SUMMER MEETING

Ohio State Horticultural Society
Will Meet at Waterville.

The annual summer field meeting of the Ohio State Horticultural Society will be held on Friday, August 15th, at the adjoining farms of W. W. and W. G. Farnsworth, Waterville, Lucas County, Ohio. Waterville is situated on the Ohio Electric R. R., north of Lima and south of Toledo. Visitors from more distant parts of the state should spend the preceding night either in Lima or Toledo, as there are no hotel accommodations in Waterville. Interurban cars leave every hour from the Ohio Electric Station, Lima, and from corner of Michigan and Lafayette streets, Toledo. A brief program will be rendered in the forenoon, but the day will be more generally devoted to inspection and discussion of the growing fruit crops on these noted fruit farms of Ohio. Luncheon will be served at reasonable rates by the ladies of the Waterville church. Plenty of apple pie will be a feature. Everybody invited and welcome. Come and meet with us and see how fine fruits are produced.

F. H. BALLOU, Secretary.

SOME OBSERVATIONS

Among the visitors at the Fort Meigs celebration last week there were two gentlemen in whose minds there lingered thoughts of days of long ago. These men were Mr. Geo. Mills of Perrysburg and Mr. Timothy Ragan of Maumee, both of whom attended the great celebration in 1840 when Gen. Harrison was the guest of honor. Mr. Mills is 87 years of age while Mr. Ragan is 90, and both men are wonderfully active mentally and can tell many very interesting stories of that great celebration.

One of the best features that have recently been introduced by the Maumee Valley R. & L. company is the "Open Sight-Seeing Cars" that are operated around the belt. Each car carries a "spieler" who entertains the passengers by an interesting story relative to the valley and the villages as well as the historical facts pertaining to one hundred years ago. This is a business enterprise on the part of the company, but also calls to the attention of the passengers, many of whom are from other sections of the country, to the beautiful valley and the charming towns adjacent to the city. It is a good way of calling attention to Perrysburg. It is an up-to-date method of advertising and we believe the results will be favorable to Perrysburg.

Mr. Pierce Norton dropped in on the old folks at home in Perrysburg last Wednesday evening. Pierce is now representing the Southern Pacific Railway company during the summer season in the interest of the great San Francisco exposition. He expects to return to the beautiful Pacific coast in the fall and again assume his duties as general manager of the El Camine Fruit company and its immense packing houses. After a residence of a few years on the coast, Mr. Norton has developed into a regular Pacific coast BOOSTER (and they always spell the word with capital letters), and while he is singing the praises of his adopted State, he cannot refrain from bursting forth in peons of praise for the beautiful old home town of Perrysburg. "Oh, if these people would only come out with us and absorb some of the boosting ideas that prevail among the people of the west," said he, "they would never permit dear old Perrysburg to remain so quiet and small as it is now. If Perrysburg was located in the west it would be considered a place of wonderful beauty, and its fame and great advantages would be heralded broadcast by the people. There is no more beautiful town in the United States today." Evidently Mr. Norton is a booster for the west, but is surely not a knocker on the old home town.

BADLY INJURED.

Bert Rinker, 20, and Charles Bourbine, 21, both of Rossford, met head-on while riding motorcycles in that village Saturday evening.

Both were seriously injured, being badly cut and bruised about the head and body. Rinker received a broken leg, while it was thought Bourbine was internally injured. Both men were taken to the East Side Hospital.

It is said that both men were traveling at the rate of about 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

GOOD REASON FOR HIS ENTHUSIASM.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

AWAY FROM HOME

Some Things Observed When on a Short Vacation.

When packing a suit case ready for a vacation trip, why does a woman almost always have a few inches of white goods hanging out the end of the case?

Why do some women insist on entertaining(?) the passengers by discussing the peculiarities of their children, in so loud a voice that they may be heard throughout the entire cabin of the steamer?

Why does the man with high-heeled, squeaky shoes insist on walking on the upper deck over your state room while you are trying to get a few hours of much needed sleep?

Why do Gladys and Reginald sit under your cabin window and reel off about 19 miles of "mush talk" before they shut up for the night?

To any person who will furnish correct answers to these questions I will give a medal.

