Wash a pound of dates and heat them in a quart of milk; when soft, stir in a beaten egg after rubbing the dates through a sieve, then pour into a baked pastry shell; add sugar if needed, and cover with sweetened whipped cream. Serve cold.

Fig Loaf Cake.—Take two cupfuls of chopped figs, two cupfuls of sugar, a half cupful of butter, one cupful of milk, four cupfuls of flour, two spoonfuls of baking powder, four eggs. Cream the butter, all the sugar, the flour sifted with the baking powder alternating with the milk, until all of both is used; in a mixing dish with a wooden spoon, add the eggs and beat until the mixture is light and creamy; add the sugar while creaming, but the whites should be folded in the very last, using care to keep in all the air. Do all the beating and mixing before adding the egg whites. A fine-grained cake is made so by the hard beating it gets before the eggs are folded in. The figs are cut fine, mixed with a little milk and stirred in just before the whites are added.

Date Macaroon.—Beat five eggs whites until stiff, fold in a half pound of powdered sugar, a cupful of chopped dates, a half cupful of chopped nuts, and a half cupful of grated coconut. Beat until stiff and roll in balls.

Date Filling.—Dates added to brown bread or used as a filling, finely chopped, added to boiled frosting, with a few nuts, is most delicious.

It is too common in all of us, but it is especially in the nature of woman, to be overworked by fine clothes and fine furniture.—Dickens.

GOOD EATABLES.

Make a good turkey dressing and spread it over a two-pound round steak. Roll it up and tie securely and cook in a cloth bag in boiling water for two hours. About a half hour before serving, take it from the bag and brown it in the oven. Serve with a good brown sauce or with a seasoned tomato sauce and chopped green peppers.

Another Tomatoes.—Cut six small tomatoes in halves across the middle. Arrange them in a baking dish with the skin side down. Pour over them three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and some finely minced parsley. Season with pepper and salt and cover with another pan and cook until the tomatoes are soft.

Green Tomatoes cut in slices and fried in hot bacon until brown and tender are well liked as a change. Serve as a vegetable with steak.

Ham Tripe.—Chop one cupful of cold boiled ham, three hard-cooked eggs and five soda crackers. Roll two cupfuls of milk; add to this a good-sized piece of butter and thicken with a teaspoonful of each of flour and mustard. Stir into this the chopped ham, eggs and crackers, and add a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Put into a baking dish and bake for half an hour.

Beef Olives.—Pass through a meat chopper several times until fine, half a pound of raw beef, half a pound of cold, cooked meat and half a pound of bread which has been soaked in water; a little parsley and a piece of fat salt pork about the size of an egg. Season this and add to it an egg. Mix well and roll into balls. Wrap each ball in tinfoil paper to hold it together while cooking. Bake them in the oven in a pan, into which place some finely chopped carrots, two tablespoonfuls of canned tomatoes, an onion, chopped, and a little water. Remove it to a hot platter and add a little flour to the gravy. Sprinkle with a little water, the beef olives, and serve very hot.

Tapoca Pudding.—Soak a cupful of pearl tapoca in cold water overnight; then cook it until clear. Stir in a cupful of sugar and a cup of preserved strawberries or tart jelly. Serve cold with cream.

Tripe and Onion Curry.—Slice one large Spanish onion and cut into a pound of boiled tripe. In a frying pan melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, lay in the onion and cook until yellow. Sprinkle over the onion a teaspoonful of curry and a tablespoon-

In Woman's Realm

Suits of Fur-Fabrics Seem Destined to Have Extensive Vogue This Coming Winter—Elaborate Coiffures Are a Feature of the Season—Must Be High to Be in the Best Fashion.

Fur-fabrics have extended their field of usefulness and are occasionally made into suits as well as coats. Their glossy surfaces result in stunning effects for winter wear, and they are trimmed with bandings of natural fur or of a contrasting fur-fabric. The usual management of the suits is admirable, with a skirt of plain cloth banded with fur-fabric and a coat made of the same fur-fabric. And occasionally both skirt and coat are of the furry material, as in the suit shown in the picture.

