WHEAT LOOKS GOOD

Ohio Agricultural Department's Report Very Favorable.

One month ago this department officially stated that the flood damage to growing wheat was not of such severity as to affect the general prospect of the crop for the state as a whole. This statement is fully verified by the present crop report. There has been but a slight area of the original acreage abandoned. The prospect for a heavy yield per acre is quite optimistic. In many of the heavier wheat producing counties correspondents state that the yield will be far above an average production. The state average production is estimated at 97 per cent compared with a normal yield. On corresponding date, 1912, the prospect was estimated at 45 per cent. The area remaining for harvest is estimated at 574,603 acres, in excess of the area harvested in 1912. One year ago reverse conditions were true. The report then showed that 44 per cent of the original area seeded had been abandoned. Prediction was made that the harvest would result in one of the lowest productions in the state's history. The final threshing showed a state average production per acre of but ten bushels. The total state production was less than eleven million bushels. With the present splendid condition of the wheat crop, the 1913 harvest should be well up to an average.

Weather conditions fore part of May were unfavorable to oats growth. The present prospect is estimated at 89 per cent, compared with a normal yield. The present area is approximately 250,000 acres less than in 1912. Corn planting was retarded by cool, wet weather. Warm rains latter part of May beneficial to all growing crops. Fruit prospects show a material decline since last report. Present prospect estimated at 52 per cent. The crop suffered severe damage by late frosts.

AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Perrysburg Couple Again Clasp Hands at Hymens Alter.

Fifty years ago last Monday, being June 9th, 1863, at Holy Angel's church, in Sandusky City, Ohio, Miss Ellen Laden, a charming young girl, and Ignatius Boff, just from the service of his adopted country, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Fr. Boff, a brother of the groom, who later became one of the high dignitaries of his church.

After fifty years, surrounded by children, grandchildren and a host of friends, this same couple, still young in heart, renewed their marriage vows at the altar of St. Rose church in Perrysburg, with Rev. Fr. Schoendorf officiating.

The occasion was one of rejoicing among the many friends and relatives and the ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The choir, composed of the children and grandchildren of the venerable couple, charmingly rendered Roswick's beautiful Mass. The Offertory was sung by Mrs. G. Blanchard, with violin obligato by Miss Marie Frederichs, daughter and granddaughter of the golden bride and groom, with Prof. Rossbach as the organist.

Mrs. Boff has been a member of the Altar Society for 35 years, and as a compliment to her the society decorated the church in a most appropriate and beautiful manner.

There was a large audience at the church to witness the ceremonies and extend congratulations to the "happy couple."

In the afternoon a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boff and a large number of friends and relatives assembled to extend congratulations and enjoy the hospitality and charming entertainment extended to the guests by the family, all of whom are musically inclined and most charming entertainers.

On returning to their home, the bride and groom of fifty golden years entered the parlor to the beautiful strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. Friedrichs. One of the most pleasing and touching incidents of the occasion was that of four tiny grandchildren when they surrounded their grandma and grandpa bride and groom and sang "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet."

Among many gifts one of especial interest was the amber and gold rosary presented Mrs. Boff by the members of the Altar Society.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Boff composing the choir were Mrs. G. Blanchard of Toledo, Mrs. Friedrichs of Perrysburg, Mrs. Wolfrom and Mr. Joseph Boff of Detroit and Mrs. Dr. Comstock of Maumee.

It was a happy occasion and was one that will be a beautiful memory in after years to every member of the family.

AWARDING COMMITTEE

Appointed to Decide Who Shall Receive Improvement Prizes.

The meeting of the Perrysburg Civic Association held on Monday evening was attended by a large membership and the proceedings were of unusual interest.

President Clay presided and announced the appointment of the committee for the purpose of awarding the prize for best kept lawn, as follows: Dr. W. H. Rheinfrank, Wm. Diebling, Mrs. R. C. Pew, Mrs. Frank Hollenbeck, Mrs. R. P. Barton.

It was decided to change the prize offer and give an award of $5 for the best kept lawn on each street from Front to and including Seventh street.

The question of a new freight depot for the C. H. & D. R. R. at Perrysburg was referred to the Traffic committee for action.

The Legislative committee was authorized to prepare and present to Council an ordinance regulating the care of lawns and destruction of weeds and removal of rubbish from streets and alleys.

The Publicity and Entertainment committees were authorized to arrange for a Home Coming celebration.

The purchase of receptacles for waste paper was ordered.

Among others who participated in the speaking and entertainment of the members, President Clay introduced Mr. W. S. Walbridge, who said he was pleased to be numbered a member of the association and desired to become identified with the village as a citizen and to do his part toward the upbuilding of the town and the welfare of its citizens and institutions. He paid a high tribute to the beauty of the town and urged the members to be faithful and persevering in their efforts to make it a Greater and Better Perrysburg. His remarks were well chosen and received with appreciation by the members of the association.

DRIVING A LOCOMOTIVE FOR UNCLE SAM IN '61-4

The passing of Mr. Archibald C. Rider, of Tontogany, account of whose death was published in this paper last week, marked the closing of a life that was most active and in which there had occurred many incidents of interest in the early days of railroading in this county.

In the year of 1856 he accepted a position as locomotive engineer for the Central Ohio railroad, now the B. & O., his run being from Bellaire to Columbus.

He later went to the C. H. & D. railway company and later went with R. B. Shoemaker, general manager of construction of the D. & M., then in course of building. At that time the new road was being constructed from two opposite points—Toledo and Dayton. Mr. Rider was delegated the duty of bringing the engines from Dayton over the Mad river road to Sandusky, thence over the Lake Shore line to Toledo where they were put at work in the building of the new road and with Andrew Roach, formerly of Perrysburg, in charge of track building, the two men had active charge of the entire construction work of the new road until its completion when the two lines met at Wapakonetta, and were united, thus completing the first through air line road from Toledo to Cincinnati.

During the war of the rebellion he was drafted into the government service and was assigned to duty under Col. McGinnis, and was placed in charge of an engine running between Huntsville, Alabama and Chattanooga, Tenn. During this period his life was one of excitement and daring, as his line was constantly menaced by the Confederates and their unscrupulous allies and friends, the "bushwhackers," who were liable to appear at any time or place least expected, and they were experts with the musket. On one of his trips to Chattanooga his engine tank had eleven holes shot into it by these gentlemen and he narrowly escaped with his life. Running an engine through the enemy's country during the darkest nights without headlight or any assurance that the rails were not removed or obstructed, required more than ordinary nerve, but this was his every day and night experience until the close of the war. A narrow escape from death or capture, or both (as one oftentimes meant the other), occurred when he was pulling Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Every family without exception should keep this preparation at hand during the hot weather of the summer months. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is worth many times its cost when needed and is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. It has no superior for the purposes for which it is intended. Buy it now. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

Shortly after this accident he resigned and took up his residence on the farm near Tontogany where he passed his last days.

A. C. WINS AGAIN.

Perrysburg won from the strong Centrals of Toledo, Sunday, 18 to 7. The home boys pulled up runs by clean hitting and good base running.

Next Sunday the Portage team will be present and as they are said to be good players, a good game is anticipated. Come and swell the crowd.
