The Pocket Manual.—This is the title of a little volume just received from Bro. E. R. Alderman, of the Marietta College, who published it mainly as a premium for clubs in his paper, but finding it so popular has concluded to extend its sale and usefulness throughout the State. It contains the price of most volumes, and is a ready reference book for every day use by writers and travelers. Aside from 90 pages of names and addresses, postal rates and rules for punctuation, use of capitals, abbreviations, perpetual calendar, distances of American cities from New York, with variations of time between these, and their present population, value of foreign gold and silver coins, in U. S. money, interest tables, our national territory—when and how acquired, our Republican Government, salaries of Federal officers, first census of our country and progress, population of States and Territories, time of holding elections in same, social etiquette, etc., etc. In short it seems an impossibility to mention too many of the useful information contained in this little volume, which is a pocket size for pocket use. You will never regret the money invested in this book. See advertisement in another column.

District Court.—District Court commences next Wednesday, the 21st. The docket of 62 cases is assigned for three days. There is ten days work to dispose of, and Judge Dodge in the interest of the attorneys and litigants of this county ought to try to devise some way to dispose of so much every day useful information.

When the State Bar Association met in Toledo near a year ago, we thought of suggesting a theme for discussion by that body, such as "The Expense of Justice—A Remedy Thereof," or something of this nature, but concluded it was not our business. We were pleased to see steps taken at the meeting of the same association in Cincinnati in December tending toward reform in this direction; also, to see the endorsement of the same at the last meeting of the Wood County Bar Association, and the appointment of a committee to devise some means of securing more speedy justice between litigants in the county court. It is a question of vital importance to the people generally and one that is attracting no little attention and thought.

"The Forest Rangers."—We are indebted Mr. J. W. Creps for the loan of a little volume, entitled "The Forest Rangers, a Poetic tale of the western wilderness in 1794, connected with and comprising the march and battle of Gen. Wayne's army, and abounding with interesting incidents of fact and fiction, in seven cantos." The author of this little volume was Andrew Coffey, father of Judge James Coffey, now a resident of Cleveland. The book was published in Columbus in 1844, and dedicated by the author to John C. Spink, who at the time was the law partner of Mr. Coffey.

Mr. Creps informs us that when the book was first published it was commended by many because the author compiled some of his backwoods characters introduced to slaughter the English language in a manner peculiar to the pioneer dialect, such as has been several authors very popular of late years. The author was of no ordinary mind. He took up his characters in the work and carried them through in a manner that keeps the interest riveted until the close. As an excuse for the production of the poem the author said he had some leisure time on his hands, and found it a pleasure to thus employ it in gathering facts and incidents for the work. In this connection he adds: "With all the ills of which human flesh is heir, none other is equal to that of total idiocy, with its attendant train of horrors, such as lameness, encephalitis, etc."

We found an unusual interest in the reading of the little book, and believe it would be a good selection to place in the Way library, if a volume could be secured for that purpose.

New Firm—New Goods.—On the 6th inst. Mr. John Walter formed a partnership with Mr. Chas. Stevens in the Grocery business, and they will continue the business at the old stand on the corner of Second street and Louisiana avenue until the first of May, when they will open up on a larger scale in Mr. Stevens' own building. They are adding a new and fresh stock of groceries, and will keep a full stock always on hand.

Mr. Walter will continue to buy all kinds of fat stock, poultry, hides, pelts and fur, and will pay as high prices for green hides as any firm in the burg or in Toledo.

The Portable Electric Lighter.—One of the most ingenious and useful contrivances in which electricity plays the prominent part, is the Portable Electric Lighter, for practical use in the office, at home, and in factories, banks, hotels, restaurants, saloons, and all places where light is wanted. It is a simple, convenient, and reliable device, and is well adapted for use in all cases where a light is required. It is a portable, and is so constructed that any portion or part can be replaced at a small cost. By simply pressing upon the knob to the full extent of the spring (which connects the battery) an electric current is produced, which is the spiral of platinum, is heated to incandescence and the light is instantaneous. The material lasts about two years, and can be renewed at a small cost through any chemist. It will not last long before everybody will have a Portable Electric Lighter. The price $5.00, with so low that it cannot fail to become popular at once.