Nearly all the fur-fabrics make effective bandings, but only a few varieties have a better flavor. For all that, when pumpkins are used the first process is the same. Cook it until it is dry and brown, this develops the flavor. Some cut it in pieces and after removing the seeds and fiber bake it until it is soft and can be scooped out of the shell. Whether boiled, steamed or baked it should be thoroughly done, finely mashed and sifted through a sieve. For the ordinary taste one cupful of pumpkin is used to a pint of milk, two eggs, a teaspoonful of ginger, a few drops of lemon extract, a teaspoonful of salt, and sugar to make of the desired sweetness.

Pumpkin Muffins.—Sift together two cupfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, beat two eggs and add them to a cupful of pumpkin; mix well and add a fourth of a cupful of melted butter; turn into hot greased muffin pans and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Croquette. Cookers serving pumpkin in one does squash, baking it in the shell and serving it with butter. Pumpkin served with butter, salt and pepper after it is well mashed makes a most agreeable vegetable.

A most delicious way of serving pumpkin and one which is enjoyed by all pumpkin pie lovers is to fill tin cans with the pie mixture and bake. You get all of the filling with little crust and that crust easier to digest than pastry. The custard may be cooked and just added to the cases when serving.

Pumpkin pie covered with whipped cream and sprinkled generously with a savory rich grated cheese is a dish liked by all.

Pumpkin may be dried or canned and so ready to use at any time during the year.

Pure and unselfish friendship is the most beautiful thing in the world. The beauty of it is so great and rich that it grows up absolutely all manner things.

FOR THE CHAFING DISH. The cool evenings are upon us and the chafing dish suppers are most appealing. The dishes which may be prepared are unnumbered. Sweet breads are greatly favored. They are prepared in the usual way by blanching and re-ripping and skin, then cut in large dice and cooked in thickened chicken stock. One may not always have chicken stock on hand, but a can of chicken soup is easy to open, and should always be on the emergency shelf. Flavor the soup with a bit of onion, add a teaspoonful of curry powder and a few drops of lemon juice. With this serve a dish of peas.

For patty shells the following filling may be used: Add asparagus tips to sweetbreads, mix with white sauce, mashed yolks of two eggs, a cupful of this cream and a few slices of stuffed olives. Serve hot. The cream need not be added if the sauce is thin and rich enough.

Some like curry with lobster; mix a paste of olive oil, a half teaspoonful of mustard and paprika, salt and curry to taste, lay the lobster with a little butter in this and cook ten minutes.

Savory Toast.—Cover slices of toast with grated cheese and set in the oven. Cut into pieces eight large mushrooms, or if the fresh are unavailable use a half can of button; fry two minutes in a butter with three tablespoonfuls of butter. Add gradually six eggs and stir until thick, season with salt and pepper and pour piping hot over the toast.

Cold Cooked Chicken.—Take two cupfuls of cold cooked chicken, cut in bits, one cupful of gravy, and one teaspoonful of each of minced onion and curry powder, one tablespoonful of butter and salt to taste. Cook the onion in the butter, mix the curry smoothly into the gravy, add the chicken and cook for ten minutes. Baked rice is a usual accompaniment to curry and well chilled bananas are also good.

Try frankfurts heated in cream, served with toast.

CONDENSATIONS There are at present more than 1,500 Esperanto societies in the world. The longest river in Japan is the Tone, its main course being about 200 miles long.

It is a question as to whether the kangaroo can cover a given distance in quicker time than an ostrich.

Only one out of over 100 inmates of a certain lunatic asylum had red hair, and only four were of light hair complexion.

Cartagena. Cartagena is a picturesque old seaport on the northern coast of South America, interesting nowadays for what it used to be rather than what it is. Fronting on a perfect harbor, with pleasant green hills sloping up behind its gray walls and red-roofed houses, it would be more popular with people of the North if it were somewhat healthier and a great deal cooler. The sun beats down through a moist heat, and the unacclimated are prone to sicken in Cartagena with great suddenness. There is no town in either of the Americas that is a more perfect example of what Spain could build in the days of her greatest power. The city is a masterpiece of the port of her greatest western stronghold. The massive walls still stand with their old towers well preserved; the ancient castles are no longer capable of mounting a hostile fleet, but they loom up with a bold and warlike front. Here you may see the grim old building that was for centuries the headquarters of the Inquisition in the New World.

CONCERNING It is believed to be no rare occurrence for a condor to soar 4,000 feet above the earth. Vegetable silk, which, like cotton, is valuable only for stuffing, is made from the seeds of a Brazilian tree.