There is a wonderful fascination about the beautiful blue water of the "inland seas" and a dreamy restfulness comes over the tourist which is found only on the water, and while the "vacationist" usually prefers fair weather and sunshine, for me the "grey day" upon the water is most charming, and our first day out, which was a mingling of clouds and shadows, heavy mist followed by rain, with a long, slow swell, lifting and falling off the ship, made the ride very enchanting, and yet while all that beautiful rain was falling I could not refrain from thinking of the great waste of water. The lake was already wet enough; there was no dust to be washed off, while every drop of that water was badly needed in Wood county.

It is said the world is constantly changing, but I found old Niagara Falls still falling and the water looks as though it would never all get over; and while I am told it has been running 24 hours of every day since I was last here, there seems no more nor less water than when I was here the first time. For keeping "everlastingly at it," old Niagara furnishes a splendid example.

At Cleveland we transferred to the magnificent new steamer, "Sealand-Bee," which is acknowledged to be the largest and most palatial passenger steamer on the Great Lakes, which went into commission July 21. She is recognized as being the "last word" in lake steamship building; and the passenger scarcely realizes that he is afloat unless it happens, as with us, that in the middle of the night, the sound of three blasts from the great whistle awakes him, to the knowledge that the ship is slowly feeling its way through the blinding storm which no light can penetrate and only the far-reaching tone of the powerful whistle warns approaching craft of the danger of collision. During the night we enjoyed(?) two terrific thunder storms during which rain and hail descended in torrents. The display of electricity from the clouds was the most vivid I had ever witnessed—the very heavens seemed aflame—while the thunder's roar gave the impression of a world battle in the clouds. And during it all that great whistle sounded its deep notes of warning to sister ships that pass in the night. It was wonderfully thrilling, and I regret my inability to transfer it to this paper that my readers might see its magnificence, realize its majestic power, its sublime beauty, and contemplate how small and weak are the greatest efforts of man compared with the great omnipotent power that rules the heavens, the earth and the sea.

BOOSTS COUNTRY TOWNS

Indoor Game Association says Villages Must Patronize Themselves.

Mr. Merchant: In my first letter some weeks ago I told you the country newspapers, properly used, were the best selling agents in America. Have you used them? If not, why not? I also sent out a sample form of advertising, taken from one of the Chicago dailies, showing how the big stores in the city get orders from the country trade. Perhaps you didn't see it. Perhaps your local editor was too modest to publish it lest it seem a mere bid for advertising. Or possibly, you may have been sensitive about receiving advice from a stranger.

But, gentlemen, these are all false fears. One thing is certain; either the country town must patronize itself or vanish, and I see no way for you to meet city competition, except by the city man's methods. What do I care, do you ask? Just this: the Indoor Game Association has no pecuniary interest in the matter, it is true. But we are interested in humanity, and the passing of the country town would be a calamity to civilization.

For years we have watched with growing concern the tide of country youth migrating to the city. We have seen the rural communities standing stationary and in many cases going back. Our efforts in the city to weed out gambling and to secure better supervision for dance halls, billiard rooms, moving picture theaters, etc., for the young people, reveals the fact that the worst danger arises from the "uninitiated" country boys and girls. Three-fourths of the "sad cases" coming under our observation are of this class.

How to keep country boys and girls at home during impressionable years, therefore, has become a vital issue in the work of our association. This means boost the country town, and to this end the rural community must be induced to patronize itself in the two great spheres of human interest—Business and Pleasure. First, to secure the former, merchants must display their wares attractively in their windows and fill the space of their local papers with catchy suggestions. The very things that are now drawing country trade to the city. Nothing gives a town a more thriving appearance than attractive windows of business display. If you haven't a good window, tear out the end of your store and put in one. It will pay you big in interest.

Second, provide the young people with wholesome amusements. Promote clean, legitimate recreations of every kind. Remember there are children's games, young ladies' games, young men's games and old people's games. (Alas, for the person who has grown too old to play). Do not try to make an old lady, however, out of a young man. That only disgusts him and drives him to the city.

Young couples want some place to go in the evening. If you have no theater, why not build one? At least, you could maintain a moving picture show. Young men love to play billiards. See that they have a good clean room for that purpose. Open up a large, well ventilated hall. See that it is properly supervised. Do not become hostile and prohibitive. But, appoint a sane censor committee to inspect all public places of recreation, something like the recently established commission in Detroit, Mich.

These two things, gentlemen, advertise your business and entertain your people! Therein lies the hope of the country town. F. J. MILNES, Pres. Nat'l Indoor Game Association, Evanston, Ill.
