People have no sympathy for a man that has been out of a job too long.

It is unlucky to have in your possession a $5 bill with a cross-eyed Indian on it.

Mr. Rockefeller says he is not the father of the Standard Oil. Then he must be its rich uncle.

A critic says no unmarried woman over 45 is fit to teach. Do school teachers ever reach the age of 45?

All this talk about finding the North Pole in a balloon seems out of order. It is necessary to first "find" a balloon in which the journey can be made. Another case of the "cart before the horse."

Don't buy silk waist patterns or dress patterns of any description from well-dressed peddlers. The game is being worked in various parts of the county, and you will get "fitted" if you buy.

If all the distinguished statesmen reported as probable members of Taft's cabinet should come to Washington, they would make a remarkable increase in the population of the city. But of the many only nine can be chosen.

William Becker, a postoffice wagon driver in Chicago, found a certified check for $50,000 in the federal building, and when he returned it to the owner, received a reward of $2. Gee whiz! but won't he have a great time spending his reward!

A bill which will prove of considerable interest to the rural residents of Ohio will be introduced by Senator R. T. Crawford of Carroll county. The bill provides for the establishment of county substations for the collection of June and December taxes.

Met a man on the street the other day who said he had the sweetest and best wife on earth. We told him we thought so too, and now he not only watches every hour, but threatens to pound our face. Met a girl who said she was glad she didn't marry us when we asked her. We told her we were glad too, and now she crosses the street when she sees us coming. Some people absolutely refuse to be happy.—Liberty Press.

Why is it that in these days when many people go wrong, we fail to remember the many there are who are right? We blazen all the bad breaks of humanity but do not pretend to keep track of all who behave themselves, and are faithful to every trust. For every person who goes wrong there is a thousand more who go right, but to eliminate all the evil for good, would be detrimental to gossip, sometimes passed round.—Ex.

There is no doubt that the inauguration of Mr. Taft will be quite as splendid in its pageantry as the inauguration of any of his predecessors. A guarantee fund of seventy-five thousand dollars has already been subscribed and this amount is twelve thousand dollars greater than the total received four years ago at President Roosevelt's inauguration. But it is probable that this large sum will be considerably increased, for money continues to be sent in. Arrangements have been made to accommodate from seventy-five to one hundred thousand visitors in rented quarters outside of hotels. Only about twenty per cent of the visitors during inauguration week, it is expected, will be accommodated in hotels. The rest of the two hundred thousand tourists expected will be guests of their friends in Washington. These estimates are made by the inauguration committee from observations and statistics of previous inauguration events.

While Holland and insurrection are playing hob with his principlality, President Castro is having a fine time in Berlin and he has furnished the German correspondents a rare opportunity for a type of journalism supposed to be more common in this country than in Europe and know as "yellow." Castro's doings are portrayed in the daily papers with great elaboration. He is both sick and well; fasting and feasting; amiable and terrible, and in twenty-four hours. He is reported as negotiating with the Germans for battleships and cannon and as desiring to employ the best German military experts to Germanize or Japanize the Venezuelan army. It is evident that Castro has money to spend and that the Germans are anxious to render him all possible aid in swating it.

The success of the skirmish in the House of Representatives recently, led by Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts, possibly presages the overthrow of Speaker Cannon in the sixty-first Congress, or if not his overthrow by the election of a successor, it at least indicates that there will be a sufficient majority to strip the speaker of some of his despotic power. The insurgents favor the selection of the house committees, including the all-important committee on rules, by a committee chosen by the house, instead of by the speaker. This change would be in accordance with the principle which forbids the concentration of so much legislative power in the hands of one person, as is now possessed by the speaker.

It is definitely predicted, from apparently reliable sources, that the Panama Canal will be completed in 1915, or six years hence. It is certain however, that it will, during the present winter, be subjected to the keenest official as well as unofficial criticism. President-elect Taft will set sail for Panama on the 25th of next month, accompanied by engineer experts. Mr. Pulitzer of the New York World, is on the way to the canal in his steam yacht, accompanied by a number of journalists and expert engineers; and there is every prospect that the country will be reliably informed as to the actual condition of work and progress with regard to the canal.

An Indiana hen is credited with having laid 240 eggs in 274 days. The rooster that did the cackling must have had a sore throat.