Turkeys derived their name from the fact that they were imported first into Europe through Turkey. Mines of some descriptions are found in 25 of the 31 states and territories in Mexico, and mining is the most productive industry of the country.

A Sound Sleeper. A certain family were preparing to take their annual week's holiday, with the exception of one son named Joe, who had to work during this particular period. His parents gave him strict instructions not to get up late for work, as he was a very sound sleeper. The family had a fine time at the seaside, and got home again about twelve o'clock noon the following Saturday, and were surprised to find the blinds drawn exactly as they had been left the Saturday previous, and the house in a state of confusion.

Capas Are Charming. As to collars and capas, these are very hosts in themselves. The latter are simply charming in soft stuffs, like crepe de chine and georgette, and frequently play the leading role in a model. Thus a rather deep shade of rose crepe de chine carried a cape that fell nearly to the elbows, that was edged everywhere with a little picot-edged fall of tulle in the same rich hue.

Alpaca Returning. That alpaca will return to favor is predicted, perhaps for dresses through the winter, though the material surely only recommends itself for house dresses in our climate; and for suits in the spring.

Henry N. Bushnell and Edward A. Fiske have been deacons in the Congregational church at Walsfield, Vt., for half a century, and recently a reputation was given for them at the end of their thirtieth year as deacons.

Imitation in Animals. A question bearing upon an animal's power to recall and be guided by ideas is this: Can an animal learn to do something new by watching and imitating another animal? Everyone knows that animals imitate one another in doing things that "come naturally" to them—that is, if one rabbit runs away, the others follow; if one chicken takes a drink, the others will, but suppose a chicken is shut up in a pen with food on the other side and can let itself out only if it pecks at a string in one corner, which is attached to a latch. Suppose, further, that another chick that has learned how to get out is put in the pen with him and by pecking the string escapes; will the chick that is watching do likewise?

Those Sweet Things. Miss Paul-Die she put the right number of candles on her birthday cake? Miss Fry—No; the cake was not big enough.

Distance is the life of a great many trippers.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM BUNGALOW

Attractive Architectural Design, With Exceptionally Well-Planned Interior.

TYPE THAT IS DISTINCTIVE

In an Abode of This Kind the Owner Has What is Usually Desired a "Distinctive" Home—Room Arrangement Practically Ideal.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the reader of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1377 Franklin Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

STUNNING SUIT OF FUR-FABRIC.

ties look well in entire suits. The best exponent for this purpose is the imitation baby lamb, and this is the variety employed for the suit pictured. It is banded with an imitation beaver fur.

The coat is a three-quarter length, Russian model, with a wide belt lined with satin. The skirt is plain and straight-hanging, with its border twice as wide as the bandings above the bottom of the coat. This is a detail that adds much to the smartness of the suit. The wide collar fastens diagonally at the front with three black satin-covered buttons.

While the designer has managed this suit of fur-fabric so that it is altogether attractive, combinations of plain cloths or velvets with these heavy weaves are less difficult to work out successfully. In these suits the border at the bottom of the cloth skirt sometimes extends almost to the knees. Or the skirt is laid in wide panels with two collars in the picture are fine exponents of the new styles. All sorts of beautiful hair ornaments naturally follow this new elaboration in hairdressing, and they add life and sparkle to it. Spanish combs, thrust in at the back, behind the puffs or coils on the crown, are among old things that have been revived. And there are many other combs and pins, including high medallions, that support veils or scarfs of malines worn for full dress in the evening. They suggest the mantilla or the oriental veil and fall from the coiffure to the waistline or below. These are extremes of the mode but other coiffures must measure up to them or look mediocre. A mediocre hairdresser with a dazzling evening gown is not to be tolerated.

Rarely there is a coiffure with the back hair arranged below the crown, but that is the exception that proves the rule. Take for guidance these facts:

RETURN OF ELABORATE COIFFURES.

emplacements of fur-fabric on each one. Straight "chemise" gowns, made of imitation baby lamb, are among the new showings, trimmed with handsome jets. Jet buttons and girdles of jet beads added to handsome ornaments of jet make the richest sort of gown in the simplest sort of cut. They are high-necked, but are unfastened at the throat when worn indoors, and turned back to show the top of the finest of underwaists.

The high coiffure has returned and elaboration marks the new vogue in hairdressing. It must be so, for simple styles would not correspond with the rich, really gorgeous gowns that October has brought in for afternoon and evening wear this winter.

