BEWARE OF FRAUD!

Notice to Purchasers of Domestic Sewing Machines.

The Domestic Sewing Machine Co. has achieved such an enviable reputation that dealers of other machines find it impossible to sell anything else but a Domestic, so they manage by some underhand means to get a Domestic from some unprincipled dealer, and then they disguise the numbers stamped on the machine, to prevent tracing where the machine came from, they sometimes also disguise the machine, so that it will not do such good work as the Domestic, in order to injure the reputation of the Domestic, and in that way get the customer to take one of their machines instead of a Domestic.

We hereby inform the friends and customers of the Domestic Sewing Machine Co. that we will not be responsible for any of our machines bought of such agents. C. H. King, of Tiffin, O., is our only authorized agent in Seneca county, and we will be responsible for all of our machines bought of him, but for no other.

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO., New York.

Michael Beard's building at West Lodi, occupied as postoffice and warehouse, was burned on Monday night. Most of the mail matter in the office was destroyed. Mr. Beard's son, John, who was in the building, was injured. About 15,000 cigars, which were stored upstairs. There was no insurance on the contents. The building was insured.

Chas. Fishbaugh had one of his wind engines in the procession Monday. Of course it was elevated but slightly, and yet it ran like a top from the time it was mounted on the wagon until it was taken off. It would run so low down, with such a very light wind, it must be a powerful "goer" at its proper elevation. It beats all the wind mills ever made.

Mardi Gras day Jacob Kintz went to Jones Bros.' store and secreted two hats under his coat. John captured him and the Mayor sent him up for ten days.

Hiram Goodman attempted to pick the pockets of several ladies and finally was caught by Miss Eckles, of Postoria, who gave him in charge of the police and he was fined $10.00 and sent up ten days.

To close out stock by or before March 15th, the great slaughter of dry goods at F. K. Shawhan's old stand still continues. They must be sold before vacating the room, at the time above named, and the prices on cashmere, dress goods, notions and embroideries are again reduced and lowered below their cost of production to close out. They are going rapidly, and will pay you richly to follow the crowds that are marching in there daily and secure some of these goods before it is too late.

MARDI GRAS DAY IN TIFFIN.

Lots of Fun and a Huge Crowd.

Monday was the second annual day on which King Monks has visited this city. His second advent was more splendid than the first, and he came at once made his arrangements for the next year, and feel assured that he will be welcomed.

The weather was rather clear than rainy, and the crowd was not so large as in the previous year, but it was not so small. Early in the morning the crowd began to gather, coming in by railroads, and on foot, and all sorts of vehicles, and before noon the city was full of people.

The good nature of King Monks, even before he appears publicly, was shown in the air and brought out a kind of feeling in the vast concourse of people who had come together for pleasure.

At the appointed time, 2 o'clock, P. M., the only authorized agent in Seneca county, and we will be responsible for all of our machines bought of him, but for no other.