Cured of a Severe Attack of Bronchitis by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"On October 18th, last, my little three year old daughter contracted a severe cold which resulted in a bad case of bronchitis," says Mrs. W. G. Gibson, Lexington, Ky. "She lost the power of speech completely and was a very sick child. Fortunately we had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and gave it to her according to the printed directions. On the second day she was a great deal better, and on the fifth day, October 23rd, she was entirely well of her cold and bronchitis, which I attribute to this splendid medicine. I recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unreservedly as I have found it the surest, safest and quickest cure for colds, both for children and adults, of any I have ever used." For sale by C. P. Champney, druggist.

NEW PRIMARY LAW.

The new primary law, which becomes effective on January 1, 1909, will have the effect of doing away with city and county political conventions and the excitement incident to those meetings will be known no more by the electorate of Ohio. Instead, both parties will nominate their tickets at a direct primary to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September. All parties will hold their primaries on the same day and voting will be at the same place, to-wit: the booths in each precinct used for regular elections. The primaries will be held under the direction of the board of elections and will be conducted just as a regular election with the exception there will be separate ballots and ballot boxes for each party. A voter affiliated with one party cannot vote with another and if he does so makes himself liable to the paying of a fine from $5 to $50. Nominations for the respective tickets must be certified twenty days before the date for holding the primary, and a petition containing the names of two per cent of the voters of any district to place in nomination the name of a man who may have, if elected, jurisdiction over the district.

When the parents returned to the house the children both lay unconscious on the floor, the empty pill box near by a silent witness of the cause. A doctor was quickly summoned and by the aid of a stomach pump soon restored the little ones to consciousness and they are now none the worse for the unpleasant experience.

DEATH OF BENJAMIN SCHALLER.

The news of the death of Benjamin Schaller, on Sunday, Dec. 27, 1908, cast a gloom over a large circle of friends.

He was born in Bern, Switzerland, in 1835, and came to America in 1851.

He was 73 years of age and has been identified with the work of improvement of Wood county in many ways.

Mr. Schaller is survived by a wife and eight children, five daughters and three sons as follows: Mrs. Rose Tucker, Fred and William Schaller of Paulding county; Mrs. Carrie Wise, Mrs. Annie Spilker and Mrs. Emma Bostdorf of Perrysburg; Mrs. Ella Snyder of near Haskins and Henry living at home.

Four brothers survive him—Fred and Steve of Perrysburg; Gus living near Waterville, and Alex near Lima City.

Two Sisters—Mrs. John Moser, Sr., of Perrysburg and Mrs. John Isch of Moline. In addition to these he had a very large number of relatives.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION FOR JANUARY.

The current issue of this most progressive woman's publication contains two unusual art reproductions. At the Royal Academy last summer, a painting of Christ, entitled "Follow Me," by a hitherto unknown woman painter, proved to be the sensational canvas of the exhibition. So remarkable was the unusual and spiritual picture that it was at all times completely surrounded by groups of interested and reverential people. "Follow Me" is reproduced in America for the first time in the January Woman's Home Companion.

In addition to the many special articles there are contained in this issue a dozen complete departments, including dressmaking, by Grace Margaret Gould; cooking recipes for mid-winter receptions, by Fannie Merritt Farmer, and "Problems of the Business Girl," by Anna Steese Richardson.

Came Near Choking to Death.

A little boy, the son of Chris D. Peterson, a well known resident of the village of Jacksonville, Iowa, had a sudden and violent attack of croup. Much thick stringy phlegm came up after giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Peterson says: "I think he would have choked to death had we not given him this remedy." For sale by C. P. One flour mill after another has striven to check the popularity of PRIDE OF LIMA FLOUR. All have failed to do so because all have also failed completely to produce the same results in baking. Pride of Lima sales are heavier than those of any half dozen others combined.

A Leading Question. Superintendent McLaren of San Francisco's system of public parks was inspecting the work of restoring Union square to its former beauty, now that the little St. Francis has been removed. "I'm for heavin' this un out; it's a bum little bush," remarked a gardener with a brogue. "Which one?" inquired McLaren. "You don't mean this beautiful little Scotch heather? All it needs is more water and it will grow as tall as you are." "You're not so tall yourself, Mr. McLaren." "Not extraordinarily so." "I say, Mr. McLaren," reflected the gardener, thoughtfully, "did you ever try water yourself?"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Burying Cables in River Bed. It seems odd that telegraph and telephone companies should be forced to bury their cables in the bed of a large river, yet this became necessary in places along the Ohio during the recent drought. The river was so low that boys could and did play ball in the very channel bed, and the exposure left the telephone cables entirely unprotected. To avoid a repetition of the incident, therefore, the companies have dug trenches in the river bed, in which the cables have been securely covered.—Marine Journal