For Falling Hair. A simple tonic that will help to arrest falling hair is made by putting half a pound of rosemary into one pint of distilled water, and steaming very slowly for several hours. Then strain through flannel, and when cold add a quarter of a pint of bay rum. Apply a little to the roots of the hair two or three times a week after wet brushing and massaging the scalp.

Capas Are Charming. As to collars and capas, these are very hosts in themselves. The latter are simply charming in soft stuffs, like crepe de chine and georgette, and frequently play the leading role in a model. Thus a rather deep shade of rose crepe de chine carried a cape that fell nearly to the elbows, that was edged everywhere with a little picot-edged fall of tulle in the same rich hue.

Alpaca Returning. That alpaca will return to favor is predicted, perhaps for dresses through the winter, though the material surely only recommends itself for house dresses in our climate; and for suits in the spring.

Henry N. Bushnell and Edward A. Fiske have been deacons in the Congregational church at Walsfield, Vt., for half a century, and recently a reputation was given for them at the end of their thirtieth year as deacons.

Imitation in Animals. A question bearing upon an animal's power to recall and be guided by ideas is this: Can an animal learn to do something new by watching and imitating another animal? Everyone knows that animals imitate one another in doing things that "come naturally" to them—that is, if one rabbit runs away, the others follow; if one chicken takes a drink, the others will, but suppose a chicken is shut up in a pen with food on the other side and can let itself out only if it pecks at a string in one corner, which is attached to a latch. Suppose, further, that another chick that has learned how to get out is put in the pen with him and by pecking the string escapes; will the chick that is watching do likewise?

Those Sweet Things. Miss Paul-Die she put the right number of candles on her birthday cake? Miss Fry—No; the cake was not big enough.

Distance is the life of a great many trippers.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM BUNGALOW

Attractive Architectural Design, With Exceptionally Well-Planned Interior.

TYPE THAT IS DISTINCTIVE

In an Abode of This Kind the Owner Has What is Usually Desired a "Distinctive" Home—Room Arrangement Practically Ideal.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the reader of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1377 Franklin Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

An Ideal Bungalow Home.

tion will stand crowding without losing their effectiveness, but not so with the bungalow.

The elevation of the house with respect to that of the sidewalk and street is also a factor of important consideration. A great many designs may be greatly benefited by building the house upon a terrace. As a rule, the bungalow does not have a place in this group of designs, but there are particular cases in which this general rule will not hold. The experienced architect may easily give the proper proportions and correct slopes and curves to a house to fit it for any position in which it might be placed.

The last determining factor which controls the appearance of a house from the standpoint of its position is its distance from the street. Not only is there a direct effect with respect to this point, but there is also an indirect effect of equal weight. The extent and character of lawn between the house and the street will determine in what manner sidewalks will be laid, vines and shrubs planted, and various lawn decorations placed.

"Overdone" in that other hand, a deep, gracefully sloping lawn which has been properly endowed with natural beauty may be made to add a great deal to the appearance of the house by the addition of curving sidewalks, arbors and little rustic bridges and other decorations in keeping with the house design. Bungalow designs yield especially gratifying results from this kind of lawn treatment. Originated where nature made easy the beautifying of its surroundings, the bungalow still looks best when established in a spot which at least approximates its birthplace.

The bungalow shown here is a type that would be a delight to any one. It is an ideal bungalow home. The exterior arrangement is very attractive and striking and the interior is a model of comfort and convenience. The exterior has many features that will recommend it to the person who wants a distinctive home. The porch extends to the front and side. There is nothing more attractive and inviting than a low, broad porch roof, especially if built in the form of an arch, as in this case. The porch walls and pillars are built of stone and brick distinctiveness in that a rough surface is obtained by allowing irregular pieces to project out from the surface. The roof is of artistic design, being of the gable type, unusually well decorated and proportioned.

In the room arrangement every detail has some particular value. A particular feature of the front rooms of the house is the lighting. To fit in with the attractive appearance of the exterior it is necessary to have a bright and cheerful interior. This is accomplished in good style in this design. A broad window opens to the porch from the living room, and there are also two smaller windows placed on each side of the fireplace. The kitchen is small and compact and arranged to reduce useless labor to a minimum. It is made as bright and well lighted as the rest of the house, and could supply all Europe with this commodity for hundreds of years. In some mines the beds are from 600 to 750 feet thick, and at Sarat there is a salt mountain whose sides are quarried with electric machines which cut out blocks each a cubic yard in size, while the fragments are scooped up in steam shovels.

