Bill Has Drastic Provisions Aimed to Secure Stopping of Work on Sunday.

SENT TO SENATOR M'KELLAR

Measure Prepared by Methodist Ministers and Laymen at Conference in Tennessee—Includes All Federal Employees.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Blue law advocates have their bill ready for introduction in the senate and expect to press it for consideration soon after New Year's.

It was sent to Senator McKellar of Tennessee by the Tennessee annual conference of Methodist ministers and laymen and contains provisions drastic in the extreme.

It would forbid Sunday work of any kind by any employee of the United States.

It would stop the running of all interstate trains.

It would exclude from the United States mail all newspapers published "or purporting to be published" on Sunday.

It would not only punish by fine and imprisonment persons doing these things, but anyone who aids or procures another in doing them; that is, who pays for a ride on an interstate train on Sunday or buys a Sunday newspaper that has been carried by the mails.

Following are the provisions of the bill, shown of the legal phraseology: "1. Hereafter shall be unlawful for any person in the employment of the United States to work or carry on his vocation on Sunday.

"2. It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to operate on Sunday any freight or passenger train or small train or any other train or part of a train on Sunday in the carrying on of interstate commerce, trade or traffic of any kind.

"3. It shall be unlawful for any post office to be open on Sunday or to deliver mail on Sunday; it shall be unlawful for any mail to be carried or delivered on Sunday by any employee of the United States.

"4. It shall be unlawful for any newspaper or other paper or publication published or purporting to be published on Sunday to be received, carried or delivered by mail by any post office, to be carried by any post office, or over any route under the jurisdiction of the United States.

"5. It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation engaged in interstate commerce or carrying on any business or vocation under the laws of the United States, or any of its agencies, to do or carry on any ordinary vocation or business on Sunday, the purpose of this act being to express our national determination to honor the Sabbath day and keep it holy, as God commands us to do in His word, and all that opportunity for spiritual and bodily refreshment decreed by our Lord for the happiness of all men and the safety of all nations.

"6. Any person who does any of the things above declared unlawful, or who procures or aids another in doing any of the things above declared unlawful, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished upon conviction by due process of law by a fine of not over $100 or by imprisonment for not over six months in the discretion of the court.

"7. And any corporation that does or aids in doing these forbidden things shall upon conviction be fined not less than $1,000 or over $100,000 for each offense, and upon conviction a second time for the same offense shall forfeit its charter and franchise and be enjoined from operating in interstate commerce; provided, however, that emergency instances of charity and necessity are not included or punishable under the provisions of this act.

"8. This act shall be in full force on the day it is enacted, and it is understood that this measure will have the backing of the Lord's Day alliance, which is supported by sixteen of the strongest evangelical denominations in America, including the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Congregational churches.

FIVE ROBBERS ARE CAPTURED

Shooting Follows a Holdup of the Culver State Bank in Broad Daylight—Money Is Recovered—1, C. Rail Bandit Slain.

Culver, Ind., Dec. 31.—In a pitched battle on the main street of this town during which a score of shots were exchanged with five Chicago holdup men, three citizens and two of the bandits were shot.

With the capture of the fifth bandit at Knox, Ind., the last of the five members of the band was in custody.

Three of the robbers—the men who did the actual shooting—were taken before they could flee from the town, while a fourth member of the gang was nabbed at Burr Oak, Ind., whence he fled.

The three men held in Culver were the names of H. A. Fox, J. R. Burns and A. Gilbert.

The flight and pursuit followed the holding up of the culver Exchange bank, a private institution. Approximately $7,500 in cash was taken by the bandits, but later recovered.

The raid on the bank occurred shortly before noon. The bandits drove up in a black and yellow touring car. Two of them remained in the machine. The others entered the bank, which was crowded with customers and employees.

J. I. Saine, a business man occupying offices across the street from the bank, opened fire on the holdup machine with a shotgun. The pistols of the holdup men spat fire in return. Saine was shot through the month and fell. Employees of the bank, hastily arming themselves, ran from the bank and commenced shooting at the bandits.

Word that the bank had been held up spread rapidly through the town. Men scrambled out, armed with rifles, shotguns and pistols. Before the bandits could get their car under way they were being subjected to a storm of bullets and leaden slugs.

They replied as best they could. Jacob Saine received one of their bullets through his jaw.
