

Advice by John L. Sullivan.
The redoubtable and only John L. is credited with giving this advice to two small boys who paid homage at his shrine not long ago: "Boys, if you want to get along, do your work. Work is the only thing that makes men happy and successful. Don't be like the boy whose father wrote to the boy's boss asking where his son slept. The answer the man sent back was: 'We don't know where your son sleeps at night; he sleeps in the shop daytimes.'"—Boston Herald.

English in Japan.
The learning of the Japanese will be greatly facilitated by the abandonment of their peculiar way of writing and printing their language. Ten years ago the universities inaugurated the reform; next year the use of English letters will be begun in the public schools; and this will soon lead to their general use.

8 Cents

Eight cents a pound is what a young woman paid for twelve pounds of flesh.

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little free.

Special Cars for Dogs.
The managers of the Paris metropolitan underground railroad have been persuaded by lovers of dogs to consider the question of providing special cars on their trains in which dogs and their owners can travel together instead of the dogs being separated from their masters or mistresses, as at present is necessary.—London News.

Abolishment of Slavery.
The thirteenth amendment, forever abolishing slavery, having been ratified by three-fourths of the United States was declared a part of the constitution in December, 1865. It was necessary because the emancipation proclamation had only freed the slaves, and did not prevent a new establishment of slavery.

NEW JAP EXPLOSIVE.

FEARFUL EFFECT OF SHELLS USED IN MIKADO'S GUNS.

Surgeon Tells of Extracting 123 Fragments of Steel from Body of One Sailor — Officer Literally Blown to Pieces.

The terrible force of Shimose powder, the new explosive used by the Japanese army and navy, is shown by the report of Dr. Wada, a staff surgeon of the Japanese navy, who assisted in caring for the wounded Russian sailors from the cruiser Variag. Twenty-four wounded sailors were cared for on the French cruiser Pascal for four days. From one of the wounded men 123 pieces of Japanese shell were extracted.

The largest piece showed that the outer walls of the shell were not more than three-eighths of an inch thick, and had been fired from nothing smaller than six-inch guns.

Nothing but a high explosive could smash a strong steel shell into such minute fragments.

Dr. Wada described how decks were made slippery with blood. He saw small bits of flesh scattered everywhere. He stumbled over an arm here, a leg there. The flesh was often torn from the bodies. Nothing but a high explosive shell could have produced such effects.

The wounds caused by the powder are no worse than those caused by old-fashioned shells and shrapnel. If a man hit is lucky enough not to be killed, he stands a good chance of getting off unhurt or only slightly wounded. Two sailors stood on the bridge with Capt. Rudneff and Count Nirod and a petty officer. One of the new Japanese shells struck the petty officer. It was one of those shells provided with a fuse, taking effect not only on contact with the water, but whenever it touches parts of the rigging, living men, or even their clothing.

Wherever the resistance is sufficient to alter the speed ever so little the shell is exploded. The petty officer was blown into atoms. Absolutely nothing was found of him afterwards. Count Nirod, standing next to him, was blown to pieces, only one arm being found afterwards. The two sailors who stood a little way off from the explosion were badly mangled. Capt. Rudneff, who stood a little further off, was only slightly wounded in the head by small fragments.

In the old style shells the fragments of the outer walls and the inner rings were meant to kill and wound. The explosive was there merely to burst the shell and give additional impetus to the fragments. In the new shells the explosive itself is meant to kill, the function of the shell being simply to convey the explosive to the desired spot. Referring to the numerous cases of suppuration of wounds caused by pieces of clothing entering with fragments of shell, Dr. Wada suggests that every government make it the rule of the navy that when a fight is expected every man shall have his body well washed and his clothes disinfected. "Happily, it is the rule of the men of our army and navy always to go into battle in their newest and cleanest uniforms. This is not because of sanitary considerations, but it works the right way, all the same."

TO CIRCLE EARTH IN BARREL

Man of Fasting and Parachute Fame Plans to Outdo Former Feats.

To go around the world in a barrel. Such is the latest enterprise of Felix Fanner, of fasting and parachute fame. Advice received from Wellington, N. Z., state that Tanner has built an "ark" with which he proposes to outdo all other sea voyages on record. The marine department of New Zealand has officially surveyed the unique vessel. The craft in which Tanner is to make his latest bid for fame is barrel shaped and has a stem attached. The barrel is nine feet long by five feet six inches wide. It is hooped with iron. The bow and stern resemble those of an ordinary boat, and are bound together from end to end, inclosing the body of the freak vessel. There is a pump for use in case of emergency. The floating curiosity will carry a jib and mainsail, with a square foresail, and Tanner thinks she should be able to attain fair speed. On the after part of the deck there is a cockpit, from which the barrel boat will be controlled. Tanner declares that he is convinced he can circumnavigate the globe in the barrel. At any rate he will try.

Ancient Seal Unearthed.

The German excavating expedition in Syria has discovered the seal used by King Solomon's son at a place called Tell El Multissen. The seal has been taken to Beirut and handed over to the Turkish pasha, Emin Effendi. The seal is the size of an ordinary saucer, is made of jasper, and has a beautifully engraved lion on it with a wide open mouth. The inscription in Hebrew, translated, reads: "Li Schema, the son of King Solomon, the son of David." Dr. Hartleben, the archeological expert, says it is the finest example of carving known dating from so remote antiquity.

World's Biggest Clam.

Rhode Island, "whose clams are still one of its proudest monuments," as an orator recently expressed it, has produced the record quahaug. It was taken from Greenwich bay. It weighs one ounce over two pounds. The shells are 5 1/2 inches long and 4 1/4 inches wide, and when closed naturally the circumference is 13 1/2 inches. This is not a "fish story," for the quahaug has been preserved for exhibition purposes.

PREDICTSWORLDWAR

GERMAN OFFICER EXPECTS ATTACK ON ENGLAND.

Germany, Russia and France Will Unite, He Thinks, to Secure New Apportionment of the Earth.

Capt. August Niemann, of the German army, in a book entitled "Der Weltkrieg" (the world war), which he has just completed, freely predicts that Russia, France and Germany will engage in a war with England, the result of which will be a fresh apportionment of the earth.

"Although the responsibility of a world war is great," says Capt. Niemann in his book, "and although the idea of peace of nations is very pleasant, valuable acquisitions are won only by the expenditure of blood and iron.

"If the German people intend to participate in the struggle for the domination of the world it must accustom itself to the idea of the coming war. In the course of long years England has grown great through the disensions of continental powers. For centuries past England has reaped advantages from every war, most of which were instigated by herself.

"It required the genius of Bismarck to awaken the German empire to a sense of its power. Shall Germany be content to be dependent on England for light, air, and for daily bread, or has she retained some of the power which won her victories?

"Will the three powers which stood together after Japan's victory over China to thwart England's plans—will Germany, France and Russia remain longer idle, or will they combine for their mutual benefit?

"I see in spirit the armies and navies of Germany, Russia and France advancing against the common enemy—England—which like an octopus encircles the world with its tentacles.

"My dreams of Germany bring clearly before me the war and the victory of three great nations—Germany, France and Russia—over England, and the fresh apportionment of the possession of the earth as a final result of this mighty struggle.

"Defeated in bloody battles on land and sea, securely encompassed on every side, rapacious England will at last be ground to dust, and the universal dominion of the world will be redistributed on a just basis."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had to resign my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended as such a good medicine for the ills of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then found I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it a fine tonic and excellent for worn-out, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."