No Feet. "I read of a dog that coughed up a valuable diamond ring." "That's nothing. I know of men who cough up diamond rings every day, and people seem to think it is quite natural."

Necessary First Step. "De wouldn't he ready for an universal peace," said Uncle Tom, "if individuals quit gettin' out enough to fight 'bout politics."

Finding Out Things. A man of an inquiring turn of mind thrust his finger into a horse's mouth to see how many teeth it had and the horse closed its mouth to see how many fingers the man had. The curiosity of each was fully satisfied.

Fish Need the Food. "Why are you admonished to cast our bread upon the waters?" asked the teacher of the juvenile Sunday school class. "Cause the fish have to be fed," replied a small pupil.

Properly Protected. "Children, why did Ajax defy the lightning?" "I guess, teacher, it was because he had on his new rubber boots."

Making One Egg Do for Two. When scrambling eggs for breakfast, add one tablespoonful of fine bread crumbs and one tablespoonful of milk to every beaten egg. Season with pepper and salt and cook in the usual way. By this means stale bread may be used up, and one egg will go as far as two.

To Preserve Cheese. Cheese will not become moldy if you keep it covered with a cloth wrung out in vinegar. This will keep the cheese fresh indefinitely.

CONDENSATIONS There are at present more than 1,500 Esperanto societies in the world. The longest river in Japan is the Tone, its main course being about 200 miles long.

It is a question as to whether the kangaroo can cover a given distance in quicker time than an ostrich.

Only one out of over 100 inmates of a certain lunatic asylum had red hair, and only four were of light hair complexion.

Cartagena. Cartagena is a picturesque old seaport on the northern coast of South America, interesting nowadays for what it used to be rather than what it is. Fronting on a perfect harbor, with pleasant green hills sloping up behind its gray walls and red-roofed houses, it would be more popular with people of the North if it were somewhat healthier and a great deal cooler. The sun beats down through a moist heat, and the unacclimated are prone to sicken in Cartagena with great suddenness. There is no town in either of the Americas that is a more perfect example of what Spain could build in the days of her greatest power. The city is a masterpiece of the port of her greatest western stronghold. The massive walls still stand with their old towers well preserved; the ancient castles are no longer capable of mounting a hostile fleet, but they loom up with a bold and warlike front. Here you may see the grim old building that was for centuries the headquarters of the Inquisition in the New World.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MAN IN THE MOON.

"I want to tell you," commenced Daddy, "a Story about the Man in the Moon."

"Oh, yes," said Nancy. "I haven't heard a Story about him for ever so long."

"That's true," agreed Nick. "We haven't heard about old Mr. Moon for so long that we'd almost forgotten about him."

"I think he thought he was being forgotten about himself," said Daddy. "About a week ago when it was quite dark—though Night hadn't quite come, a number of the Fairies were playing and dancing about in Fairyland."

"Let's Sing a Song," said the Fairy Princess Twilight Bell.

"What shall we Sing about?" asked the Fairy Princess Joy.

"Oh, I know," said Fairy Ybab. "What? They all asked.

"Let's Sing a Song of Good-bye to the Daytime, and of Welcome to the Nighttime, and tell the Daytime to come back again at Dawn."

"All right," said the Fairies, and they began Singing a Song which every time ended with "Good-bye Daytime, Welcome Nighttime."

"And some of the Shadows and Clouds looked so gay and bright that the Fairies felt sure that the Cloud Fairies and Shadows that play with the Fairies had heard."

"Well, I never," said a Voice from behind a tall tree.

"What can that be?" asked one of the Fairies.

"I knew it, I knew it," said the Voice. "They haven't noticed me for such a long time that they've forgotten my Voice. Here they are Singing my Song of Good-bye to the Daytime and of Welcome to the Nighttime and they don't say a word about me. It's pretty hard lines on an old fellow."

"Oh, do let us see you," said the Fairy Princess Twilight Bell.

"Oh yes," said the Fairy Princess Joy.

"And Ybab in her lovely fairylike voice said: 'Oh, yes, let us see you are.'"

"And then from around the tall tree peeped the Old Man in the Moon."

"Oh Mr. Moon," they called. "To think that we didn't recognize your Voice. Have you a Cold?"