At a further cost of $3.50, connections and cups are adjusted to the battery, controlled by a switch, so that it can be used for the purpose of ringing an alarm or call bell, which can be attached to the instrument, or by the addition of wires, can be rung at any reasonable distance. It can be so adjusted, the circuit can be altered in an instant, by the switch, to give light or ring the bell at will. These connections can be attached to any electric bell, or to which a powerful current of electricity can be conveyed. The principal office for this street, Boston, where all applications for this most novel lamp should be sent.

—Leading brands Bleached Muslins, at 10 cts. A. WILLIAMS.

Death of Mrs. Martin Lake.—We are in receipt of a copy of the Daily State Gazette, of Green Bay, Wisconsin, which gives an extended notice of the death of Mrs. Martin Lake, which occurred in that city on February 15, 1883. We extract the following paragraphs from that paper: "Harriet Elizabeth Ross Lake, nee Perryburg, Ohio, August 18, 1840. She was married to Capt. Martin Lake on June 8, 1858. Her husband being engaged in accumulating his fortune in Green Bay, in August, 1869, the family moved to the city, where they have since continued to reside.

Mrs. Lake was taken sick in April of last year. Her ailment did not yield to treatment and quite soon it developed into consumption that was destined to be quick and fatal. The disease was one that came to her by inheritance, her father, mother, one brother and four sisters having all been victims of the deadly ravages. One member of the family survive, a brother, Charles Ross, living at Bowling Green, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Capt. J. E. Trowell, at Milwaukee.

The Gazette proceeds at considerable length to speak of Mrs. Lake's many virtues; that she was a woman of strong qualities and one who during her residence in the community had made many firm friends; that her motherly instinct and devotion to her home and family were marked characteristics. "She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, one son and three daughters, who have the sympathy of the community."

A MISTAKE! A TERRIBLE MISTAKE!

"My darling," said he, "what a delicious taste your lips have!" Then she sprang to her feet and yelled "Goodness George! I have been eating my lip save! How dare you!" George had made an awful, a terrible mistake, no doubt, poor fellow, but lots of people make far worse mistakes than George every day in the year. George's mistake is a quite common one and comes from the heart. No doubt his heart was full of love for her, and it is just possible the young lady forgave him and that his robust chest but little after all, but the mistake was one going to talk about costs you and many other people, money and vexation every day in the year.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Is the subject of our present article. It is a very interesting subject in so far as it costs them lots of money in a year. Yourself and family will now need a spring and summer supply of good first-class Boots, Shoes, Slippers and Walking Shoes.

BUT YOU'LL NOT WANT

Poor shoddy make believes of Boots and Shoes that are a dear investment at any price. The dealer in shoddy, poor wearing Boots and Shoes is of necessity an ardent and unprincipled humbug, and often times a plausible rogue, doing business on the principle that more flies can be caught with honey than vinegar. His subterfuges and traps are many and very ingenious to catch the unwary and simple. Sometimes he has a great elating out sale—he cares nothing for profits at all—what does he care for the Almighty Dollar—everything at a cost for 30 or 60 days, liberal sale!

Sometimes to vary the monotony he has a great sale of Boots and Shoes. Slowly and Take-It-Easy have failed to attract the masses, and he has bought the stock and Oh my! what tremendous bargains he can give! Good bait for gudgeons, very, but he don't catch black bass nor game trout with such a thin bait. They go off and float around at a respectful distance with their weather eye open. Then again when he is hard pressed in one town and his sky looks dark and lowering he jumps to another and shouts fire! fire! fire! this stock of Boots and Shoes must be sold by order of the Insurance Companies. This is an old trick, but new to some. What would you do with him? He is a bad citizen you will admit, who will pray for the unwary and simple. You would banish him out of the honorable commercial world and send him like Napoleon to St. Helena if you only could, but as you can't and as there are always simpletons enough in every community to nibble at his bait you will continue to have him until the several mythical trumpets shall sound his thundering blast in the mystical heavens ushering in the Millennium, when it is expected that all men and women will turn over a new leaf, forsake the path of the wrong doer, and like George Washington become good, honest little boys and girls and never deceive anybody.

THIS IS THE GREAT MISTAKE!