"A Cold? Oh, no, no," he laughed. "A Cold? And then he laughed some more, and he grinned so hard that the Fairies wished they could see behind him, for they felt sure his grin must be going all the way around."

"A Cold? Oh, no, no," he laughed. "A Cold? And then he laughed some more, and he grinned so hard that the Fairies wished they could see behind him, for they felt sure his grin must be going all the way around."

"You think," said Mr. Moon, "that I can change my Voice to a half Voice or a quarter Voice, or a crescent Voice, or a horn Voice. Well, you're all wrong, all of you!"

"Oh don't scold us," said Ybab. "But tell us what a crescent Voice is!"

"I don't know," said Mr. Moon. "But you just spoke about it," said Ybab.

"I said," continued Mr. Moon, "that you probably thought I could change and have a crescent Voice. I know nothing about Voices. You started the subject!" And Mr. Moon really sounded quite angry.

"Well, then let's drop the subject," said Ybab. "For none of us know what we're talking about, and we're quarreling very stupidly. Besides, we haven't forgotten about you. We've just been busy—there have been so many things to do in Fairyland lately."

"Well," said Mr. Moon, "can you have a snowy evening's Frolic tonight?"

"Yes," shouted all the Fairies. "Goodie, said Mr. Moon—and I'll give the light, and send the Moonlight Shadows to play too!"

Worries Bring Aches

Life today brings many worries and worrying brings on kidney troubles, so the doctors say. Kidney weakness reveals itself in backache, pains when stooping or lifting, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Be cheerful. Stop worrying. And, to strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the kidney remedy that is used and recommended the world over.

An Ohio Case
Mrs. E. J. Jones, 123 Prospect St., Marion, Ohio, writes: "For fifteen years I had spells of kidney trouble, and often had to give up my work. My back ached and my feet were swollen. My appetite was poor, and I lost thirty pounds in weight. Doan's Kidney Pills did me all these troubles and made me feel like a different woman. I regained my weight, and I feel like a new woman."

Get Doan's at Any Store, Or a Box of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS FROM THE MANUFACTURER, DOAN-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

Mail Us Your KODAK
Films for Finishing
We pay return postage.
M. L. JONES, FORT WAYNE, IND.

Another Favorite Topic. "I dare say that young women engaged in a mysterious party are talking about some other woman." "Don't jump to conclusions." "Not."

STOP ITCHING INSTANTLY
With Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Nothing Better. Trial Free.

Bathe the affected part with Cuticura Soap and apply the Ointment. For eczemas, rashes, irritations, pimples, dandruff and sore hands Cuticura Soap and Ointment are supreme. Nothing better, cleaner or purer than these super-emergent emollients at any price. Free sample card by mail with Book. Address postcard, Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

PUT QUESTION BACK TO PAPA
Small Boy Rather Had the Best of Joke Initiated by the Head of the Family.

Theodore Chapin, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapin of 2340 North Talbot, has wisdom far beyond his actual six years of existence.

Theodore is just recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, and, naturally, which, by the way, he observes with remarkable fortitude. One evening recently he was invited out for dinner by a young friend, and on his return home, Mr. Chapin asked him what he had to eat. He began slowly to enumerate those things which the family doctor had given him permission to eat, but with true motherly instincts, Mrs. Chapin knew that he had omitted one thing. She knew that there was one thing that her son was passionately fond of, and that was fried potatoes, which the doctor had said should not be eaten.

"Now, Theodore, you had some fried potatoes, didn't you?" asked the mother.

"Well, yes, I believe I did," he reluctantly confessed, and after a few minutes he looked up and said: "I'll tell you, it takes a fellow with lots of brains to get ahead of my mother."

Mrs. Chapin told her husband of the conversation, and next morning, at the breakfast table, the father looked at Theodore and said: "I'll tell you, it takes a fellow with lots of brains to get ahead of mother?"

The young son looked up quickly, and, with a knowing twinkle in his eye, asked: "Now, pop, what have you been trying to put over on her?"—Indianapolis News.

Right in It.
Captain—Do you know anything about ships?
Bessy—Oh, yes; I've been a shipping clerk in a dry goods store for years.

Her Preference.
"I'm surprised that you should think of marrying that chap; he is a man of no foresight."
"Well, I don't like these fellows who stop to ask if they kiss you."